Introduction to Rollins College

Admission to Rollins College

Rollins College stands among those small, coeducational, independent liberal arts institutions that contribute distinctively to the vitality and diversity of American higher education. Founded in 1885 under the auspices of the Congregational Church, and designed to bring the educational standards of New England to the Florida frontier, Rollins was the first college in Florida. In 1885, admission requirements were similar to those of other good liberal arts institutions of the day: Latin and Greek, language and composition, plane geometry, history of Greece and Rome, and so on.

Catalogue Table of ContentsCatalogue Revisions

Rollins is nonsectarian and independent, and is supported through tuition, investments, and gifts from alumni, friends, and foundations. The College offers a challenging curriculum leading to the Artium Baccalaureus (Bachelor of Arts) degree. This curriculum, which includes thirty-one major fields of study and more than sixteen hundred courses, reflects a distinctive and innovative approach to education.

Courses of InstructionCurriculum and Curricular Requirements

The College is located in Winter Park, an attractive residential community adjacent to the city of Orlando. Fifty miles from the Atlantic Ocean and seventy miles from the Gulf of Mexico, the seventy-acre campus is bounded by Lake Virginia to the east and south. A traditional Spanish-Mediterranean architecture characterizes the College facilities.

Accreditation

Rollins College is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) to award baccalaureate, master's, and doctoral degrees. Contact the Commission on Colleges at 1866 Southern Lane, Decatur, Georgia 30033-4097, telephone 404-679-4500, at <http://www.sacs.org> for questions about the accreditation of Rollins College.* Rollins obtained its SACSCOC accreditation in 1927 and has had no lapses in accreditation. Rollins' accreditation was last reaffirmed in 2005; Rollins' next reaffirmation of accreditation is scheduled for 2015.

Academic RegulationsEducational Programs and Opportunities

Rollins College also holds additional program-level accreditations, approvals, or memberships. The College's undergraduate and graduate business programs are accredited by The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB International). The undergraduate music program has been a full member of the National Association of Schools of Music since 1931. The chemistry program has received approval by the American Chemical Society since 1974. The undergraduate and graduate programs in education and teaching are approved by the Department of Education of the State of Florida, and the graduate counseling program is accredited by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs. Additionally, the College's Cornell Fine Arts Museum is accredited by the American Association of Museums.

Academic Programs

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMS

The College of Arts & Sciences offers day courses in a variety of studies that lead to baccalaureate degrees. Day baccalaureate programs in communication, education, and international business are offered through the College of Professional Studies. The Hamilton Holt School offers evening courses that lead to baccalaureate degrees in a variety of majors.

GRADUATE PROGRAMS

In addition to undergraduate degrees, the Hamilton Holt School offers graduate programs leading to master's degrees in counseling, education, human resources, liberal studies, teaching, and planning in civic urbanism. The Roy E. Crummer Graduate School of Business offers the Master of Business Administration degree through its early advantage (3/2), executive, and professional MBA program tracks. The Crummer Graduate School also administers the Centers for Management & Executive Education, Leadership, Entrepreneurship, and Philanthropy & Nonprofit Leadership.

Purpose

Consistent with the purposes set forth in the 1885 Charter of the College, Rollins continues to prepare students for "virtuous and useful lives." The future of Rollins College depends on its excellence -- the quality of the educational experience, the quality of students and faculty, the quality of individual performance, and the quality of our life and work together.

Mission Statement

Rollins College educates students for global citizenship and responsible leadership, empowering graduates to pursue meaningful lives and productive careers. We are committed to the liberal arts ethos and guided by its values and ideals. Our guiding principles are excellence, innovation, and community.

Rollins is a comprehensive liberal arts college. Rollins is nationally recognized for its distinctive undergraduate and selected graduate programs. We provide opportunities to explore diverse intellectual, spiritual, and aesthetic traditions. We are dedicated to scholarship, academic achievement, creative accomplishment, cultural enrichment, social responsibility, and environmental stewardship. We value excellence in teaching and rigorous, transformative education in a healthy, responsive, and inclusive environment.

Approved by the Board of Trustees, May 9, 2014

Heritage

One afternoon in 1880, in a garden in Daytona, Florida, Lucy Cross had a vision -- a college in Central Florida. Five years later she had garnered the support of the Congregational Church and in January 1885, representatives from five Central Florida communities competed for the privilege of becoming the College's home. The three-year-old town of Winter Park emerged as the undisputed winner, benefiting from a generous gift offered on its behalf by a Chicago businessman, Alonzo Rollins. Named in his honor, Rollins College was incorporated on April 28, 1885. The Rev. Edward Payson Hooker, who helped establish the College, served as its first president (1885-1892).

From its inception the College has been coeducational and has attracted students both from the local communities of Central Florida and from the North. Its two objectives were to serve Florida's educational needs and "to provide an opportunity for youth of the North, whose health demands that they should spend a considerable portion of the year in a more genial climate to pursue their studies" (Annual Catalogue, 1905-1906).

Early years saw the addition of "tasteful buildings," including residence halls that were built on the notion of a "cottage plan." One of these structures, Pinehurst Cottage, still occupies a visible place on the campus and ties the modern Rollins, with its Spanish-Mediterranean architecture, to its roots in turn-of-the-century Florida.

President George Morgan Ward (1896-1902), who later served as pastor of financier Henry Flagler's chapel in Palm Beach, Florida, guided the College through the devastating financial times following the citrus freeze of 1894-1895.

William Fremont Blackman was a faculty member at Yale University when he was called to the Rollins presidency in 1902. During his term in office (1902-1915), President Blackman faced a national depression and diminishing enrollment, yet he substantially increased the College's endowment, added to its facilities, and won the support of the Carnegie Foundation.

These early years also included strong ties to the country of Cuba. During the Spanish-American War, more Cuban students studied at Rollins than at any other American institution, and even in the 1920's, Rollins football and basketball teams competed against the University of Havana.

President Hamilton Holt (1925-1949), a nationally recognized journalist, editor, and internationalist, brought national visibility to the College in its middle years, and left a legacy which includes a distinguished tradition of "experimental" education. During Holt's administration Rollins College established the Conference Plan, which emphasized close teacher-student contact. Under this plan, teachers and students shared the learning experience around a conference table, an activity that led students to develop clear standards by which to judge their work. The College retains aspects of this method, particularly in its program for first-year students, but not to the exclusion of other significant approaches to teaching.

The Holt years brought many national figures to campus including Nobel Peace Prize winner Jane Addams, author Majorie Kinnan Rawlings, Countess Alexandra Tolstoy, Justice William O. Douglas, and Edward R. Morrow. Perhaps most notably, in January 1931, Rollins hosted a Curriculum Conference, with the distinguished educator John Dewey as Chairman. The resulting recommendations -- which emphasized "Individualization in Education" -- were implemented by Rollins in the fall of 1931. So provocative were these innovations, that Sinclair Lewis, in his Stockholm address accepting the Nobel Prize in literature, listed Rollins first of all the colleges in the United States doing the most to encourage creative work in contemporary literature.

During the administration of Hugh F. McKean (1951-1969), the College developed the Honors Degree program for exceptionally well-prepared and qualified students. He also established graduate programs in education and business, the Hamilton Holt School, and the former Brevard Campus, which together provide evening education programs for nearly 2,000 adults annually. Although President McKean was a student and professor of art, his administration brought significant advances and general strengthening of the College programs in business administration, economics, and the sciences.

Jack B. Critchfield (1969-1978), elected president of Rollins from a position at the University of Pittsburgh, moved the College in new directions by establishing programs in environmental and interdisciplinary studies, graduate and undergraduate programs in criminal justice, and strengthening support from the business community.

Thaddeus Seymour (1978-1990) served previously as dean of Dartmouth College and president of Wabash College in Indiana. As Rollins celebrated its centennial, President Seymour defined its goal of providing superior liberal arts education in a personal and caring environment. During his administration, Rollins successfully completed a $43.9-million fund-raising campaign that provided facilities and endowment to support quality improvement and enhanced reputation. During this time, the faculty also completely reformulated the College's curriculum, based on the pioneering work of the well-known educator D.S. Bloom. Students pursued courses that fulfilled general education requirements in skills (composition, mathematics, foreign language, and decision-making), the cognitive area (social, natural, and physical sciences), and the affective area (arts and literature). The framework of this curriculum remains in place to this day, although it continues to be refined.

Under the leadership of Rita Bornstein (1990-2004), who was previously vice president of the University of Miami, the College focused on strengthening its commitment to excellence, innovation, and community. Standards were raised, innovative academic programs were introduced, and co-curricular activities were developed around themes of leadership education and civic engagement. In 1997, Rollins reaffirmed its role as a leader in the national conversation on liberal education, hosting leading educators for a conference entitled "The Rollins Colloquy - Toward a Pragmatic Liberal Education: The Curriculum of the Twenty-First Century." President Bornstein also oversaw the largest fundraising effort in Rollins' history. Widely considered to have transformed the College, The Campaign For Rollins secured $160.2 million, providing support for academic programs, scholarships, faculty chairs, and facilities, and significantly strengthening the College's financial health. Thanks to the generosity of donors and astute financial management, the College's endowment more than quintupled during Bornstein's presidency.

In March 2004, Lewis M. Duncan, formerly Dean of Dartmouth College's Thayer School and Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost at the University of Tulsa, was elected as the fourteenth president of the College. On his appointment, President Duncan remarked that the coming years are certain to be ones of extraordinary change, challenge, and opportunity in higher education. He has stated that the world has never faced greater need for quality liberal education for a rising generation of citizen leaders and that Rollins College is exceptionally well positioned to answer this call.

As national recognition of the College's quality has grown, both the number and quality of applicants for admission have escalated, permitting the College to be more selective while enrolling a larger, more diverse student body. Building on a tradition of excellence, innovation, and community more than a century old, Rollins College continues to offer rigorous, relevant higher-learning opportunities while holding firm to its commitment to personalized education in a nurturing environment.

Admission

Rollins College seeks applications from students with proven academic ability who demonstrate intellectual and personal promise. The Admission Committee sets admission policy for the College. Applications for admission are considered on the basis of the qualifications of each applicant without regard to race, color, religion, national or ethnic origin, ancestry, marital status, sex, age, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, genetic information, physical characteristics, disability, veteran status, or any other category protected by federal, state, or local law. Rollins College is an equal opportunity institution that adheres to a non-discriminatory policy with respect to employment, enrollment, and programs. If an accommodation is needed, please contact the Office of Admission (407) 646-2161.

First-Year Student Admission

Candidates for admission to the first-year student class should have a completed application on file with the Office of Admission by February 15. To complete the application file, candidates submit the admission application, an official transcript of grades nine (9) through twelve (12), and a recommendation from a guidance counselor.

In addition, applicants must submit either standardized test scores or the additional items for the Test Score Waived Option. Standardized test scores may be results of either the SAT I or ACT. Applicants should consider submitting results of both tests to maximize their acceptance probability.

Rollins participates in the group of colleges and universities using the Common Application, which can be submitted in place of the Rollins College application.

Candidates should have pursued a demanding high school curriculum in preparation for college entrance. Enrollment in advanced, honors, or Advanced Placement courses is strongly encouraged. In general, successful candidates for admission have completed, as a minimum, the following courses in secondary school:

- four (4) years of English;
- two (2) years of history or social studies;
- two (2) years of laboratory science;
- three (3) years of mathematics, including Algebra I, Geometry, and Algebra II;
- two (2) or more years of a foreign language.

Admission to the first-year student class is competitive. Typically, more than 4,500 applications are received for the 500 places in the freshman class. The Admission Committee evaluates each candidate on a variety of academic and personal factors. Academic factors include high school grades, rank in class, course selection, and standardized test results. Personal factors include recommendations, extracurricular activities or special talents, and the essay submitted with the application form. Candidates are notified of their admission decision by April 1. Rollins participates in the Candidates' Reply Date of May 1, and accepted first-year students who intend to enroll must submit a nonrefundable tuition deposit of $500 by that date to hold their place in the class. Students who have received an application fee waiver from their secondary school on the basis of financial hardship and/or who will receive significant need-based financial assistance from the College may request a reduced tuition deposit. Late applications are considered on a space-available basis.

Early Decision Admission

High school seniors may submit their junior year record and results of the SAT I or ACT with the request that the Admission Committee grant an Early Decision. Candidates for Early Decision should apply only if Rollins is their first choice. Early Decision candidates may apply to other colleges or universities but agree to withdraw these applications if their application to Rollins is accepted.

Two rounds of Early Decision review are available. Early Decision applicants whose applications are received by November 15 will be notified of their status by December 15. Early Decision applicants whose applications are received after November 15 but before January 15 will be notified of their status by February 1. A nonrefundable tuition deposit of $500 is due and payable upon notification of acceptance. Candidates not accepted under the Early Decision program may have their applications reconsidered for admission under the regular decision program.

Accelerated Management Program Admission

In cooperation with the Roy E. Crummer Graduate School of Business, Rollins College offers a program leading to the A.B. and M.B.A. in five years. First-year students accepted into the Accelerated Management Program have the opportunity to apply to the Crummer School during their third year at Rollins. This unique dual degree program offers students the opportunity to acquire the breadth and depth of a liberal arts degree and a strong graduate management education, and also provides needed skills and practical experience through internships and relevant job exposure.

Students are competitive applicants to the Crummer School when they achieve at least a 3.2 cumulative grade point average, complete all general education, major, and credit hour requirements (108 semester hours) by the end of the third year, and meet program expectations during the first three years. A score of at least 600 on the Graduate Management Admissions Test must be earned by the end of the fall term of the junior year.

Applicants interested in the Accelerated Management Program should indicate this when they apply for admission to Rollins College. Admission is very selective.

Spring Semester Admission

Each year there are a limited number of spaces available for first-year or transfer candidates seeking admission for the spring semester. Candidates interested in beginning their studies at midyear should contact the Office of Admission during the fall semester. Completed applications for spring admission should be on file by November 1. Decisions for spring admission are made in December, and candidates are notified of their admission status by January 1. A nonrefundable tuition deposit is required to hold a place in the spring class.

Early Admission

Unusually well-qualified applicants may be considered for entrance prior to secondary school graduation, usually for entrance following their junior year. An interview with a member of the admission staff is recommended.

Transfer Student Admission

Rollins encourages applications from qualified students transferring from accredited colleges or universities. Completed transfer applications should be on file in the Office of Admission by April 15 for the fall semester and by November 1 for the spring semester. Late applications are considered on a space-available basis. Applicants should be in good academic standing and eligible to return to the institution from which the transfer is proposed. To complete the transfer application file, candidates must submit the following:

- an admission application;
- official high school transcript or G.E.D. certificate;
- SAT I or ACT scores (optional);
- official college transcripts from each institution previously attended;
- an application essay stating the reason for the transfer.

Candidates are evaluated primarily on the basis of their college-level study. Grades and course selection are given the most weight in the admission process. Most successful candidates have achieved a minimum 2.7 grade point average from a four-year college or a minimum 3.0 average from a two-year school. The Admission Committee evaluates other academic factors, including high school preparation and standardized test scores. Personal factors, essay, academic recommendations, extracurricular activities, and special talents are also considered.

Applicants are notified of their status before the end of December for spring semester admission and by May 1 for the fall semester. Late applicants are notified on a rolling basis after these dates. Accepted candidates are asked to submit a nonrefundable tuition deposit of $500 to hold their place in the entering class.

International Student Admission

International students are required to submit official secondary school records. These documents should include all official grade reports and the official external examination report or evidence of successful completion of studies. If the school records are in a language other than English, students must submit certified translations of their records in addition to the original report. Candidates whose native language is not English are required to submit an official score report from the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL). A score of 80 or higher on the Internet-based TOEFL (213 on the computer-based or 550 on the written version), is required for admission. English proficiency is crucial for successful study at Rollins College. The College does not offer a formal program in English as a second language.

Rollins College requires all international undergraduate applicants to submit the results of either the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT I) or the American College Test (ACT), or the required materials for the Test Score Waived Option. While the College does not require a minimum score for admission, it uses these examinations to evaluate applicants' strengths for placement purposes and for possible academic scholarship consideration.

Accepted international students are required to advise Rollins College of their current immigration status. The I-20 (certificate of eligibility for a student visa) is issued only after the student has submitted the nonrefundable tuition deposit and the Statement of Financial Responsibility with the appropriate documentation that sufficient financial resources are available to finance college education for a minimum of one full year at Rollins.

Special Student Admission

Rollins College welcomes applications from candidates seeking admission as a transient, guest, or special student if they intend to take courses for credit and are not degree-seeking candidates.

Special students are limited to a maximum of two (2) courses per term and are eligible to take these courses on a space-available basis. Admission is granted for one (1) term only. Students who wish to continue their study in this status must make a formal request for readmission for each consecutive term. Candidates for special admission must submit the following:

- a special student admission application;
- official transcripts from all high school and college-level study;
- scores from all standardized tests (SAT I or ACT) if the tests have been taken;
- an essay explaining their reasons for study in the special student category.

Admission of special students is based primarily on the student's personal situation, motivation, maturity, educational attainment, and personal goals.

Campus Visits

A visit to the campus is strongly recommended. Information sessions are normally scheduled Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. and on some Saturdays during the academic year. Candidates should write or call the Office of Admission at (407) 646-2161 to schedule an appointment. Daily campus tours are conducted, and appointments with professors or class visits can be arranged.

For further information, contact the Office of Admission, (407) 646-2161, e-mail: admission@rollins.edu.

Student Financial Aid

The mission of the Student Financial Aid Office is to assist students and their families in managing the cost of a Rollins education. Services include the following:

- financial aid awards to qualified students in the form of loans, grants, scholarships, and on-campus employment;
- coordination of scholarships and other assistance programs to insure proper credit to the student's account;
- counseling in financial aid for undergraduate and graduate education;
- student loan debt management counseling.

Financial Aid Programs

Financial Aid recipients must enroll for at least twelve (12) semester hours per term to be considered full-time.

GRANTS AND SCHOLARSHIPS

Federal Pell Grant A program for needy undergraduate students. Eligibility is determined by the Federal government.

Rollins Grant A Rollins program for full-time students with demonstrated need and academic talent. The Student Financial Aid staff determines eligibility based on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid and the student's academic record.

Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant A program for undergraduate students with exceptional financial need. All eligible students are ranked according to family contribution determined by the Free Application for Federal Student Aid. Awards are made to those with the lowest family contribution.

Florida Student Assistance Grant This grant, of up to $2,500 per year, is provided by the State of Florida to needy students who are full-time and have been residents of the State of Florida for at least twelve (12) months immediately prior to enrollment. The Florida Office of Student Financial Assistance determines eligibility based on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid.

Florida Resident Access Grant This State program provides up to $2,500 to full-time students attending accredited private colleges in Florida. Students must be residents of Florida for at least twelve (12) months. Financial need is not a requirement. A one-time application must be submitted no later than the first day of classes.

Rollins Alford Scholarship This is the top academic merit award on campus. Your scholarship is renewable provided you maintain at least a 3.6 cumulative grade point average and complete at least twenty-four (24) semester hours each academic year while remaining enrolled in the Arts & Sciences/College of Professional Studies program. To be considered, first-year applicants must complete the admission application prior to January 5.

Dean's Scholarship This award ranges up to $25,000. It is made to entering first-year students without regard to need and is continued each year thereafter, as long as the recipient maintains a 3.2 GPA or better. Awards are made by the Admission Committee based on the student's total record. To be considered, first-year applicants must complete the admission application prior to February 1.

Alonzo Rollins Scholarship This award ranges up to $22,000. It is made to entering first-year students without regard to need and is continued each year thereafter, as long as the recipient maintains a 3.2 grade point average (GPA) or better. Awards are made by the Admission Committee based on the student's total record. To be considered, first-year applicants must complete the admission application process prior to February 1.

Presidential Scholarship This award ranges up to $18,000. It is made to entering first-year students without regard to need and is continued each year thereafter, as long as the recipient maintains a 3.0 GPA or better. Awards are made by the Admission Committee based on the student's total record. To be considered, first-year applicants must complete the admission application process prior to February 1.

Centennial Scholarship This award up to $15,000 is made to entering first-year students without regard to need and is continued each year thereafter, as long as the recipient maintains a 2.8 GPA or better. Awards are made by the Admission Committee based on the student's total record. To be considered, first-year applicants must complete the admission application process prior to February 1.

Donald Cram Science Scholarship This $5,000 award is offered to entering first-year students from Florida who plan to major in chemistry, physics, computer science, mathematics or pre-engineering. It is renewable providing the recipient maintains a 3.2 GPA or better and continues to major in the appropriate field. Selection is made by the Admissions Committee based on the student's total record. To be considered, first-year applicants must complete the admission application process prior to February 1.

Rollins College Scholarships A number of scholarships are part of the College's endowment, and the income is usually awarded annually to Rollins students. In addition, the College frequently receives expendable gifts designated for scholarships from individual donors, foundations, corporations and other organizations. Recipients of these grants are generally selected by the Student Financial Aid staff in consultation with the chairs of the various academic departments if so specified by donors in the scholarship agreements. Preference may be given to students with financial need.

LOANS

Federal Perkins Loan This loan allows needy students to borrow funds, repaying after graduation at a low interest rate. The Student Financial Aid staff determine eligibility from the Free Application for Federal Student Aid. The amount of the loan depends upon the student's need as well as the availability of funds.

Federal Direct Subsidized Student Loan Funds for this loan are provided by the Federal government. Repayment begins after graduation at a low rate of interest. Eligibility is based on the student's need and is determined from the Free Application for Federal Student Aid.

Federal Direct Unsubsidized Student Loan This loan is available from the Federal government. Interest accrues immediately. However, repayment may be deferred until after graduation.

Federal Direct Parent Loans to Undergraduate Students Parents may borrow up to the full cost each year from the Federal government. Repayment begins immediately.

EMPLOYMENT

Federal Work-Study Program This program provides on-campus employment to students with financial need. The Student Financial Aid staff determine eligibility from the Free Application for Federal Student Aid.

AID FOR OFF-CAMPUS PROGRAMS

Rollins programs are those operated by the College and offered in cooperation with other colleges and universities. Please refer to the International and Off-Campus Study section for the list of programs offered.

Financial aid recipients (need-based and non-need-based) may apply to receive assistance for attendance in Rollins and affiliate programs. All aid programs used for attendance on-campus can be used for this purpose, except talent scholarships awarded by academic and athletic departments, which require departmental approval. Departments offering talent scholarships are not required to exempt students from performance obligations required of scholarship recipients or approve the scholarship for use in study abroad programs.

To qualify for assistance, students must meet the same eligibility criteria that are otherwise required of financial aid recipients.

VERANO ESPAÑOL

The Verano Español program is a Rollins summer program. Financial aid for summer study is not available through Rollins programs. Students qualifying for Federal Direct Loans or Parent Loans, who have not exhausted the maximum program eligibility during the regular academic year, may use the balance of their eligibility for study at Verano Español.

Standards of Satisfactory Academic Progress

To receive aid at Rollins College, students must maintain satisfactory academic progress. The following criteria are checked at the end of the spring semester.

GRADE POINT AVERAGE

A minimum grade point average of 2.0 is required for both initial and renewal awards (entering first-year students should normally have a high school grade point average of 2.0). Course taken outside of Rollins (with the exception of Rollins affiliated study abroad courses) do not count towards your Rollins cumulative gpa. Some programs require a higher GPA: Alford Scholarship (3.6); Dean's Scholarship (3.2); Alonzo Rollins Scholarship (3.2); Presidential Scholarship (3.0); Centennial Scholarship (2.8); Florida Academic Scholars Fund (3.0); and Florida Merit Scholars (2.75). Grade point averages are checked at the end of the spring semester

COMPLETION RATE

Students must successfully complete 67% of coursework in order to meet SAP standards (defined as completion rate or pace). Transfer hours accepted into Rollins count as both hours attempted and hours completed. Incompletes and withdrawal grades count as attempted hours, but not toward completed hours.

$$\frac{\text{Completed Hours}}{\text{Attempted Hours}} = \text{Completion Rate}$$

Please note: if you have transfer hours, add the accepted transfer hours to Earned Hours and Attempted Hours in the calculation. An 'I' or 'R' grade in a course is considered a successful completion only after the grade is officially changed. A grade of 'F' is NOT considered to be a successful completion. A withdrawal is NOT considered to be a successful completion.

MAXIMUM TIMEFRAME:

Students must complete degree requirements within 150% of the published semester hour length of the academic program. Undergraduate degree requirements are 140 credit hours and, therefore, the maximum degree completion time frame is defined as 210 credit hours attempted.

Financial Aid Suspension

Students must meet all of the Qualitative and Quantitative Standards as outlined above in order to receive financial aid. If you do not meet one or more SAP requirements, a letter will be mailed to your permanent address on file as well as an email to your Rollins account. A notification in your Foxlink account will also appear. First time aid students are expected to meet these standards before any aid is awarded in their first year at Rollins.

SAP Appeal Reviews

If you successfully complete coursework that improves your Rollins gpa and/or completion rate, please notify the Office of Financial Aid once grades are available. As noted earlier, you are evaluated on an annual basis. However, you may request a SAP review at the end of any semester of enrollment. Please note that if approved, need-based grants and scholarships may only be reinstated for the upcoming semester. Loans may be available for the entire academic year.

You may also submit an appeal to the Office of Financial Aid. Information on how to submit an appeal will be provided in the email and letter notification. The SAP Appeal instructions are located at <http://www.rollins.edu/finaid/documents/SAP-Appeal-Instructions.pdf>

- Please provide a typed personal statement explaining the mitigating circumstances and what actions you are taking to ensure future academic progress.
- Provide any relevant documentation to support your appeal.
- If approved, you will be placed on financial aid probation for the upcoming semesters. Your SAP probation letter will outline the requirements needed to continue receiving financial aid in subsequent semesters.

The committee will review your appeal within 10-15 business days after receipt of your completed appeal form and the required documentation. Decisions are made after a careful review of your circumstances, federal regulations, and Rollins guidelines. You will be notified of the outcome via your Rollins email account. Regularly monitor your Rollins email for additional information.

Rights and Responsibilities of the Aid Recipient

APPLICANTS FOR FINANCIAL AID HAVE THE RIGHT TO

- Confidentiality. Financial aid records are protected by the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act.
- Appeal financial aid decisions about their application. Written appeals are submitted to the Student Aid Appeals Committee in care of the Student Financial Aid Office.

Campus Life

Admission to Rollins College

As a residential liberal arts college, education at Rollins is not limited to the classroom. Rather, the discipline of academic study is enhanced by many other opportunities for learning and personal development. Residential life, student self-governance, and extracurricular activities contribute distinctively to a student's education.

Catalogue Table of Contents

The Rollins student lives and works in a cohesive, dynamic community formed for the sake of learning and marked by its diversity. Rollins makes a special effort to attract students with diverse backgrounds, interests, and experiences in order to enrich the educational experience available to students on campus. Many students come to Rollins from New England, the Midwest, the Middle Atlantic States, Latin America, and Europe. This geographically diverse mix, which is represented also in terms of cultures, languages, and ethnicity, forms the basis for a cosmopolitan community of learners on Rollins' beautiful lakeside campus.

Community Responsibility

Rollins College is dedicated to fostering social responsibility as well as intellectual achievement and personal growth. For students to learn to live and work successfully with others, they must have respect for and be responsible to other members of the community, including other students, members of the faculty and staff, and residents of Winter Park.

Course DescriptionsArts & Sciences Special Degree Programs

The Code of Community Standards, created jointly by administrators, faculty, and students, is published annually on the Rollins web site (<http://www.rollins.edu/csr/policies/code.html>).

The Office of Community Engagement

Educational Programs and Opportunities

The Office of Community Engagement's vision is to create positive and meaningful relationships between Rollins College and the community at large through sustained involvement and service with and for each other. The Office supports this vision and the mission of Rollins by encouraging and promoting student, faculty, and staff involvement within our local and global communities. By providing the campus with innovative programs and resources, we help identify opportunities to volunteer and connect with the community, and help to educate and support service-learning in the curriculum. Through these services, the Office of Community Engagement is deeply committed to fostering lifelong civic engagement and social responsibility in every member of the Rollins community.

The Office of Multicultural Affairs

Sustainable Development and the Environment

The Office of Multicultural Affairs (OMA) connects students to opportunities for building relationships with others throughout Rollins and the larger community so that students can gain a greater awareness of themselves and others. Programs are created to foster dialogue and relationships around the intersections of race, national origin, religion, sexual orientation, ability, age, economic background, and gender. Being involved in the Cultural Action Committee or one of the thirteen (13) organizations underneath this umbrella group allows students to connect with one another through social and educational events. Students can also participate in Camp Alliance, a pre-orientation program for first-year and transfer students of historically underrepresented populations who pair with a "big brother or sister" to get acquainted with the Rollins community before the start of classes. Students can also continue on throughout the school year through Circle of Friends, a mentoring program addressing the concerns of historically underrepresented students through dialogues about identity, building community relationships, and fun social events. Through the Office of Multicultural Affairs and its collaboration with the Office of Admissions, students can assist in the recruitment of a more diverse student body through phone-a-thons, newsletters and Diversity Day, a day created to bring accepted students interested in issues of multiculturalism to campus to be a part of what Rollins has to offer.

Catalogue Archive

The Office of Multicultural Affairs also houses a resource library of books, DVDs, CDs, and magazines supporting various identities. These resources are available to any student, faculty, or staff member. Students can also participate in any of the Habitat for Humanity work days that are coordinated through the office or one of the many courses offered in collaboration with the Office of Multicultural Affairs.

Residential Life

Rollins students may select from three types of housing: traditional residence halls, residential organizations, and apartments. Most students live in one of the 18 residential facilities on campus. Residence halls accommodate from 18 to 250 students and are staffed by upper-class students who assist in developing community within the building. The staff helps students understand the basic rules and guidelines that are in place for positive community development and health/safety reasons. One Associate Director and two (2) Assistant Directors live on campus, providing a professional adult presence on campus. Residential organizations whose members share common interests include fraternities, sororities, Pinehurst, and the Service House. There are first-year Living-Learning Communities in McKean Hall, Rex Beach, and Strong Hall. Living in a residence hall provides challenges and opportunities that are an important part of the overall college experience.

More information about living on campus can be found at the Residential Life web site, www.rollins.edu/reslife.

Student Involvement and Leadership

The Office of Student Involvement and Leadership is a group of staff, volunteers, and professionals who are dedicated to improving the quality of life on campus through student involvement and leadership opportunities. Please visit us in Chase Hall.

The Office of Student Involvement and Leadership supports the mission of Rollins College by providing intentional learning opportunities that prepare students for responsible citizenship in a global, diverse society. The office stands to promote citizenship, multiculturalism, and community involvement through leadership education, experiential learning opportunities, student organization involvement, and campus programming. Our programs are aimed at creating innovative learning environments within and outside of the classroom, aiding the transition to college and beyond, and facilitating holistic development.

Students may benefit from the Office of Student Involvement and Leadership by:

- Developing new friendships,
- Connecting with diverse others,
- Exploring new leadership horizons,
- Connecting class and out-of-class experiences,
- Unveiling abilities and developing new skills,
- Building self-awareness, and
- Discovering that anyone can be a leader.

Health Services

The DuBois Health Center provides on-campus health services with a staff of a part-time physician, and two nurse practitioners. The College also offers a health insurance plan for all students. All entering first-year and transfer students are required to have a completed current medical history and current immunization record on file in the Student Health Center prior to matriculation.

Student Health Services provides on-campus medical treatment for mild illnesses and accidents. Serious illnesses and accidents are treated at two nearby hospitals and an urgent care center. All sessions and medical records are treated with strict confidentiality. Routine health care is free to Arts and Sciences students. Fees may be charged for specific laboratory work, treatments, medication, and specific physicals (annual school, athletic, gynecological).

Counseling Services

The College's Personal Counseling Center provides counseling for a range of student problems including adjustment to college, depression, substance abuse, and other personal concerns. Counseling services are free for Arts and Sciences students. Sessions are treated with strict confidentiality.

For more information, contact Counseling Services, (407) 628-6340.

Arts and Theatre

The arts have always been a highly visible part of the Rollins experience. Each year the college calendar is filled with concerts, exhibitions, lectures, readings, and performances that draw audiences from campus and the larger Central Florida community.

The Department of Music offers an eclectic array of concerts and showcases each year featuring distinguished visiting artists, faculty, and students. More than a dozen student groups, such as the Rollins Singers, the Rollins College Choir, the 10 O'Clock Jazz Ensemble, and the Percussion Ensemble provide performance experiences for majors and nonmajors. The Annie Russell Theatre and the Fred Stone Theatre present plays and dance productions throughout the academic year. Each February, Winter with the Writers, a Festival of the Literary Arts, brings distinguished authors to campus for readings, interviews, and master classes. The Cornell Fine Arts Museum presents several exhibitions each year and holds a collection of nearly 6,000 objects from ancient to contemporary. The Museum works closely with the Department of Art and Art History, offering student internships, serving as a resource for study and inspiration, and exhibiting the work of graduating studio art majors and minors in the annual Senior Art Show.

Athletics and Intramurals

Sports are a significant part of life at Rollins. Students have the opportunity to become involved in a variety of athletic activities and be part of the diversified intramural program for men and women which includes basketball, bowling, flag football, table tennis, surfing, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis, kickball, yoga, pilates, group exercise, and volleyball. Many intramural activities are co-ed.

The Alford Sports Center contains basketball courts, volleyball courts, a fitness weight room, locker rooms, a training room, classrooms, and department offices. Other facilities include Alford Boathouse, Bradley Boathouse, Alford Pool, Harper-Shepherd Field, Cahall Sandspur Field, Tiedtke Tennis Courts, and Martin Tennis Courts. These facilities are available to students at designated times.

The College has achieved considerable national recognition in intercollegiate competition with the aid of a modest scholarship program and solid academic standards. The varsity athletic program encourages individual participation in twenty-one intercollegiate teams: baseball, basketball, cheerleading, crew, cross-country, golf, sailing, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis, volleyball, and waterskiing. Rollins is a member of the Sunshine State Conference and Division II of the NCAA.

Religious Life

The mission of Knowles Memorial Chapel and the United Campus Ministries, led by the Dean of the Chapel, is to nurture the religious life in the Rollins community. The character and programs of the Chapel are interdenominational and interfaith, seeking to serve and support persons in a variety of faith traditions and to emphasize the conviction and commitments they share with one another. Each Sunday at 11:00 a.m., students help lead and participate in interdenominational services in the Chapel. Students, faculty, and others may relate to the Chapel as associates. Services of meditation, vespers, gatherings for spiritual responses to special crises or celebrations, weddings, and memorial services are offered.

The United Campus Ministry offers programs and a variety of religious services to Roman Catholics, Christians of all denominations, Jewish, and Muslim students.

The Dean of the Chapel is also the Director of the Center for Public Service, which offers a variety of volunteer opportunities.

Campus Safety

Rollins College has enjoyed a relatively safe and secure environment throughout its existence. Within this small, liberal arts institution, students, faculty, and staff enjoy daily positive interactions within a tightly-knit community setting. As a service-oriented department of the Vice President and Treasurer, Campus Safety has maintained the goal of serving the needs of the college community and ensuring everyone's safety, while exerting considerable effort in continuing to build a strong sense of community.

As a relatively small department that is comprised of 24 staff members, we function in essentially 6 roles: Safety Officers, Supervision, Dispatch Personnel, Emergency Management and Planning, R-Card (I.D.) Management, and Administrative Staff. The role of the department is to protect life and property, preserve peace, recover lost/stolen property, perform support services, maintain a sense of community security and confidence, and ensure compliance with all college rules and regulations.

In maintaining our principal aim of service to the college community, our message is one of a team concept. Realizing that ours is a singular but progressive role, we want to communicate that it is important for us to have your understanding, cooperation and assistance in order to better serve you.

For more information on campus safety, compliance and services, please visit our website at www.rollins.edu/safety.

Educational Programs and Opportunities

All Arts and Sciences students pursue either a Bachelor of Arts (Artium Baccalaureus) or Honors Bachelor of Arts (Artium Baccalaureus Honoris) degree. Requirements for these degrees are described in the Curriculum and Curricular Requirements and Special Degree Programs sections of this Catalogue. Both degrees are designed to ensure that students develop strong foundational skills as they pursue a course of study that is appropriately broad, but with an area of specialization. Foundational skills -- including expository writing, critical reading, quantitative reasoning, decision making and values, and oral communication -- are taught and reinforced in courses across the curriculum. Breadth of knowledge and an understanding of diverse methods of academic inquiry are encouraged through the College's other general education requirements. Specialization is emphasized within the College's majors, minors, and practical concentrations. Students may also construct and seek approval for a self-designed major that integrates courses from multiple departments.

Choosing a Course of Study

All first-year students enroll in a Rollins Conference Course during the fall semester. The faculty member teaching this seminar course serves as the student's academic advisor. Upperclass peer mentors assist with Rollins Conference Courses and help first-year students make the transition to college life and work.

By the end of the first year, students are encouraged to choose an academic advisor in their probable, or chosen, major field of study. Advisors assist students in designing a thoughtful course of study in light of life and career goals. They work with students in regard to course selection and registration, dropping and adding courses, selecting a major area of study, and improving study skills. An important part of this process involves consideration of a student's interests, aspirations, and abilities. The Office of Career Services provides additional programs to help students reflect on and understand their individual abilities and interests.

In addition, students may seek assistance from the staff of the Thomas P. Johnson Student Resource Center. Academic counselors in this Center support and supplement the faculty advising system, while providing advice and counsel on a wide variety of academic and personal matters.

Although Rollins provides an extensive network of faculty advisors and professional staff, the responsibility for meeting all requirements for graduation, both in general education curriculum and major program requirements, rests solely with each student. The Office of Student Records provides on its web site (www.rollins.edu/studentrecords) academic advising transcripts and general education summary reports available to students and faculty advisors. These reports are updated each term after final grades are posted and after most transfer work has been received. Students are responsible for monitoring progress toward meeting all requirements.

ROLLINS CONFERENCE COURSES

The Conference is a seminar class in which approximately sixteen first-year students meet with a member of the faculty to explore a topic in the faculty member's area of expertise. Faculty instructors are drawn from the full range of academic disciplines -- encompassing the arts, the sciences, the humanities, and the social sciences -- and include some of Rollins most distinguished faculty.

Conference topics are selected to be interesting, relevant, and challenging. Students are encouraged to think rigorously through reading and writing assignments and in discussion; and skills are emphasized that enhance the students' ability to succeed at Rollins. Throughout the first semester, the Conference professor also joins students in educational and social activities, and experiences that supplement and enhance the course. These might include film and theatre excursions, field trips, dinners and other social activities, and career exploration activities.

Academic Support Programs and Facilities

THE THOMAS P. JOHNSON STUDENT RESOURCE CENTER

The Thomas P. Johnson Student Resource Center, located on the second floor of Mills Memorial Building, is a comprehensive academic support center with programs designed to challenge students to take responsibility for their own learning, and to provide students with tools and feedback for developing learning strategies to achieve academic success.

The Writing Center, staffed by trained peer consultants from across the curriculum, welcomes writers at any stage of the writing process, from brainstorming, to revising, to final editing. Writers of all abilities benefit from putting their work before an audience. Through one-on-one conversations and occasional group sessions, consultants serve Arts and Sciences, Hamilton Holt School, and Master of Liberal Studies students, sharing strategies, questioning rhetorical choices, and summarizing their discussions for both clients and faculty members.

The Peer Tutoring Program hires and trains faculty-nominated peer tutors to help students understand and improve learning in specific courses. Since peer tutors have recently succeeded in these courses, they can often convince student clients to try more effective and efficient reading, learning, and problem-solving techniques. They then monitor students strategic use of these skills in later sessions, both individual and group. In addition, tutors give feedback on students understanding of course concepts in the early stages of writing. Professors and student clients receive copies of tutoring notes made during each session.

Academic Advising Support Services assist faculty advisors in helping students clarify and set academic goals, interpreting general academic requirements, and developing strategies for success. Professional staff provide advising support for students experiencing academic difficulty, students submitting academic appeals, first-year and transfer student registration, and for students pursuing the Accelerated Management Program. Other services include workshops and instructional sessions on time management, study skills, academic and career planning, test anxiety, and reading and note-taking strategies.

International Student Services provides a variety of services for international students planning on enrolling or enrolled at Rollins College. The office acts as a resource center for students, faculty, and administrators and seeks to develop a supportive on-going relationship with each international student. The International Student Services Coordinator helps students understand how to maintain legal immigration status, obtain legal employment authorization, and learn more about U.S. culture and higher education.

Services for Students with Disabilities provides assistance to students with documented disabilities as they become independent and successful learners within the academically competitive environment of the College. It is the responsibility of the student who will be seeking accommodations for a disability to contact the Disability Services Coordinator. For more information on policies and procedures, please visit our web site (<http://www.rollins.edu/student-success/disability-services/disability-services.html>).

For more information, or to make an appointment, call (407) 646-2354.

OFFICE OF EXTERNAL AND COMPETITIVE SCHOLARSHIPS

The Office of External and Competitive Scholarships provides information and support to students applying for prestigious honor scholarships such as the Rhodes, Marshall, Truman, Goldwater, and Udall. Professional staff provide information on scholarship possibilities and deadlines, consultation on personal statements, and support during the scholarship process. Information about scholarships is available in the office as well as through the website at: <http://www.rollins.edu/external-competitive-scholarships/>.

CAREER SERVICES

The Office of Career Services assists students and alumni in the career development process, focusing on self-assessment, career exploration, and career decision-making. The center provides a variety of services and resources including career counseling and planning, career information programs, experiential education and identification of employment opportunities. These services and resources are delivered in ways designed to reinforce the personal, social and intellectual development fostered by a liberal arts education.

For further information, contact the Office of Career Services, (407) 646-2195, or see the Career Services web site: www.rollins.edu/careerservices.

CAREERS IN LAW

The Center for Prelaw Advising at Rollins is designed to help prepare students for admission to law school. Students who have an interest (even if tentative) in attending law school following graduation from Rollins are encouraged to register at the Center early in the freshman year. Students will, at their request, receive assistance during their years at Rollins in addressing questions, choosing courses, and otherwise preparing for law school.

The Center offers:

- programs designed especially for students interested in the study of law, including meetings with leading judges, lawyers, public figures, and others;
- practice LSAT examinations, individual conferences with analysis and guidance in preparing for the formal test (normally taken in the junior year);
- assistance in securing special internships, clerkships with local law firms, and summer employment in the courts or with law firms.

The Center keeps in touch with leading law schools and stays current with the law school admission requirements.

CAREERS IN HEALTH RELATED PROFESSIONS

The Rollins Health Professions Advising Program is designed to help students prepare for admission into schools of human medicine, veterinary medicine, dentistry, optometry, podiatry, physical therapy, physician's assistant, and other health-related graduate programs. As it takes a minimum of two years to meet entrance requirements of these professional schools, students are encouraged to register with the Chief Health Professions Advisor and begin the appropriate course of study early in their college careers. The Health Professions Advising Program is coordinated by the Health Professions Advisory Committee (HPAC), which may be composed of faculty from the natural sciences, humanities, or social sciences.

The Committee and the Chief Health Professions Advisor provide the following services.

- Furnishes information on the appropriate course of study for each type of professional school.
- Generates and disseminates data about health careers.
- Maintains communications with regional health professional schools.
- Promotes student interaction with community professionals and health organizations.
- Advises students on the value of extracurricular and experiential activities in professional school admission.
- Assists students in preparing for admission examinations.
- Provides information and help in the application process.
- Collects information on each pre-professional student and conducts a formal interview.
- Provides a formal Committee evaluation to professional schools for each student requesting one.

OLIN LIBRARY

When Rollins College was founded in 1885, its library collection consisted of a Bible and a dictionary. More than 100 years later, students have at their disposal considerable library resources ranging from ancient tomes to the latest technology in information retrieval.

The Olin Library, a $4.7 million gift of the F.W. Olin Foundation, was dedicated in 1985. Rising impressively near the shores of Lake Virginia, the four-level, 54,000-square-foot structure retains the Spanish Colonial architecture that dominates the campus. A second gift of $2.7 million established the Olin Electronic Research and Information Center. The Center features the latest technology, including computer workstations, a variety of software applications, online databases, full Internet access, color printers, and digitizing equipment. These tools facilitate students' creativity as they pursue research questions, and prepare multimedia presentations and Web pages.

The Library's collections reflect the liberal arts mission of the College and strongly support the curriculum through a generous budget. Holdings currently include more than 303,000 volumes, 1,600 periodical and serial subscriptions, 13,200 periodicals available through electronic resources, 42,000 government documents, a number of special collections, and hundreds of compact discs, digital video discs, and videotapes.

The College Archives and Special Collections Department, housed on the first floor of the Olin Library, provides further opportunities for research in rare books and manuscripts and the historical records of Rollins College. Special collections emphasize the liberal arts character of the Library. Examples include the William Sloane Kennedy bequest of Whitmaniana; the Jesse B. Rittenhouse library of modern poetry and literature, including her correspondence with many literary personalities; the Mead and Nehrling horticultural papers; and an outstanding collection of Floridiana. The Archives offer a wealth of information to local historians, collecting both documents of the institution and extensive holdings on the history of Winter Park.

The Library faculty are information professionals who, in addition to providing individual reference and research consultation, teach courses in research methods to Rollins undergraduate and graduate students. The Olin Library is an integral part of the instructional, intellectual, and cultural life of Rollins College.

For further information, call (407) 646-2521.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

Rollins has made a significant investment in technology during the past several years. All residence hall rooms, as well as classrooms and labs are connected by wireless and wired to the campus network and to the Internet.

Several computer labs provide general and special-use facilities for students. Public labs are available in the Bush Science Center, Cornell Hall for Social Sciences, and the Olin Library's Electronic Research and Information Center. These labs are networked to printing facilities, the campus network, and the Internet. Computers for writing and quantitative learning instruction are available in the Thomas P. Johnson Student Resource Center in the Mills Memorial Center.

Public computers are also available in the Olin Library and Cornell Campus Center to provide convenient Internet and e-mail access. Most computer labs along with the Student Help Desk are available more than 90 hours each week, with 24 hour access available, in the Olin Electronic Research and Information Center.

More than 90-percent of Rollins students either bring their own computer to campus or purchase or rent computers through the College. Information on computer sales and rentals is provided to incoming students with their matriculation information and is offered to current students periodically during the school year. While both Macintosh and Windows computers are used on campus, preferences of Rollins faculty and students closely match those of the computer market in general; Windows PCs are the preferred platform for most, with the vast majority of computer software being used by faculty available in that format.

A variety of microcomputer software is available in the labs, including word processing, multi-media and web design, programming languages, statistical packages, and discipline-specific software for individual courses. E-mail and Web page storage for student web sites is provided to all students and accessible on the Rollins Web server at <http://www.rollins.edu>.

The Department of Information Technology offers courses throughout the year, both credit and non-credit, on topics such as Using the World Wide Web for Research, Digital Video, and Creating Home Pages on the World Wide Web.

Opportunities for student employment are varied within Information Technology, and include Web page design and writing, student lab assistants, and Help Desk and computer hardware consultants. In addition, IT grants are offered to about a dozen incoming students with strong interests in computer technology; information on this program is available from the Office of Admissions.

For additional information, contact the Department of Information Technology at (407) 628-6326.

PRESENTATION SYSTEMS

The College's Department of Presentation Systems, housed in the Bush Science Center, provides instructional support for a wide range of materials and information in audio, visual, and other non-print formats. The department supports various media-equipped classrooms and advises the student-operated cable television channel.

Special Curricular Opportunities

The traditional, four-year curriculum offered at Rollins is enriched by many special academic programs, most administered by Rollins and some sponsored by other institutions. Students may participate in various programs while in residence at the College, or enroll in programs that involve living at other colleges or traveling abroad.

INDEPENDENT STUDY

Independent Studies offer students an opportunity for specialized study and are meant to encourage intellectual curiosity, initiative, and sustained effort. Independent Studies (classified either as tutorials or research projects) must be sponsored by a faculty member, and approved by an academic department and the Office of the Dean of the Faculty. Proposal forms for Independent Studies are available (in electronic form suitable for download) on the Student Records web site (www.rollins.edu/studentrecords).

TUTORIALS

Working under the close supervision of a faculty member, students read primary and secondary material, and/or work in a laboratory or studio setting. Evaluation is usually based on a paper, an examination, or both. A tutorial cannot normally duplicate a course that is offered regularly. The student must meet formally with the instructor a minimum of one hour per week. Normally, sophomore status is required.

RESEARCH PROJECTS

To qualify, students already must have acquired the knowledge and skills necessary to do the research. This implies that the research is in the major (or in a closely allied field), and that the student has achieved junior or senior status. Such projects usually involve original research with primary materials or original work in the laboratory or studio.

ACADEMIC INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

"An internship is any carefully monitored work or service experience in which an individual has intentional learning goals and reflects actively on what he or she is learning throughout the experience" (The National Society for Experiential Education). Internships are viewed as being an integral part of a student's academic program. The Rollins Academic Internship Program enhances students' internship experience through in-depth reflection and critical analysis of the work environment. Students are encouraged to take advantage of the numerous internship opportunities approved for academic credit through the Office of Academic Internships and the Office of Career Services. With the appropriate consents, students also have the option of developing their own internships locally, at home, or abroad for academic credit. In addition, students can earn academic credit for structured, study abroad internships approved through the Office of Academic Internships and Office of International Programs. Again, all internships for academic credit must be pre-approved and no credit will be granted retroactively.

Eligibility Criteria

In order to be eligible for the Academic Internship Program (AIP), a student must have earned a minimum of 30 (thirty) semester hours of credit and not be on academic or judicial probation during the semester in which they are enrolled for the internship. Students may enroll in one (1) academic internship per semester, and a maximum of four (4) semester hours of credit may be earned for any internship in a single semester. A student who completes the same internship multiple terms may only receive academic credit for that internship during one (1) term. A maximum of 12 (twelve) semester hours of internship credit may be applied towards graduation. Appeals to these academic policies should be submitted to the Academic Appeals Committee through the Thomas P. Johnson Student Resource Center.

Registration

A student may enroll in an academic internship during a regular semester (fall or spring) or during the summer. A student may earn two, three, or four (2, 3, or 4) semester hours of academic credit for an internship. Each credit hour requires a minimum of 40 hours of work at the internship site within the dates of the semester. Students should submit an Intent to Register Form and a Credit Approval Form to the Office of Career Services by the published registration deadline for each semester. If the internship has not previously been approved for academic credit, an Internship Posting Form must also be submitted before the published deadline. All forms and published deadlines may be found on the Office of Career Services' website <http://www.rollins.edu/careerservices/>.

Course Requirements

The Director of Academic Internships or a designated faculty member supervises students enrolled in academic internships. This individual maintains contact with both the student and the host organization, and makes decisions regarding the granting of credit at the end of each semester. The requirements for the successful completion of an internship include, attending a mandatory orientation, working a minimum of 40 hours per semester hour earned, and submitting comprehensive reflection assignments that may include: writing reflective journals, establishing learning objectives, submitting evaluations, and a final paper. The summer internship course requires a matriculation fee. The semester dates for summer academic internships are set by the designated internship instructor, and may begin as early as the day after commencement and last up to nine (9) weeks. All credit requirements for summer internships must be completed within the nine-week time period.

Interdisciplinary, Major or Minor Credit

Students may earn interdisciplinary, major, or minor credit by completing an academic internship. Many students choose to complete internships for interdisciplinary credit that does not fulfill major or minor requirements. The grade for an internship is either credit or no-credit (CR/NC) and is listed on the student's transcript as INTN (or a departmental prefix) 397:

Internship.

To receive interdisciplinary credit for an internship, students should take a Credit Approval Form to their Faculty Advisor to secure his/her signature indicating that they are aware their advisee will be completing an internship for academic credit. To receive major or minor credit for an internship, the Credit Approval Form should be signed by both the student's Faculty Advisor and the Department Chair/Internship Representative. Students should first check with their Faculty Advisor to ensure they have satisfied all department prerequisites to participate in an internship for major or minor credit. Departments approving internships for major or minor credit should adhere to the minimum standards of the Academic Internship Program. The Department Chair/Internship Representative should request to see the internship job description before approving the internship. The Department Chair/Internship Representative have the option to add supplemental requirements in order for the student to receive credit. These additions to the internship syllabus must be communicated both to the student and the Director of Academic Internships prior to starting the internship. Students who earn credit in the major or minor are typically registered for four (4) semester hours. The Department Chair/Internship Representative that has approved major or minor credit should give the final grade approval of CR/NC to the Director of Academic Internships or the designated faculty member supervising the internship course. An internship that is declined for major or minor credit may still be approved for interdisciplinary credit that counts towards students' general elective requirements. International Business majors must have the approval of the Director of International Business Internships prior to pursuing internships intended to fulfill the major requirement.

Approval of Transfer Credit

Internships taken pass/fail (P/F) or credit/no-credit (CR/NC) at other institutions will be awarded academic credit only if certain criteria are met. These criteria are as follows. 1) The internship must be pre-approved by the Director of Academic Internships. 2) The internship course must have a written syllabus stating that it is an academic course, not just a work experience. 3) The requirements for receiving credit must be specified. 4) There must be an academic advisor assigned to the student who will provide continual supervision of the intern during the semester. 5) There must be a minimum of 40 hours of work for each credit hour earned. 6) A maximum of four (4) credit hours will be accepted for credit. 7) The student must establish learning objectives, and those objectives must be evaluated throughout the semester by both the student and the academic advisor to insure that the internship is progressing. 8) A final project must be required. This project could be a paper or a portfolio assessment of the internship experience. The project should stress the learning aspect of the internship and include an assessment of the learning objectives. A journal alone will not be acceptable. The project must be submitted to the Director of Academic Internships for evaluation. 9) The student must receive a satisfactory written evaluation from the internship site. 10) The student must complete all requirements as stated in the syllabus, and must submit a copy of the final project/ paper and written evaluation to the Director of Academic Internships before transfer credit will be approved.

INTERNATIONAL AND OFF-CAMPUS STUDY

Rollins College is committed to enhancing its international opportunities abroad and on-campus. International study experiences equal in quality and rigor to Rollins' academic programs are an integral component of this mission. A variety of off-campus programs allows eligible Rollins students the opportunity to extend their education beyond the campus. International Programs offers study abroad advising, pre-departure orientation, materials and assistance, and comprehensive support for students before, during and after they are abroad, regardless of the program sponsor. For more detailed information, students may contact the Office of International Programs or visit its website, www.rollins.edu/int-programs.

Students must apply online for any and all programs through Rollins International Programs Application (RIPA), available through Foxlink. The application deadline for winter and spring programs is typically at the end of September or the beginning of October; the deadline for spring break programs is typically in November; and the deadlines for summer, fall and academic year programs are typically in February.

For information regarding financial aid for these programs, see "Aid for Off-Campus Programs" in the Student Financial Aid section of this Catalogue.

Rollins College Approved Semester Programs.

Rollins Approved Semester Programs are offered in a wide variety of locations around the world, including two programs in the US. These programs are offered in cooperation with institutions and organizations overseas and in the United States and they have been carefully reviewed, selected and developed with the Rollins mission and Rollins students in mind. Students are charged a comprehensive fee for all programs equivalent to standard Rollins tuition, room and board. Students accepted into these programs may apply their Rollins, Federal, and state financial aid (exceptions may include work study, academic department and athletic scholarships), to the program cost for the first semester abroad. Students who wish to participate in two Approved Semester Programs can only apply Rollins scholarships and grants to both programs if one of the two programs is an exchange program. If both semester programs are not exchange, the student may still participate and earn credits, but Rollins scholarships and institutional aid will not apply to the program costs, though Federal and State Financial Aid will still apply. All earned grades are factored into the Rollins grade point average and are counted towards President's List and Dean's List. Courses are either considered Rollins courses, or may be approved as transfer credits: this varies by program; see the individual program descriptions below for further details. For any credits that are accepted as transfer credits, grades lower than a C- will still display on the Rollins transcript and be factored into the Rollins grade point average. Unless otherwise noted below in the individual program descriptions, students may participate in an Approved Semester Program for either the fall or spring semester, or for the full Academic year.

General Requirements for Admission: good academic and social standing, clean conduct record at Rollins College, sophomore standing or above, minimum of a 2.5 cumulative grade point average.

Additional Requirements for Admission: individual programs may have additional requirements including program-specific GPA and language requirements. See the individual program descriptions below for further details.

Rollins College Approved Summer Programs.

Currently Rollins offers two Approved Summer Programs: Verano Español in Madrid, Spain, led by Professor Alberto Prieto-Calixto; and Live, Learn and Labor: Latin-America, led by Professor Cecilia McInnis-Bowers. Courses on these programs are considered Rollins College courses and grades are factored into the Rollins grade point average. General Requirements for Admission: good academic and social standing, clean conduct record at Rollins College, sophomore standing or above, minimum of a 2.5 cumulative grade point average.

Dual-Degree Programs

Currently Rollins offers one International Business Dual-Degree program with Reutlingen University in Germany. Students on this program spend the first four semesters at Rollins, the next three semesters in Germany, including a one-semester full-time internship, and then return to Rollins for the final semester. Students will develop strong business, cross-cultural, and language skills while earning a Bachelor of Arts in International Business from Rollins College and a Bachelor of Science in International Management from Reutlingen University. Students must apply before January 15 of the first year at Rollins. General Requirements for Admission: minimum 3.2 cumulative grade point average, International Business major, appropriate level of German language skills, endorsement by the DDP Faculty Director.

Field Study Courses

Short courses taught by Rollins faculty are offered each year in diverse international locations for one and a half to four weeks during winter break, over spring break, or at various points throughout the summer break. Field course offerings and credit varies from year to year. Field studies are either connected to fall or spring term courses or function as stand-alone courses; students typically earn two (2) to four (4) semester hours of credit for field study courses. Travel costs range from $1,500 to $4,500 per course and limited need-based scholarships are available. These courses are Rollins College courses and grades are factored into the Rollins grade point average. General Requirements for Admission: good academic and social standing, clean conduct record at Rollins College, minimum of a 2.0 cumulative grade point average.

Academic Appeals for International and Off-Campus Study

Students may consider submitting an academic appeal for the following issues that may arise before, during, or after the semester abroad:

- Petition to apply for an Approved Semester, Summer or Field Study program with a GPA below 2.5
- One-time late credit/no credit declaration
- Late withdrawals from courses taken abroad
- Appeal to count a course towards a specific graduation requirement
- Grade appeal ONLY for courses taken abroad for which you earn Rollins (not transfer credit)

Rollins College will NOT accept appeals for the following:

- Grade appeal for courses taken abroad for which you earn transfer credit. These are courses offered at another institution and Rollins College cannot fairly evaluate the student work outside of the context of the full course. You may, however, choose to pursue a grade appeal through your host institution. If you do this, staff and faculty at Rollins College can review the process at the host institution to insure that it meets Rollins expectations for a fair and ethical grade appeal process.
- Adjustments to the grade and credit translation for your program. When study abroad programs are approved, the curriculum committees on campus review and approve a fair and acceptable translation for grades and credits for all programs where the credit and grading scales used at the host institution are not comparable to standard US scales.

Other Programs.

International Programs coordinates transfer credit approval for other study abroad programs in cooperation with academic departments and the Office of Student Records on a case-by-case basis. Students take a leave of absence to participate and are responsible for a $550 fee for semester and academic year programs, and a $150 fee for summer and short-term programs; credits may be pre-approved as transfer credits but grades are not factored into the Rollins grade point average, and Rollins, Federal, and state financial aid may not be applied. All other transfer credit policies apply.

ISA at the University of Belgrano, Argentina

The semester program at the University of Belgrano through ISA (International Studies Abroad) provides students the opportunity to study for the semester at a highly ranked university in Latin America. SERVICE-LEARNING

Service-learning offers students an opportunity to combine classroom theory and knowledge with practical community experience. In service-learning courses, students will, as part of the class, spend time volunteering in the community. Service-learning is the various pedagogies that link community service and academic study so that each strengthens the other. The basic theory of service-learning is Dewey's: the interaction of knowledge and skills with experience is key to learning. Students learn best not by reading the Great Books in a closed room but by opening the doors and windows of experience (Thomas Ehrlich, in Barbara Jacoby and Associates, Service-Learning in Higher Education: Concepts and Practices, San Francisco, California, Jossey-Bass, 1996).

For more information on service-learning courses at Rollins College, please contact the Office of Community Engagement, (407) 975-6406, or see www.rollins.edu/communityengagement.

Special Degree Programs

The Honors Degree Program

Rollins offers a special program in the liberal arts for students with exceptional abilities. The Honors Degree Program admits students with a superior record of academic achievement and leads to a distinct and separate undergraduate degree Artium Baccalaureus Honoris the Honors Bachelor of Arts Degree. Honors students complete a core sequence of interdisciplinary courses designed to provide an integrated understanding of the liberal arts. A series of four team-taught seminars during their first and second years introduce students to the various methods of inquiry in the liberal arts. These courses substitute for some of the general education requirements of the regular bachelor's degree program and are designed to: (1) teach students to think and write critically across a broad range of disciplines and (2) encourage and prepare students to be independent thinkers.

HONORS STUDENTS

Most Honors students are admitted to the program prior to their first year at Rollins. With regard to academic and social permissions, they enter the College with sophomore status. Attending small, interactive seminars together for four years, Honors students get to know each other and form a community of learners based on shared experiences, collaborative projects, and lively discussions. This sense of community begins during their first days on campus with the Honors Conference Seminar and culminates with the Darrah Honors Synoptic Seminar, in which students will be presented with a series of contemporary problems and will demonstrate how each discipline would contribute to an understanding and a solution to these problems. Special Honors Dinners and other Honors activities further enhance this sense of community. Students find that the challenge and excitement of learning is not dependent solely on faculty members, but arises freely and spontaneously within this community of peers.

Adventurous students are encouraged to spend a semester away from the campus (usually in the junior year) pursuing experiential learning, study abroad, or some other exceptional educational opportunity.

ADMISSION

Entering first-year students are eligible for the Honors Degree Program if their high school record shows evidence of special scholastic attitude and aptitude. Honors students normally constitute the top 10-percent of the entering class. The Honors Program Supervisory Board, together with the Office of Admissions, reviews the files of the most promising entering students in order to identify and select candidates for the Program.

Transfer students with forty (40) or fewer semester hours may also be selected for admission. In addition, each year a small number of Rollins sophomore students are also admitted to the Honors Degree Program based on their academic performance, the rigor of their schedules as first-year students, and recommendations from their professors.

GRADUATION REQUIREMENTS

I. COURSES AND CREDITS

(See Courses of Instruction, Honors Degree Program for course descriptions.)

A. Seminars

- HON 201 and HON 202
- HON 301 and HON 302
- HON 490

B. Independent Studies

- Honors Degree Program students must complete a two-semester Honors-in-the-Major-Field project (total of eight [8] semester hours) approved and supervised by the student's major department. One member of the student's committee must be a faculty member from the Honors Degree Supervisory Board or a faculty member approved by the Board. In addition, each student must make a presentation in the fall semester to his/her committee about the nature of the project and work that has been completed to that point, and make a detailed defense of the project to his/her committee and a more general public presentation of his/her work at the end of the spring semester. The eight (8) semester hours for the Honors-in-the-Major-Field project may count toward requirements credit in the student's major at the discretion of the student's major department.

C. General Education Requirements

- Knowledge of Other Cultures (C)
- Decision Making and Valuation (V)
- Foreign Language (F)
- Lab Science (O or P, and N)
- Quantitative (Q)

D. Major Field

- Complete courses required for major (48-64 semester hours)

E. Electives

- Includes an optional minor of six to eight courses (32-48 semester hours)

For the sake of providing flexibility in their academic scheduling, Honors students are required to complete only two physical education courses:

- one Basic Physical Education (BPE) and

- one Physical Education Activity (PEA).

Nonetheless, the Program does support the principle of a sound mind in a sound body and therefore recommends the usual three (3) physical education courses.

Students must fulfill the above academic requirements in no less than 140 semester hours.

II. GRADES AND EXAMINATIONS

Candidates for the Honors B.A. Degree must maintain a minimum cumulative average of 3.33 to continue in the program and earn the degree. They must also earn a grade of 'B' or better for their Honors-in-the-Major-Field project. Latin honors at graduation (Cum Laude, Magna Cum Laude, and Summa Cum Laude) are awarded in the Honors Program on the basis of cumulative GPA, with the same numerical criteria as in the rest of the College (see the Curriculum and Academic Policies section of this Catalogue).

THE HONORS DEGREE SUPERVISORY BOARD

The policies and procedures of the Honors Program are monitored by the Honors Degree Supervisory Board. The Board consists of the Dean of the Faculty (or designate), the Director of the Honors Degree Program (a faculty member), the Dean of Admission (or designate), a representative from the Office of Student Records, three other faculty members, and four student representatives. Faculty members of the Board are appointed annually, and the student members are chosen annually by the Honors Degree candidates of the four respective classes. These representatives may call meetings of the honors students during the year to discuss the program and make suggestions.

Combined and Cooperative Degree Programs

The College offers three combined and/or cooperative degree programs:

ACCELERATED MANAGEMENT PROGRAM (A.B./M.B.A.)

Outstanding Rollins students have an opportunity to obtain both the College's Artium Baccalaureus (AB) degree and the Master of Business of Administration (MBA) degree in five (5) years through the College's Accelerated Management Program (AMP). The first three years of study are completed in the College of Arts and Sciences; the second two years are completed in the Crummer Graduate School of Business through the Early Advantage MBA program.

As part of the structure required by the Accelerated Management Program, students agree to adhere to specific academic and experiential requirements listed below. Acceptance into the Early Advantage MBA program is conditional upon the student's satisfactory completion of these requirements:

- Term grade point averages of 3.2 or better while participating in the program and a cumulative grade point average of 3.2 or better by the end of the third year.
- Attendance at all scheduled AMP seminars during the first three (3) years.
- Completion of all general education curriculum, major, and minor (if declared) requirements prior to the end of the third year.
- Completion of at least one (1) internship prior to the end of the third year.
- Completion of at least 108 earned semester hours by the end of the third year.
- Completion of graduation petition and graduation compliance audit forms (general education, major, and minor) in spring term of the third year.
- A score of at least 600 on the Graduate Management Admissions Test (GMAT) by the end of the fall term of the third year.
- Preparation of an accepted resume and videotaped mock interview prior to the end of the third year.
- A personal interview with the Director of Admissions, Crummer Graduate School of Business.

Students not accepted into the Accelerated Management Program as part of the admissions process may make application to the Program during the spring of their first year. The application is required by not later than April 15 and is available from the Program Coordinator. Students will be notified of acceptance by the fall of their second year. Application to the Accelerated Management Program may not be made in the second or third year.

For further information, contact the AMP Program Advisor in the Thomas P. Johnson Student Resource Center at 407-646-2354.

PRE-ENGINEERING PROGRAM (A.B./B.S.)

Rollins College cooperates with Auburn, Columbia, and Washington (St. Louis) Universities in combined programs designed for students who wish to become professional engineers. Students attend Rollins for three years in a program of liberal arts and science before transferring to the engineering school. Students receive a bachelor's (A.B.) degree from Rollins and a Bachelor of Science (B.S.) degree from the engineering school.

To receive the A.B. degree from Rollins College with a major in pre-engineering, students must complete a set of core requirements in the sciences and mathematics; must satisfy all general education requirements of the College; must complete an approved area of concentration in Physics, Chemistry, Mathematics or Computer Science; must successfully complete at least 105 semester hours of study at Rollins; and must complete at least 35 semester hours of study leading to the B.S. in engineering at one of the cooperative engineering schools. These requirements are normally met by the end of the fifth year of study. It is very important for students to understand that they cannot stay at Rollins for four years and major in pre-engineering. In order to satisfy the requirements of this program they must complete at least 35 hours of study at one of the cooperative engineering schools.

Fields of study available at the cooperating engineering universities include aerospace, biomedical, biosystems, chemical, civil, computer, earth and environment, electrical, electrical and systems, energy, environmental and chemical, industrial, materials, mechanical, operations research, software, structural, systems, and textile engineering. Other fields are engineering and management systems, engineering mechanics, and computer science and engineering.

The first- and second-year requirements at Rollins for all of these programs include the following courses.

CORE REQUIREMENTS

1. Mathematics (5 courses)

- MAT 111 Calculus I
- MAT 112 Calculus II
- MAT 211 Calculus III
- MAT 230 Linear Algebra
- MAT 305 Ordinary Differential Equations

OR

- MAT 111-112 Calculus I and II AND PHY 220-221 Math Methods for Physical Sciences I and II

2. Physics (4 courses)

- PHY 120 General Physics I
- PHY 131 Principles of Physics II
- PHY 132 Experimental Physics I
- PHY 230 Modern Physics

3. Chemistry (2 courses)

- CHM 120 Chemistry I
- CHM 121 Chemistry II

4. Computer Programming (1 course)

- CMS 167A/167B Introduction to Computer Programming OR PHY 325 Computational Physics

Additionally, all students must complete the requirements in one of the following approved areas of concentration.

Physics

PHY 220 Mathematical Methods for Physical Sciences I

PHY 221 Mathematical Methods for Physical Sciences II

PHY 232 Experimental Physics II

PHY 233 Modern Electronics

PHY 308 Mechanics

PHY 314 Electricity and Magnetism

Chemistry

CHM 220 Organic Chemistry I

CHM 221 Organic Chemistry II

CHM 305 Physical Chemistry I

plus two approved courses in chemistry at the 300 or 400 level.

Mathematics

MAT 111 Calculus I

MAT 112 Calculus II

MAT 140 Introduction to Discrete Mathematics

MAT 211 Calculus III

MAT 219 Probability and Statistics

MAT 230 Linear Algebra

MAT 305 Ordinary Differential Equations plus one additional course in mathematics at the 300 or 400 level.

Computer Science

MAT 140 Introduction to Discrete Mathematics

CMS 167 Introduction to Computer Programming

CMS 170 Computer Science Principles I

PHY 233 Modern Electronics

CMS 230 Introduction to Computer Systems

CMS 270 Computer Science Principles II

CMS 330 System Software Principles

During their sophomore year, students should meet with Dr. Kenneth Pestka II, Coordinator of the Cooperative Engineering (Pre-Engineering) Program, and plan a sequence of advanced courses that satisfy the concentration requirement at Rollins. The areas of concentration are similar to a minor in the field of study. Please refer to The Rollins College Cooperative Pre-Engineering Program: A Guide for Students and Advisors for details; it is available at <http://www.rollins.edu/as/academics/departments-majors-minors.html> within Pre-Engineering under Three/Two Programs.

For further information, contact Dr. Kenneth Pestka II, Program Coordinator, (407) 691-1279.

ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT (A.B./M.E.M. or M.F.)

This cooperative program offers an excellent opportunity to combine liberal arts with a graduate degree in environmental management or forestry from the Duke University School of the Environment. Duke's graduate program in these areas is one of the best in the country. Students spend three years at Rollins followed by four terms at Duke and receive the Rollins A.B. degree, and the Master of Environmental Management (M.E.M) or the Master of Forestry (M.F.) from Duke. The M.E.M. degree offers majors in resource ecology, water and air resources, or resource economics and policy. The M.F. degree represents a major in forest resource management. Concurrent graduate degrees in business administration, environmental law, or public policy are also available with two additional terms at Duke.

For further information, contact Dr. Katie Sutherland, Program Coordinator, (407) 691-1075.

DUAL-DEGREE PROGRAM (A.B./B.S.)

Outstanding Rollins students have an opportunity to obtain both the College's Artium Baccalaureus (AB) degree and the Bachelor of Science (B.S.) degree from Reutlingen University in Germany in four (4) years through the College's Dual-Degree Program (DDP). The first four semester years of study are completed in the College of Arts and Sciences; the next three semesters are completed at Reutlingen University; the eighth and final semester is completed at Rollins College.

As part of the structure required by the Dual-Degree Program, students agree to adhere to specific academic and experiential requirements listed below. The DDP Faculty Director will consult with German language faculty and with International Programs in February of the fourth semester to assess candidates for continuation to Reutlingen University. Completion of the DDP minimal expectations is a requirement of the DDP program; however, the official admissions decision is subject to final approval by Reutlingen University:

Following are the minimal expectations of participants in the DDP:

- Mandatory participation and attendance at required DDP events and meetings during the first four semesters
- Maintenance of a 3.2 or higher grade point average during the first four semesters
- Declaration of International Business as a chosen major before the second semester
- Appropriate level of German language skills as assessed by the German language interview in the third semester
- Completion of all International Programs requirements
- Endorsement by the DDP Faculty Director

Students not accepted into the Dual-Degree Program as part of the admissions process may make application to the Program during the first year. The application is required by not later than January 15 and is available from the Dual-Degree Program Faculty Director. Students will be notified of acceptance within one month of application. Application to the Dual-Degree Program may not be made in the second year.

Student Records

Rollins College
1000 Holt Avenue
Winter Park, Florida 32789-4499
(407) 646-2000

Curriculum and Curricular Requirements

Academic Requirements

To be eligible for the Bachelor of Arts degree, a student must complete the following requirements, in addition to courses outlined in the major. A student may fulfill the requirements specified in this Catalogue or any subsequent Catalogues maintained and updated regularly on the College's web site, while the student is continuously enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences. However, a student who withdraws or is dismissed from Rollins may be required to follow any curricular policies in effect at the time of the return.

STATEMENT OF RESPONSIBILITY

Students are responsible for knowing and meeting all degree requirements and academic regulations listed in the College Catalogue. Academic advising transcripts and general education completion reports are available to all students on the Office of Student Records web site (www.rollins.edu/studentrecords) to assist them in keeping informed about progress made toward the degree. Questions concerning degree requirements and academic regulations should be addressed to the academic advisor or the Assistant Dean for Academic Administration and Records.

CREDIT

Students must complete a minimum of 140 semester hours of academic work, of which at least sixty-four (64) semester hours must be outside a single departmental prefix. All students must complete a minimum of sixteen (16) semester hours that are not used to meet either a general education curriculum or major requirement.

GRADE POINT AVERAGE

Students must earn a minimum academic average of a 2.00 ('C') for all courses taken at Rollins and achieve a minimum academic average of a 2.00 ('C') for all courses taken to fulfill major and minor requirements.

GRADUATION PETITION AND SENIOR AUDIT

Students must complete and submit a Graduation Petition to be considered for graduation. In addition, students are responsible for preparing, submitting, and obtaining approval for their Senior General Education, Major, and if appropriate, Minor Audits. The Senior Audits document, by academic advisor and major/minor department chair approval, that all general education curriculum and major/minor requirements have been met.

Students may not receive degrees (including diploma or final transcript showing degree completion) until all graduation forms have been submitted and all graduation requirements have been completed. The degrees are awarded in December, May, and August, therefore the degree completion date will be the next degree date following the completion of graduation requirements and receipt of all forms and transcripts.

RESIDENCY

Once admitted to full-time degree status in the College of Arts and Sciences or College of Professional Studies, students must complete at least seventy (70) semester hours in the College (including Rollins or Rollins-affiliated off-campus courses, and approved Hamilton Holt School courses). Moreover, students must be enrolled full-time in the College of Arts and Sciences or College of Professional Studies during the last two (2) consecutive semesters (excluding summer terms).

HONORS AT GRADUATION

Faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences make the distinction Cum Laude (with honors). In making such awards, the faculty requires that both of the following criteria be met.

- Grade Point Average
  - Cum Laude: 3.50-3.69
  - Magna Cum Laude: 3.70-3.89
  - Summa Cum Laude: 3.90-4.00
- Endorsement by the major department.

COMMENCEMENT

Graduating seniors participate in an annual Commencement ceremony held each May. Only students who have completed all graduation requirements may participate in the Commencement ceremony.

Petitions of Academic Appeal to participate in Commencement without all graduation requirements complete will be considered only when the following conditions are met.

- 1) The student has an overall GPA of 2.0 ('C') and a 2.0 ('C') GPA in the major and minor both at the time of petition and at the time of Commencement;
- 2) the student presents a viable plan, including documentation of course availability and an approved Request to Study Outside of Arts and Sciences, consisting of no more than eight (8) semester hours; and
- 3) the department chair of the student's major approves the plan submitted.

Students who file a Request to Participate in Commencement and subsequently participate in the May commencement ceremony may not then enroll in regularly scheduled Arts and Sciences courses during any future fall or spring term. Request to Participate in Commencement forms to make such academic appeals are available from the Office of Student Records.

College honors, honors in the major field, nor any other College awards to graduating students will be neither recorded in programs, ascribed to student academic records, nor announced during ceremonies for any student who has not completed all graduation requirements at the time of Commencement. Students may participate in only one (1) graduation ceremony for Arts & Sciences.

The President approves degrees for students completing graduation requirements in fall term in December, for students completing requirements in spring term in May, and for students completing requirements in summer term in August.

General Education Curriculum

This curriculum is for students matriculating before fall 2014 and transfer students starting before fall 2015.

As preparation for "responsible citizenship and ethical leadership in local and global communities," as articulated in the February 2004 Rollins College mission statement, students need both breadth and depth in their learning experience. By majoring in at least one area of knowledge, students gain the depth necessary for disciplinary expertise, whereas the general education curriculum in the Arts and Sciences exposes students to varied perspectives and domains of knowledge. Additionally, in keeping with the mission of the College of Arts and Sciences, which is, in part, "to provide a rigorous liberal arts baccalaureate education of the highest quality," the general education curriculum exposes students to the ways various areas of knowledge may reinforce and enrich each other.

The faculty of the College of Arts and Sciences have identified the following set of core competencies within the general education program.

1. To obtain knowledge of the distinctive methodologies and subject matter of the sciences, social sciences, arts, and humanities.
2. Ability to read, think, write, and speak critically and analytically.
3. Ability to identify and articulate moral and ethical dimensions of a personal or social issue.

To be eligible for a Bachelor of Arts degree, students must complete one course from each of the general education areas listed below, with the possible exception of up to three courses to fulfill the foreign language 'F' requirement. Courses that meet these requirements are appropriately designated in the Schedule of Classes, published each term by the Office of Student Records. First-year students are also required to take a Rollins College Conference course, which may also fulfill a general education requirement.

Students may take an unlimited number of Foreign Language (F), Quantitative Reasoning (Q), Decision Making and Valuation (V), or Writing (W) courses within the major.

However, only one (1) additional general education curriculum course can be taken in the major from amongst the Expressive Arts (A), Non-Western Cultures (C), Western Society and Culture (D), Literature (L), Organic and Physical Sciences with Laboratory (O, P, and N), or Contemporary American Society (S), areas. Students may satisfy two (2) of this latter group of requirements within a self-designed major contract, but not within a single department.

Courses used to fulfill general education requirements must be taken for a letter grade, not on a credit/no-credit (CR/NC) basis. In addition, courses used to complete general education requirements may not normally be fulfilled through independent study - tutorial or research. The Office of Student Records may approve courses taken at regionally accredited institutions of higher education other than Rollins, or through International Baccalaureate (IB) or Advanced Placement (AP) courses, for general education curriculum credit. Approval designations will be noted on each student's Transfer Coursework Evaluation Form and Academic Advising Transcript (as provided on the Office of Student Records web site at www.rollins.edu/studentrecords).

General Education Areas

(A) Expressive Arts: Artistic creation is a central and enduring activity in all cultures. The arts attest to the fundamental human need for self-expression and for the transformation of human experience into lasting symbolic form. Furthermore, the great diversity of art forms across cultures is evidence of the degree to which human experience, while shared, is also culturally determined. Expressive arts classes provide students with an appreciation for aesthetic experience by teaching the skills necessary for individual aesthetic expression or by focusing on acquiring a critical vocabulary with which to articulate aesthetic experience, or both, depending on the discipline. The expressive arts thus encompass both primary aspects of artistic creation: its practice and its scholarly study.

(C) Non-Western Cultures: Humans have adapted to a wide range of habitats and developed a rich variety of ways of interpreting and understanding the world. The diversity of these interpretations is part of what defines our species. By analyzing a non-western culture, students will better understand what is common to human nature and how societies differ from each other. Knowledge of other cultures will allow students, in addition, to recognize the dangers of cultural stereotyping.

(D) Western Society and Culture: The ideas, arts, and institutions that define Western society and culture have emerged from a rich historical process. In order to understand, appreciate and critically evaluate any aspect of this culture, one must have an understanding of the context from which it arose. By studying the Western heritage in its historical development, students will be encouraged to see the historical dimensions of the issues they face as engaged citizens today.

(F) Foreign Language: Foreign Language study has an intimate and necessary connection with the educational goal of learning about oneself and one's relationship to the world. Language is not just the primary vehicle for the communication of culture; it is culture. As such, foreign language study offers a unique window of perception regarding non-English speaking cultures, a window through which students can learn to communicate in a language other than their native tongue, learn how other people live and what they value, or, in the case of ancient languages, delve into our rich culture and philological heritage. Second language study also provides insights into the nature of language and its power to shape ideas and expression. The 'F' requirement can be fulfilled by studying either an ancient or a modern language for one semester at the intermediate (200) and/or advanced (300) level.

Only the following students can be exempted from this requirement:

1. Foreign students who have been admitted to the College based on their TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language) score.
2. Students, who transfer to Rollins, who have completed the intermediate level of a foreign language from a regionally-accredited institution of higher learning.

Students who have taken the SAT-II, AP, or IB exams, regardless of their performance on these exams, are not exempt from this requirement.

Students are allowed to enroll at any level of the language they deem appropriate based on their previous preparation in secondary school. They will receive academic credit for all successfully completed courses. They may choose to enroll in elementary-level courses even though they have taken four years of high school study of a particular language. Nevertheless, students will fulfill the 'F' requirement only when they have taken at least one course at the intermediate (200) and/or advanced (300) level.

(L) Literature: Part of the reality and evolution of a mature culture resides in that culture's literary tradition, and the knowledgeable citizen will have read widely and understood that material. These courses expose the student to compelling contemporary writing as well as literary works that, by tradition and broad cultural consensus, have been deemed excellent in form or expression and of lasting, or even permanent, value and universal interest.

(O, P, and N) Organic and Physical Sciences with Laboratory: Humans live in and are part of the natural world. Our survival and success depends on our ability to understand, draw sustenance from, and sustain this world. Together, these courses focus on understanding the nature of science: its discovery process, the scientific method, and the historical sequence leading to major discoveries. Where possible, these courses discuss the social context of the science courses, and give examples of the interplay between science and society. Students must complete two sciences courses, one from the organic (life) or experimental behavioral sciences (O) and one from the physical sciences (P). A laboratory (N) is required with at least one of these two courses.

(Q) Quantitative Reasoning: Quantitative methods have become increasingly important in the natural and social sciences, business, government, and in many other activities that directly affect our lives. Furthermore, with the advent of fast computers with huge storage capabilities, it has become possible to collect, process, and disseminate large amounts of data. Playing an active role in the decision-making that shapes our society requires us to be able to interpret, analyze, and draw sound conclusions from the standard representations of data. This requirement may be satisfied by successful completion of a 'Q' course or by passing a 'Q' examination.

(S) Contemporary American Society: Because of the global prominence of the United States, a critical understanding of contemporary American society is a central component of a liberal arts education intended to prepare students for effective citizenship. The knowledge students acquire about American history, culture, and social institutions will contribute to their ability to reflect critically on their social environment and will enable them to sustain and transform the communities in which they live.

(V) Values: Through ethical values and moral principles, people find meaning in and justification of their actions as individuals, and as participants in their communities. Personal growth is encouraged by critically reflecting on one's own values, on the values of others, and on the values shaping society. Values courses improve students' abilities to articulate and evaluate the ethical principles involved in important decisions, in their own personal lives, or in society (either contemporary or historical).

(W) Writing: The communication of ideas, information, poetry, stories, intent, and even culture itself has been dependent on the ability of humans effectively to store facts and convert thoughts to written language. The ability to communicate ideas and information in writing is at the core of a liberal arts education and is essential for active citizenship. In covering both academic and (to a lesser degree) familiar writing, the W course focuses on understanding rhetorical strategies. Students will read the texts of others and learn to shape their own meanings by writing and editing a variety of forms.

Also included in the College's general education curriculum, but infused into one or more courses in each major discipline of study, are the following requirements.

Communication Across The Curriculum: A liberally educated person should be articulate and capable of effective listening. Oral communication skills are best developed if emphasized in a variety of disciplinary contexts. Students who acquire skills in oral communication are better prepared to perform in professional and civic life.

Writing Reinforcement: In a contemporary global society, one must be able to write coherently and thoughtfully in both public and professional spheres. To master the skills and rhetorical practices of writing within a given discipline, students must move beyond basic instruction to the complexities of audience analysis and engagement in the larger queries of an informed citizenry. Writing Reinforcement coursework requires students to produce a series of written assignments intended both to extend facility in English composition and to deepen understanding of course content. Students completing this requirement with ENG 140 must earn a grade of 'C' or better to receive the "W" general education designation.

Personal Fitness Requirements

Entering first-year students, or transfer students who have completed less than thirty (30) semester hours in any field, must satisfactorily complete three (3) terms of physical education. This includes one (1) term of Basic Physical Education (BPE) and two (2) terms of elective lifetime recreational activities (PEA). Students may be excused from PEA requirements for medical reasons. Transfer students with at least thirty (30) semester hours must take two (2) terms of PEA at Rollins, but are exempt from the BPE requirement. Transfer students who have completed sixty (60) semester hours in any field are exempt from both the BPE and PEA requirements. Students may not earn more than four (4) semester hours of credit for lifetime recreational activities (PEA) or varsity sport (PEV) courses combined.

Rollins Foundations in the Liberal Arts (rFLA)

This curriculum is for students matriculating in fall 2014 or later and transfer students starting in fall 2015 or later.

As preparation for "responsible citizenship and ethical leadership in local and global communities," as articulated in the Rollins College mission statement, students need both breadth and depth in their learning experience. By majoring in at least one area of knowledge, students gain the depth necessary for disciplinary expertise, whereas the rFLA curriculum in Arts and Sciences and the College of Professional Studies exposes students to varied perspectives and domains of knowledge. Upon successful completion of this general education curriculum, students will be able:

1. To demonstrate knowledge of the distinctive methodologies and subject matter of the sciences, social sciences, expressive arts, and humanities.
2. To read, think, write, and speak critically and analytically.
3. To identify and articulate moral and ethical dimensions of personal and social issues.

Additionally, in keeping with the mission of the College of Arts and Sciences, which is, in part, "to provide a rigorous liberal arts baccalaureate education of the highest quality," the rFLA curriculum exposes students to the ways various areas of knowledge may reinforce and enrich each other.

rFLA has three components: the Rollins College Conference (RCC), Competencies, and Neighborhoods.

1. The Rollins College Conference

All first-year students enroll in an RCC during the fall semester. Most students live in the same residence hall as their RCC classmates as part of the Living Learning Community program. The RCC is an interactive seminar class on a broad range of topics. Professors are drawn from all academic disciplines encompassing the arts, the sciences, the humanities, and the social sciences. Throughout the first semester, the RCC professor joins students in educational activities and co-curricular experiences that supplement and enhance the course. Upper-class peer mentors assist in the RCC and help first-year students with the transition to academics and life at the College. The faculty member teaching this seminar course also serves as the student's faculty advisor during their first year.

The RCC is not a prerequisite for any other course at Rollins, so students may advance if they fail their RCC course. However, no RCC may be taken for credit/no credit, so the grade earned in the RCC course will appear on the student's transcript.

2. The Competencies

Writing: In a contemporary global society, one must be able to write coherently and thoughtfully in both public and professional spheres. To master the skills and rhetorical practices of writing within a given discipline, students must move beyond basic instruction to the complexities of audience analysis and engagement in the larger queries of an informed citizenry. Writing coursework requires students to produce a series of written assignments intended both to extend facility in English composition and to deepen understanding of course content.

Writing competency courses may NOT be double-counted toward a major or minor. Students will complete this requirement by earning a C or better in any ENG 140 course, earning a C or better in an approved Rollins transfer course, or achieving an AP English Language and Composition exam score of 4 or 5.

Foreign Language: Foreign language study has an intimate and necessary connection with the educational goal of learning about oneself and one's relationship to the world. Language is not just the primary vehicle for the communication of culture; it is culture. As such, foreign language study offers a unique window of perception regarding non-English speaking cultures, a window through which students can learn to communicate in a language other than their native tongue, learn how other people live and what they value, or, in the case of ancient languages, delve into our rich culture and philological heritage. Second language study also provides insights into the nature of language and its power to shape ideas and expression.

Foreign Language competency courses may be double-counted toward a major. Students will complete this requirement by earning a C- or better in any Rollins course that carries the foreign language competency designation, earning a C- or better in an approved Rollins transfer course, achieving an AP Language exam score of 4 or 5, achieving an IB Language exam score of 6 or 7, or being an International Student admitted to Rollins College based on TOEFL score.

Mathematical Thinking: Responsible citizens make decisions that shape their lives, their society, and the world. Decision-making requires a variety of skills that will be strengthened as students complete a Mathematical Thinking competency course. Students will develop and sharpen their deductive reasoning and critical-thinking skills, enabling them to construct and articulate sound, precise, and convincing arguments and to evaluate the arguments of others. They will build and study mathematical and/or statistical models for real-world phenomena, and they will hone their ability to make estimates, develop the skills needed to draw well-founded conclusions and make reliable predictions. Students will demonstrate mastery of these skills as they apply to issues they will encounter in their subsequent course work, career, and daily life.

Mathematical thinking competency courses may be double-counted toward a major. Students will complete this requirement by earning a C- or better in any Rollins course that carries the mathematical thinking competency designation; earning a C- or better in an approved Rollins transfer course, achieving an AP Statistics exam score of 4 or 5, achieving an AP Calculus exam (A/B or B/C) score of 4 or 5, or achieving an IB Mathematics exam score of 4 or better.

Health and Wellness:

Personal health decisions are critical examples of people assimilating, understanding, and applying academic knowledge. In Health and Wellness courses students will learn to apply basic scientific, sociological and psychological constructs to everyday decisions that impact personal health. They will learn to discern facts from anecdotal stories in order to form intelligent models of behavior. Students will demonstrate mastery of these skills by assessing, on an individual basis, their own fitness level and lifestyle decisions and then analyzing those decisions using research-based models. This analysis will lead to an understanding of what constitutes a balanced and healthy lifestyle.

Students will complete this requirement by 1) earning a C- or better in any Rollins course that carries the Health and Wellness competency designation or earning a C- or better in an approved Rollins transfer course and 2) completing two (2) non-credit-bearing PEA requirements or participating in varsity sports for at least two years. Students may receive a medical exemption for the PEA requirement with appropriate documentation.

3. The Neighborhoods

To be eligible for a Bachelor of Arts degree, students must complete five (5) courses from one (1) specific Neighborhood (see descriptions below). Neighborhood courses are appropriately designated in the Course Schedule published each semester by the Office of Student Records.

Students may take one (1) neighborhood course from another neighborhood, excepting the neighborhood practicum, which must be taken in their neighborhood. Students may double-count one (1) neighborhood course toward their major.

Students may complete neighborhood courses and thus advance in the neighborhood by achieving a C- or better in neighborhood courses. The Director of rFLA may approve courses taken at regionally accredited institutions of higher education other than Rollins for neighborhood credit.

Students will select their neighborhood during the fall semester of their first year. In the spring of their first year they will take their first neighborhood class at the 100-level. Subsequently, students must take three (3) classes at the intermediate level, with at least one (1) class at the 150-level and 1 (one) class at the 200-level. To complete the neighborhood, students must take the neighborhood practicum at the 300-level. All competencies must be completed BEFORE the student enrolls in the practicum.

Neighborhood Descriptions

When Cultures Collide

How do people, cultures, and environments change when different worlds and worldviews encounter and interact with one another? Is every corner of the earth destined to look the same, or is it possible to resist the homogenizing forces of globalization? The increasing emphasis on global integration has catapulted these longstanding questions to the forefront of contemporary discussions about the world and our place within it. This neighborhood encourages students to examine the scientific, artistic, literary, cultural and socioeconomic effects of our evolving world. Topics of inquiry and exploration include hybridity and diversity in religion, music, and philosophy; the effects of globalization on human, animal, and plant development; and the social, political and cultural ramifications caused by migrations of people around the world.

Mysteries and Marvels

Black holes. Mona Lisa's smile. Atlantis. Houdini. The Holy Grail. How to live forever. Why he/she won't return my calls. At the same time as we find comfort in all that we know, believe, and hold to be true, we instinctively are propelled forward by the quest for knowledge of that which eludes us. This neighborhood invites students to explore and interrogate what we do not know about our world, our community, our friends and families, and ourselves. Through a diverse array of courses, students will have the privilege of examining all kinds of mysteries ranging from artistic marvels and scientific wonders to political and cultural blind spots and literary whodunits in order to acquire the skills and experience necessary to unlock the enduring mysteries of the universe or at least of contemporary college life.

Identities: Windows and Mirrors

Our identities from our fingerprints and Facebook profile to our family trees fundamentally shape the ways that we think about, feel, and interact with the world. This neighborhood provides students with the opportunity to put themselves under the microscope (literally and figuratively!) by exploring the diverse components that factor into the construction of the self. Learning how we define our ethnic, gendered, religious and cultural identities will, in turn, open up new ways of thinking about and engaging with the larger social, economic, political, and ecological networks of which we all are part. As we take the path toward global citizenship, the following questions will serve as our guide: What does it mean to be human? Where do I belong? What is a family? What can I do to make a positive impact on the world, and how?

Innovate, Create, Elevate

Global progress relies on people who are creative, innovative, and flexible. This neighborhood will prepare students to develop these essential attributes by teaching them how to explore and enhance their creative processes. Students who choose this neighborhood will be challenged to experiment with and in their world by testing its boundaries, pushing conventions, and devising new ways of thinking and doing things in this rapidly changing world. Courses will invite students to study the history of innovative thought, belief and practice across the centuries as well as identify opportunities for development and change in their own local and global communities. Through the process of learning what a change maker is and does, students will acquire the knowledge and skillsets to become ones themselves.

Transfer Students and rFLA (starting Fall 2015 or later)

Students entering Rollins with an AA degree from a Florida institution will not have to complete any rFLA requirements except the RCC.

Students entering Rollins with less than thirty (30) transferred credit hours must complete the entire rFLA curriculum.

Students entering Rollins with thirty (30) or more transferred credit hours BUT without an AA degree must take four (4) courses: a transfer RCC, which will also count as their 100-level neighborhood class; one (1) 150 and one (1) 200-level neighborhood class; and the neighborhood practicum (300-level) class. They must fulfill the competency requirements either with transfer credits or Rollins courses. The Director of rFLA may approve courses taken at regionally accredited institutions of higher education other than Rollins for neighborhood credit.

Major Requirements

Students must satisfactorily fulfill the requirements of an established major or the plan of study of a self-designed major. Department Chairs or Program Coordinators must approve course substitutions within the major. In addition, students must earn a minimum grade point average of 2.00 ('C') in the courses approved for the major as accepted on the senior audit.

Selecting a major does not imply a career choice. Concentration in a major field of study is designed to give students command of the content and methods of one discipline or field, acquaintance with recognized authorities in the field, and general competence in dealing with courses of research or analysis. A declaration of major must be filed in the Office of Student Records prior to registration for the junior year. Students who do not file declarations of major will not be allowed to register for subsequent terms.

Majors are noted on a student's official academic transcript, but not on the diploma.

HONORS IN THE MAJOR FIELD

Honors in the Major Field provides for independent research or special study during the senior year under the supervision of a three-member committee in the student's major. To be eligible for Honors in the Major Field, students must:

- achieve a minimum overall GPA of 'C+' (2.33) for all courses at Rollins,
- achieve a minimum overall GPA of 'B+' (3.33) for all courses taken in the major at Rollins, and
- receive endorsement of the committee for participation in the program.

Satisfactory performance on an approved thesis or individual project, an oral examination, and maintenance of the above averages qualifies a student for Honors in the Major Field, which is shown on the student's official academic transcript.

SELF-DESIGNED MAJORS

Self-Designed Majors are intended for disciplined and highly motivated students who are clearly focused in their interests. These majors reflect the College's recognition that not every student's area of special interest will always fall neatly within the bounds of a single discipline as traditionally defined.

The Self-Designed Major is not intended as a way for a student to avoid the intellectual focus and methodological rigor required in the normal departmental major or to avoid certain difficult courses within majors. It should not be used to concentrate work in a narrowly preprofessional way. On the contrary, by successfully completing the courses and integrative research project that constitute the Self-Designed Major, the student is expected to achieve a depth of focused reflection and understanding at least comparable to that of a traditional major.

Guidelines for Submission of a Self-Designed Major Proposal

1. Students proposing a self-designed major must have a grade point average of 3.33 or better.
2. The proposal must include the names of three faculty members willing to serve on the senior research project committee. The faculty must represent the three disciplines represented in the major. The student must select a director, from among these three, who works with the student and the other committee members in preparing the proposal. The director also serves as an advocate in the approval process. Once the proposal has been approved, the director serves as the student's academic advisor, monitors the student's progress in completing the major, and chairs the committee which reviews the senior research project.
3. The proposed major program must have a coherent theme or topic that integrates at least three traditional disciplines. It must be different enough from a regular major that some combination of major and minor would not substantially achieve the same result. The student must include a rationale for choosing a self-designed major rather than a conventional major.
4. The proposal must include a list of courses, all related to and converging on the theme of the proposed major, from at least three disciplines.
5. The major must include a two-term, 8-semester-hour independent research project, (or combination of a 4-semester-hour upper-level seminar and a one-term, 4-semester-hour research project) integrating the major, to be completed in the senior year
6. The program must be at least sixty-four (64) semester hours (including the senior project) in length, of which thirty-two (32) semester hours must be at the 300 level or above

The proposal must be submitted to the Associate Dean of Arts & Sciences for approval prior to March 1 of the sophomore year. The Associate Dean then submits the proposal to the Academic Affairs Committee for final approval. An Amendment Form must be submitted to approve any changes from the original proposal.

Minor Requirements

Students who declare a minor must fulfill satisfactorily the requirements of that minor as specified by the department or program, and must achieve a minimum academic average of a 2.00 ('C') for all courses taken to fulfill the minor. Minors normally involve twenty-four (24) to thirty-two (32) semester hours of study. As with majors, minors are noted on a student's official academic transcript, but not on the diploma.

Disciplinary minors are offered in conjunction with most of the majors in Arts and Sciences, plus communication, dance, German, Russian, teacher certification, and writing. Disciplinary minors are not offered in biochemistry/molecular biology, critical media and cultural studies, elementary education, international relations, or marine biology.

Interdisciplinary minors involve courses from more than one discipline or major. Interdisciplinary minors are offered in African/African-American studies, archaeology, Australian studies, classical studies, film studies, global health, Jewish studies, Middle Eastern and North African studies, neuroscience, sustainable development and the environment, women's studies, and writing.

A student may declare more than one minor but may not have a minor and major in the same discipline. Some interdisciplinary minors may require different course sequences for students from different majors.

Double Counting of Classes for Majors and Minors

If students are enrolled in more than one major or minor, they may double count no more than half the number of courses in the smaller program. If the smaller program requires an odd number of courses, the student may round up. No course may be counted for more than two programs.

Practical Concentrations

Students may also elect to complete sequences of courses identified as practical concentrations. Practical concentrations normally involve sixteen (16) to twenty-four (24) semester hours of study in at least two different disciplines, plus an internship. Practical concentrations both identify courses that are related in meaningful ways to specific vocational opportunities and make evident the connections among courses in different disciplines. Practical concentrations may require different course sequences for students, depending on their major.

Practical concentrations are offered on an 'as available' basis. Availability depends on the presence or absence of specific faculty. The College seeks to offer practical concentrations that will benefit its students, but does not guarantee that a particular practical concentration can be completed in each and every year. As with majors and minors, practical concentrations are noted on the student's academic transcript, but not on the diploma.

Academic Regulations

Academic Honor Code

THE PHILOSOPHY OF THE ACADEMIC HONOR CODE

Integrity and honor are central to the Rollins College mission to educate its students for responsible citizenship and ethical leadership. Rollins College requires adherence to a code of behavior that is essential for building an academic community committed to excellence and scholarship with integrity and honor. Students, faculty, staff, and administration share the responsibility for building and sustaining this community.

Each student matriculating into Rollins College must become familiar with the Academic Honor System. The College requires that students be able and willing to accept the rights and responsibilities of honorable conduct, both as a matter of personal integrity and as a commitment to the values to which the College community commits itself. It is the responsibility of instructors to set clear guidelines for authorized and unauthorized aid in their courses. It is the responsibility of students to honor those guidelines and to obtain additional clarification if and when questions arise about possible violations of the Honor Code.

THE HONOR PLEDGE AND REAFFIRMATION

Membership in the student body of Rollins College carries with it an obligation, and requires a commitment, to act with honor in all things. The student commitment to uphold the values of honor - honesty, trust, respect, fairness, and responsibility - particularly manifests itself in two public aspects of student life. First, as part of the admission process to the College, students agree to commit themselves to the Honor Code. Then, as part of the matriculation process during Orientation, students sign a more detailed pledge to uphold the Honor Code and to conduct themselves honorably in all their activities, both academic and social, as a Rollins student. A student signature on the following pledge is a binding commitment by the student that lasts for his or her entire tenure at Rollins College:

The development of the virtues of Honor and Integrity are integral to a Rollins College education and to membership in the Rollins College community. Therefore, I, a student of Rollins College, pledge to show my commitment to these virtues by abstaining from any lying, cheating, or plagiarism in my academic endeavors and by behaving responsibly, respectfully and honorably in my social life and in my relationships with others. This pledge is reinforced every time a student submits work for academic credit as his/her own. Students shall add to the paper, quiz, test, lab report, etc., the handwritten signed statement

"On my honor, I have not given, nor received, nor witnessed any unauthorized assistance on this work."

Material submitted electronically should contain the pledge; submission implies signing the pledge.

DEFINITIONS OF ACADEMIC HONOR CODE VIOLATIONS

Students are expected to conduct themselves with complete honesty in all academic work and campus activities. Violations of the Academic Honor Code include, but are not limited to the following.

1. PLAGIARISM. Offering the words, facts, or ideas of another person as your own in any academic exercise.
2. CHEATING. Using or attempting to use unauthorized materials, information, or study aids in an academic exercise. This includes sharing knowledge of previously administered or current tests. The keeping of tests, papers, and other assignments belonging to former students is prohibited. Use of external assistance (e.g., books, notes, calculators, conversations with others) in completing an "in class" or "take home" examination, unless specifically authorized by the instructor, is prohibited.
3. UNAUTHORIZED COLLABORATION. Collaboration, without specific authorization by the instructor, on homework assignments, lab reports, exam preparations, research projects, take home exams, essays, or other work for which you will receive academic credit.
4. SUBMISSION OF WORK PREPARED FOR ANOTHER COURSE. Turning in the same work, in whole or in part, to two or more instructors, without the consent of the instructors in both courses.
5. FABRICATION. Misrepresenting, mishandling, or falsifying information in an academic exercise. For example, creating false information for a bibliography, inventing data for a laboratory assignment, or representing a quotation from a secondary source (such as a book review or a textbook) as if it were a primary source.
6. FACILITATING ACADEMIC DISHONESTY. Helping another student commit an act of academic dishonesty.
7. VIOLATION OF TESTING CONDITIONS. Looking at other students' answers, allowing other students to look at your test, and working past allotted time are just a few examples where test conditions may be considered to be violated.
8. LYING. Lying is the making of a statement that one knows to be false with the intent to deceive. It includes actions such as (a) lying to faculty, administrators, or staff, and (b) lying to a member of the Honor Council.
9. FAILURE TO REPORT AN HONOR CODE VIOLATION. Failure to report occurs when a student has knowledge of or is witness to an act in violation of the Academic Honor Code and does not report it within five class days.

REPORTING A VIOLATION

Because academic integrity is fundamental to the pursuit of knowledge and truth and is the heart of the academic life of Rollins

Student Records

Rollins College

College, it is the responsibility of all members of the College community to practice it and to report apparent violations. All students, faculty, and staff are required to report violations in writing to the Academic Honor Council for disposition. Referrals will be made through the Dean of Arts and Science.

1. If a faculty member has reason to believe that a violation of the Academic Honor Code has occurred, he/she may have an initial meeting with the student to determine if a violation has occurred. If the faculty member believes that a violation has occurred he/she is required to report it. This initial meeting is to clarify if a violation has occurred and not to determine if a known violation is to be reported.
2. If a student has reason to believe that a violation of academic integrity has occurred, he/she is required to report it to the Academic Honor Council. The student that has witnessed a violation can, but is not required to, encourage the student suspected of the violation to self-report. If the student refuses to self-report, then the student that witnessed the violation must report it to the Academic Honor Council.
3. Staff members that believe they have witnessed a violation must refer the case to the Honor Council for disposition.

Complaints must be made in writing and filed through the Office of the Dean of Arts and Science. These complaints are then forwarded to the Academic Honor Council. Allegations must be submitted in writing within ten days of the discovery of the alleged violation. Complaints against graduating seniors must be submitted by the date senior grades are due to allow time for an investigation before graduation. The complaint should indicate all relevant details, including names of witnesses and must be signed. Submissions may also be made online.

For additional information, please visit the Rollins Academic Honor Code website at <http://r-net.rollins.edu/academichonorcode/>.

Registration

ACADEMIC ADVISORS

Along with selecting a major, students should select an advisor from their major program department by the end of the sophomore year. A Change of Advisor form must be filed with the Office of Student Records to accomplish such an assignment or to subsequently change advisors.

ACADEMIC CALENDAR

The College's year consists of a 15-week fall and 15-week spring term. Included in either of these two terms are enriched educational programs, including study abroad courses, sometimes offered in early January, or in May or June. At the conclusion of regularly scheduled classes, there are usually four (4) days of examinations and up to three (3) reading days. Academic calendars and examination schedules are posted on the Student Records web site (<http://r-net.rollins.edu/studentrecords/>).

ACADEMIC CREDIT

Academic credit at Rollins is awarded in semester hours. The standard course is defined as four (4) semester hours, which normally includes 150 minutes of in-class instruction per week.

Regular courses normally meet three times per week (typically Monday, Wednesday, and Friday) for fifty (50) minutes or two times per week for seventy-five (75) minutes. Some classes are offered for more semester hours and involve laboratories. Other classes are offered for fewer semester hours and normally meet for fewer hours in the course of a term.

As part of course requirements, Rollins faculty expect students to spend considerable time outside of class each week working on course-related activities. The work that occurs outside of and in preparation for class is essential for the learning that occurs in class. Students should expect to spend three hours out of class for every hour in class.

CLASS ATTENDANCE

It is the responsibility of the faculty to publish attendance policies for their courses in the course syllabus. If a distinction is made between "excused" absences and "unexcused" absences, it must be conveyed in the attendance policy. At the instructor's discretion, a student's grade may be lowered for failure to comply with the attendance policy. Exceptions exist for absences owing to religious observances and college business. If a student misses a class because of either situation, then the student must confer with his/her professor as to how and when the make-up work will be done, which includes the possibility of turning work in early. Absences will be addressed by the faculty member in accordance with his or her attendance policy. A student will not fail a course because the number of religious observances and/or college business absences exceed the number of absences allowed, except if excessive absences make it impossible to fulfill the competencies of the course. The student's class participation grade in the course, though, may be affected.

- In regard to absences due to religious observances, students must communicate any attendance conflicts to their professor before the end of the official add/drop period.
- In regard to absences due to college business, students must present to their professor written evidence of an upcoming absence as soon as they are aware of the conflict. It is the student's responsibility to discuss with his/her professor how and when make-up work should be completed before missing class.

If the student feels s/he must be absent from class for any other reason, it is the student's responsibility to confer with the faculty member to determine whether the absence is to be considered "excused" or "unexcused" as defined by the attendance policies. The Office of the Dean of Student Affairs will communicate when students must be absent from campus for hospitalization, family emergencies, or similar contingencies. Students will be responsible for all work missed.

FIRST DAY ATTENDANCE

Students are required to attend all classes beginning with the first scheduled class meeting. Students who do not attend the first class meeting are subject to removal from the class at the discretion of the instructor. To ensure accuracy of registration records, students are responsible for verifying their registration each term and submitting an official drop form for all classes not attended. Students unable to attend due to circumstances beyond their control must notify the Dean of Arts and Science or the instructor prior to the first day of classes.

CLASS STANDING

Class standing is determined by the number of semester hours successfully completed.

|                    |                    |
|--------------------|--------------------|
| Sophomore Standing | 30 semester hours  |
| Junior Standing    | 60 semester hours  |
| Senior standing    | 100 semester hours |

COURSE AUDITING

Students may audit a course with the instructor's permission. Such arrangements are informal, and audited courses are not part of the official academic record in Arts and Sciences and do not appear on official academic transcripts.

COURSE CANCELLATIONS

Rollins College reserves the right to cancel classes based on enrollment and/or instructor availability. In the event that a course is cancelled, a notation will be made on the list of course offerings. If a student is enrolled in a class that must be cancelled, the student will be notified by the registrar in a timely fashion and prompted to enroll in another class."

COURSE LOADS

To graduate in four years, students must average seventeen-and-a-half (17.5) successfully completed semester hours each semester. A full-time student in the College of Arts and Sciences is normally registered for sixteen to twenty (16-20) semester hours during the fall and spring terms.

Minimum full-time status is defined as twelve (12) semester hours. However, individual financial aid, scholarship, and/or other requirements may impose different minimum requirements.

An overload consists of more than twenty-two (22) semester hours during a term. Students seeking to enroll in twenty-three (23) or more semester hours in a given term must have a cumulative GPA of no less than 3.0. Students who do not meet this requirement may request permission to enroll in twenty-three (23) or more semester hours by completing the Office of Student Records' Request For Course Overload form and submitting it to the Office of Student Records for consideration by the Appeals Subcommittee of the Academic Affairs Committee. This form must be submitted no later than 5 p.m. of the 3rd day of 'Add Week'. Students with a grade of 'I' (Incomplete), 'R' (Deferred), or 'Z' (No Grade Reported) must resolve this grade or explain it in a manner acceptable to the Appeals Subcommittee prior to being granted permission to register for more than twenty-two (22) semester hours. Under no circumstances will a student with a GPA less than 2.0 be permitted to carry an overload. Overloads will not be granted to students in their first semester at Rollins except by appeal. All students wishing to enroll in more than thirty (30) semester hours must employ the appeal process.

Note:

The Request For Course Overload form requires the support of the academic advisor.

All international students in F-1 or J-1 status are required by Federal immigration law to be registered full-time each fall and spring semester. Full-time is twelve (12) or more semester hours per term. International students must register and remain registered for at least twelve (12) semester hours each term. If you have a concern about your ability to stay registered full-time, you MUST see the International Student Services Coordinator PRIOR to dropping any courses that would bring you below the twelve (12) semester hour minimum.

REGISTRATION

A registration advisement period is set aside during the fall and spring terms of each year to allow students to consult with academic advisors and prepare registration materials. The Schedule of Classes published each semester provides details concerning registration procedures. Students must complete paperless pre-registration processes by the deadlines stated each term in the Schedule of Classes. Late registration fines will be assessed for all students who fail to meet deadlines.

REGISTRATION CHANGES

All changes in registration require the faculty advisor's signature and must be made during the first week of the term to add a course, or during the first two weeks to drop a course.

ADDING COURSES

Under exceptional circumstances, students may add courses, internships, or independent studies to their class schedules after the end of the official schedule change (add-drop) period, provided that the permission of both the instructor and the academic advisor is obtained. Late add fines will be applied to student accounts for each course, internship, or independent study added. Students who receive any form of Federal financial aid are reminded that they must be registered for a minimum of twelve (12) semester hours by not later than the tenth (10th) in-class day each term or their Federal financial aid awards will be compromised.

DROPPING COURSES

After the second week of class, the instructor's signature is required to drop a course. Verbal notification from the instructor or failure to attend class does not constitute withdrawal. Students who abandon a course without filing the proper withdrawal form automatically receive a failing grade of 'WF.'

A course dropped after the first two weeks of classes, but before Friday of the tenth week of classes (the "Drop without Penalty" deadline), is recorded on the student's permanent record as a 'W.' Withdrawal from a course after this deadline is possible only if approved by the Academic Appeals Committee. Students are responsible for consulting with the instructor regarding class standing prior to the final date for withdrawal from courses. Instructors are responsible for providing students with a graded report concerning class standing before the final date for withdrawal from courses. Students who withdraw from a course after Friday of the tenth week of classes (the "Drop without Penalty" deadline) receive a grade of 'WF.'

Students dropping Information Technology (IFT) short courses (those meeting three weeks or less) prior to the second class meeting will have no notation placed on their transcripts. Students dropping IFT courses after the second class meeting, but prior to the mid-point of the course will receive a 'W' notation. Students dropping after the mid-point of an IFT course will receive a notation of 'NC.'

Students dropping Intersession courses on the first day of class have no notation placed on their transcripts. Intersession courses dropped on the second class meeting day receive grades of 'W' on the student's permanent record. Intersession courses dropped on the third class day or later receive 'NC' (no credit) grades.

All international students in F-1 or J-1 status must receive permission from the International Student Services Coordinator PRIOR to dropping any courses that would bring them below the twelve (12) semester hour minimum. Failure to receive PRIOR permission may result in a termination of the student's immigration status.

REPEATED COURSES

Students may repeat courses regardless of the grades earned. However, students will only earn credit hours for the course one time. All grades will be calculated in the GPA, and all courses and grades will be part of the official academic transcript.

Standards of Scholarship

ACADEMIC WARNING SYSTEM

Faculty complete academic warning forms for students who are performing at unsatisfactory levels in their courses during weeks four (4) to twelve (12) of each term. Unsatisfactory academic performance includes poor attendance, lack of participation, failure to complete assignments on time, poor test and quiz grades, poor quality of written work, studio work, or laboratory work, or an estimated grade of 'C-' or lower in the course. The withdrawal without penalty deadline occurs in the tenth week of each semester; students may exercise their one-time, late CR/NC option through 5 p.m. on the last day of classes each term.

Academic warnings are sent via campus e-mail to the student, faculty advisor, and professional advisors in the Thomas P. Johnson Student Resource Center. Students receiving warnings are directed to meet with the professor of the course, as well as their faculty advisor, to discuss issues of concern, strategies for improvement, and other options including withdrawal from courses or exercise of the Late Credit/No Credit (CR/NC) option. In addition to these interventions, the Academic Advising Services staff also contacts students when they have been referred to the Tutoring and/or the Writing Center, or if they are deemed academically "at risk" for other reasons (multiple academic warnings, students with learning disabilities, and those on academic probation).

ACADEMIC STANDING

Beginning Fall Term 2006, all students must maintain a cumulative Grade Point Average (GPA) of at least 2.00 and a single term Grade Point Average (GPA) of at least 2.00 to be in good academic standing.

CREDIT/NO-CREDIT

Students who wish to take a course on a credit/no-credit (CR/NC) basis rather than for a letter grade must complete the appropriate form, available on the Student Records webpage <http://r-net.rollins.edu/studentrecords/Forms.html>, no later than two weeks, ten (10) class days, after the beginning of the fall or spring terms. Courses normally offered for a letter grade, in which the student has elected to change to a CR/NC grade, may not be used to fulfill general education, major, minor, or concentration requirements.

If a grade of 'C-' or better is earned, a mark of 'CR' and the appropriate number of semester hours are granted. If a grade below a 'C-' is earned, the course is abandoned, or the course is withdrawn from after the penalty deadline, a mark of 'NC' is granted. In any case, the grade point average is not affected. Courses taken CR/NC may not be used to fulfill general education, major, minor, or concentration requirements. No more than one (1) letter-graded course per term may be declared credit/no-credit, and a maximum of four (4) such courses may count toward graduation. Courses normally graded as CR/NC (internships, information technology, and applied music, for example) do not count toward the per term or graduation limits.

Once the CR/NC declaration is made for a given course in a given semester, students may not later request that the CR/NC be changed to a letter grade. In a subsequent semester, students may repeat a course graded CR/NC for a letter grade, but will not earn credit hours for the course a second time. (See the College's policy on repeated courses, above.)

The Academic Internship course, normally graded as CR/NC, may be used to fulfill major or minor requirements with the approval of the Department Chair/ Internship Representative. Students should first check with their Faculty Advisor to ensure they have satisfied all department prerequisites to participate in an internship for major or minor credit. Departments approving internships for major or minor credit should adhere to the minimum standards of the Academic Internship Program. To receive major or minor credit for an internship, the Academic Internship Program's Credit Approval Form should be signed by both the student's Faculty Advisor and the Department Chair/ Internship Representative. The Department Chair/ Internship Representative should request to see the internship job description before approving the internship. The Department Chair/ Internship Representative have the option to add supplemental requirements in order for the student to receive credit. These additions to the internship syllabus must be communicated both to the student and the Director of Academic Internships prior to starting the internship. Students who earn credit in the major or minor are typically registered for 4 semester hours. The Department Chair/ Internship Representative who has approved major or minor credit should give the final grade approval of CR/NC to the Director of Academic Internships or the designated faculty member supervising the internship course. An internship that is declined for major or minor credit may still be approved for interdisciplinary credit that counts towards students general elective requirements.

ONE-TIME LAST DAY OF CLASSES CREDIT/NO-CREDIT DECLARATION

Students may also exercise a one-time option of Last Day of Classes Credit/No Credit. In this option, students are permitted to declare a class Credit/No Credit up until the last scheduled day of classes, before the official exam period begins, for the term in which they are enrolled. This option is available for one course, and for one time only during a student's career at Rollins.

If a grade of 'C-' or better is earned, a mark of 'CR' and the appropriate number of semester hours are granted. If a grade below a 'C-' is earned, the course is abandoned, or the course is withdrawn from after the penalty deadline, a mark of 'NC' is granted. In any case, the grade point average is not affected.

Courses taken under this option may not be used to fulfill general education, major, minor, or concentration requirements. Courses with general education designations for which the CR/NC option is elected will not earn general education designations. Once the CR/NC declaration is made for a given course in a given semester, students may not later request that the CR/NC be changed to a letter grade. In a subsequent semester, students may repeat a course graded CR/NC for a letter grade, but will not earn credit hours for the course a second time. (See the College's policy on repeated courses, above.)

GRADES

Student grade reports are based on the following definitions.

- Grade 'A' is reserved for work that is exceptional in quality and shows keen insight, understanding, and initiative.
- Grade 'B' is given for work that is consistently superior and shows interest, effort, or originality.
- Grade 'C' is a respectable grade. A 'C' average (2.00) is required for graduation. It reflects consistent daily preparation and satisfactory completion of all work required.
- Grade 'D-' is the lowest passing grade. It is below the average necessary to meet graduation requirements and ordinarily is not accepted for transfer by other institutions.
- Grade 'F' is failing.

Cumulative grade point averages are based on a four-point (4.00) scale. Letter grades are assigned the following numerical equivalents.

|         |      |          |      |          |      |
|---------|------|----------|------|----------|------|
| Grade A | 4.00 | Grade A- | 3.67 | Grade B+ | 3.33 |
| Grade B | 3.00 | Grade B- | 2.67 | Grade C+ | 2.33 |
| Grade C | 2.00 | Grade C- | 1.67 | Grade D+ | 1.33 |
| Grade D | 1.00 | Grade D- | .67  | Grade F  | 0    |

Physical education activity (PEA) courses are graded on a credit/no credit (CR/NC) basis.

GRADE APPEALS

Students wishing to appeal a grade will first consult with the instructor to determine whether an error has been made or the instructor wishes to reconsider the grade. If this is the case, the instructor submits a grade change request to the Dean of Arts and Sciences/Dean of College of Professional Studies. If the student is dissatisfied with the results of that consultation and wishes to pursue the matter further, s/he will meet with the chair of the department, who in turn must inform the instructor of the substance of the student's appeal. The department chair acts as a mediator to attempt to resolve any disagreements and consults with the instructor about the grading process. Only the course instructor has the authority to change the grade at this point. (Should the instructor be the chair of the department, a tenured member of the department will be selected by the department to serve as mediator. If this is not possible, then the Dean of Arts and Sciences/Dean of College of Professional Studies will serve in this capacity.)

Perceived or actual differences in grading policies or standards between instructors, which are not a violation of College policies, are not a basis for further appeal. Further appeals beyond the chair of the department will be allowed only when the student can furnish evidence that the final grade was affected by the student's opinion or conduct in matters unrelated to academic standards, bias based upon matters unrelated to academic standards, or the failure of the instructor to follow his or her own stated policies or College policies. The Dean of Students, Arts and Sciences/College of Professional Studies Faculty President, and chair of the faculty members department (should the instructor be the chair of the department, a tenured member of the department or division will be selected by the department) must agree by two-thirds that it can be plausibly argued that these conditions are met in order for the appeal to proceed to the Academic Affairs Committee.

If these conditions are met, the student may proceed with the appeal to the Academic Affairs Committee by submitting a letter describing the situation to the Dean of Arts and Sciences/Dean of College of Professional Studies. This appeal must be made within one (1) year of the conclusion of the course. The Dean of Arts and Sciences/Dean of College of Professional Studies will request from the department chair a written account of the mediation process described above and its results, if any. The Dean of Arts and Sciences/Dean of College of Professional Studies may also request any other appropriate documentation. The Dean of Arts and Sciences/Dean of College of Professional Studies prepares all documents related to the case for submission to the Academic Affairs Committee. These documents are made available to the student and instructor to review and respond. Their responses, if any, are included with the materials submitted to the Academic Affairs Committee. The Dean of Arts and Sciences/Dean of College of Professional Studies shall receive the recommendation of the Academic Affairs Committee, review all documents, and make additional inquiries if necessary before reaching a decision. After such review, the decision of the Dean of Arts and Sciences/Dean of College of Professional Studies is final.

INCOMPLETE WORK

A mark of 'I,' indicating that the work of a course is incomplete, may be assigned only when serious and compelling circumstances beyond the control of the student -- such as illness or necessary absence from the campus -- have made it impossible for the student to complete the course work within the normal period. Students are responsible for completing the Contract for an Incomplete Grade form available available on the Student Records webpage <http://r-net.rollins.edu/studentrecords/Forms.html>. Students contracting for a mark of 'I' in the fall term must complete the course work no later than the end of the second week of the succeeding spring term. Students contracting for an 'I' in the spring term must complete the work no later than the end of the second week of the succeeding fall term. Failure to complete the course in the designated time will result in a grade of 'F.'

Faculty may not assign a grade of 'I' without the Contract for an Incomplete Grade, nor may a faculty member not assign a grade, a de facto Incomplete. Faculty who fail to submit a grade for a student by the deadline set by the College will be penalized at the discretion of the Dean.

ACADEMIC WARNING, PROBATION, SUSPENSION, AND DISMISSAL

Students who fail to meet minimum academic standards at the end of any term are placed on academic warning or probation, academic suspension, or are dismissed permanently from the College. Students on academic warning or probation are required to enroll in a minimum academic load of twelve (12) semester hours and may not normally withdraw from a course nor take a course on a credit/no-credit basis.

Minimum Academic Standards

Students who maintain a cumulative Grade Point Average (GPA) of at least 2.00, but whose previous term GPA falls below 2.00 but above 1.25, will be placed on Academic Warning. Any student whose cumulative GPA falls below 2.00, or whose previous term GPA falls at or below 1.25, will be placed on probation. For the purposes of determining academic standing Maymester will not be considered a "term".

| Term below 1.25           | probation     | probation     |
| Term between 1.25 and 2.0 | probation     | warning       |

Students placed on probation will be asked to adhere to the General Requirements for Probation. Probationary students must complete a Contract for Academic Success that specifies an individualized plan for returning to good academic standing and an agreement to abide by all probationary regulations, including enrollment in a specialized course focused on academic success. Failure to follow the terms of the Contract will result in a student's immediate suspension or permanent dismissal, even during the course of the term in progress.

Students who fall within any of the following categories will be academically suspended from the College.

- Those who have been on probation and do not meet the minimum academic standards the following term.
- Those on probation who fail to follow the guidelines of the Contract for Academic Success.
- Those who have been on probation two non-consecutive semesters and fail to meet the minimum academic standards at third time.

An exception is made for first-year students. First-year students will be academically suspended from the College after their first semester if their GPA falls at or below 1.25. If these students would like to be considered for continuation for a second semester, they should appeal their academic suspension. If their appeal is accepted and they are continued in the Spring, these students will be required to meet a second semester GPA designated by the Academic Appeals Committee in order to enroll the following Fall. Students who are academically suspended from the College are not permitted to continue in any Rollins College programs, including the Hamilton Holt School. No academic credit earned during a suspension will be transferable back to Rollins.

Students who have been academically suspended a first time may petition for readmission by writing a letter in which they articulate both insight into the factors which led to the poor performance and a realistic plan to improve academic performance and return to good academic standing. This letter is addressed to the Office of the Dean of the appropriate College after one (1) calendar year has elapsed. The student appeal is then forwarded to the Academic Appeals Committee. To be considered for readmission from academic suspension, students must demonstrate readiness to return and improved commitment to scholarship.

Students who are academically suspended a second time are dismissed permanently from the College and may not subsequently enroll in any program.

PRESIDENT'S AND DEAN'S LISTS

The President's and Dean's lists honor those students with a particularly high academic achievement in the previous fall or spring term. To be included on either list, students must complete a minimum of sixteen (16) letter-graded semester hours (no incomplete, 'I,' or deferred, 'R,' grades), and earn a GPA between 3.75 - 4.00 for the President's List and between 3.50 - 3.74 for the Dean's List. Upon removal of an incomplete or deferred grade, students who meet the requirements are added to the lists.

Transfer and Other Credit

ADVANCED STANDING CREDIT

Students may receive advanced standing by several means. This includes but is not limited to credit for Advanced Placement (AP), International Baccalaureate (IB), and dual enrollment courses. Credit granted for any of these or by similar means does not automatically exempt a student from the general education requirements of the College. Please contact the Office of Student Records for additional information.

ADVANCED PLACEMENT (AP)

Students are awarded four (4) semester hours of credit for each AP examination on which they earn a score of four (4) or five (5). Students who present scores of four (4) or higher on the AP English Language and Composition examination or the AP English Literature and Composition examination are exempt from satisfying the College's 'Writing general education curriculum requirement. Students who present scores of four (4) or five (5) on the AP Statistics examination are exempt from satisfying the College's 'Quantitative Reasoning general education curriculum requirement. Credit earned from other AP examinations does not exempt students from any other of the College's general education curriculum requirements.

Caribbean Advanced Proficiency Examinations (CAPE)

Each score of one (1) or two (2) on CAPE Examinations is worth four (4) semester hours of academic credit. Credit earned through CAPE Examinations does not exempt students from any of the general education curriculum requirements.

INTERNATIONAL BACCALAUREATE (IB)

Credit for IB course work is granted for students with an IB diploma, on a course by course basis. Students with an IB Diploma and a score of thirty (30) or better will be awarded one year (thirty-two [32] semester hours) of credit. Students without the Diploma, or with the Diploma and a score of less than thirty (30), will be awarded eight (8) semester hours for each higher-level score of five (5) or better and four (4) semester hours for each score of four (4) or better (on a higher or subsidiary level), to a maximum of twenty-four (24) semester hours. General education credit will be awarded as appropriate, to be determined by suitable bodies. Advanced placement will be awarded for major courses, subject to departmental approval. Students who present both IB and AP work in the same subject area will not be awarded double credit.

OTHER EXAMINATIONS

Grades of 'A' through 'C' on most British GCE A-level exams earn two course credits, eight (8) semester hours, per examination.

HAMILTON HOLT SCHOOL COURSE WORK

Sophomores, juniors, and seniors enrolled in the College may register for one undergraduate course per academic year in the Hamilton Holt School on a tuition-free basis, if approved by their academic advisor. During summer terms, Arts and Sciences and Professional Studies students are expected to pay full tuition and fees for Holt School courses taken.

Holt School courses have the same academic value as Arts and Sciences and Professional Studies courses, unless exception is made in writing. Grades earned are calculated as part of the student's grade point average. Academic adviser approval is required for registration in Holt School courses. Students interested in taking a Holt School course must initiate registration through the Student Records Office. Students academically or socially dismissed from Arts and Sciences or the College of Professional Studies are dismissed from all Rollins College programs.

In an effort to ensure the availability of Holt School courses to the student population they were designed to serve, approved Arts and Sciences and Professional Studies students are registered in Holt School sections on a space-available basis: a maximum of five (5) Arts and Sciences and Professional Studies students may register for any given course.

OTHER COLLEGE AND UNIVERSITY CREDIT

Transfer students must meet all general education curriculum and major requirements to earn a Rollins College degree. The Office of Student Records reviews and evaluates courses taken at other institutions, determines courses/credit to be accepted, and prepares a Transfer Course Evaluation. The evaluation lists all courses accepted and any general education requirements those courses fulfill. Students who enter Rollins College ready to declare their major program of study may request a major course evaluation from the Office of Student Records. The major department makes decisions regarding fulfillment of major requirements through transfer credit.

In the evaluation of transfer credit, four (4) semester hours equals one Rollins course. Transfer credit is awarded for coursework taken at regionally-accredited (Middle States, North Central, New England, Northwest, Southern, and Western Association) institutions, or the equivalent international institution. Transfer credit is not awarded for courses with a grade below "C-." All transfer courses must be officially letter-graded by the originating institution, with the exception of internships which may be graded Pass/Fail or Credit/No Credit if they meet the specific criteria outlined in the Education Programs and Opportunities section of this Catalogue.

No more than the equivalent of sixty-four (64) semester hours of credit are accepted from a two-year institution. Students with sixty (60) semester hours of credit enter Rollins College with junior standing, but may need additional time to fulfill the requirements of specific majors.

Rollins College participates in an articulation agreement between the Independent Colleges and Universities of Florida (ICUF) and the Division of Florida Colleges. Through this participation, students who enter Rollins with a completed Associate of Arts (AA) degree from a Florida community college matriculate with junior standing and are usually able to transfer a total of sixty (60) semester hours, provided that they meet the same standards and program requirements as native Rollins students.

For all transfer students accepted through the College's participation in the ICUF Articulation Agreement, transfer credit for courses completed at the community college will only be awarded for grades of "C-" or better, as is the standard for all transfer students in Arts & Sciences and the College of Professional Studies. No more than a total of sixty-four (64) semester hours will be awarded to a student for transfer work from a two-year college. Rollins College will not transfer credits obtained from a secondary institution via online, blended, or distance learning courses, if a student simultaneously is enrolled in full-time courses at a different institution (including Rollins). Rollins College reserves the right to not award transfer credit for courses that are not considered appropriate for a pragmatic liberal arts education.

As part of the College's participation in the ICUF Articulation Agreement, students with the A.A. degree from a Florida state or community college are considered to have met general education requirements.

A student's previous grade-point-average (GPA) does not carry forward; a Rollins GPA is determined only on the basis of courses completed at Rollins.

Once admitted to full-time degree-seeking status in the College of Arts & Sciences or College of Professional Studies, students must complete at least seventy (70) semester hours in the College (including Rollins Approved Semester, Summer and Field Study programs, and approved Hamilton Holt School courses). Moreover, students must be enrolled full-time in the College of Arts & Sciences or College of Professional Studies (including Hamilton Holt School courses) during the last two (2) consecutive semesters (excluding summer terms). Students must complete a minimum of 140 semester hours of academic work, of which at least sixty-four (64) semester hours must be outside a single departmental prefix. All students must complete a minimum of sixteen (16) semester hours that are not used to meet either a general education curriculum or major requirement. If a course taken previously is repeated at Rollins, credit for the transfer course will be removed from the student's record.

SUMMER COURSE WORK

Students may take courses at other institutions, including the Hamilton Holt School, during summer terms, though these courses do not count toward the College of Arts and Sciences' residency requirements. Students must secure approval from their academic advisor, major/minor department chair, and the Office of Student Records regarding both the institution and specific courses prior to enrollment in another program. A Request for Permission to Study Outside of Arts and Sciences form is available on the Student Records web site (<http://r-net.rollins.edu/studentrecords/>) and must be used to obtain approval. Courses not pre-approved by the advisor, department chair, and Office of Student Records will not be accepted for transfer. Although grades do not transfer, with the exception of Rollins programs, courses must be taken for a letter grade. Academic credit is given only if a grade of 'C-' or better is earned. In addition, students must ensure that the institution attended, other than Rollins programs, sends an official transcript to Rollins after courses are completed. Students are responsible for requesting that an official transcript be sent directly to the Office of Student Records after completing summer courses.

REQUIREMENTS FOR SECOND BACHELOR'S DEGREE

Graduation requirements to receive a second bachelor's degree from the Arts and Sciences Program at Rollins College include the following. Upon completion, students will be awarded the College's Bachelor of Arts (Artium Baccalaureus) degree.

Two (2) full semesters in residence on-campus in Arts and Sciences for a total of not less than thirty-five (35) semester hours of course credit. Post-baccalaureate second degree special students are not eligible for on-campus housing. A major course of study that differs from that of the first degree, to be approved by the Office of the Dean of Arts and Science prior to admission. A minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) of not less than 2.5 for all Rollins courses. Completion of all general education requirements of Arts and Sciences via courses undertaken at other regionally accredited institutions of higher education or while in residence. To be determined by transcript review in the Office of the Dean of Arts and Science.

Transcripts and Academic Records

ACCESS TO STUDENT EDUCATIONAL RECORDS (FERPA)

Rollins College complies with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). The Act is as follows:

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) (20 U.S.C. § 1232g; 34 CFR Part 99) is a Federal law that protects the privacy of student education records. The law applies to all schools that receive funds under an applicable program of the U.S. Department of Education.

FERPA gives parents certain rights with respect to their children's education records. These rights transfer to the student when he or she reaches the age of 18 or attends a school beyond the high school level. Students to whom the rights have transferred are "eligible students."

- Parents or eligible students have the right to inspect and review the student's education records maintained by the school. Schools are not required to provide copies of records unless, for reasons such as great distance, it is impossible for parents or eligible students to review the records. Schools may charge a fee for copies.
- Parents or eligible students have the right to request that a school correct records which they believe to be inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise in violation of the student's privacy rights under FERPA. If the school decides not to amend the record, the parent or eligible student then has the right to a formal hearing. After the hearing, if the school still decides not to amend the record, the parent or eligible student has the right to place a statement with the record setting forth his or her view about the contested information.
- Parents or eligible students have the right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by [Rollins College] to comply with the requirements of FERPA. The name and address of the Office that administers FERPA is:

Family Compliance Office
U.S. Department of Education
400 Maryland Avenue, SW
Washington, DC 20202

- Parents or eligible students have the right to provide written consent before the university discloses personally identifiable information (PII) from the student's educational records. [Rollins College] must have written permission from the parent or eligible student in order to release any information from a student's education record. [Under FERPA, however, Rollins College is permitted] to disclose those records, without consent, to the following parties or under the following conditions (34 CFR §99.31):

- School officials with legitimate educational interest;
- Other schools to which a student seeks or intends to enroll;
- Specified officials, such as Federal, State, or local educational authorities, for the purposes of audit or evaluation of supported educational programs, or enforcement of compliance with legal requirements relating to those programs;
- Appropriate parties in connection with financial aid to a student;
- Organizations conducting certain studies for or on behalf of the school;
- Accrediting organizations;
- To comply with a judicial order or lawfully issued subpoena;
- Appropriate officials in cases of health and safety emergencies;
- State and local authorities, within a juvenile justice system, pursuant to specific State law;
- Parents of an "eligible student" to his or her parents if the student is a "dependent student," as defined in Section 152 of the Internal Revenue Code. Generally, if either parent has claimed the student as a dependent on the parent's most recent income tax statement, the school may non-consensually disclose the student's education records to both parents;
- A victim of an alleged perpetrator of a crime of violence or a non-forcible sex offense, subject to the requirements of §99.39. The disclosure may only include the final results of the disciplinary proceeding with respect to that alleged crime or offense, regardless of the finding;
- The general public, the final results of a disciplinary proceeding, subject to the requirements of §99.39, if the school determines the student is an alleged perpetrator of a crime of violence or non-forcible sex offense and the student has committed a violation of the school's rules or policies with respect to the allegation made against him or her; and
- Parents of a student regarding the student's violation of any Federal, State, or local law, or of any rule or policy of the school, governing the use or possession of alcohol or a controlled substance if the school determines the student committed a disciplinary violation and the student is under the age of 21.

[Rollins College] may also disclose, without consent, "directory information." "Directory information" is personally identifiable information that is not generally considered harmful or an invasion of privacy if disclosed and may include information such as a student's name, address, telephone number, date and place of birth, honors and awards, and dates of attendance. However, [Rollins College] must inform parents and eligible students about directory information and allow parents and eligible students a reasonable amount of time to request that the school not disclose directory information about them. [Rollins College] must notify parents and eligible students annually of their rights under FERPA. The actual means of notification...is left to the discretion of each school.

Under FERPA, Rollins College may define and disclose "directory information" provided that students and/or parents are notified of items that are deemed to be "directory information." As such, Rollins College defines "directory information" as including the following, as applicable:

- Name
- Address
- Telephone number
- E-mail address
- Date and place of birth
- Individually identifiable photographs of the student solicited or maintained directly by Rollins as part of the educational record
- Enrollment status, full-/part-time classification, and class level
- College/division, dates of attendance, and class schedule
- Major and minor field(s) of study
- Expected and actual graduation date
- Degrees, awards, and honors received
- Official athletic participation and athlete height and weight
- Name and location of most recent previously attended educational institution

RETENTION OF RECORDS

The Office of Student Records at Rollins College retains records and registration documents according to the guidelines established by the American Association of Collegiate Registrar and Admissions Officers (AACRAO). Academic records, change of grade forms, original grade sheets, and graduation lists are considered permanent and are not discarded. Records are kept from one (1) to five (5) years after graduation or date of last attendance. Written records retention policies are available from the Office of Student Records.

TRANSCRIPTS

The Office of Student Records produces official and unofficial transcripts of students' academic work at Rollins College. Official transcripts of the College include the following information: course prefix and number, course title, grades, term and cumulative grade point averages, earned hours, academic standing, date of graduation and degrees, certifications or academic honors earned, and, if appropriate, transfer or affiliated coursework and transfer grades.

Written requests for transcripts with signature and other identifying information are required and may be submitted in person, by mail, or by facsimile. E-mail and/or telephone requests are not accepted in order to protect the privacy of students.

Payment of a nominal fee is required prior to processing of all requests and additional charges for rush services may be assessed. Current students may opt to have fees charged to their student accounts, all other requests must be prepaid by check or credit card. Specific instructions and fee schedules are available on the Student Records web page (r-net.rollins.edu/studentrecords/transcript.html).

Under no circumstances will transcripts be issued to any student who has an outstanding debt due to the College or any other hold on their College account.

Requests for official transcripts must be made in writing to:

Leaves and Withdrawals

GENERAL GUIDELINES

Students who wish to take a leave of absence must make this request through the Office of the Dean of Student Affairs, Warren Administration Building, Second Floor. A leave of absence may be granted for a program of work, study, or travel that demonstrably contributes to the student's personal development or program of study at Rollins, or for medical, financial, or personal reasons. Students may not remain on campus while on a leave of absence. Students who need to return to campus while on leave may do so only after coordinating with the Dean of Student Affairs.

Students may apply for a leave of absence for no more than one (1) academic year.

Requests for a leave of absence must be filed prior to the beginning of classes for a full refund for the first term of the leave and be approved by the Dean of Student Affairs. Requests filed after the start of classes will be subject to a prorated refund schedule. The Dean requires approval from the student's faculty advisor if the plans for a leave of absence contribute directly to the Rollins program of study.

Students studying off-campus in a Rollins or other affiliated program need not apply for a leave of absence. Such students register through the Office of International Programs.

Applications for readmission from a leave of absence are submitted to the Dean of Student Affairs. Readmission will only be considered by the Dean of Students for students who have been gone from the College no longer than one (1) academic year (two semesters). Students who are absent longer than (1) one year must reapply through the standard College admission process as a Transfer Student. Students who took a leave for medical reasons must furnish a physician's statement certifying that they are able to resume their studies. Any student readmitted after an absence may be subject to the academic requirements stated in the current College Catalogue. Requests for readmission from a personal leave of absence should be submitted no later than three (3) weeks before the first day of classes. Applications should include all appropriate supporting documentation.

Students may voluntarily withdraw from Rollins by filing a withdrawal form by appointment with the Dean of Student Affairs Office. After the second week of classes, the withdrawal is recorded on the student's transcript as a 'W.' Students who withdraw from the College after the Friday of the tenth week of classes (the "Drop without Penalty" deadline) are assigned grades of 'WF' for all their courses. After the Friday of the tenth week of classes (the "Drop without Penalty" deadline), students may not withdraw from courses without receiving failing grades, except for illness or other compelling reasons to be defined by the Academic Affairs Committee.

MEDICAL LEAVE

For students who are temporarily unable to continue their studies due to medical or psychological issues.

Medical Leave is a category of non-academic leave. While on leave the student is not considered to be currently enrolled in the College, but is considered to be in good standing with the College.

The Dean of Student Affairs grants a medical leave of absence to a student. Because a medical leave is sometimes needed to cope with sudden emergencies, a student may request a medical leave at any time during the semester. The medical leave must, however, be approved/granted prior to the end of classes for the academic semester in order to take effect for that semester.

The length of the medical leave depends on the nature and severity of the health concern. It is the concern of the Office of Health Services and the Office of Counseling and Psychological Services that the leave be long enough to allow a student to regain the health and energy required to manage a full-time academic load in a residential environment. In the case of physical medical leaves, the length of the leave is determined by the length of time needed to ameliorate the physical ailment. In contrast, due to the nature of psychological medical leaves, a student often requires at least one (1) additional semester for treatment and stabilization of the condition.

To take a medical leave, a student may speak with either the Dean of Student Affairs, someone in Health Services, or Counseling and Psychological Services. Before a leave is granted, a student must consult with either the Director of Health Services or the Director of Counseling and Psychological Services to determine whether or not the condition can be successfully managed. Requests for a medical leave require thorough and credible documentation by an appropriate health care provider. These professional staff will then make a recommendation to the Dean of Student Affairs as to whether the leave is warranted and create a written plan for what needs to be accomplished during the leave. When students are placed on medical leave, all grades for the semester are noted as 'W' withdrawn. Students found responsible for violations of the College's Honor Code will receive any grades that are a part of Honor Council sanctions.

Student athletes should consult with the Director of Athletics or the compliance officer to determine if a medical leave will impact their NCAA eligibility.

International students should consult with the Director of International Student and Scholar Services regarding the effect of a medical leave on their immigration status.

Students receiving financial aid (grants, loans, and/or scholarships) should consult with the Office of Financial Aid before requesting a medical leave to determine the impact on their financial aid when they return.

Students on any type of leave are not eligible to enroll in the student insurance plan. Eligibility requirements of the plan stipulate that the student must be a full-time undergraduate Arts and Sciences student taking a minimum of 12 credit hours and must actively attend classes for at least the first 31 days after the date for which coverage is purchased. These requirements are not established by Rollins College, but by the student insurance company and are standard across most if not all student insurance plans.

If students have other considerations, such as, Honors Degree Program status or course requirements for a major, they should consult with academic departments and advisors.

Students on medical leave are not automatically reinstated to Rollins College. The student will be asked to provide documentation and a written recommendation from an appropriate health care provider to the Dean of Student Affairs confirming the student has completed all treatment recommendations and that the student's health will support a successful return to full-time academic work on a residential campus. The Dean will present this information to the Reinstatement Committee for consideration of and planning for the student's return. Both student and parent must review and agree to the requirements outlined on the Contract for Success before reinstatement. No academic credit earned during a medical leave will be transferable back to the College.

All written documents for requests regarding a return from medical leave must be received by June 1 for fall semester and November 1 for spring semester.

If students are not prepared to return to the campus in the semester following 12 months of medical leave, they must request in writing an extension of the medical leave. This request should be submitted to the Dean of Student Affairs and should include specific information about the student's need for more time away.

The College may require a student to take a medical leave of absence if, in the judgment of the Dean of Student Affairs and the professional staff of the Division, the student: (a) poses a threat to the lives or safety of himself/herself or other members of the Rollins community; (b) has a medical or psychological problem which cannot be properly treated in the College setting; or (c) has evidenced a medical condition or behavior that seriously interferes with the student's ability to function and/or seriously interferes with the educational pursuits of other members of the Rollins community.

Students will not be granted more than two (2) medical leaves, each of one (1) year duration, for a total of not more than two (2) years.

[Note: In making the decision to require a student to take a medical leave, the Dean of Student Affairs must act out of concern for the student and his or her rights, concern for the other students, and concern for the College as a whole. The Dean will have to consider whether the College is able to provide the level of care and guidance needed, whether there is a likelihood that the student will pose a threat to himself/herself or others, and/or to what extent the student seriously interferes with the rights of the others in the community to carry on their educational pursuits.]

For both voluntary and required leaves, the policy on refunds as posted by the Bursar will apply.

READMISSION REQUIREMENTS FOR MEDICAL LEAVE

If a student must leave Rollins for medical reasons, he or she must take sufficient time away to adequately address the issues that necessitated the leave. Students who depart the College after the tenth week of classes in any semester may not return until after the expiration of both the semester during which leave was taken and the next fall or spring semester, i.e., a student who takes a medical leave in December, if readmitted on petition, may not return until the fall of the following school year.

During this absence, the College expects the student to undergo professional health-care treatment as the primary method of resolving the problem. Failure to seek ongoing treatment of a kind appropriate to the health problems will raise serious doubt as to the student's readiness to resume student status. In such a case, the College may withhold admission until such time that appropriate treatment has been received.

A student on medical leave who wishes to return, must initiate a request for readmission by writing a letter to the Dean of Student Affairs detailing what has been accomplished during the absence. The student must also provide supporting documentation from a healthcare professional that addresses the following: the specific diagnosis that precipitated the need for care; the treatment plan; gains that were made as a result of the treatment; the readiness of the students to return to Rollins and the potential impact of the intellectual, physical, and personal demands of being a full-time residential student; any special conditions under which the student should be readmitted; and a recommended treatment plan to support the student's transition back to campus. To facilitate the decision for readmission, the student must grant permission for the off campus healthcare provider to consult with the appropriate professional at Rollins, i.e., the Director of Counseling and Psychological Services or the Director of Health Services. Requests for readmission and the supporting documentation are due no less than three (3) weeks prior to the first day of classes for the fall and spring semesters.

The information gathered is reviewed by a committee comprised of the Dean of Student Affairs, the Director of Counseling and Psychological Services, the Director of Health Services, and the Director of Residential Life. When a student is permitted to return, special conditions or requirements may be outlined, and upon return, the student is expected adhere to the prescribed conditions or requirements. Failure to do so may result in the student's dismissal from the College. The decision to readmit a student from a health leave of absence is a provisional judgment which may be reversed if a student fails to be a responsible member of the Rollins community.

COMPASSIONATE LEAVE

A student may request a leave of absence when extraordinary personal reasons, not related to the student's physical or mental health prevent the student from continuing classes, e.g., death in the immediate family. Requests are made to and approved by the Dean of Student Affairs.

If the student departs after the start of the semester, the student will be granted grades of 'W' in all enrolled courses (even if the normal deadline for withdrawal without penalty has passed). A student on compassionate leave who wishes to return may do so by initiating a written request for readmission to the Dean of Student Affairs. Requests for readmission are due no less than three (3) weeks prior to the start of classes.

PERSONAL LEAVE

A leave of absence may be granted for a program of work, study, or travel that demonstrably contributes to the student's personal development or program of study at Rollins. A student may also request a personal leave for reasons related to financial hardship. Requests for personal leave are submitted to the Dean of Student Affairs. Requests for readmission are due no less than three (3) weeks prior to the start of classes.

FINANCIAL AID

Students leaving the College in the middle of the semester should pay particular attention to how this might affect current financial aid eligibility. Please refer to the FAQ's on the Student Financial Aid Office website, <http://www.rollins.edu/finaid/>, or speak with the Student Financial Aid Office directly.

Students who withdraw or leave the College for a duration greater than one (1) academic year are not guaranteed a similar financial aid award package upon their return. The policies and availability of financial aid might vary from one year to the next. Therefore, no student is guaranteed Rollins' grants and scholarships upon their return to the College. Students who have been gone for more than one (1) academic year will be considered for financial aid in comparison to all other Transfer Students being admitted in that same semester.

Appeals of Academic Policies

Rollins College is committed to fostering the academic and social success of each student. In the event the College deems a student's work or behavior to be unacceptable, the student will be suspended academically and progress toward graduation will be disrupted. Students suspended academically from campus are advised to spend the intervening time addressing the scholastic and/or social issues that led to the suspension from Rollins College. Suspended students may attend another institution of higher learning, but Rollins College does not award credit for any academic work the student undertakes during the period of suspension.

Academic Suspension:

When a student's study and work habits do not meet the high standards required of Rollins College, a suspension may be well spent at another institution developing more effective habits. No academic credit earned during an academic suspension will be transferable back to the College.

Social Suspension:

When personal or social issues have led to the suspension, Rollins College requires the student to use the suspension to address the personal and/or social issues impeding academic success. In the case of a social suspension, enrolling in another academic institution for the suspension may not be to the student's advantage. No academic credit earned during a social suspension will be transferable back to the College.

Readmission Procedure:

Before a student will be readmitted to the College, s/he must present a case demonstrating s/he is prepared to resume academic work. Typically, this includes a letter from the student detailing how the issue(s) related to the suspension were successfully addressed. In addition, the student is required to arrange an interview with a representative from the Office of the Dean of Arts and Sciences or Professional Studies to discuss readmission to Rollins College.

Students may appeal to the Academic Appeals Committee the effects of any academic policy that applies to them. All appeals must be made within one (1) year of the conclusion of term for which the appeal is made. To submit an academic appeal, the student must complete the following steps.

Step 1: Consult with their academic advisor, then schedule an appointment with the coordinator of academic appeals, Mae Fitchett (407-646-1559), to discuss their individual situation and to determine required documentation.

Step 2: Submit a written Appeal using the online appeals process.

Step 3: Review their DegreeWorks academic audit for accuracy. Report any discrepancies to the Office of Student Records.

Step 4: Submit all supporting documentation to accompany the appeal to Mae Fitchett, with an explanation or note that it is to accompany the appeal. Students should follow-up to confirm that documents were received.

The Committee will discuss appeals only after all required documentation has been submitted. Required documentation also may include information from the advisor and/or professor. It is the student's responsibility to ensure that all documentation is submitted by the dates outlined on the Academic Appeals web site; appeals received after the student deadline will be reviewed at the next Appeals meeting.

Additional information and procedures for academic appeals may be found on the Academic Appeals web site (<http://r-net.rollins.edu/as/dean-of-arts-sciences/advising-appeals.html>).

Sustainable Development and the Environment (minor only)

Allen Gunter Lairson Lines

The interdisciplinary minor in sustainable development and the environment examines whether transnational corporations can be both competitive and responsible by pursuing a strategy of sustainable development. The minor includes a set of courses that examine carefully the concept of sustainable development in an increasingly global economy. These courses are based on the premise that sustainable development means reconciling the need for economic growth, particularly in developing nations, with the need to protect both natural resources and the quality of life.

This minor will appeal primarily to students majoring in environmental studies or international business, but it will be available to other students as well. It includes a prescribed sequence of academic courses in conjunction with opportunities for practical applications of course theory through field study practical.

Students who complete this minor will gain an understanding of:

- the basic principles of environmental protection and sustainability;
- the emergence and consequences of globalization;
- the increasing role of international cooperation in managing environmental problems;
- the political economy of transnational corporations;
- the range of both positive and negative behaviors of transnational corporations in developing countries, and the ability to evaluate the environmental consequences of those behaviors; and
- recent attempts to measure and evaluate sustainable development, including indicators of corporate practice.

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

Twenty-eight (28) semester hours are required: four (4) core courses, worth four (4) semester hours each and two (2) seminar/practicum courses worth six (6) semester hours each.

CORE COURSES

- INB 200 Introduction to International Business
- ENV 292 Political Economy of Environmental Issues
- ENV 348 Sustainable Development
- INB 225 Sustainable Business Practices

SEMINAR/PRACTICUM COURSES

Seminar/practicum courses serve as case studies in sustainable development. Each is comprised of a semester-length seminar followed by a study-abroad practicum. All are focused on Latin America and the Caribbean, areas that serve as representative case studies to illustrate a wide range of issues in sustainable development. Two (2) courses with field study component are required.

- ENV 365 Environment and Development in Central America
- ENV 365F Central America Field Study
- ENV 375 Island Economies and Sustainability in the Caribbean
- ENV 375F Caribbean Field Study -- Dominica
- ENV 385 Sustainable Development in the Amazon Basin
- ENV 385F Amazon Basin Field Study
- INB 375 Global Production Systems and Sustainable Development
- INB 375F Northern Mexico Field Study

Course of Study

ENV 365 Environment and Development in Central America: Studies the need for broad-based sustainable development using Central America as a case study. Considers how widespread deforestation and rapid population growth have combined with other factors to depress living standards throughout the region. Examines why Costa Rica has attained a high level of human development. Explores appropriate models of sustainable development for the region. Co-requisite: ENV 365F.

ENV 365F Central America Field Study: The Central Highlands of Costa Rica provide an excellent case study in sustainable development. Students observe and analyze models of sustainability in the areas of agriculture, tourism, and ecosystem services, while examining a wide range of projects including a large-scale coffee plantation, an organic coffee cooperative, and the Monteverde Cloud Forest Preserve. Co-requisite: ENV 365.

ENV 375 Island Economies and Sustainability in the Caribbean: Examines the natural resources and conservation of terrestrial, freshwater, and marine habitats of the Caribbean. Conservation of these resources for future generations while meeting the legitimate material needs of people in the region also discussed. Explores the prospects for sustainable economic development. Co-requisite: ENV 375F.

ENV 375F Caribbean Field Study: Dominica is currently experiencing a major transition from an economy based primarily on agricultural exports to a tourism-based economy. Examines the tension between various competing interests and identifies opportunities for achieving broad-based sustainable development. Co-requisite: ENV 375.

ENV 385 Sustainable Development in the Amazon Basin: Examines the Amazon Basin, the largest remaining tropical ecosystem on earth, considering the crucial ecological services it provides as well as the exceptional biological and cultural diversity it supports. Reviews historic attempts to exploit the rich biological and mineral resources of the region, which failed through a misunderstanding of tropical ecology and an inability to recognize environmental limitations. Discusses new approaches to development that generate income while protecting crucial ecological systems supporting economic development. Examines such efforts in the areas of tourism, agriculture, forestry, and fisheries. Optional field study component also available. Co-requisite: ENV 385F.

ENV 385F Amazon Basin Field Study: The Peruvian Amazon provides an excellent case study of how governments, nongovernmental organizations, and private companies can form partnerships to promote sustainable development. Students work with local naturalist guides and project managers to gain a comprehensive understanding of the ecotourism industry. Co-requisite: ENV 385.

INB 375 Global Production Systems and Sustainable Development: Examines the emerging system of global production and its consequences for sustainable development. Considers the global production systems in apparel, autos, and semiconductors. Examines the impact of these production facilities on the social, economic, political and environmental systems of Mexico and Central America. Co-requisite: INB 375F.

INB 375F Mexico Field Study: Examines the impact of transnational firms on water quality, public facilities, and housing. Factors linked to corporate responsibility in these areas are studied, including international public pressure, corporate values in the home office, national origin of home office, and local political pressure. Co-requisite: INB 375.

Honors Degree Program

Rollins offers a highly selective program in the liberal arts for students with exceptional intellectual abilities. The Honors Degree Program creates a community of scholars who are encouraged to seek innovative ways to solve the pressing social challenges of the twenty-first century. Successful completion of the Honors curriculum leads to a distinct and separate undergraduate degree, Artium Baccalaureus Honoris--the Honors Bachelor of Arts Degree.

Honors students complete a core set of five courses designed to provide an integrated understanding of the liberal arts. These seminars, some of them interdisciplinary, introduce students to the different methods of inquiry in various fields and encourage students to take intellectual risks and apply a liberal arts understanding to critical issues of our time. These courses substitute for General Education requirements of the rFLA neighborhood program and are designed (1) to teach students to think and write critically across a broad range of disciplines; (2) to encourage a synthetic interdisciplinary understanding of the liberal arts; and (3) to challenge students to see the world in a new way.

In order to ensure that all Honors Degree Students have a broad exposure to all of the Liberal Arts, each seminar will fulfill one or more of the four divisional requirements: Arts (A), Humanities (H), Social Sciences (C), and Natural Sciences (S). Students should ensure that in choosing classes, they have met all four divisional requirements at some point before completing their Honors coursework. Depending on the disciplines of the faculty involved, seminars may have up to two divisional designations. All Honors students must have at least one seminar in each of these four areas. In addition, faculty advisors of first year Honors students will also work closely with their advisees to make certain that Honors students undertake the broadest possible exposure to the liberal arts.

To receive the Honors Bachelor of Arts Degree, candidates must satisfy course and credit, as well as grade requirements.

A. Course and credit requirements

a. Honors Seminars

HON 201 (4 hours)
HON 202 (4 hours)
HON 300 (4 hours)
HON 350 (4 hours)
HON 400 (4 hours)

b. *Honors-in-the-Major Research/Independent Study [Department Code] 498HD/499HD (8 hours total)

c. Competencies

Mathematical Thinking (M)
Health and Wellness (B)
Foreign Language (F)

d. Major Field

Complete courses required for major (48-64 hours)

e. Electives

(32-48 hours) Includes an optional minor of 6-8 courses

Students must fulfill the above academic requirements in no fewer than 140 semester hours.

*Honors-in-the-Major thesis research is strongly encouraged, but in rare exceptions students may write a thesis outside their discipline, which will count as credit for the Honors program but which will not receive honors in the major. Any thesis topics outside the major must be approved by the student's advisor in their major, and the thesis proposal must also be approved by the Honors Advisory Board before or during the spring registration period.

B. Grade Requirements

Candidates for the Honors A.B. Degree must maintain a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.33 to continue in the program and earn the degree. They must also earn a grade of "B" or better for HON 498/499. Latin Honors at graduation (Cum Laude, Magna Cum Laude and Summa Cum Laude) are awarded in the Honors Program on the basis of cumulative GPA, with the same numerical criteria as in the rest of the College.

American Studies

Faculty teaching American Studies courses include members from all four divisions in the College of Arts and Sciences. Please see the schedule of classes for each academic term for specific assignments.

American Studies is an interdisciplinary major/minor that educates students for responsible leadership and productive careers. It encourages students to use multiple academic disciplines and perspectives to explore the complexity and diversity of this nation's history, literature, and culture. Students learn the role of ideas, discourse, and events in creating American culture. They examine the interplay of race, regional identity, politics, capitalism, globalization, and popular culture in developing an American identity.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Majors complete ten (10) courses from at least five disciplines, including at least one class from each of the four core departments (English, History, Political Science, and Sociology). Students must also take at least one class from a department outside the four core departments. While study abroad is encouraged, a maximum of five (5) transfer courses will be counted toward the major.

CORE COURSES

Complete both of the following courses:

- AMST 200 Introduction to American Studies
- AMST 490 Senior Seminar

Complete two (2) of the following lower-level courses:

- ENG 229 Selected Studies in American Literature
- HIS 143 US from 1877
- SOC 102 American Society
- SOC 211 Social Problems
- POL 160 Introduction to American Politics

Complete two (2) of the following upper-level courses:

- ENG 303 Historical Approaches to American Literature (prerequisites ENG 201/202)
- ENG 304 Genre Study in American Literature

COURSE OF STUDY

AMST 200 Introduction to American Studies: Introduces students to the interdisciplinary study of American culture and history. Emphasizes critical reading skills and writing from an interdisciplinary perspective. Students will synthesize varied primary sources (such as literature, film, and art) and disciplinary perspectives to form a better understanding of American society and its connection to the larger world. Topics vary by semester.

AMST 490 Senior Seminar: Allows opportunities for reflection on the complexities of interdisciplinary study and the methods and strategies of American Studies. Students will develop an extended problem-based project on the American experience as they refine their skills of scholarly research and writing. Requires senior status.

Anthropology

The anthropology major exposes students to many related subdisciplines of the field. Undergraduates take courses in cultural anthropology, biological anthropology, archaeology, and linguistics.

Archaeology

The study of anthropology develops analytical and research skills necessary for understanding the complexities of the world's cultures. It also prepares students for careers in business, law, government, and medicine.

Art and Art History

Because anthropology emphasizes field research, the department provides opportunities to visit and study other modern cultures, as well as to analyze fossils and archaeological materials.

Asian Studies

Anthropology encompasses many interests and approaches -- from archaeology to primate behavior. Anthropology courses probe the biological basis of human society, cultural mores, social change, and the development of civilization.

Australian Studies

Anthropology majors must declare their major early and choose an advisor in the department.

Biochemistry/Molecular Biology

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Ten (10) courses are required, six (6) of which must originate within the Department of Anthropology at Rollins.

Biology

CORE COURSES

All core courses must be taken at Rollins.

| Marine Biology   | ANT 210 Human Evolution: Introduces physical anthropology. Reviews genetics, including evolution, then turns to nonhuman primates for models for human physical and cultural evolution. Examines human fossils and changes in human form and material culture. Dissects debates among paleontologists to illuminate how science works. Suitable for nonmajors.  |
| Mathematics  | ANT 215 Human Ecology: Introduces the ecological and anthropological study of human adaptation in tropical and subtropical regions. Special emphasis on the ecology of Latin America (the Amazon and Caribbean Basins), but also includes studies of other tropical and subtropical regions of the earth.   |
| Modern Languages and Literatures   | ANT 217 Anthropology, Fiction and Literature: Explores the possibility of representing other cultures through the writing of fiction. Examines experimental and fictional works by both anthropologists and non-anthropologists that portray other cultures in a compelling manner.   |
| Music  | ANT 219 Cultures of the Amazon: Study of indigenous groups and caboclos (or riberinhos ) in the tropical lowlands of South America. Examines the ecology of the region and human adaptations to the various ecosystems there during pre-historical, historical, and contemporary periods. Also examines ways in which traditional caboclo and indigenous adaptations can assist scientists and policy makers in developing strategies to use resources more sustainably in tropical Latin America.   |
| Neuroscience   | ANT 228 Introduction to Archaeology: Surveys origins and cultures of early civilizations, including hunter-gatherers, the Neolithic, Sumerians, Egyptians, Mayans, Aztecs, and Incas. | Philosophy and Religion  | ANT 232 Archaeology of Africa: Highlights critical topics about Africa's unique, long-term past, including early domesticates, technologies, urbanism, and global interactions. Examines African heritage and the politics of representation in the modern world.   |
| Physics  | ANT 234 Archaeology of South Asia. Provides a critical introduction to the archaeology of South Asia since the Neolithic. Addresses material evidence and key intellectual debates as well as the role of archaeology in contemporary narratives about heritage.  |
| Physical Education   | ANT 251 Native American Cultures: Introduces North American Indian culture, both traditional and modern, through in-depth analysis of various Indian societies, their problems, and their adaptive responses to changing environments. Places both Native American and "Anglo" culture in anthropological perspective. Suitable for nonmajors.  |
| Political Science  | ANT 252 Cultures of China: Surveys cultures, peoples, and history of mainland China from primitive times until present. Suitable for nonmajors.   |
| Psychology   | ANT 254 Cultures of Japan: Surveys Japanese culture from origins to present configurations, touching upon social institutions such as family, traditional and modern state systems, and modern Japanese corporations. Evaluates effects of modernization, influence of West, and predictions about future of Japanese society. Suitable for nonmajors.  |
| Sexuality, Women's, and Gender Studies                                   | ANT 255 Middle East Culture: Explores everyday lives of people in the Middle East as they negotiate the challenges of globalization, new media, human rights discourses, religion, and the legacy of colonialism.   |
| Sociology  | ANT 259 Contemporary Middle East and North Africa: Explores the diversity of social life and cultures in contemporary Middle Eastern societies. Examines contemporary social, political, and religious issues of the Middle East and North Africa from an anthropological perspective.  |
| Sustainable Development and the Environment                              | ANT 275 Sex and Gender: Biology and Culture: Weighs extent to which sex roles are culturally or genetically determined. Draws on biology, sociology, psychology, and anthropology. Examines gender roles in different cultures, including non-Western societies, and applies insights to contemporary American culture. Suitable for nonmajors.   |
| Theatre Arts and Dance   | ANT 277 Gender in the Middle East and North Africa: Explores the concept of gender in the Middle East and North Africa from an anthropological perspective. Examines how religion, cultural practices, media, politics, and social class affect men's and women's roles in work, family, and society.   |
| Student Records   | ANT 300 Development of Anthropological Thought: Traces development of classic anthropological thought. Prerequisites: major and junior/senior standing, or consent.  |
| Rollins College1000 Holt AvenueWinter Park, Florida 32789-4499(407) 646-2000 | ANT 301 Nutrition and Health: A course about what people need to eat, how those needs have evolved, and how peoples' choices across cultures effect their health and the health of the environment. Discusses basic human nutritional requirements, and how evolution and culture have both worked to shape traditional and modern diets resulting in different disease patterns in different cultures. Some attention given to current U.S. practices, including fast food and factory farming, and their implications for the health of U.S. populations. Prerequisite: one ANT course.   |
|  | ANT 302 The Maya: Uses the Maya's own words to analyze their historical representation. Explores Maya language, personhood, and oppression in Pre-Columbian, colonial, Civil War, and post-Civil War eras. Prerequisite: one ANT or LAC course.  |
|  | ANT 303 Women's Global Health: Examines the plight of women's health, globally, in both developed and underdeveloped countries. We will use several theories, including political economy, feminism and alternative (non-Western) medical perspectives to analyze how culture, poverty, ethnicity, social class, migration, location, diseases exacerbated by development projects, sexually transmitted diseases, pollution and environmental degradation, domestic violence, and reproduction affect women's health. We will examine existing public policy on women's health, and explore a human-rights based approach to women's health. Prerequisite: one ANT course. |
|  | ANT 306 Medicine and Culture: Examines how different cultures view disease and illness, how they explain illnesses, what they do about them, and how they use disease and illness as social controls. Discusses these issues in general and then as they apply to several specific cultures -- including our own. Prerequisite: one ANT or BIO course.   |
|  | ANT 315 Women in the Developing World: Explores the role and status of women in the developing world by examining how historical and contemporary processes have affected women's livelihoods and those of their families. Examines these economic and political strategies women use to ensure their interests. Prerequisite: one ANT course (must have taken at least one ANT course prior to this one).   |
|  | ANT 317 Anthropology and Global Problem Solving: Explores the contribution of anthropology to the understanding of contemporary social issues such as globalization, inequality, migration, and development. Examines global issues from an anthropological perspective. Prerequisite: one ANT course.  |
|  | ANT 319 Cultures Without Borders: Globalization: Examines the history and meanings of globalization by exploring related phenomena: migration and diaspora, nationalism and transnationalism, the rise of non-state actors, technology and flows of capital, and human rights issues. Prerequisite: one ANT course.   |

ANT 320 U.S.-Middle East Foreign Relations and Culture Since 1900: Examines the history of contact between the United States and the Middle East since 1900, from the combined geopolitical and cultural perspectives of political science and anthropology. Prerequisite: POL 100, or POL 130, or one ANT course.

ANT 323 Foundations in Archaeology: Presents subdiscipline of archaeology, including fieldwork, laboratory analysis, and theory. Students interpret past human behavior and cultural change from stone tools, ceramics and other artifacts, dietary remains, and settlement patterns. Prerequisite: ANT 210 or ANT 228.

ANT 345 Brazilian Amazon: Culture and Environmental Change: Explores the relationship between the ecology of the Brazilian Amazon and human beings. Considers the complexity of Amazonian habitats and human strategies within those habitats. Examines the social, economic, and environmental impacts resulting from governmental efforts. Prerequisite: one LACA, ANT, ENV, IR, or SOC course.

ANT 350 Anthropology and the Family. Explores kinship as a cultural institution around the world. Examines how political controversies, new reproductive technologies, and immigration policies impact our definitions of the family.

ANT 351 Language, Culture and Society: Examines origin of language, linguistic change, variability of speech vis-à-vis social factors (sex, class, ethnicity), and functions of language in shaping and reflecting cultural beliefs and values. Also discusses meaning, metaphor, and special language systems such as jargons, naming, and slang. Prerequisite: junior or senior standing.

ANT 355 Middle East: Film and Culture: Examines the contemporary cultures of the Middle East through the lens of film, while also studying the history of filmmaking in the region.

ANT 360 Anthropology and the Environment. Examines impacts that we, human beings, have had on the physical environment, beginning with the "invention" of agriculture. Focuses on contemporary human-environmental relationships, including our impact on climate, water and major ecosystems. Examines consequences of human-induced alterations to the environment.

ANT 362 Urban Anthropology: Discusses the city -- and human adaptation to it -- in various cultures. Follows evolution of early cities (Mesopotamian, Mayan) and modern metropolises. Prerequisite: one ANT course.

ANT 365 Real and the Supernatural in Latin America: Examines relationships between belief systems and the economic, social, and political components of their cultures. Focuses on Latin American folklore traditions of the supernatural, including the conditions under which incidences of witchcraft increase; the pharmacological and psychological causes of the Haitian zombie phenomenon; the uses of magic; ritual sorcery among tropical groups; and shamanism and healing. Prerequisite: one ANT course.

ANT 370 Forensic Anthropology: Considers the basics of human osteology and the application of osteology to modern skeletal and crime scene investigation. Prerequisite: one ANT or one BIO course.

ANT 375 Monkeys, Apes, and Humans: Enters world of monkeys, apes, and prosimians, with eye towards understanding ecology and social organization of living species. Uses insights to explain and interpret human behavior. Prerequisite: one ANT course, one BIO course, or consent.

ANT 377 Morocco: Culture and Society: Seminar and accompanying field experience focused on Morocco's history and culture, as well as its position as a developing nation. Students are expected to participate in an international service learning field experience. Prerequisites: ANT major and consent.

ANT 380 Doing Anthropology: The Anthropologist at Work: Teaches anthropology major and minors, and other interested students, how to carry out anthropological fieldwork and how to write an ethnography. Primarily for majors and minors in anthropology. Prerequisite: one ANT course.

ANT 400 Ethnohistory of the Maya: History and socio-cultural role of the Maya in Southern Mexico and Central America from pre-Hispanic era to present. Upper-division anthropology seminar that gives credit in the LACA program.

ANT 426 Seminar: Youth Cultures: Explores values, norms, and social behavior of adolescents and young adults in tribal, agrarian, and urban societies, both Western and non-Western. Compares patterns of development in youth cultures of modern Europe, North America, and Asia, especially 20th-century student cultures. Also considers gender differences. Prerequisite: junior or senior standing.

ANT 451 Seminar: Applied Anthropology: Examines how anthropology can be applied to the understanding of contemporary social issues such as globalization, inequality, migration, and development. Students will conduct their own applied fieldwork project. Prerequisite: ANT 200.

ANT 452 Seminar: Cinema and Society in China: Considers the societies of the People's Republic of China (PRC), Taiwan, and Hong Kong through their portrayals in cinema, with attention to the political and social forces that shape the portrayals. Prerequisite: junior or senior standing.

ANT 453 The Brazilian Amazon: Environment and Culture Change: Explores the relationship between the ecology of the Brazilian Amazon and human beings who have lived there. Exposes students to the complexity of Amazonian habitats and human strategies within those habitats during different time periods of the region's history. In particular, examines the social, economic, and environmental impacts resulting from governmental efforts, initiated in the 1960's, to develop the region, and strategies used by different social groups to address these impacts. Prerequisite: ANT 200. Registration preference to ANT majors.

Students may major in art history or studio art. Majors take a set of core courses, then choose electives. Minors complete six courses in art history or studio art.

This sequence of required core courses enables students to develop skills, concepts, and critical awareness about art and society.

ART HISTORY

The art history major familiarizes students with the visual culture of societies from prehistory to the present day; strengthening students' understanding of art and culture by examining, analyzing and interpreting works of art as primary evidence in relation to historical events, politics, religion, social life, and other art forms; emphasizes the development of strong critical thinking, writing, and presentation skills; teaches students a variety of scholarly art historical and archaeological methodologies; prepares students for a variety of careers, including those in the arts and archaeology, and promotes visual literacy and interdisciplinary study of a diverse array of sociopolitical and theoretical issues.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Students are encouraged to pursue internships and Honors in the Major. Students may opt out of either ARH 201 or ARH 202 with an AP exam score of 4 or higher. Transfer classes applied to the major will be considered on an individual basis. Graduate programs in Art History require specialized language training; students should consult with their advisor about appropriate language options. Graduate programs in the field of art conservations usually require applicants to have taken college-level chemistry through organic and have a strong studio art background. See the departmental website for further information: <http://www.rollins.edu/art>

* Special Note about the General Curriculum: Only one general curriculum requirement from the group A, C, D, L, O, P, S may be double-counted to satisfy both the general curriculum and the major requirements. See the Rollins College Catalogue for a comprehensive listing of all requirements.

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

The art history minor familiarizes students with the visual culture of societies from prehistory to the present day, strengthening students' understanding of art and culture through the analysis and interpretation of works of art as primary evidence in relation to historical events, politics, religion, social life, and other art forms. The minor teaches students a variety of scholarly art historical and archaeological methodologies; emphasizes the development of strong critical thinking, writing, and presentation skills; and promotes visual literacy and interdisciplinary study of a diverse array of sociopolitical and theoretical issues. The minor also supports and adds valuable knowledge and skills to majors such as studio art, history, philosophy, critical media and cultural studies, English, modern languages, and classical studies, and anthropology.

Six (6) courses are required: three (3) core courses and three (3) electives, one at the 300-level or higher.

STUDIO ART

The studio art major includes a core of foundation courses that introduce students to the fundamental concerns of the art making process. Advanced level courses build upon this foundation and provide each student the opportunity to create individualized programs that reflect his/her interests. Through both practice and theory, developing artists refine their skills and techniques, expand their creative and imaginative capacity, and develop critical and analytical judgment. The major culminates in a senior-year group art exhibition at the Cornell Fine Arts Museum. The rigorous process involved in preparing for a professional-level exhibition provides students with the practice necessary to be working artists while also preparing them for advanced study at the graduate school level.

Students declaring a studio major should contact their advisor or the Art and Art History Department chair (in cases where an advisor belongs to another department) to discuss course sequencing and to complete the degree-planning sheet.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Twelve (12) courses and a Junior Year Portfolio Review with the academic advisor are required.

CORE COURSES

- ARH 201 Introduction to Art History I
- ARH 202 Introduction to Art History II

ARH 220 Medieval Art: Covers architecture, sculpture, painting, and minor arts, c. 300-1300, including decline of classical art, emergence of early Christian and Byzantine art, and relationship between arts of East and West. Examines development of Romanesque and Gothic styles as symbols of human life, belief, and ideas.

ARH 230 Italian Renaissance Art: Focuses on art and architecture in Italy from 1400-1530, with attention to social influences on the subject and style of the artists and with emphasis on Leonardo, Raphael, and Michelangelo.

ARH 231 Northern Renaissance Art: Follows evolution of painting techniques and styles during 15th and 16th centuries north of the Alps. Touches upon iconography and analogies between visual arts and contemporary humanist ideas.

ARH 236 Art and Archaeology of the Greek World. Introduces the archaeology of the ancient cultures of the Greek-speaking Mediterranean from ca. 3000 - 30 BC. Explores the culture of ancient Greece in an effort to become familiar with the cultural, social, and artistic baggage that this tradition still attaches to modern life.

ARH 237 Art and Archaeology of the Roman Empire. Studies the material culture of Roman society from the 8th century BC to its demise in the 4th century AD. Emphasis on the social, economic, and ideological structures played in creating a cohesive political identity across the Mediterranean, as well as the ways in which Rome, the first globalized culture, negotiated some of the same problems of globalization that we face today.

ARH 240 Baroque and Rococo Art: Pursues 17th-century Baroque style in Italy, Holland, Flanders, France, England, and Spain, from Renaissance and Mannerist sources, through termination in 18th-century Rococo style, c. 1750.

ARH 250 European Art: Royalty and Revolution: Overview of the major artistic movements and theories of 19th-century Europe, primarily France, Great Britain, and Germany. Movements include Neoclassicism, Romanticism, the Pre-Raphaelites, Impressionism, and Symbolism. Examines the emergence of photography. Situates the arts in their social and political contexts.

ARH 260 American Art and National Identity: Overview of the major artistic movements and theories in art of 20th-century United States, including abstraction, cubism, abstract expressionism, and pop art, as well as the emergence of new art categories and media, such as environmental art. Examines artistic expression in the context of the century's social and political upheavals.

ARH 270 Arts of Buddhism: Covers the history and development of art and architecture associated with Buddhism in Asia. Focuses particularly on India, China, Korea, and Japan.

ARH 275 The Art of African Textiles, Dress and Fashion: Studies textiles, dress and fashion across Africa, including techniques of textile production, clothing systems, and appearance in contemporary art. Situates material culture in its social, historical, religious, and political contexts.

ARH 281 Modernism to Post-Modernism: 20th-Century Art. Examines the art of the 20th Century, from the avant-garde movements of the World War I era to the disappearance of the art object in the 1970s and '80s. Prerequisite: Sophomore status or instructor consent.

ARH 304 African Art and Colonialism: Studies late nineteenth-century and early twentieth-century African art within the context of European colonialism, which informed its initial collection, display, and reception. Especial focus on sculpture, photography, and exhibition practices.

ARH 315 Special Studies - Ancient Art: Focused studies in specific areas of ancient art and archaeology. Topics vary, but include Art and Archaeology of Pompeii and Roman Daily Life, Art and Archaeology of the Holy Land, and Power, Propaganda, and Empire: Art and Architecture of the Roman Provinces. Courses focus on recent problems or issues in the field, expose students to a variety of art historical and archaeological methods used to address those problems, and introduce students to research methods and tools required to conduct significant research projects within the discipline of ancient art and archaeology. May be repeated for credit where there is not topical overlap.

ARH 325 Special Studies - Medieval Art: Focused studies in specific areas of Medieval art from the conversion of Constantine to 1453. Topics vary, but include Gothic Architecture, Manuscript Illumination in the Middle Ages, and the Art of the Crusades. Courses focus on recent problems or issues in the field, expose students to a variety of art historical methods used to address those problems, and introduce students to research methods and tools required to conduct significant research projects within the discipline of Medieval art history. May be repeated for credit where there is not topical overlap.

ARH 330 The HIGH Renaissance and Its Aftermath: Traces the stylistic evolution of Italian art and architecture across the sixteenth century beginning with the 'High' Renaissance masters (Leonardo, Raphael, Michelangelo, and Titian) and progressing into the Mannerist era.

ARH 335 Special Studies - Renaissance Art: Focused studies in specific areas of Renaissance art. Topics vary, but include The Age of Michelangelo, Art of Renaissance Florence, and Medici Madness. Courses focus on recent problems or issues in the field, expose students to a variety of art historical methods used to address those problems, and introduce students to research methods and tools required to conduct significant research projects within the discipline of Renaissance art history. May be repeated for credit where there is not topical overlap.

ARH 342 Rome in the Age of Caravaggio and Bernini: Explores developments in painting, sculpture and architecture in the Roman 'High' Baroque through close examination of the careers of Michelangelo Merisi da Caravaggio and Gianlorenzo Bernini.

ARH 355 Special Studies - Modern European Art: Focused studies in specific areas of European art from 1789 to World War II. Topics vary, but include Impressionism and Post-Impressionism, Art of Revolution, and Dada and Surrealism. All courses focus on recent problems or issues in the field, expose students to a variety of art historical methods used to address those problems, and introduce students to research methods and tools required to conduct significant research projects within the discipline of modern art history. May be repeated for credit where there is not topical overlap.

ARH 356 Impressionism and Post-Impressionism. Explores the origins, rise, and impact of French Impressionism and Post-Impressionism in the context of French 19th- and early 20th-century history, art theory, and culture. Prerequisite: ARH 202 or instructor consent.

ARH 360 Women in Art: Examines the roles of women artists in Western art from the Renaissance to the present, focusing on how cultural conditions determined women's artistic production. Also addresses how women are portrayed in the arts, ranging from painting to contemporary mass media. Prerequisite: sophomore standing or consent.

ARH 361 History of Photography: Introduces students to the major contributors, movements, and technologies of photographic history. Primary focus on cultural, social, aesthetic, and commercial implications of photography concurrent with its invention and development through the present day. The photograph, as document and as aesthetic object, is analyzed through contemporary criticism, historical writing, and illustrated lectures.

ARH 362 History and Theory of Museums: Explores a wide variety of museums, the issues and problems they face, their contributions to society, and our relationship to them as visitor, staff member, or benefactor. Topics include: defining museums; what, how, and why museums collect; legal and ethical issues of collection; role of museums in society; and personal relationships to community museums.

ARH 363 Artists on Film. Examines ways in which artists and creativity are depicted in film. These include "Frida," "Basquiat," and "American Splendor." Prerequisite: Sophomore status or instructor consent.

ARH 364 Picturing War. Examines the historical contexts and rhetorical strategies of the imagery of war in the Western world, including painting, architecture, public monuments, and mass media. Prerequisite: Sophomore status or instructor consent.

ARH 365 Special Studies - Modern American Art: Focused studies in specific areas of American art from 1900-1960. Topics vary, but include Pop Art, Culture Wars, Abstraction from O'Keefe to Pollock, and Primitivism. All courses focus on recent problems or issues in the field, expose students to a variety of art historical methods used to address those problems, and introduce students to research methods and tools required to conduct significant research projects within the discipline of modern American art. May be repeated for credit where there is not topical overlap.

ARH 424 Contemporary Art and Theory: An examination of postmodern art and theory (1960 - present) beginning with fine arts appropriation of popular culture in the 1960's and culminating with today's pluralistic range of traditional to virtual media. Themes include temporary art forms, constructions of national, ethnic, and gender identity in a post-colonial world, and recent arts controversies and censorship issues. Prerequisite: sophomore standing.

ARH 450 Art History Capstone Seminar: Addresses the history and theories of art history, focusing on either ancient, early modern, modern, or non-Western art history. Required for ARH seniors; open to ARH juniors. Prerequisites: ARH 201 and ARH 202.

STUDIO ART

ART 110 Two-Dimensional (2D) Foundations: Introduces students to various methods and concepts in the visual arts practice. Projects incorporate drawing, painting, printmaking, mixed media, and basic color theory. Required first course for studio art majors and minors. Appropriate for nonmajors who wish to explore various media and basic visual art concepts.

ART 120 Three-Dimensional (3D) Foundations: Introduces fundamentals of three-dimensional (3D) design with an emphasis on spatial awareness, problem solving, and the development of ideas related to traditional and non-traditional approaches to making art. Readings, discussions, and group critiques complement the studio work. Suitable for majors and nonmajors.

ART 215 Artist's Book: Concepts and Practice: Examination of the book as an art object. Develops basic bookbinding, typesetting, and printing skills through individual and collaborative studio projects. Suitable for majors or nonmajors.

ART 221 Drawing and Composition: Develops basic drawing skills with an emphasis on principles of composition, proportions, linear perspective, and perception of form in space. Uses a variety of drawing materials, both traditional and contemporary. Experiential studio learning experiences with formal and informal critique sessions. Suitable for majors and nonmajors.

ART 222 Introduction to Design: Explores visual communication through basic design elements and principles with an emphasis on the process of creative problem solving, idea generation, development, and refinement of designs that develop perceptual skills, and critical judgment. Studio work, individual and group critiques, and individual research using traditional media with a side-project crossover to digital media. Suitable for majors and nonmajors.

ART 223 Graphic Design I: Presents basic concepts and techniques associated with computer-based design. Builds upon concepts covered in ART 222 Introduction to Design with similar emphasis placed on the process of creative problem solving, research, and idea generation. Students will develop technical skills in this primarily computer based course using Adobe Photoshop and Adobe Illustrator commercial software applications.

ART 230 Introduction to Digital Media: Introduces students to digital workflow related to the studio art process. Students will work with Photoshop, and various web design, video editing, and blog applications to create studio projects addressing aesthetic, formal, and conceptual issues. Suitable for majors and nonmajors. Continuous access to a digital camera required.

ART 232/332 Special Studies in Painting and Drawing: Fosters technical improvement and critical thinking among intermediate and advanced painters and drawers. Studio work, individual and group critiques, and individual research. Prerequisite: ART 221 or consent.

ART 233/333 Special Studies in Sculpture: In-depth investigation of themes, trends, and/or processes specific and pertinent to contemporary sculpture. Topics vary. Substantial reading and discussions complement the studio work. Attention paid throughout the course to understanding and articulating form in space and to helping students develop personal ways of working alongside, and in response to, current issues in contemporary sculpture. Prerequisite: ART 120 or consent.

ART 234/334 Special Studies in Photography: Focuses on topics relevant to both the contemporary and historical discourse surrounding the medium of photography and, at times, other lens-based media. Seminar style course with heavy emphasis on relating assigned readings, lectures, and discussions to students' studio work. Suitable for majors and highly motivated nonmajors. Prerequisite: Any course with an ART prefix or consent.

ART 240 Studio Furniture Design I. Introduces the materials, processes, and evaluation of contemporary studio craft furniture design and construction through intensive studio projects. Readings and discussions offer further consideration of historical, conceptual, and theoretical frameworks. Prerequisite: ART 120.

ART 241 Sculpture I: Explores the range of what sculpture might be and investigates creative approaches to perception, making, and critical analysis. Assignments expose students to both traditional and contemporary concepts, methods, and techniques particular to the medium of sculpture. Readings, discussions, and group critiques complement studio work. Prerequisite: ART 120 or consent.

ART 243/343 Human Figure Drawing: Challenges intermediate and advanced students to incorporate human figures into artwork. Stresses studio exercises, such as gesture drawings and in-depth anatomical studies, as well as individual and group critiques, and discussions with individual research. Prerequisites: ART 110, ART 221, or consent.

ART 251 Painting I: Introduces the basics of oil and/or acrylic painting techniques while encouraging development of compositional and conceptual language of intermediate students. Intensive studio work, individual and group critiques, and individual research. Prerequisite: ART 110 or ART 221 or consent.

ART 272 Relief Printing: Introduces intermediate level relief printing techniques such as letterpress printing, multiple color linoleum printing, and collagraph. Suitable for majors or nonmajors. Prerequisites: ART 110, ART 221, or ART 222.

ART 293 Photography I: Introduces techniques, processes, and creative possibilities of black and white photography, and traditional darkroom printing. Considers aesthetic and stylistic issues and emphasizes conceptual concerns particular to the medium's history. Suitable for majors and nonmajors. Continuous access to a manually adjustable 35mm camera required.

ART 300 Photography II: Introduces students to the digital darkroom through work with digital cameras and/or scanned negatives, Adobe, Photoshop, and Epson inkjet printers. Conceptual concerns of contemporary photography considered through engagement with critical theory via assigned readings and class discussions. Prerequisite: ART 293 or consent. Continuous access to a digital or film camera required.

ART 310 Introduction to Video Art: Introduces the medium of digital video with primary focus on locating video art in contemporary fine arts contexts, as opposed to and/or in conversation with broadcast media. Discusses the medium's history alongside the larger categories of other time and lens-based media such as film and photography, and covers concepts and theories related to these media. Basic image capture and editing techniques taught using industry standard software. Suitable for majors and highly motivated nonmajors. Prerequisite: ART 230 or ART 293 or ART 300 or consent.

ART 323 Graphic Design II: Intermediate graphic design course stressing creative problem solving as applied to single and multiple page layout, as well as typography and website design. Strengthens students' graphic design portfolios while introducing Adobe, InDesign, and world wide web development software. Prerequisites: ART 222 and ART 223.

ART 342 Sculpture II: Provides further investigation into the history of making and thinking in sculpture and raises questions pertinent to contemporary art. Explores new techniques and materials while honing familiar skills. Designed to help students become self-directed in their work. Group discussion of student projects, readings, slides, and video addressing current art practice are core to the class. Regular individual and group critiques monitor the progress of each independent project. Prerequisite: ART 241 or consent.

ART 351 Painting II: Probes problems presented in Painting I. Features studio work, individual and group critiques, and individual research. Prerequisite: ART 251.

ART 366F Field Study: Making Art in Scotland: Two-week field study trip to Edinburgh, Scotland, led by Rollins studio art faculty during the world renowned Edinburgh Fringe Festival. Students choose and complete two art classes offered by Edinburgh College of Art.

ART 372 Lithographic Printmaking: Introduces the printmaking technique of lithography through both traditional and contemporary approaches. Utilizes design and drawing skills to build a unified body of work. Prerequisites: ART 110, ART 120 or ART 130 and any 200- or 300-level studio art elective.

ART 380F Art in the City with Field Study: A first-hand look into the masterpieces of modern and contemporary art and artists in New York City. Students visit institutions such as the Metropolitan Museum of Art and Museum of Modern Art, as well as galleries not seen anywhere else. Students produce artwork that responds to their experiences.

ART 391 Screen Printing: Students create portfolio based on an over-arching concept and create multi-layered images using drawing fluid, photo emulsion, autographic positives and photography. Prerequisites: ART 110 or ART 120 or ART 215 or ART 222 or ART 230 or ART 293.

ART 392 Digital and Mixed Media Printmaking: Reinforces the concept of printmaking through integration of traditional and non-traditional processes and tools. Mixed media projects develop students' visual design skills through integration of Adobe, Photoshop, traditional intaglio techniques, and lithographic printmaking. Suggested for majors, but suitable for nonmajors. Basic knowledge of Adobe, Photoshop is required. Prerequisites: ART 110, ART 120, or ART 130.

ART 440 Senior Studio: Concentrated, advanced study in art concepts and mediums. Students produce a unified body of work for display during the ART 450 Senior Seminar. Required course for studio art majors in fall of the senior year and for minors who wish to participate in the Senior Exhibition. Students must submit a portfolio for faculty review in the spring of the junior year to be admitted to this course in fall of the senior year.

ART 450 Senior Seminar: Addresses career issues and helps students gain practical skills necessary for careers in the arts. Students learn discipline-specific resume writing, compose artist's statements, create an artist's web site, and photographically document and prepare their work for exhibition. Students take part in Senior Exhibition and gain design and curatorial experience by assisting Cornell Fine Arts Museum staff in preparing and hanging of the exhibition. Required of majors in their final spring semester at Rollins and of minors who wish to participate in the Senior Exhibition. Prerequisite: ART 440.

Faculty teaching Asian Studies courses include members of the Humanities and Social Sciences Division in the College of Professional Studies and College of Arts and Sciences. Please see the schedule of classes for each academic term for specific assignments.

Asian Studies

The Asian Studies major provides students the opportunity to study in depth one of the most important regions in the world. The importance of Asia derives from its large population, long history, complex and diverse societies and cultures, and rising economic significance. As the peoples and nations of the world become increasingly interconnected, successful leaders will benefit from a mastery of this key region.

Australian StudiesBiochemistry/Molecular Biology

The Asian Studies major combines courses in history, culture, politics, business, and economics with those from modern languages and an array of electives from other disciplines. Students majoring in Asian Studies are expected to:

- develop an understanding of the historical, cultural, political and economic forces that have shaped modern Asia,
- master the rudiments of an Asian language, and
- experience cultural immersion through study abroad in at least one Asian country.

BiologyBusiness and Social Entrepreneurship

Students will complete an international experience in Asia. Currently Rollins offers such experiences in Shanghai, Hong Kong, and Osaka.

ChemistryClassical Studies

The Asian Studies major is designed to educate Rollins students for active citizenship and ethical leadership in a global society, and to prepare graduates for productive careers. The major spans a variety of academic departments and students are required to incorporate courses from different departments.

Communication Studies

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Requirements for the Asian Studies major are: twelve (12) courses, including five (5) from the history and culture category, five (5) political economy, and two (2) courses in an Asian language beyond the 100 level. At least six (6) courses must be taken at the upper division (300-400) level and no more than three (3) courses can be in any single department. Capstone course may count towards history and culture or political economy categories as a required course. The required upper division seminar (ASA 400) can be taken only after both of the required lower division courses (REL 113 and HIS 263) have been completed.

Computer ScienceCritical Media and Cultural Studies

INTERNATIONAL EXPERIENCE

Students are highly encouraged to participate in a semester-long stay in one of the Asian Studies approved programs or universities, from which a maximum of four (4) pre-approved courses may be counted towards the major. At a minimum, however, students are required to complete a seminar course, followed by one (1) academically-based study trip to Asia.

EconomicsEducationEnglishEnvironmental Studies

RESIDENCY AND DISTRIBUTION

Asian Studies majors must take all core courses at Rollins (except for courses taken by transfer students prior to admission to Rollins), at least one-half of all courses for the major at Rollins (no exemption for transfer students), and at least one-half of all courses for the major must be at the 300-400 level.

Film StudiesGlobal Health

FOREIGN LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT

To accommodate students with different learning styles and abilities, the foreign language study requirement may be satisfied in one of three ways.

Health Professions Advising ProgramHistory

- First, students may take and successfully complete two (2) college-level courses (eight semester hours) or the equivalent in a single Asian language at the intermediate 200 level or beyond.
- Second, the two-course requirement may be waived by demonstrating 'native proficiency' in a modern Asian language, as determined by the Rollins College Department of Modern Languages and Literatures. If the language is not taught at Rollins, the two-course (200 level) requirement may be waived by demonstrating a proficiency in a modern foreign language at the 'advanced' level by passing a standardized test administered by the ACTFL Testing Office. Information and application forms for these tests can be obtained from the Rollins College Department of Modern Languages and Literatures.

Honors Degree ProgramInternational BusinessInternational RelationsJewish Studies

Receiving a foreign language waiver does not reduce the total number of courses required for the Asian Studies major (12). Students receiving such a waiver are required to take two (2) additional courses in either the history

Edge

The Australian studies minor, based upon the Rollins Program in Sydney, fosters an intellectual and social understanding between Australia and the United States.

Thanks to the faculty exchange program begun in January 1981, one or two visiting professors from Australia spend time at Rollins each year. Recent lecturers have included Rosemary Broomham in history and Graham Boardman in Australian literature.

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

Six (6) courses are required (totaling at least 24 semester hours): four (4) completed for grade-point credit in Australia during the required term in Sydney and two (2) more taken at Rollins or in Australia.

THE ROLLINS PROGRAM IN SYDNEY

Two (2) core courses are required during the fall term in Sydney.

- AUS 288 Australian History
- AUS 368 The Fauna and Flora of Australia OR AUS 388 Australia's Physical Environment

Four (4) more courses are required from among the following group.

- AUS 255 Australian Aboriginal Studies
- AUS 262 The Australian Economic and Political Systems
- AUS 300 International Business
- AUS 356 Australian Literature
- AUS 361 Australian Art
- AUS 368 The Fauna and Flora of Australia
- AUS 388 Australia's Physical Environment
- Courses at Rollins with the AUS designation

Sydney Courses

AUS 235 Australia in the Global Context: Globalization provides Australia not only with the promise of greater economic growth, but also with significant challenges to its traditional markets and alliances. This course examines the various responses to the challenges that Australia might make.

AUS 240 Painting the American and Australian Environment: Likeness and Difference: A comparative study of American and Australian art, including Aboriginal art. Investigates how art has evolved, examining the reasons, similarities, and the differences between the two environments.

AUS 255 Australian Aboriginal Studies: Presents historical overview of relations between Aborigines and Europeans in Australia and discusses contemporary social and political dimensions of Aboriginal life. Students may explore own interests in this field.

AUS 262 The Australian Economic and Political Systems: Studies structure and functioning of Australian economic and political systems -- dynamics, interactions, and mechanisms for adjusting to change. Applies concepts to current events.

AUS 288 Australian History: Surveys Australia's history from first human settlement to present with emphasis on European occupation of past two centuries.

AUS 300 International Business: A study of the strategies that firms use to compete globally. Topics include international competition, competitive advantage, international trade theory, international political economy, foreign direct investment, international operations, and globalization. Taught using case studies from Australia.

AUS 356 Australian Literature: Chronicles fiction and drama from realist writing about the Bush in 1890's to work of Patrick White, Elizabeth Jolley, and other contemporary writers. Students may follow up special interests such as feminist writing, writing by Aborigines, and recent poetry.

AUS 361 Australian Art: Introduces Australia's main schools and movements from 18th through 20th century from international art-history perspective. Supplements lectures with excursions to public and commercial galleries in Sydney and Canberra.

AUS 368 The Fauna and Flora of Australia: Examines unique character of Australia's plant and animal life. Emphasizes ecological fieldwork in variety of habitats in Sydney area.

AUS 388 Australia's Physical Environment: Acquaints students with climate, physiography, geology, and hydrology of coastal, estuarine, rolling uplands, and interior regions through lectures and field trips.

The biochemistry/molecular biology major is an interdepartmental major offered by the biology and chemistry departments that provides students with a strong background in chemistry and biology with an emphasis on molecular aspects. Through selected electives, students may concentrate on specific areas of interest. Students have excellent opportunities within the departments of biology and chemistry to engage in independent research projects. Graduates are prepared to pursue employment in biochemical, pharmaceutical, and biotechnological laboratories, and further study in the health professions or graduate research institutions. Note that biochemistry/molecular biology majors may not double major, or minor, in biology or chemistry.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Ten (10) core courses and an additional 14 semester hours of elective course credit are required. At least seven (7) courses must be at the 300-400 level. Satisfactory performance on a comprehensive standardized examination is required of all majors.

CORE COURSES

BIOLOGY

- BIO 120 General Biology I
- BIO 121 General Biology II
- BIO 341 Molecular Biology

CHEMISTRY

- CHM 120 Chemistry I
- CHM 121 General Chemistry II
- CHM 220 Organic Chemistry I
- CHM 221 Organic Chemistry II

BIOCHEMISTRY

- BCH 335 Biochemistry
- BCH 435 Advanced Biochemistry
- BCH 440 Senior Seminar in Biochemistry or BCH 499 Independent Study Research

ELECTIVES

Minimum fourteen (14) semester credit hours, comprising at least three courses, chosen from the following list.

- BIO 308 Genetics
- BIO 311 Plant Physiology
- BIO 312 Animal Physiology
- BIO 325 Medicinal Botany
- BIO 342 Biostatistics
- BIO 360 Cellular Biology
- BIO 370 Developmental Biology
- BIO 429 Immunology
- BCH 498 Independent Study Library Research
- CHM 301 Intermediate Inorganic Chemistry
- CHM 305 Physical Chemistry I
- CHM 306 Physical Chemistry II
- CHM 320 Analytical Chemistry
- CHM 380 Instrumental Analysis
- PSY 324 Neuropsychology
- PSY 326 Physiological Psychology

RECOMMENDATIONS

Students preparing for graduate programs in biology or professional schools, in health-related areas such as medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, or pharmacy, need a thorough introduction to physics and possibly calculus. Therefore, they should take PHY 120 and PHY 121 or 131 and (a) calculus course(s). Students contemplating careers and graduate study in biochemistry or pharmaceutical chemistry should include PHY 120 and PHY 121 or 131, MAT 111 and MAT 112, and a full year of physical chemistry -- CHM 305 and CHM 306.

Course of Study

BCH 335 Biochemistry: Introduces an integrated perspective of the chemical structure and cellular functions of proteins, nucleic acids, lipids, and carbohydrates. Topics include structural enzymology, molecular biology, and metabolism. Laboratory required. Prerequisites: BIO 121 and CHM 221.

Studies

Marine Biology

BCH 435 Advanced Biochemistry: Explores advanced experimental techniques to investigate complex biochemical problems. Topics include structural enzymology, nucleic acid biochemistry, mechanisms of transcription and translation, medicinal biochemistry, and integrated metabolism. Prerequisite: BCH 335.

Mathematics

BCH 440 Senior Seminar in Biochemistry: Students direct analysis and discussion of integrative biochemistry and molecular biology topics. Emphasizes readings of classical and contemporary primary scientific literature. Prerequisite: senior standing.

Modern Languages and Literatures

BCH 498/499 Independent Study: Research I and II: Requires proposal of collaborative faculty/student project and weekly seminars and progress reports. Culminates in written report and seminar on work conducted. Prerequisites: instructor's consent for I and II; senior standing and BCH 498 for II.

The biology major exposes students to a wide variety of field, laboratory, and classroom experiences fundamental to the life sciences. Through selected electives, students may concentrate on specific areas of interest such as marine biology, ecology, microbiology, botany, zoology, or molecular biology. The major also offers the flexibility for students to minor in another area or to fulfill requirements for secondary teaching certification. Students have excellent opportunities to engage in independent research projects. Graduates are prepared to pursue employment in biological laboratories, and for further study in the health professions or graduate research institutions. Students may not simultaneously major or minor in biology and marine biology, or biochemistry/molecular biology.

Asian StudiesAustralian Studies

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Eleven (11) courses and an additional 10 semester hours of BIO prefix elective course credit are required: seven (7) core biology courses, four (4) core physical science courses, 10 semester hours of elective courses, and satisfactory performance on a comprehensive standardized examination. At least seven (7) of the eleven (11) courses required for the biology major must be taken at Rollins College or as part of a Rollins-sanctioned program (e.g., Duke Marine Laboratory, University of London). Of these seven (7), at least five (5) must be BIO courses beyond BIO 120/121.

CORE BIOLOGY COURSES (seven courses)

- BIO 120 General Biology I
- BIO 121 General Biology II
- One course in molecular biology/genetics
  - BIO 308 Genetics
  - BIO 341 Molecular Biology
- One course in ecosystems/field study
  - BIO 210 Introduction to Marine Science and BIO 388 Marine Biology Laboratory
  - BIO 316 Ecology
  - BIO 330 Field Botany and Florida Ecosystems
- One course in physiology
  - BIO 311 Plant Physiology
  - BIO 312 Animal Physiology
  - BIO 360 Cellular Biology
- BIO 344 Biology Journal Club
- BIO 440 Senior Seminar OR BIO 499 Independent Study: Biological Research

CORE PHYSICAL SCIENCE COURSES (four courses)

- CHM 120 General Chemistry I
- CHM 121 General Chemistry II
- CHM 220 Organic Chemistry I
- PHY 120 General Physics I

OR

- CHM 121 General Chemistry II
- CHM 220 Organic Chemistry I
- CHM 221 Organic Chemistry II
- PHY 120 General Physics I

BIOLOGY ELECTIVES

Ten (10) semester hours.

- Any biology course above BIO 210. Courses from the core groupings, other than those used to satisfy the core, may be used as electives. One Biological Internship (BIO 396) may be used as an elective.
- Plants play a central role in our biosphere. However, our modern society often fails to recognize the significance of plants in biological systems, the scientific contributions of plant-based research, and the importance of plants in human affairs. Therefore, the department recommends that at least one (1) of the courses taken to fulfill the requirements for a major in biology be a plant-oriented biology course.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Students preparing for graduate programs in biology or professional schools, in health-related areas such as medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, or pharmacy need a thorough introduction to chemistry, physics, and mathematics. Therefore, they are advised to take CHM 221 and PHY 121 or PHY 131, (a) calculus course(s), and a statistics course. In addition, some professional schools now require biochemistry. Students should be aware that requirements of different programs can vary and that they should seek guidance from advisors and program

OFF-CAMPUS EXPERIENCES

Rollins College, has an agreement with Marine Biological Laboratories at Duke University and Woods Hole enabling students to spend a semester at these sites. Courses taken at the Duke lab can be used to fulfill two courses in the biology major (any combination of core and electives). Students participating in the Semester in Environmental Science at Woods Hole will be able to use courses taken there as the core course in ecosystems/field study and up to two (2) electives. Students need to petition and receive approval from the Department of Biology for this and any other off-campus program.

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

Six (6) core courses and an additional 10 semester hours of BIO prefix elective course credit are required: four (4) core biology courses, two (2) core chemistry courses, and 10 semester hours of elective courses. At least four (4) of the courses required for the biology minor must be taken at Rollins College or as part of a Rollins sanctioned program (e.g., Duke Marine lab, University of London). Of these four (4), at least three (3) must be BIO courses beyond BIO 120/121.

CORE BIOLOGY COURSES (four courses)

- BIO 120 General Biology I
- BIO 121 General Biology II

Two (2) courses satisfying two (2) out of the following three (3) clusters: molecular biology/genetics, ecosystems/field study, and physiology.

- Molecular biology/genetics
  - BIO 308 Genetics
  - BIO 341 Molecular Biology
- Ecosystems/Field study
  - BIO 210 Introduction to Marine Science and BIO 388 Marine Biology Laboratory
  - BIO 316 Ecology
  - BIO 330 Field Botany and Florida Ecosystems
- Physiology
  - BIO 311 Plant Physiology
  - BIO 312 Animal Physiology
  - BIO 360 Cellular Biology

CORE CHEMISTRY COURSES (two courses in Chemistry selected from the list below.)

- CHM 120 General Chemistry I
- CHM 121 General Chemistry II
- CHM 220 Organic Chemistry I

BIOLOGY ELECTIVES

Ten (10) semester hours; at least one of the elective courses must be at the 300- or 400-level.

Any biology course above BIO 210. After satisfying core requirements in the cellular/molecular biology and ecosystems/field study, additional courses from these clusters may be used as electives.

Course of Study

BIO 100 Discover Biology: Discussion course that introduces students to the variety of subdisciplines in the field of biology. Readings focus on historically important discoveries in biology and current issues and controversies. Prerequisite: entering new and new transfer students only.

BIO 101 The Biology of Cancer for Non-majors: Provides an understanding of the underlying causes of cancer in addition to preventative methods and available treatments. Basic biological principles (cellular, molecular, and physiological) will be examined to provide the proper framework for understanding cancer. This course is aimed towards those with little or no previous biology experience, and is intended for non-majors.

BIO 102 Medical Terminology -- Language of Health Professionals. Introduces the language of medicine utilized by health care professionals. Basic word structures (prefixes, suffixes, word root, combining forms), formation of medical terms, abbreviations, definitions, special endings, and plural forms are included in the content. Discusses major disease processes and pathological conditions of specific body systems. Emphasis on spelling, usage, pronunciation, and a systemic approach to learning word parts for constructing, or analyzing new medical terms. Prerequisites: One ENG course.

BIO 103 Biology for Everyday Life: Explores today's challenges from a biological perspective. Discussions focus on issues such as cancer, nutrition and health, infectious disease and immunity, and ecological diversity. Laboratory course designed for non-science majors.

BIO 104 Animal Nutrition. Reviews the ways animals digest and metabolize their food to fuel a variety of physiological states. Stresses the interconnections between anatomy, ecology, and physiology. Suitable for nonmajors.

BIO 105 Ecological Basis of Environmental Issues: Introduces students to ecological principles that form the basis for understanding environmental issues, and to scientific concepts, laboratory, and field techniques used to study and assess natural and human-induced changes in ecosystems. Lab course designed for non-science majors.

BIO 106 Human Impacts on Marine Ecosystems: Introduces students to marine ecosystems and the impacts of human activities on marine flora and fauna. Addresses contemporary issues of exploitation, pollution and conservation, and their ecological consequences. Lab course designed for non-science majors.

BIO 107 Sustaining Biodiversity with Laboratory: Investigates patterns of biodiversity across biomes, human impact on wild populations and habitats, social and political issues at the local and global level, and the search for sustainable solutions to a world of expanding human populations with finite resources. Lab course for nonmajors.

BIO 109 Wild Florida: Interdisciplinary course that educates students about Florida's natural habitats, with an emphasis on botany, and provides students with an understanding of how humans historically interact with, and effect, these ecosystems. Suitable for nonmajors. Laboratory required.

Student Records

Rollins College
1000 Holt Avenue
Winter Park, Florida 32789-4499
(407) 646-2000

BIO 111 Human Genetics: Discusses the general principles underlying basic human genetics. Explores current issues such as stem cells, genetic testing, heritable diseases, and cancer biology.

BIO 112 Biological Aspects of Nutrition: Examines foods, nutrients, and biological processes by which humans ingest, digest, metabolize, transport, utilize, and excrete wastes. Covers current concepts in scientific nutrition and how they apply to personal health. Lab course for nonmajors.

BIO 113 Plants and Humanity: Explores human dependence on plants through investigations of plant structure and function, development, inheritance, diversity, and environmental interactions. Weighs value and limits of scientific approaches to improving world's food and biodiversity crises. Lab course for nonmajors.

BIO 115 Human Reproduction and Development: Examines human reproduction, pregnancy, parturition, and lactation. Explores development from fertilization to birth. Discusses congenital abnormalities and their basis in genetics and the environment. Laboratory activities will highlight some of the methodological and conceptual approaches used to address questions arising from molecular, evolutionary, and physiological perspectives on reproduction-related phenomena. For nonmajors.

BIO 117 Bacteria, Viruses and Humans: Introduces world of microorganisms and their impact on human life. Presents basic principles of biology while probing diversity, genetics, and ecology of microorganisms; their uses in food, agriculture, and industry; and their ability to produce disease. Lab exercises involve quantitative and qualitative analysis of bacterial nutrition and procedures for identification and control of microbes. Lab course for nonmajors.

BIO 118 Introduction to the Forensic Sciences: Survey of the major disciplines within the forensic sciences. Focuses on the use of basic scientific principles and the scientific method in crime investigations. Designed for nonmajors.

BIO 119 Conservation of Florida's Freshwater Ecosystems: Introduces students to the amazing diversity of Florida's freshwater ecosystems, while familiarizing them with the basic physical, chemical, biological, and ecological characteristics of these systems. Scientific concepts and laboratory and field techniques used to study, monitor, and conserve Florida's freshwater ecosystems also included. Lab course for nonmajors.

BIO 120/121 General Biology I and II: Includes cell structure and function, genetics and evolution, and diversity of organisms and ecology. Lab course intended for science majors.

BIO 122 Human Biology. General education combined course that is fully integrated with a laboratory for students not majoring in biology. Course includes study of human body systems with emphasis on major organ systems and process, and their links to biology concepts underlying major human evolution, genetics, reproduction, development, and diseases of man. Suitable for nonmajors.

BIO 201 Careers in Biology: Introduces students to the variety of career opportunities available to biology majors. Course topics include internship and research opportunities, graduate school, resumes, and career preparation. Students will investigate possible careers and meet professionals in a variety of biological fields. Prerequisite: BIO 120.

BIO 203 Biology for Teachers: Prepares students to teach biology in elementary school. Incorporates principles and concepts of chemistry to demonstrate relationship to biology. Models integration of lab exercises, elementary activities, research projects, and educational technology. Lab course for education majors.

BIO 210 Introduction to Marine Science: Introduction to biological, physical, chemical, and geological processes in the oceans and coastal environments and their interaction. Introduces scientific concepts used to study marine ecosystems. For biology majors and minors. Prerequisite: BIO 121.

BIO 211 Marine Botany: Study of marine macro- and microalgae, and coastal vascular plants. Human impact and interaction with these ecosystems is also examined. Two weekend field trips are required. Prerequisite: BIO 121.

BIO 223 Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy: Surveys anatomy of major groups of vertebrate organisms. Students dissect lamprey, shark, mud puppy, and cat. Lab required. Prerequisite: BIO 121.

BIO 229 Microbiology: Emphasizes metabolism, genetics, reproduction, and ecology of bacteria and viruses and their relationship to infectious disease and immunology. Develops basic research and microbiological lab skills. Lab required. Prerequisite: BIO 121.

BIO 230 Local Flora: Study of local flora through field trips, directed observations, and plant collections. (Students who have successfully completed BIO 330 Field Botany and Florida Ecosystems may not receive credit for this course.) Prerequisite: BIO 121 or ENV 220.

BIO 234 Plant Kingdom: Surveys evolution of plant and fungi kingdoms and algal protists. Covers plant anatomy, morphology, reproduction, and structure of plant communities. Fieldwork teaches use of taxonomic keys to identify plants. Lab and fieldwork required. Prerequisite: BIO 121.

BIO 236 Invertebrate Zoology: Examines animal kingdom from motile protists (protozoa) through invertebrate chordates, with emphasis on evolution and organization of animal diversity. Required lab and fieldwork use as much live material as possible, especially faunal groups from Central Florida and Florida Keys. Prerequisite: BIO 121.

BIO 237 Vertebrate Zoology: Surveys vertebrate chordates from jawless lamprey through fishes, amphibians, reptiles, birds, and mammals. Stresses structural and functional characteristics, evolutionary relationships, ecology, behavior, and distribution. Required lab and fieldwork focus on Florida fish and wildlife. Prerequisite: BIO 121.

BIO 240 The Biology of Fishes: Introduces ichthyology, the scientific study of the vertebrate organisms known as fishes. Major emphasis on fish classification, identification, anatomy, physiology, ecology, and evolution. Laboratory focuses on identification and biology of major fish groups found in Florida waters. Prerequisite: BIO 121.

BIO 245 Human Anatomy with Laboratory: Studies major human organ systems and their functional characteristics in normal and abnormal states. Designed primarily for students preparing for the study of physical therapy, occupational therapy, other allied health professions, and those biology or other majors not planning to attend medical, dental, or graduate school. Laboratory includes study of human bones, microscopic slides of tissues, and dissection of cats and other mammalian organs. Prerequisite: BIO 121.

BIO 246 Human Physiology: Studies the function of human systems (cardiovascular, muscle, nervous, etc.) related to homeostasis. Designed primarily for students preparing for the study of physical therapy, occupational therapy, other allied health professions, and those biology or other students not planning to attend medical, dental, or graduate school. Laboratory involves physiological studies on humans and other mammals. Prerequisite: BIO 121.

BIO 270 Plant Growth and Development: Examines structural, biochemical, and molecular aspects of growth and development of angiosperms from seed germination to flowering to seed formation. Lab required. Prerequisite: BIO 121.

BIO 287/387 Tropical Field Biology: Explores ecology, diversity, biogeography, and behavior of terrestrial and aquatic organisms of American tropics. Compares representative ecosystems of Central America (lowland and mountain rain forests, mangroves, cloud forest, paramo) and Caribbean (coral reefs, turtle grass, intertidal). Prerequisite: BIO 121 or ENV 220.

BIO 301 The Biology of Fungal Pathogens: Explores diversity, ecology, physiology, and reproduction of common animal and plant pathogens. Incorporates general aspects of fungal biology and evolution. Prerequisites: BIO 121.

BIO 302 Cellular Neuroscience. Discussion-based course intended for juniors and seniors who are interested in understanding how neurons function and contribute to cognition or disease at the cellular level. Prerequisites: BIO 121 and CHM 121.

BIO 308 Genetics: Analyzes prokaryotic and eukaryotic genetics at the level of molecule, cell, organism and population. Uses quantitative approach in presentation of concepts and in genetic analysis. Lab required. Prerequisites: BIO 121 and CHM 121.

BIO 311 Plant Physiology: Analyzes life processes of higher plants: water relations, mineral nutrition, cellular and long-distance transport, photosynthesis, carbon and nitrogen metabolism, and hormonal control of development. Required lab includes student-directed investigations. Prerequisites: BIO 121 and CHM 121.

BIO 312 Animal Physiology: Studies animals at cellular and organismic levels: nervous, muscular, endocrine, excretory, circulatory, respiratory, digestive, and reproductive systems. Considers invertebrate and lower vertebrate physiology but stresses mammalian systems. Lab required. Prerequisites: BIO 121 and CHM 121.

BIO 316 Ecology: Explores processes and organization of populations, communities, and ecosystems. Required lab uses standard field methodology to analyze aquatic and terrestrial ecosystems of Central and South Florida, including the Keys and Everglades. Prerequisite: BIO 121 or ENV 225.

BIO 325 Medicinal Botany: Explores the botany, history, and conservation of major poisonous and medicinal plants, and the chemistry and mechanism of active compounds. Prerequisite: CHM 220.

BIO 329 Microbial Physiology: Explores the structure of prokaryotic cells through investigations of the diverse chemistry, genetics, and metabolism of these microbes. Required laboratory includes student-designed research. Prerequisite: BIO 229.

BIO 330 Field Botany and Florida Ecosystems: Examines taxonomy, evolution, ecology, and environmental significance of local flora through directed observations, identification, and experimental analysis. Explores Florida natural ecosystems and native species. Lab required. Prerequisite: BIO 121 or ENV 225.

BIO 335 Marine Biology with Laboratory: Examines the adaptations of marine organisms to their environment, and the ecological principles and processes that structure their associations. Laboratory required and emphasizes studies of representative field areas on the Florida coasts. Prerequisites: BIO 210.

BIO 340 Topics in Biology: Focuses on specialized topic such as epidemiology, immunology, medical microbiology, nutrition, parasitology, physiological ecology, or virology -- depending on faculty interest.

BIO 341 Molecular Biology: Describes structure of chromosomes and organization of genomes. Examines replication, repair, transcription, and translation of genetic information -- and methodology to study these processes. Prerequisite: BIO 121 and CHM 220.

BIO 342 Biostatistics: Applies principles and practices of statistics to biological problems. Covers experimental design, descriptive statistics, parametric and nonparametric testing of hypotheses, regression, correlation, and interpretation of results. Prerequisite: BIO 121.

BIO 344 Biology Journal Club: Assists students in advanced biology courses in developing the skills necessary to read, comprehend, and abstract material from primary source journals.

BIO 360 Cellular Biology: Correlates structure and function of cell. Discusses energy, enzymes and metabolism, membrane structure, transport, endomembrane system, communication, and growth and division. Lab required. Prerequisites: BIO 121 and CHM 121.

BIO 370 Developmental Biology: Studies gametogenesis, fertilization, and patterns of embryonic development, differentiation, and morphogenesis. Stresses concept of development program in animals established during gametogenesis, activated at fertilization, and expressed in subsequent development. Lab required. Prerequisites: BIO 121 and CHM 121.

BIO 381 Vertebrate Histology and Microtechnique: Discusses structure and function of vertebrate cells and tissues. Involves microscopic examination of tissues and preparation of slides. Lab required. Prerequisite: BIO 121.

BIO 388 Marine Bio Lab: Location TBA. Studies marine life at off-campus marine laboratories. Comprehensive, in-field-ecological analyses of representative temperate or tropical marine ecosystems, including coral reefs, rocky/sandy intertidal, mangroves, and estuarine areas. Prerequisite: BIO 210.

BIO 429 Immunology: Investigates structure and function of immune system; concept of "self" vs. "foreign," tolerance, and immunological memory. Focuses on host defense systems of mammals with emphasis on human adaptive and nonadaptive immunity. Also examines causes and effects of immune deficiencies. Prerequisite: senior standing or consent.

BIO 435 Senior Seminar in Marine Biology: Students direct analysis and discussions of integrative topics in marine biology. Emphasizes readings of classical and contemporary primary scientific literature. Prerequisites: marine biology major and senior standing.

BIO 440 Senior Seminar: Topics in Biology: Students direct analysis and discussion of integrative topics. Emphasizes readings of classical and contemporary primary scientific literature. Prerequisite: senior standing.

BIO 462 Evolution: Integrates previous coursework with new scientific and philosophical material on processes and mechanisms of evolution. Capstone seminar. Prerequisite: senior standing.

BIO 296/396/496 Biological Internship: Pairs students with professional scientists.

BIO 297/397/497 Directed Studies in Biology: Tutorial on subject of student interest. May include library, lab, or fieldwork.

BIO 298/398/498 Independent Study: Library Research: Investigates literature on specific topic determined by student in conjunction with faculty sponsor. May be taken separately or as prelude to BIO 399/499 for two-term research project. Students meet as group every other week to report on activities.

BIO 399/499 Independent Study: Biological Research: Pursues lab, field, or theoretical work on topic of student interest. Students meet as group every other week to report on activities.

Chemistry explores matter and its properties, its physical and chemical transformations, and energy changes associated with these transformations. Bridging traditional humanities on one hand and modern physics on the other, chemistry is a central subject in a liberal arts curriculum. "Every aspect of our world today -- even politics and international relations -- is affected by chemistry," said Linus Pauling. Chemists search for new molecules in space; make new useful materials; solve problems of the environment, energy, health, and food production; and probe how organisms work.

The chemistry department offers a program of study leading to certification as a chemist by the American Chemical Society Committee on Professional Training and designed to develop critical thinking, problem solving, and communication skills. Many graduates continue their education in graduate or professional school and become chemists, teachers, doctors, lawyers, biochemists, pharmacists, veterinarians, engineers, and business people.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

The chemistry program requires a sequence of courses. The 100-level courses introduce first-year students to the discipline and serve as prerequisites for future foundational and elective courses.

CHEMISTRY MAJOR

Fifteen (15) courses are required

FOUNDATIONAL COURSES

- CHM 120 Chemistry I
- CHM 121 Chemistry II
- CHM 220 & 220L Organic Chemistry I
- CHM 301 Inorganic Chemistry
- CHM 305 Physical Chemistry I
- CHM 320 Analytical Chemistry
- BCH 335 Biochemistry
- CHM 350 Seminar

DIVISIONAL COURSES

- MAT 110 or 111 Applied or Calculus I
- MAT 112 Calculus
- PHY 120 or 130 General or Principles of Physics I
- PHY 121 or 131 General or Principles of Physics II

DEPARTMENTAL ELECTIVES (selected from the following)

- CHM 221 & 221L Organic Chemistry II
- CHM 306 Physical Chemistry II
- CHM 380 Instrumental Analysis
- BCH 435 Advanced Biochemistry
- CHM 400 Advanced Analytical Chemistry
- CHM 401 Advanced Inorganic Chemistry
- CHM 417 Advanced Organic Chemistry
- CHM 460 Advanced Topics in Chemistry
- CHM 498 Chemical Research I and CHM 499 Chemical Research II
- CHM 445 Advanced Integrated Laboratory in Chemistry

NOTE

Students interested in earning an ACS certified degree are required to take either Chemical Research I or Advanced Integrated Lab, and three additional electives from the in-depth course listing. Students interested in graduate school in chemistry are strongly advised to take Organic Chemistry II (CHM 221); Physical Chemistry II (CHM 306); and Chemical Research (CHM 498) as three of their electives and are, in addition, encouraged to consider additional mathematics courses such as Introduction to Discrete Mathematics (MAT 140); Calculus III (MAT 211); Linear Algebra (MAT 230); and Ordinary Differential Equations (MAT 305).

Students interested in earning a non-ACS certified degree are required to take three departmental elective courses.

This curriculum allows students to concentrate in certain areas, such as biochemistry, by selecting courses dealing with the areas of interest. For example, students who wish to emphasize biochemistry in preparation for graduate study should complete:

- BIO 120 General Biology I
- BIO 121 General Biology II
- BIO 341 Molecular Biology
- BCH 435 Advanced Biochemistry

NOTE

First-year students who have not had high school physics, or have deficiencies in mathematics and/or science background should consult with a member of the department.

Students interested in studying abroad should consult with a member of the department as early as possible.

CHEMISTRY MINOR

Six (6) courses are required.

FOUNDATIONAL COURSES

- CHM 120 Chemistry I
- CHM 121 Chemistry II
- CHM 220 & 220L Organic Chemistry

DEPARTMENTAL ELECTIVES (choose three)

- CHM 221 & 221L Organic Chemistry II
- CHM 301 Inorganic Chemistry
- CHM 305 Physical Chemistry I
- CHM 306 Physical Chemistry II
- BCH 335 Biochemistry
- CHM 380 Instrumental Analysis
- CHM 400 Advanced Analytical Chemistry
- CHM 401 Advanced Inorganic Chemistry
- CHM 417 Advanced Organic Chemistry
- BCH 435 Advanced Biochemistry
- CHM 445 Advanced Integrated Laboratory in Chemistry
- CHM 460 Advanced Topics in Chemistry

NOTE

Students interested in pursuing graduate studies or employment in a laboratory setting are advised to take both CHM 221 and CHM 320 as two of the three electives.

Course of Study

CHM 103 Crime Scene Chemistry: Enables students to watch or read something in the popular media and thoughtfully analyze the case based on chemical and forensic principles. Designed for non-science majors.

CHM 105 Chemistry and Society -- Applications and Issues: Examines chemistry in daily life and decision making -- from nutrition, drugs, cosmetics, and household chemistry to environmental problems. Discusses data analysis and scientific methodology and its limitations. Designed for non-science majors.

CHM 106 Chemistry of Life: Introduces biochemistry and its relationship to people. Covers diets and fat metabolism, as well as action of steroids, carbohydrates, proteins, and nucleic acids. Analyzes data from lab or historical sources. Designed for non-science majors.

CHM 107 Chemistry of Art: Applies the concepts and methods of chemistry to art. Covers authentication, conservation, and artists' materials. Analyzes data from laboratory or historical sciences. Designed for non-science majors.

CHM 110 Chemistry and the Environment: Applies concepts and methods of chemistry to environmental problems. Weighs quantitative and qualitative data gathered from historical sources, demonstration, and lab experiments. Designed for non-science majors.

CHM 120 Chemistry I: Basic inorganic chemistry, including atomic structure and periodicity, stoichiometry, inorganic reactions (acid-base, precipitation, oxidation-reduction, complexation), and modern chemical bonding theories. Lab required. For science majors.

CHM 121 Chemistry II: Continues introduction to chemistry by discussing bonding in solids and liquids, thermodynamics, acid-base and solubility equilibria, phase equilibria and colligative properties, electrochemistry, coordination chemistry and chemical kinetics. Lab required. For science majors. Prerequisite: CHM 120 or consent.

CHM 220/221 Organic Chemistry I and II: This sequence introduces the principles of organic chemistry through the study of structure-activity relationships, properties and reactions of carbon compounds. The laboratory (CHM 220L & 221L) will involve the mastering of techniques and instrumentation used in the synthesis, separation and identification of organic compounds such as chromatography and spectroscopy. Lab required. Prerequisite: CHM 121.

CHM 301 Inorganic Chemistry: Basic descriptive chemistry of representative elements, with emphasis on transition metals chemistry (structure, properties, bonding, spectra, and reaction mechanisms), and an introduction to organometallic and bioinorganic chemistry. Laboratory will involve the synthesis, and quantitative and structural analysis of a variety of representative inorganic and organometallic compounds. Prerequisite: CHM 320 or consent.

CHM 305 Physical Chemistry I: Studies chemical thermodynamics and reaction kinetics. Introduces the laws of thermodynamics and their application to chemical and phase equilibria as well as solutions. Reaction kinetics is a basic treatment of reaction rates, mechanisms, and theories of why and how chemical reactions occur. Lab required. Prerequisite: CHM 121 or consent.

CHM 306 Physical Chemistry II: Studies quantum and statistical mechanics. Introduces quantum mechanics and symmetry and their application to chemical bonding, atomic, and molecular spectroscopy. Statistical mechanics is a basic treatment of the connection between microscopic states and thermodynamic properties. Lab required. Prerequisite: CHM 305.

CHM 320 Analytical Chemistry: Inorganic quantitative analysis, emphasizing free energy-equilibrium relationships, statistical treatment of data, solution equilibria and volumetric analysis based on precipitation, acid-base, complexation, and oxidation-reduction reactions, and spectrophotometric and chromatographic methods of analysis. Lab required. Prerequisites: CHM 121 and CHM 220.

CHM 350 Chemistry Seminar: The course emphasizes communication in chemistry including the reading of primary scientific literature and presentation of experimental findings. Engages students in discussions with faculty, fellow students, and visiting scholars centered on advanced topics surrounding the nature, presentation, and responsible conduct of chemical research. Prerequisites: CHM 220 or consent.

CHM 380 Instrumental Analysis: Applies variety of spectroscopic, electrometric, and chromatographic methods to such instruments as spectrometers (nuclear magnetic resonance, mass, and Fourier transform infrared) and gas and high-performance liquid chromatographs. Considers chemical, biochemical, and environmental problems. Lab required. Prerequisite: CHM 320.

CHM 400 Advanced Analytical Chemistry: Deals with advanced treatments of simultaneous and complex equilibria, electrochemistry, spectrophotometric analysis, and separation methods. Prerequisite: consent.

CHM 401 Advanced Inorganic Chemistry: Applies thermodynamics, kinetics, symmetry and group theory, and the theories of ionic, metallic and covalent bonding to the chemistry of nonmetallic, transition metal, organometallic and bioinorganic compounds. Projects based lab required. Prerequisite: consent.

CHM 417 Advanced Organic Chemistry: Interprets molecular structure and reactivity related by means of organic reaction mechanisms. Introduces organic synthesis strategies and their applications. Prerequisite: consent.

CHM 445 Advanced Integrated Laboratory in Chemistry: Provides students with experience in advanced experimental approaches to solve complex and real world chemical problems. Projects involve perspectives, skills, and instrumentation from each of the divisions of chemistry. Prerequisite: consent.

CHM 460 Topics in Chemistry: Explores subject chosen by faculty and student, such as environmental chemistry, polymers, stereochemistry, nuclear and radiation chemistry, phase relationship, inorganic synthesis, advanced electrochemical techniques, organometallics, photochemistry, natural products, special problems in chemical education, and current problems from the chemical literature. May be repeated for credit. Prerequisite: consent.

CHM 498/499 Research I and II: Requires proposal of collaborative faculty/student project and weekly seminars and progress reports. Culminates in written thesis and oral presentation on work conducted. Capstone experience. Prerequisite: consent.

The program in classical studies embodies a tradition in learning and human understanding that began in the ancient world and became the core of liberal arts education. It also reflects intellectual and methodological developments that make the field exciting and relevant today -- not only for majors and minors, but also for students fulfilling general education requirements. In addition to language classes, the program offers a broad selection of courses in literature, philosophy, history, theatre, art, and archaeology.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Ten (10) courses are required.

CORE COURSES

- CLS 203 The Greeks and the Good Life
- CLS 204 When in Rome: Identity and Empire in Ancient Rome

ELECTIVES

At least three (3) of the following, two (2) of which must be at the 300 level.

- ARH 218 Art and Archaeology of Egypt and the Near East
- ARH 236 Art and Archaeology of the Greek World
- ARH 237 Art and Archaeology of the Roman Empire
- ARH 315 Special Studies - Ancient Art
- CLS 105 Ancient Rome in Contemporary Film and Media
- CLS 232 Greek Mythology
- CLS 305 Topics in Classical Studies
- CLS 306 Topics in Classical Archaeology
- CLS 321 Gender and Sexuality in Antiquity
- CLS 322 Classical Religion: Paganism and the Death of the Gods
- CLS 499 Independent Study
- HIS 108 Ancient History
- PHI 230 Greek Philosophy
- POL 390 Ancient Political Theory
- THE 241 Classical Theater

ANCIENT LANGUAGE PROFICIENCY

Students are required to demonstrate proficiency in an ancient language through the 202 (Intermediate II) level. To satisfy this requirement, students may take the Latin sequence. The Greek sequence will meet the requirement as well, but is offered on a tutorial basis only. Students with prior courses in Latin will be placed in the appropriate level according to the College's rules for foreign language credit. Students who have scored a four (4) or five (5) on the Advanced Placement (AP) Exam for Latin will receive one (1) elective course credit towards the major and will only be required to take a total of nine (9) courses and may not take LAT 101 for credit.

- GRK 101/102 Introductory Greek (tutorial)
- GRK 201 Intermediate Greek (tutorial)
- GRK 202 Readings in Greek Prose and Poetry (tutorial)
- GRK 391 Tutorial in Greek Literature (may be repeated)
- LAT 101/102 Introductory Latin
- LAT 201 Intermediate Latin
- LAT 202 Readings In Latin Prose and Poetry
- LAT 391 Tutorial In Latin Literature (may be repeated)

CAPSTONE EXPERIENCE

At least one (1) of the following.

- CLS 450 Capstone Methods Seminar
- Study Abroad
- Archaeological Excavation
- A Capstone Thesis (CLS 499) or Honors in the Major Field in Classical Studies

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

Seven (7) courses are required.

CORE COURSES

- CLS 203 The Greeks and the Good Life
- CLS 204 When in Rome: Identity and Empire in Ancient Rome

ELECTIVES

At least two (2) of the following, one (1) of which must be at the 300 level.

- ARH 218 Art and Archaeology of Egypt and the Near East

Computer Science

African/African-American Studies

Changes effective Fall Term 2014

American StudiesAnderson Carrington Myers SeltzerAnthropology

The Department of Mathematics and Computer Science offers a computer science major that develops students' ability to design and implement computer programs to solve many types of problems. Based on curricula developed by the Association for Computing Machinery (ACM), the major prepares students for graduate study and for many interesting computer-related endeavors. The computer science minor complements any major for which computer applications are important. The minor also gives students excellent preparation for many computer-related occupations.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Art and Art History

Fourteen (14) courses are required. A first-year student majoring in computer science will typically take CMS 167/167L and MAT 111 in the fall, and CMS 170 and MAT 140 in the spring. Students who are not prepared to start with calculus should start with MAT 109 instead of MAT 111.

Asian Studies

CORE COURSES

Australian Studies

- CMS 167 Problem Solving I with Selected Topics
- CMS 167L Problem Solving I Lab
- CMS 170 Problem Solving II with Selected Topics
- CMS 230 Introduction to Computer Systems
- CMS 270 Object-Oriented Design and Development
- CMS 330 System Software Principles
- CMS 360 Algorithm Analysis
- CMS 380 Simulation Analysis and Design OR MAT 219 Probability and Statistics
- CMS 484 Senior Computer Science Capstone
- MAT 111 Calculus I
- MAT 140 Introduction to Discrete Mathematics
- MAT 310 Applied Discrete Mathematics

Biochemistry/Molecular BiologyBiologyBusiness and Social EntrepreneurshipChemistry

ELECTIVES

Two (2) of the following are required; one (1) of these must be a 400-level course.

- CMS 375 Database Design
- CMS 395 Special Topics
- CMS 430 Artificial Intelligence
- CMS 440 Computer Graphics
- CMS 450 Networks
- CMS 480 Programming Language Translation

Classical Studies

In addition, MAT 112 Calculus II is strongly recommended for students considering graduate education in Computer Science.

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

Nine (9) courses are required: the following five (5) courses and four (4) additional classes chosen from the requirements for the major.

Computer Science

CORE COURSES

- CMS 167 Problem Solving I with Selected Topics
- CMS 167L Problem Solving I Lab
- CMS 170 Problem Solving II with Selected Topics

- MAT 110 Applied Calculus OR MAT 111 Calculus I OR MAT 140 Introduction to Discrete Mathematics

Critical Media and Cultural Studies

Course of Study

Economics

CMS 151 Fundamentals of Programming: Introduces the central themes of computing with an emphasis on creating machines that solve problems. Focuses on problem-solving techniques coupled with programming robots. Includes use of both a graphical software development system and the writing of simple programs using the Java language. No prior programming skills required. Does not count toward requirements for major or minor.

Education

CMS 167 Problem Solving I with Selected Topics: Introduction to fundamental aspects of programming, focusing on problem solving, software design concepts, and their realization as computer programs. Topics include: variables, procedural abstraction, control structures, iteration, representation of numbers, and data types. Introduction to high-level programming language to gain mastery of these classroom activities in conjunction with the closed laboratory experiences in CMS 167L.

English

CMS 167L Problem Solving I Lab: Develops proficiency in using the programming principles introduced in CMS 167 and experience in incorporating those principles into working computer programs.

Environmental Studies

CMS 170 Problem Solving II with Selected Topics: Develops discipline in program design, problem solving, debugging, and testing, with an introduction to data structures. Topics include: abstract data types, complexity analysis, and recursion. Basic

Analysis of the structure and functionality of modern operating system software, with emphasis on concurrent processes. Topics include: process scheduling, communication, and synchronization; API services; and, design and development of concurrent program using OS features. Prerequisite: CMS 230.   |
| Music                                       | CMS 360 Algorithm Analysis: Detailed study of algorithm design and analysis, including greedy algorithm, divide and conquer, dynamic programming, backtracking, and branch and bound. Emphasis on verification and analysis of time space complexity. NP theory is introduced. Prerequisites: CMS 270 and MAT 140.  |
| Neuroscience                                | CMS 375 Database Design: Introduction to design and management of database systems. The course project involves design and implementation of a relational database. Topics include file organization, relational models and their implementations, query language theory, and data normalization. Prerequisites: CMS 330 and MAT 140.   |
| Philosophy and Religion                     | CMS 380 Simulation Analysis and Design: Explores the use of probability theory and statistical methods in the development of computer simulations used to study/monitor real-world phenomenon. Prerequisite: CMS 270.   |
| Physics                                     | CMS 395 Special Topics: An intensive introduction to a specialized area of computer science. Example topics are: user interface design, parallel and distributed processing, multimedia development, theory of computation, network programming, modeling and simulation, and software development tools. Prerequisites: CMS 270 and consent.   |
| Physical Education                          | CMS 430 Artificial Intelligence: Selective survey of key concepts and applications of artificial intelligence and an in-depth experience with a language commonly used for building AI systems (e.g., LISP or Prolog). Subtopics include knowledge representation, state space/searching, heuristic search, expert systems, expert system shells, natural language processing, propositional logic, learning and cognitive models, and vision. Prerequisite: MAT 310.   |
| Political Science                           | CMS 440 Computer Graphics: Survey of computer graphic hardware, primitive graphic operations and implementations, two-dimensional and three-dimensional transformations, hidden lines and surface removal, illumination and shading models, curves and surface, color modeling, and animation. Prerequisite: CMS 270 and MAT 111.   |
| Psychology                                  | CMS 450 Networks: Study of the technology, architecture, and software used by systems of network-connected computers. Topics include data transmission, local area network architectures, network protocols, inter-networking, distributed systems, security, and network applications such as email, WWW, and FTP. Students will develop programs that run concurrently on multiple computers. Prerequisite: CMS 330.  |
| Sexuality, Women's, and Gender Studies      | CMS 480 Programming Language Translation: An in-depth study of the principles and design aspects of programming language translation. The major components of a compiler are discussed: lexical analysis, syntactic analysis, type checking, code generation, and optimization. Alternate parsing strategies are presented and compared with respect to space and time tradeoffs. A course project consists of the design and construction of a small compiler. Prerequisites: CMS 270 and CMS 330.   |
| Sociology                                   | CMS 484 Senior Computer Science Capstone: The Senior Capstone course provides a culminating and integrative educational experience. While participating on a team with other students, students will design and implement a large-scale software project. Class meetings will be used for teams to demonstrate the progress of their project as well as for the teams to meet and work. Team meetings outside of class will be required. Prerequisite: one 400-level CMS course.  |
| Sustainable Development and the Environment | CMS 495 Topics in Computer Science: An intensive exploration of a specialized area of computer science.  |
| Theatre Arts and Dance                      | CMS 499 Independent Study: Covers selected topics in computer science. May be repeated for credit.   |

Effective Spring Term 2013

Cummings Klocke Schoen Tillmann

This major investigates: what forms of media and culture facilitate and undermined your participation as citizens in a free democratic society? Whose political and economic interests drive media and cultural systems? Who profits from the status quo, and at whose expense? CMC aims to cultivate a community of intellectually curious, socially aware, and politically engaged citizens who can both critically read media and cultural texts and produce oral, textual, and mediated arguments.

Qualified students may be invited to participate in the department's honors degree program and/or independent study projects. Majors will work with an approved CMC faculty advisor to create an area of concentration and work toward a senior documentary project.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Three five-semester-hour courses; seven four-semester-hour courses; and one of the following: an academic international experience, an approved CMC internship, or service to campus media. At least eight courses (including all core courses) must be taken at Rollins.

CORE COURSES

Complete ALL of the following.

- CMC 100 Introduction to Media and Cultural Studies (best taken before spring of sophomore year)
- CMC 200 Researching Media and Culture (best taken before fall of junior year)
- CMC 400 Senior Seminar/Research Practicum (after completion of all other core courses)

Complete ONE of the following.

- CMC 300 Critical Frameworks for Contemporary Culture (best taken before spring of junior year)
- SOC 335 Sociological Theory (best taken before spring of junior year)

ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS

Complete BOTH of the following.

- An academic international experience, four semester hours of an approved CMC internship, 10R involvement with a campus media outlet (e.g., The Sandspur, R-TV, or WPRK).
- Six electives in an area of concentration, at least three of which must be 300- or 400-level courses.

Notes:

See the Career Services website for a list of pre-approved CMC internships. In general, we approve internships with public media (e.g., NPR/PBS), independent media (e.g., Democracy Now, freepress.net), and some alternative media (e.g., the Watermark) as well as social justice organizations (e.g., Amnesty International).

Service to campus media might involve: a) a one year term as editor or staff writer for The Sandspur OR no fewer than five published pieces reflective of CMC; b) a one-year term as director, producer, or board member for R-TV OR no fewer than two original pieces reflective of CMC; c) a one-year term as staff member, DJ, etc., for WPRK OR no fewer than three original pieces reflective of CMC. A portfolio of work is due to the student's CMC advisor no later than the last day of class in the semester prior to the student's semester of graduation.

EXAMPLE AREAS OF CONCENTRATION

1. International Media. This concentration examines media in international contexts, helping students understand the history, scope, diversity, politics, and economics of global media.

Sample relevant courses:

ANT 452 Seminar: Cinema and Society in China
CLS 105 Ancient Rome in Contemporary Film and Media
ENG 241 Film and Literature: Post Colonial Film
INB 215 The Global Entertainment Business
RSN 234 Russia in the Movies
SPN 341 Spanish Film/Cultural Trends
SPN 342 Latin American Film

2. Power and Persuasion. This concentration focuses on links between political discourse, mass media, and public policy.

Sample relevant courses:

COM 312 Persuasion Theory
ENG 210 Language and Power
PHI 218 Argumentation and Media-Manipulation
POL 315 Topic: Fact and Fiction in Film: War on the Silver Screen
POL 330 Peace and Conflict Studies
POL 370 Comparative Modern Ideologies

3. Specialized Concentration. We highly encourage majors to work with an approved CMC faculty advisor (contact CMC department chair for a list) to design a specialized area of concentration. Elective choices must be approved by a CMC faculty advisor or the chair of CMC in order to count toward an area of concentration, with the exception of the following CMC electives, which count toward ANY area of concentration.

Marine Biology

CMC 310 Media, Peace and Justice
CMC 398/399/498/499 Independent Study in Media and Cultural Studies
CMC 397 Internship in Media and Cultural Studies
CMC 350 Topics in Media and Cultural Studies
ECO 142 Political Economy of the Media
INT 360 Culture Wars: Ethics, Aesthetics, and Politics
PHI 218 Argumentation and Media-Manipulation
SOC 311 Topic: American Dream in Film and Fiction
SOC 335 Sociological Theory (unless taken in lieu of CMC 300)

Mathematics*Modern Languages and Literatures*Music*Neuroscience

Other CMC electives sample courses that, with CMC advisor approval, could count toward a specialized area of concentration:

Philosophy and Religion

ANT 277 Women and Gender: Middle East and North Africa

ARH 101 Introduction to Visual Culture

ARH 355 Studies: Avant Garde in Europe

CLS 321 Gender and Sex in Antiquity

COM 306 Intercultural Communication

ENG 211 Visual Rhetoric

ENG 245 Selected Studies in Popular Culture: Films of the 80's

FIL 150 Introduction to Film

HIS 235 American Graphic Media

HIS 370 Race and Ethnicity in the United States

PHI 314 Topic: Feminist Theory

PHI 314 Topic: Queer Theory

REL 251 Topic: Portraits of the Modern Jew in American Film and Fiction

SOC 250 Sociology of Gender

SOC 308 The Body in Society

SOC 317 Television and Society

SOC 326 The Sociology of Kurt Vonnegut

SOC 356 The State of Black America

SOC 360 Poverty and Social Welfare

WMS 205 Introduction to Women's Studies

Physics*Physical Education*Political Science*Psychology*Sexuality, Women's, and Gender Studies*Sociology*Sustainable Development and the Environment*Theatre Arts and Dance*ADDITIONAL RECOMMENDED COURSES

If a student wishes to study and/or utilize a particular medium (e.g., film), her/his CMC faculty advisor may recommend one or more additional media history and/or practice courses. These courses are encouraged, but, in general, do not count toward areas of concentration.

Media History

ARH 361 History of Photography

MUS 160 History of Jazz

MUS 165 History of Rock and Roll

THE 203 History of American Film

THE 206 History of Radio and Television

THE 220 History of American Musical Film

Practice Courses

ART 130 Introduction to Digital Media

ART 223 Graphic Design I

ART 293 Photography I

ART 300 Photography II

ART 323 Graphic Design II

COM 110 Public Speaking

ENG 273 Journalistic Writing I

ENG 276 Writing for the Future: The Rhetoric of Cyberspace

ENG 373 Journalistic Writing II

Core Course Descriptions:

CMC 100 Introduction to Media and Cultural Studies with Lab: Orients students to critical approaches to the study of media and culture, such as political economy, textual analysis, and audience reception. Lab builds competency in photo, sound, and video editing.

CMC 101 Advanced Video Editing Lab, After Effects. Builds on the embedded labs for CMC 400. Teaches students advanced video editing techniques intended to make their capstone projects smoother, easier, and more professional-looking than using Adobe Premiere alone. Prerequisites: Taken concurrently with CMC 400.

CMC 200 Researching Media and Culture with Lab: Explores multiple methods for researching media and culture from a critical perspective. Lab builds competency in finding, evaluating, and synthesizing information from multiple sources; in distinguishing scholarly from non-scholarly evidence; and in MLA formatting. Prerequisite: CMC 100.

CMC 210 Animation and Society: Animation has resulted in some of the most culturally significant films and television shows in the history of mass media. Examines the most innovative animated films, from the first known animation to the latest examples of cutting-edge web animation. CMC 300 Critical Frameworks for Contemporary Culture: Presents critical theory (informed by structuralism, post-structuralism, deconstruction, etc.) as a set of tools useful in reading and navigating contemporary culture. Prerequisite: CMC 100.

CMC 310 Media, Peace, and Justice: Develops and applies talents to realization of peace and justice through study of media and hands-on learning: Global Peace Film Festival Production, multimedia making, lab instruction in digital video. Prerequisite: CMC major, FIL minor, or consent.

CMC 320 Political Economy of Body and Food. What's wrong with the ways we relate to our bodies, to others' bodies, to eating, and to food - and what can we do about it? This course examines the political and economic interests behind body and beauty ideals, body image, body dissatisfaction, eating disorders, steroid abuse, our cultural fear and hatred of fat, anti-fat prejudice, and inequalities related to the current food system.

The required core curriculum provides economics majors with a foundation to pursue either economic theory or applied economics. Students must take core courses in the Arts and Sciences Program at Rollins, although transfer students may transfer core equivalents at time of enrollment.

Potential majors and minors should take a 100-level course in the first year. Some 100-level courses fulfill requirements only if taken prior to ECO 202.

Since most economics courses have prerequisites, students should contact a member of the Department of Economics for academic advice in the first year to plan their course of study.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Twelve (12) courses are required: eight (8) core courses, including a capstone course to be chosen from among three (3) 400-level electives, and four (4) electives.

CORE COURSES

- ECO 202 Introduction to Economics in Historical Perspective
- ECO 203 Principles of Micro- and Macroeconomics
- ECO 204 Alternative Economic Perspectives
- ECO 221 Statistics for Economics
- ECO 303 Intermediate Microeconomics
- ECO 304 Intermediate Macroeconomics
- ECO 442 History of Economic Thought OR ECO 448 Alternative Economic Theories OR ECO 404 Senior Seminar in Economics
- MAT 110 Applied Calculus OR MAT 111 Calculus I

ELECTIVES

Four (4) courses in economics are required, three (3) of which must be at the 300-400 level and only one (1) of which may be at the 100 level. An economics RCC counts as a 200-level elective. Overseas programs and independent study may count for elective credit with the pre-approval of the department chair. Students finished with the core may develop a one-course independent study to explore special interests or to earn honors in the major.

NOTE

The department recommends the following courses for students preparing for graduate programs in economics:

- ECO 381 Introduction to Econometrics
- ECO 403 Applied Microeconomics
- ECO 411 Introduction to Mathematical Economics
- MAT 111 / 112 / 211 Calculus I, Calculus II, and Calculus III
- MAT 140 Introduction to Discrete Mathematics
- MAT 219 Probability and Statistics
- MAT 230 Linear Algebra

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

Six (6) courses are required.

- ECO 202 Introduction to Economics in Historical Perspective
- ECO 203 Principles of Micro- and Macroeconomics
- ECO 204 Alternative Economic Perspectives
- ECO 221 Statistics for Economics
- Two (2) electives, which must be at the 300-400 level. A course from an overseas or special program may substitute for one elective with pre-approval of the department chair.

Course of Study

ECO 121 Economics of Contemporary Issues: Applies elementary tools of economic analysis to issues of national and social importance. Not open to students who are enrolled in or have completed ECO 202. Suitable for all majors.

ECO 126 Economics and Public Policy: Examines U.S. macroeconomic policies and effects on inflation, unemployment, rate of growth of GDP, budget deficit, and other current policy questions. Not open to students who are enrolled in or have completed ECO 202. Suitable for all majors.

ECO 130 Democracy and Economics: Assesses difficulties, successes, and potentials of economic institutions with democratic rules. Evaluates nature of democratic control both for economic efficiency and alternative criteria. Highlights traditional analysis based on property rights. Suitable for all majors.

StudiesMarine BiologyMathematicsModern Languages and LiteraturesMusicNeurosciencePhilosophy and ReligionPhysicsPhysical EducationPolitical SciencePsychologySexuality, Women's, and Gender StudiesSociologySustainable Development and the EnvironmentTheatre Arts and Dance

ECO 135 The Global Economy: Explores multilateral and bilateral political economy relationships. Touches upon historical development of global economic integration, global economic geography, major institutional features of contemporary international economic relations, current conflicts of interest, and likely future evolution of world system. Not open to students who are enrolled in or have completed ECO 202. Suitable for all majors.

ECO 140 Nonprofit Economics: Analysis of the "Third Sector:" Analyzes organizations neither government nor privately controlled for profit of owners, including charities, foundations, membership associations, cooperatives, mutuals, and other third-sector entities. Requires volunteer work at local third-sector organization.

ECO 142 Political Economy of the Media: Dissects print, film, broadcast, cable, and new electronic media in U.S.. today. Questions economic structure of media institutions, differing viewpoints of media sources, and role of media in resolving current political/economic issues. Reviews journalistic and academic works, as well as video and audio recordings (including international short-wave news and program broadcasts), newspapers, magazines, and publications of citizen and government groups.

ECO 202 Introduction to Economics in Historical Perspective: Introduces students to economics as a social science in which ideas and issues grow out of a historical context. Examines the evolution of the relationships among societies and institutions in different economic systems. Principles and tools will be developed and applied for understanding historical and contemporary economic and social issues. Suitable for nonmajors. Prerequisite: second semester first-year student standing.

ECO 203 Principles of Micro- and Macroeconomics: Introduces mainstream theories of consumer and firm behavior. Covers utility, cost and production, market structure, and the allocation of resources. Also examines aggregate economic behavior, including determination of national income, sources of inflation and unemployment, the banking system and money supply process, fiscal and monetary policy, economic growth, and international economic issues. Suitable for nonmajors. Prerequisite: ECO 202.

ECO 204 Alternative Economic Perspectives: Considers and applies alternative economic approaches to economic policy issues and problems. Compares the values, theories, methods, analysis, and policies of these different economic approaches. Prerequisites: ECO 202 and ECO 203.

ECO 221 Statistics for Economics: Presents descriptive statistics and probability, emphasizing inferential statistics. Also looks into measures of central tendency, dispersion, skewness, probability distributions, interval estimation, hypothesis tests, correlation, and regression. Computer projects required. Prerequisites: ECO 202 and sophomore standing.

ECO 239 Women and Work: Deals with effects of increasing numbers of working women on households and employment policies, earnings differentials, company and government policies, comparison of women's work issues with those of minorities, and valuation of household work. Suitable for nonmajors. Prerequisite: sophomore standing or consent.

ECO 242 Economics, Media, and Propaganda: Examines how rhetoric in the media is shaping popular understanding of political-economic issues and public policy. Consider the following quote: "The purpose of studying economics is not to acquire a set of ready-made answers to economic questions, but to learn how to avoid being deceived by economists." (Joan Robinson, 1955).

ECO 250 The Great Recession in China and the U.S.. Provides comparative analysis of the Great Recession in China and the U.S.. Examines the causes and consequences of the economic and financial crisis and comments on various measures deployed by the Chinese and the U.S.. governments to contain it.

ECO 254 The Latin American Economies: Stresses post-WWII economic issues of growth, inflation, unemployment, income and wealth distribution, and economic development, as well as connection between economic events and politics. Suitable for nonmajors.

ECO 256 Limits to Growth. Studies the critical limits placed upon economic expansion by our planet's energy, materials, and environmental resources -- i.e., peak oil, climate change, and economic decline -- and the implications for human life.

ECO 263 Pressing Issues in Chinese Reforms: Surveys critical issues that are emerging from and shaping China's ongoing economic reforms. Emphasis is placed on the sources, processes, outcomes, and implications of public policy changes.

ECO 277 Economics and Cinema: Focuses on how movies employ cinematographic artistry to address economic issues. Students create and present movie proposals including a narrative synopsis, economic context, and an analysis of social-economic issues. Production of short pilot movies highly encouraged.

ECO 285 Introduction to Health Economics. Provides students with an understanding of the microeconomic approach to resource allocation specifically in relation to the health sector. Introduces students to the use of economic tools in the analysis of the 'market' for health care, in terms of efficiency and equity. Provides an analytical framework for assessment of the U.S. health care system, and health policy generally, from an economic perspective.

ECO 303 Intermediate Microeconomics: Continues with mainstream theories of consumer and firm behavior, using mathematical as well as graphical techniques. Prerequisites: ECO 202, ECO 203, ECO 204, and MAT 110. (ECO 204 may be taken concurrently with ECO 303.)

ECO 304 Intermediate Macroeconomics: Uses mathematical and graphical techniques to analyze behavior and relationships among broad aggregates of economic activity. Topics include discussion of economic policy, policy alternatives, and alternative economic models of macroeconomy. Prerequisites: ECO 202, ECO 203, and ECO 204. (ECO 204 may be taken concurrently with ECO 304.)

ECO 306 Monetary Economics: Examines financial markets and institutions, monetary theory, and macroeconomic implications. Charts relationship between Federal Reserve and depository institutions, as well as effects of monetary and fiscal policies on economic performance. Prerequisites: ECO 202 and ECO 203.

ECO 307 International Economics: Focuses on theory and practice of international trade: comparative advantage, economies of scale, trade policy, international labor and capital movements, and economic integration. Prerequisites: ECO 202 and ECO 203.

ECO 308 European Emerging Markets: Analyzes economic developments within Central East Europe (CEE) from a historical perspective. Covers the communist period (1950-1989) and post-communist years (1990-present). Analyzes the CEEs transition and answers what best explains economic status today. Prerequisites: ECO 202 and ECO 203.

The Department of English curriculum offers a flexible and challenging set of opportunities that allows all students to experience a wide range of approaches to literature and writing. The goal of the curriculum is to provide a solid core of literature courses for all majors, while at the same time, providing each student the opportunity to create an individualized program that reflects his/her interests and passions. In addition to offering students a variety of choices in English, American and World Literature, the major provides a broad selection of writing courses.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Students majoring in English are required to complete the following program of courses. A minimum of twelve (12) courses is required and must include six (6) core courses and six (6) electives. Majors must also submit a representative senior portfolio on or before April 23 for May graduation, October 31 for December graduation (the Friday before if the date falls on a weekend) and participate in a graduation conversation with faculty. Students majoring in English are encouraged to develop their majors in close consultation with an English Department faculty advisor.

CORE COURSES

- ENG 201 Major English Writings I
- ENG 202 Major English Writings II
- ENG 221/321 Topics in World Literature
- ENG 303 Historical Approaches to American Literature
- ENG 304 Genre Study in American Literature
- ENG 374 Editing Essentials OR ENG 380 Language Studies: Readers and Writers

ELECTIVES

- Six (6) elective courses in Literature, Writing, or Film.
- At least three (3) must be at the 300 level or higher.
- At least one (1) must be at the 400 level or higher.

Note: ENG 140 Composition: Writing about Selected Topics may not be used as an elective in the English major.

POLICIES FOR THE MAJOR

Students majoring in English may take up to two (2) approved literature electives outside the Rollins College Department of English after matriculating. (Transfer students majoring in English must take at least one-half of their English major requirements at Rollins and must have their programs approved by the Department Chair before taking additional electives outside Rollins.)

Students in both the English major and the writing minor may count only one (1) course toward both programs.

Arts and Sciences English majors must take their 400-level required English elective course at Rollins.

ENGLISH

Students seeking a minor in English take two (2) core courses and four (4) electives.

CORE COURSES

Any two (2) of the following courses:

- ENG 201 Major English Writings I
- ENG 202 Major English Writings II
- ENG 221/321 Topics in World Literature
- ENG 303 Historical Approaches to American Literature
- ENG 304 Genre Study in American Literature

ELECTIVES

- Four (4) elective courses in English are required
- Two (2) courses must be taken at the 300 or 400 level

POLICIES FOR THE MINOR

StudiesMarine BiologyMathematicsModern Languages and LiteraturesMusicNeurosciencePhilosophy and ReligionPhysicsPhysical EducationPolitical SciencePsychologySexuality, Women's, and Gender StudiesSociologySustainable Development and the EnvironmentTheatre Arts and DancePublic Policy

ENG 140 Composition: Writing about Selected Topics may not be used as an elective in the English minor. Students wishing to take ENG 303 Historical Approaches to American Literature or ENG 304 Genre Study in American Literature without first taking the ENG 201 and ENG 202 prerequisites for those courses must obtain the consent of the instructor.

WRITING

Students seeking personal enrichment through writing, as well as those seeking skill and versatility in professional arenas, are well served through the minor in writing. In addition to an emphasis on expressive and creative writing, the selection of courses for the writing minor offers training and practice in writing skills and discourse forms found in public, professional, and academic contexts. Students minoring in writing may choose one of two concentrations: creative writing or professional writing.

I. CREATIVE WRITING CONCENTRATION

The concentration in creative writing complements Rollins' mission of liberal education by providing a sequence of courses emphasizing the writing of fiction, poetry, and creative nonfiction. For English majors and other appreciators of literature, the concentration provides a bridge between students' study of the literary canon and their understanding of the creative process that produced it. For students in any major, the literary genre-based courses of this curriculum examine the art and craft of producing good writing and, in addition, provide close study of the work of successful contemporary authors. The creative writing concentration makes use of the workshop method, giving students extensive practice in producing and critiquing texts. Among the practicing writers teaching the courses of this minor are two writers-in-residence whose published works are nationally acclaimed.

Students seeking a minor in writing with a concentration in creative writing take three (3) core courses and three (3) electives:

CORE COURSES

- ENG 167 Introduction to Creative Writing
- ENG 367 Creative Writing Workshop OR ENG 360 Creative Nonfiction Workshop
- ENG 475 Creative Writing Colloquy (must be taken in the senior year)

ELECTIVES

- ENG 209 Introduction to Professional Writing
- ENG 210 Language and Power
- ENG 211 Show and Tell: Visual and Verbal Text Design
- ENG 260 Writer's Studio
- ENG 267 Topics/Techniques in Writing
- ENG 268 Writing Intensives
- ENG 271 Personal Writing
- ENG 273 Journalistic Writing I
- ENG 276 Writing for the Future
- ENG 277 Writing in the Community
- ENG 295 Studies in Nonfiction Writing
- ENG 360 Creative Nonfiction Workshop
- ENG 361 Writing for the Professions
- ENG 367 Creative Writing Workshop

- ENG 459 Writer's Portfolio
- ENG 467 Advanced Creative Writing Workshop
- ENG 482 Writing for Publication
- ENG 497 Internship in Writing

II. PROFESSIONAL WRITING CONCENTRATION

The concentration in professional writing offers courses for students interested in writing in the public arenas of civic life, the academy, and the professional world. Grounded in rhetorical theory, the courses provide humanistic, critical, and practical study of writing in specific genres, disciplines, and media. Over the last half-century technological developments have provided radical new means of communication and led to significant cultural shifts. More than ever, writers need a critical understanding of the rhetorical processes underlying communication in various media and the problem-solving skills to face continual technological and cultural change. In addition to obtaining a rhetorical understanding of communication, students will gain basic practical knowledge of how new communication technologies work and hone their writing skills through practice in specific genres and disciplines. Successful students will emerge as reflective and articulate writers able to contribute effectively to civic, academic, and professional endeavors in the twenty-first century.

Students seeking a minor in writing with a professional writing concentration take three (3) courses and three (3) electives.

CORE COURSES

- ENG 209 Introduction to Professional Writing
- ENG 211 Show and Tell: Visual and Verbal Text Design
- ENG 276 Writing for the Future OR ENG 277 Writing in the Community

ELECTIVES

Two (2) of the three (3) electives must be at the 300 or 400 level.

- ENG 210 Language and Power
- ENG 260 Writer's Studio
- ENG 267 Topics/Techniques in Writing

Course of Study

ENG 140 Composition: Writing about Selected Topics: Develops students' ability to write college-level essays by practicing strategies of argumentation and by refining skills of invention, completeness, clarity, and mechanical correctness. In order to satisfy the College's general education requirement for 'Writing, students must receive a grade of 'C' or better in the course. Students may take ENG 140 a second time for credit, so long as a different topic is selected. Section topics are designated by individual instructors.

ENG 167 Introduction to Creative Writing: Writing in a variety of genres including fiction, creative nonfiction, and poetry. Focus on peer evaluation (oral and written) as well as that of the professor. Models of these genres are studied not as literature, but as writing samples.

ENG 190 Literature and Experience: Aids students in developing the means to discover and write about the ways in which literature imaginatively reflects the human condition. Each section offers a distinct focus and content. Appropriate for nonmajors and also for potential English majors.

ENG 201 Major English Writings I: Critical and historical approaches to writers of the Medieval and Renaissance periods, including the Beowulf poet, Chaucer, Spenser, Shakespeare, Donne, Jonson, and Milton.

ENG 202 Major English Writings II: Critical and historical approaches to writers of the long Eighteenth Century, the Romantic period, and the Victorian Age, including Pope, Swift, Johnson, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Shelley, Keats, Tennyson, Browning, Arnold, and Hopkins.

ENG 204 African Literature: Introduces major writers and literary movements of Africa.

ENG 206 Grammar Bootcamp: Covers basic English grammar as well as more advanced grammar to prepare students for advanced writing courses. Topics include parts of speech, sentence structure, punctuation, diction, and cohesion.

ENG 209 Introduction to Professional Writing: Offers a foundation in professional writing theory and practice. Using a rhetorical approach, analyzes situations, texts, and audiences to understand and produce effective documents. Appropriate for non-majors.

ENG 210 Language and Power: Surveys rhetorical tools leaders have used throughout history to change their societies. Students will analyze how these tools function within speeches, letters, essays, and other literary texts that have persuaded audiences to think, feel, and act in new -- sometimes positive, sometimes destructive -- ways. By modeling such writing in their own essays, students will practice using these tools to address contemporary social issues while discussing the ethical concerns that responsible citizens must consider whenever they use rhetoric. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 211 Show and Tell: Visual and Verbal Text Design: Investigates how visuals (pictures, graphics, color, and layout) interact with words to add or disrupt meaning in texts. Studies cutting-edge research on visual perception. Practices document design using InDesign software. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 216 Sandspur Production: Writing- and design-intensive course that supports production of The Sandspur. Covers various kinds of journalistic writing and news reporting: basic news pieces, features, editorials, and reviews. Provides skills necessary to produce and edit well-written, accurate, insightful stories, and to do journalistic investigation and research. Classroom workshops are conducted before weekly newspaper staff meetings. Familiarizes students with contemporary journalistic practices and issues involving ethics and standards in the media.

ENG 221/321 Topics in World Literature: Introduces major writers and theoretical approaches in one or more more literary traditions other than - or in combination with - British and/or American. Specific topics vary. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 229/329/429 Selected Studies in American Literature: Studies forms, traditions, themes, and genres, varying from year to year.

ENG 230 Literary Nonfiction: Allows students to sample a wide array of writing forms and strategies under the heading of "creative nonfiction." Examines the personal essay, memoir, travel writing, literary journalism, nature writing, and social criticism. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 231 The Bible as Literature: A study of the Old and New Testaments as works of creative literature, with frequent excursions into poems, plays, and novels influenced by the Bible. Works range from black spirituals to Jesus Christ Superstar.

ENG 232 Literature and Experience: Focus may include drama, poetry, and prose. Designed for upperclass nonmajors.

ENG 233 Women Writers: Traces the literature written by women during the past several hundred years with particular interest in the 19th and 20th centuries. Examines, through various genres, the cultural climate and the authors' central thematic interests.

ENG 234 Selected Studies in Literary Themes: Focuses on drama, poetry, fiction, and prose. Suitable for nonmajors.

ENG 235 Selected Studies in Environmental Literature: A study of poets, novelists, and essayists who have spoken out strongly for the community of the land and the preservation of the environment. Typical authors: Whitman, Thoreau, Emerson, Burroughs, Muir, Austin, Abbey, Leopold, Rawlings, and Hurston.

ENG 241 Film and Literature: Studies the history and aesthetics of film and the relationship of film to literature. Material and focus will vary from year to year. Suitable for nonmajors.

ENG 242 Contemporary American Short Fiction: Covers short stories written since 1975 by key contemporary authors of short fiction. Topics may include civil rights, feminism, the legacy of Vietnam, or the mundane challenges of simply getting out of bed in the morning and going to work.

ENG 245 Selected Studies in Popular Culture: Studies the theories, forms, themes, and genres of popular culture. Compares the ways various media (e.g., fiction, film, television, radio) interpret and present similar subjects. Suitable for nonmajors.

ENG 249 Darkness Visible -- Radio Drama: Studies the almost nonexistent art of radio drama. Students are responsible for writing, directing, producing, and starring in their own weekly radio drama show on Rollins's WPRK (Tuesdays, 9:00 p.m.).

ENG 260 Writer's Studio: Students will learn about creative potential and how to nurture it. They will take up a writing "practice" that includes regular writing and attention to the conditions under which they are most creative and productive. Responding effectively to the writing of others and basic techniques of craft that good writers use to achieve effect and meaning will be explored. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 267 Topics/Techniques in Writing: "Topics" version of this course offers an introduction to a very specific genre of writing (fiction, autobiography, humor writing, etc.), giving close attention to the defining characteristics of the genre and offering a sequence of short reading and writing assignments designed to develop facility in producing the genre. "Techniques" version of this course offers a close study of a specific literary technique (point of view, character/dialogue, narrative design, voice), and requires practicing the technique in short, focused writing assignments with emphasis on both literary and technical excellence. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 268 Writing Intensives: Seven (7) intensive experiences in specific genres: memoir, short-short story, profile, sonnet, and writing about art. Each session introduces students to a particular type of writing and leads them in a series of exercises to practice writing the genre. Sessions are designed to be fun, informative, and inspirational. Instructors provide specific strategies for tackling a type of writing and for deepening and extending daily writing practice.

ENG 271 Personal Writing: Writing by self-discovery and self-expression. Explores writing as a means to discover thoughts, feelings, and intuitions, which would otherwise remain inchoate. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 273 Journalistic Writing I: Evolution of journalism and contemporary practices of news gathering and writing. Critical analyses of traditional and converging forms of journalism, the journalistic landscape, and student roles as reporters. Emphasizes journalism in the 21st century, and timeless tools essential for reporters. Prerequisite: ENG 140 or equivalent.

ENG 275 Selected Studies in Minority Literature: Minority literary studies. Offerings vary year to year. Suitable for nonmajors.

ENG 276 Writing for the Future: How do we depict ourselves when we're communicating on the Internet? How does our understanding of audience shift? This course in the genre of cyberspace writing explores how our own personal reading and writing are being changed by advances in technology, as well as how online forms and practices are reshaping corporate and academic writing. Focusing on new skills we'd like to master, we'll consider whether our ability to learn is affected by our uses of technology. Previous experience is NOT a prerequisite.

ENG 277 Writing in the Community: Explores the issues shaping communities and writing forms intended to gain voice (political, environmental, social, etc.). Through compelling service learning projects, students write responses, letters, field studies, documentaries, or other persuasive pieces to gather public support. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 278 The Beat: Writing and Reporting in the Community: Explores interests with eyes and ears of journalists, picking a beat (e.g., Politics, Environment) to generate stories, identify stories of interest to report on campus. Enables students to evaluate sources, enterprise content, write in lively journalistic styles. Submissions to Sandspur encouraged. Fulfills a core course in Professional Writing Minor. Prerequisite: ENG 140 or equivalent.

ENG 291 Magical Realism: When a love story filters through the centuries or a man awakens as a giant cockroach (this could happen in Florida); when an owl perches on a window crying sweet warnings or a baron lives his life in the treetops; when a dead baby rises from the grave or the local shopping mall draws us into fairyland -- what are we to think? Exploring several works of magical realism, this course offers delightful metaphors, strange dreams, strategies for reading literature, and a whole new way of understanding experience. Prerequisite: ENG 140 or equivalent.

ENG 295/395 Studies in Nonfiction: Focus on forms, themes, and techniques of specific nonfiction prose genres (biography, environmental writing, etc.). Students study closely both peer and professional examples of the genre, learning to develop their own style and voice in practicing the form. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 300 Expository Writing: Assumes that writing is a primary way to understand, organize, and give meaning to experience, and is thus an integral part of a liberal studies curriculum. Develops writing strategies and forms that give meaningful shape to attitudes and experiences within the context of previously published ideas. Analysis of professional and anonymous student essays, as well as students' own writings. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 303 Historical Approaches to American Literature: Explores representative works from the beginnings of American literature to the present, covering the evolution of literary periodization and changes in literary form, against their historical and cultural backgrounds. Prerequisites: ENG 201, ENG 202 or consent.

ENG 304A Genre Study in American Literature: Drama: Examines drama in American literature, emphasizing the changing forms and conventions of the genre. Playwrights discussed include Treadwell, Miller, Williams, Hansberry, Shepard, Mamet, and Finley. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 304B Genre Study in American Literature: Fiction: Examines fiction in American literature, emphasizing the changing forms and conventions of the genre. Focus varies, sometimes by broad literary movement (American Renaissance, Realism, Naturalism, Modernism, Postmodernism), sometimes by theme (race, gender, experimentation, the West). Prerequisites: ENG 201, ENG 202 or consent.

ENG 304C Genre Study in American Literature: Poetry: Examines poetry in American literature, emphasizing the changing forms and conventions of the genre. Focus varies, sometimes by broad literary movement (American Romanticism, Modernism, Postmodernism), sometimes by theme (race, gender, experimentation). Prerequisites: ENG 201, ENG 202 or consent.

ENG 305 American Literature I: Beginnings through 1865: Explores representative works of the period, focusing on the evolution of American literary consciousness and shifting literary strategies, against their historical and cultural backgrounds. Includes traditional canonical works, as well as works that expand that canon. Prerequisites: ENG 201, ENG 202 or consent.

ENG 306 American Literature II: 1865 to Present: Explores representative works of the period, focusing on the evolution of American literary consciousness and shifting literary strategies, against their historical and cultural backgrounds. Includes traditional canonical works, as well as works that expand that canon. Prerequisites: ENG 201, ENG 202 or consent.

ENG 307 American Literature IV: African American Literature: Explores African American literary forms from the seventeenth to the twentieth centuries, in the context of the social, historical, economic, and cultural politics of literary production in this specific racial community. Prerequisite: junior standing.

ENG 310/410 Studies in Anglo Saxon and Medieval Literature: Studies literature in historical context of Anglo-Saxon and Middle English periods, from 600 to 1500, in England. Emphasis on the history of the language, the cultural diversity, and the oral-formulaic nature of the poetry. Primary focus: Beowulf, Sir Gawain and the Green Knight, and Chaucer's Canterbury Tales.

ENG 311/411 Studies in Renaissance Literature: Examines English literature of the 16th and 17th centuries, excepting Shakespeare, in the context of the times. Focus varies from term to term, sometimes by genre (prose, lyric, epic, dramatic), sometimes by theme.

ENG 312/412 Studies in Shakespeare: Studies selected poems and plays by Shakespeare, viewed in the context of Elizabethan conventions and ideas. Focus varies from term to term, sometimes by genre (comedy, tragedy, history, or romance), sometimes by theme, sometimes by emphasis on lyric and narrative verse.

ENG 314/414 Topics in Restoration and 18th-Century Literature: Examines major writers and writings of the Restoration and neoclassical periods. Focus on novel as a literary genre, comic potential of the war between the sexes, and poets' efforts to offer the emerging middle class a sense of both the past and the world of ideas.

ENG 315/415 Studies in 19th-Century British Literature: Examines major writers and writings of the romantic and Victorian periods. Emphases may include works of either period, the forms of lyric poetry, the rise of the novel, or literary movements in their cultural contexts.

ENG 319/419 Studies in 20th-Century British Literature: Examines major writers and writings of the modern and contemporary periods. Emphases may include movements in poetry, fiction, or drama -- especially those that represent experiments in new modes of expression at the beginning and end of the century.

ENG 324 Selected Studies in Minority Literature: Minority literary studies. Offerings vary year to year. Suitable for nonmajors.

ENG 325 Modern Drama: Focuses on American, British, and Continental plays written/produced from 1890 to 1945. Representative playwrights include Ibsen, Chekhov, Strindberg, Shaw, Synge, O'Neill, Treadwell, Pirandello, and Eliot. Emphasizes critical analysis, historical significance, and issues of performance.

ENG 326/426 Southern Writers: Studies selected Southern writers, including novelists, dramatists, and poets. Prerequisite: junior/senior standing.

ENG 328/428 Contemporary American Literature: Studies American literature in the last half of the 20th century, from the end of World War II and the emergence of the Beats, through the tumultuous 60's and 70's, and on into the fin de siècle.

ENG 329/429 Selected Studies in American Literature: Studies forms, traditions, themes, and genres, varying from year to year. Prerequisite: junior/senior standing.

ENG 335 Critical Approaches to Literature: Focuses on major works of critical theory as well as applications of critical theory to literary texts. Includes emphasis on literary terminology. Prerequisite: ENG 140 or equivalent.

ENG 336/436 Twentieth-Century English and American Poetry: Seminar on British and American poets of the 20th century, with emphasis upon the major poets.

ENG 341 Film and Literature: Focuses on the history and aesthetics of film and its relationship to literature. Specific topics vary. Prerequisite: ENG 140 or equivalent.

ENG 342 Speculative Fiction: Specific topics vary. May focus on science fiction; fantasy; utopias/dystopias; horror and the occult; magical realism; other; a combination thereof. Prerequisite: ENG 140 or equivalent.

ENG 344 Literature and Cultural Studies: Specific topics vary. Possibilities include The Postmodern; Visual Culture; Media Mixtures; Interactive Literary Venues; or some combination thereof. Prerequisite: ENG 140 or equivalent.

ENG 345 Studies in Classical Rhetoric: The Art and Science of Persuasion: A close study of the classical tradition of rhetoric. Students will become familiar with the work of the major figures of classical rhetoric (Aristotle, Plato, Cicero, Quintilian), their theories of rhetoric, how those theories differ and overlap, and how they have influenced modern notions of persuasiveness. Fulfills elective requirements in classical studies and communication.

ENG 360 Creative Nonfiction Workshops: Courses focus on the broad range of intellectual, rhetorical, and composition skills necessary to compose creative nonfiction prose characteristic of a single discourse form. Extensive use of a workshop approach to drafting, revising, and critiquing writing.

ENG 360A Creative Nonfiction Workshop -- Autobiography: Advanced writing course for upper-level students who wish to extend the basic intellectual, rhetorical, and composition skills necessary to compose clear and substantive prose. Studies various ways that autobiographical sketches, stories, and essays have been structured by contemporary American writers. Develops students single autobiographical text. Emphasis on a workshop approach to drafting, revising, and critiquing student writing.

ENG 360B Creative Nonfiction Workshop -- Travel Writing: Students consider the nature of travel and reflect on their journeys while trying out strategies of travel writing in this workshop course. Through conversation, campus (or central Florida) trips, and the shaping of a polished piece of travel writing, the class looks at creation of people and place. Exploring the journey as both meaning and metaphor for the lived experience of travel writers, students recall previous travels or write about their own locales. Extensive travel not expected.

ENG 360C Creative Nonfiction Workshop -- Literary Journalism: This course introduces advanced techniques of non-fiction writing in the tradition of Truman Capote, Tom Wolfe, John McPhee and Susan Orlean. Students will become familiar with applying descriptive writing techniques and developing character and plot through a variety of non-fiction writing projects, including first-person narratives and personality profiles.

ENG 361 Writing for the Professions: Enables students to make the transition from student to professional. Gives students experience in developing the writing and presentation skills expected of them in their careers. Students will learn and apply specific communication principles typical of the forms and practices of professionals. Coursework is done both independently and in groups. Appropriate for all majors. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 367 Creative Writing Workshops: Emphasis on various writing genres (fiction, creative nonfiction, etc.). Requires strong, established creative writing skills and experience in writing workshops. Prerequisite: ENG 167.

ENG 367A Creative Writing Workshop -- Poetry: Focuses on the writing of poetry through workshops run by the student participants and supervised by the professor in a conventional creative writing format. Includes some reading and discussion of contemporary poets. Prerequisite: ENG 167.

ENG 367B Creative Writing Workshop -- Children's Writing: Workshop course in the writing of poetry or short fiction. Students will complete writing exercises, discuss structures of poems and stories, and make presentations of their original work. Prerequisite: ENG 167.

ENG 367C Creative Writing Workshop -- Fiction: Focuses on the writing of short fiction through writing workshops run by the student participants and supervised by the professor in a conventional creative writing format. Includes some reading and discussion of contemporary short story writers. Prerequisite: ENG 167.

ENG 367D Creative Writing Workshop -- Screenwriting: Through the reading of screenplays, watching of films, and multiple workshops, students write a full-length screenplay. Prerequisite: ENG 167.

ENG 370 Spiritual Autobiography: Examines the life and work of autobiographers who have fostered social activism and profound spirituality in others. In addition to oral and written projects, students explore a variety of reflective practices. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 372 Winter with the Writers: Conducted in conjunction with the visiting authors series, whose work will be the focus of study. Includes biographical research and critical studies in papers and panels in advance of writers' visits. Provides opportunity to meet these writers and discuss their work in master classes. Offers opportunity to combine an academic experience with a deeper involvement in the literary community on the campus. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 373 Journalistic Writing II: Students act as functioning journalists, researching and writing stories, dealing with sources, meeting deadlines, and working with fellow students in an editorial context. Prerequisite: ENG 273 or consent.

ENG 374 Editing Essentials: Focuses on editing writing at three levels: for correctness (grammar and punctuation); for precision (unity, order, coherence, emphasis, language); and for style (syntax, levels of detail, tone, diction, voice). Students will perform close analysis of surface features of their own and professional writing, and they will complete exercises designed to strengthen their ability to edit writing at the three levels mentioned above. This course is especially appropriate for students preparing to be teachers or engage in any profession that requires writing. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 375 The Critic's Role -- Review Writing: Considers the role that "professional" critics play in our world -- as "reviewers" and as shapers of our culture. Students practice writing techniques that critics use when discussing art forms such as cinema, music, and literature, or such issues as economic and social policies. Strongly recommended for students considering a minor in writing or a career in writing or publishing. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 380 Language Studies: Readers and Writers: Investigates the dynamics of language from historical, sociological, and rhetorical perspectives. Students will learn the best tools for understanding language and for editing their own work and that of others. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 385 Prose Style: Writing exercises designed to increase understanding and control of fine elements of style: word choice, sentence variety, point of view, tone, rhythm, etc.

ENG390 Major Author(s): Focuses on the works of a single author (excluding Shakespeare) OR a group of closely connected authors. Assigned texts may include secondary sources as well as primary works. Prerequisite: ENG 140 or equivalent.

ENG 392 Environmental Writing: Fosters skills in writing argumentative essays, technical reports, book reviews, and personal essays about nature and the environment. Suitable for nonmajors. Prerequisite: ENG 140 or consent.

ENG 395 Studies in Nonfiction: Challenges writers to experiment with various forms, themes, and genres of nonfiction prose including biography, environmental writing, food writing, etc. Suitable for nonmajors. Prerequisite: ENG 140 or equivalent.

ENG 396 Journal Production: SPECS. Produces SPECS, a national journal of literature and culture. Includes reading, discussion, selection, and editing of material for the journal. Students review online submissions, readings on the journal theme, and participate in class discussion. Examines past issues of the journal and other national journals, discussing principles of design, content, and aesthetics. Requires final project based on the call for papers for the current issue.

ENG 397/497 Internship in Writing

ENG 412 Studies in Shakespeare: Topical course on Shakespeare's works, for advanced students. Topic to be advertised in advance of registration. Prerequisite: English major or consent.

ENG 440 Topic in World Literature: Specific topics vary. Possibilities include a theme; a period; a selection of authors. Prerequisite: ENG 140 or equivalent.

ENG 444 Topics in Advanced Literature and Cultural Studies. Offers advanced study in literature and culture with focus on critical theory. Specific topics vary. Possibilities include theories of gender and sexuality, critical race theory, postcolonialism, performance, and formal innovation.

ENG 459 The Writers Portfolio: Examines issues for students serious about keeping writing in their lives. Assists students in defining themselves as writers, framing their work for the public, and balancing the desire for voice with the need for professionalism. May also introduce an editing process for correctness (grammar, punctuation), precision (unity, coherence, emphasis), and style (syntax, voice, tone). Required for the minor in writing.

ENG 467 Advanced Creative Writing Workshop: Focuses on readings and writing in a chosen genre. Frequent deadlines and critiques in a workshop atmosphere emphasizing individual instruction. Revision and submission of works encouraged. May be taken three (3) times for credit. Prerequisite: ENG 367.

ENG 475 Creative Writing Colloquy: Capstone course that engages writing minors in a culminating workshop, facilitates an edited compilation of best work from the minor, and prepares them to continue writing and market their work. Prerequisite: must have completed the twenty (20) semester hours required for the creative writing minor except for this final course. By permission, a student may take this course concurrent with one other course to fulfill the minor.

ENG 482 Writing for Publication: Identifies the demands/restrictions of various publications (newspapers, magazines, literary journals, literary contests, etc.). Students conduct research on the genre, style, and audience of specific publications, write queries and proposals, and submit to at least two publications.

ENG 490 Advanced Major Author(s) Study: Focuses on the works of a single author (excluding Shakespeare) OR a group of closely connected authors. Assigned texts include secondary sources as well as primary works. Prerequisite: ENG 140 or equivalent.

The interdisciplinary environmental studies major examines natural and cultural systems from many perspectives -- ecological, economic, ethical, historical, geographical, and political. Students study the conservation and utilization of natural resources essential for economic development and public well being.

Anthropology

The curriculum analyzes the problems, processes, and possibilities of creating a more sustainable society. It also offers preparation for an environmental career, broad background in several related areas of study, or concentration in a particular thematic issue as a basis for graduate study.

Archaeology

Florida offers an ideal laboratory for environmental studies. Nationally recognized projects such as the Everglades restoration, Wekiva Geopark, and models in the New Urbanism place Florida in the forefront of environmental protection and sustainable design.

| Neuroscience                                | ENV 289 Nature in the City: Examines the origins of suburban sprawl, its problems and ongoing solutions. Traces efforts of design professionals from Frederick Law Olmstead to the present and examines their efforts to harmonize urban and natural worlds.   |
| Philosophy and Religion                     | ENV 292 Political Economy of Environmental Issues: Traces transformation of organic society into market society and resulting commodification of nature.   |
| Physics                                     | ENV 302 Traditional Town Planning: Explores movement to return to pedestrian-friendly communities built along natural lines. Examines problems of suburbanization: traffic congestion, pollution, visual blight, strip malls, and housing designed for autos at the expense of pedestrians and children.   |
| Physical Education                          | ENV 308 Science and Policy: Critically questions the role of science in contemporary society and international relations.  |
| Political Science                           | ENV 323 Conservation of Biodiversity: Examines our present biodiversity crisis through the lens of biogeography, an integrative field of study focused on large-scale human interactions with the earth's ecosystems. Case studies presented throughout the semester sharpen our focus on specific regions. Prerequisites: ENV 130 or ENV 225.                                 |
| Psychology                                  | ENV 325 Natural Habitats of Florida: In-depth look at Florida's natural habitats. Examines how human activity is changing the face of Florida's physical landscape and natural communities. Prerequisite: ENV 130 or ENV 225.  |
| Sexuality, Women's, and Gender Studies      | ENV 343 History of Science: Chronicles the major scientific discoveries that changed worldviews and the personalities that shaped them. Examines the social context in which these discoveries arose.  |
| Sociology                                   | ENV 347 Islands in the Stream: Describes the literature, natural history, and settlement of our nation's subtropical region. Examines the protection of coral reefs, mangrove forests, and fisheries.  |
| Sustainable Development and the Environment | ENV 348 Sustainable Development: Explores both theoretical and actual development strategies that are ecologically and socially acceptable.  |
| Theatre Arts and Dance                      | ENV 350 Food, Culture, and Environment: Is agriculture about more than simply producing food? Is modern agriculture sustainable? Is organic agriculture really as beneficial as is claimed? These questions guide our exploration of the relationships between food, culture, and the environment.   |
|   | ENV 353 National Parks and Protected Areas: Discusses value of national parks as pleasuring grounds, genetic banks, working ecosystems, and symbols of national heritage.  |
|   | ENV 365 Environment and Development in Central America: Studies the need for broad-based sustainable development using Central America as a case study. Explores appropriate models of development.  |
|   | ENV 372 Images of the Environment as Seen Through Film: Reveals attitudes toward nature and wilderness, attitudes toward technology, exploitation of nature, and visions of the future.  |
|   | ENV 375 Island Economies and Sustainable Development in the Caribbean: Examines the natural resources and conservation of terrestrial, freshwater, and marine habitats of the Caribbean. Explores the prospects for sustainable economic development in the region.  |
|   | ENV 377 Wilderness and the American Mind: Examines arguments for and against the preservation of wilderness and the role of these arguments in shaping environmental policy.   |
|   | ENV 380 American Environmental History: Follows the changing patterns of land and resource use. Examines the displacement of Native Americans, expansion of the frontier, the progressive conservation movement, and development of contemporary environmentalism. Prerequisite: ENV 189.  |
|   | ENV 385 Sustainable Development in the Amazon Basin: Explores the largest remaining tropical ecosystem on earth and considers the crucial ecological services it provides as well as its exceptional biological and cultural diversity. Examines new approaches to development that generate income while protecting vital ecological systems supporting economic development. |
|   | ENV 386 Environmental Law: Focuses on the interpretation and application of federal, state, and local environmental regulations.   |
|   | ENV 389 Environmental Planning: Examines competing demands for urban growth and development and the need to conserve and protect limited natural resources. Prerequisites: ENV 130, ENV 189, and ENV 225.  |
|   | ENV 390 Culture and Landscape: Analyzes American landscapes and human cultures that created them, particularly intensive development that has radically altered natural systems.   |
|   | ENV 399/499 Independent Study Environmental Research: Designated for field-based or problem-centered topics. Prerequisite: sophomore or junior standing for ENV 399; senior standing and consent of advisor for ENV 499.   |
|   | ENV 413 Senior Seminar in Environmental Issues: Senior capstone seminar. Concentrates on major themes in the discipline and their relationship to current environmental issues. Prerequisites: senior standing, environmental studies major, and ENV 389.  |
|   | BIO 316 Ecology: Explores processes and organization of populations, communities, and ecosystems. Required lab uses standard field methodology to analyze aquatic and terrestrial ecosystems of Central and South Florida, including the Keys and Everglades. Prerequisite: BIO 121 or ENV 225.  |

Film Studies (minor only)

Changes effective Spring Term 2014

African/African-American Studies

Faculty teaching Film Studies courses include members of the Expressive Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences Divisions in the College of Arts and Sciences. Please see the schedule of classes for each academic term for specific assignments.

American Studies

More than a century old, film is an integral, omnipresent art form and a component of our day-to-day lives. The film studies minor examines how film reflects and affects the social, intellectual, cultural, ethical, economic, aesthetic, and political aspects of our world; encourages students to move toward critical thinking about how film influences values and ideologies as well as our views on gender, race, class, sexuality, religion, and nationality; and demonstrates that film is a medium which both reflects and produces social conflicts, desires, and power relations.

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

Six (6) courses are required: two (2) core courses and four (4) electives. Students are advised to complete FIL 150 as one of the first three courses counted toward the film studies minor.

Archaeology

CORE COURSES

- FIL 150 Introduction to Film
- FIL 450 Film Seminar

Art and Art History

ELECTIVES

Choose four (4) courses from the schedule of courses that are noted as fulfilling the "FIL minor," which meet the following criteria.

Asian Studies

- At least two at the 300 level or above
- At least one must focus on foreign film
- One may be an internship

Film courses taken in the Hamilton Holt School or at other institutions may count toward the minor at the discretion of the Film Studies Program Director.

Australian Studies

Course of Study

Biochemistry/Molecular Biology

FIL 150 Introduction to Film: Focuses on film literacy and the culture of film, using films from the history of film.

Biology

FIL 245 Film as Art: The Florida Film Festival: immerses students in a top regional film festival in the U.S., the Academy-screen Florida Film Festival. Through attending an orientation class meeting, experiencing two full weekends of film viewing and festival events, and undertaking writing assignments, students learn the historical, cultural, and contemporary aspects of cinema and film festivals.

Business and Social Entrepreneurship

FIL 350 Special Topics in Film Studies: Experiential and/or traditional "classroom" courses that allow immersion in a specific area of film director, genre, national cinema(s), film making, film festivals and/or examination race, class, gender, sexuality, multiculturalism, globalization.

Chemistry

FIL 450 Film Seminar: Capstone course for the minor emphasizing film theory, history, and culture. Features an in-depth examination of a specific construct of film. Prerequisite: FIL 150.

Global Health (minor only)

African/African-American Studies

Changes effective Fall Term 2013

American Studies

Faculty teaching Global Health include members of the Natural Sciences, Humanities, and Social Sciences Divisions in the College of Arts and Sciences and the Communications Department in the College of Professional Studies. Please see the schedule of classes for each academic term for specific assignments.

Anthropology

The global health minor focuses on issues effecting community health at home and around the globe, revealing that health and poverty are frequently linked and that health issues may not respect political boundaries. The program draws courses from anthropology, biology, communication studies, critical media and cultural studies, economics, English, environmental studies, history, pre-medicine studies, mathematics, physical education, political science, and psychology to explore health related issues from a variety of methodological and topical perspectives.

REQUIRED COURSES

GBH 200 Introduction to Public Health: Introduces health and disease at the population level. Students will learn the concepts and methods for measuring health in populations. They will consider the impact of health care systems, public health systems and broad governmental policies on health and disease patterns.

GBH 300 Introduction to Epidemiology: Introduces the theory methods and practice of epidemiology. Students will learn to interpret epidemiological data and to use epidemiological approaches to investigate communicable and non-communicable diseases and other health problems.

GBH/ANT 310 Introduction to Global Health: Examines the roles of biological and social factors in global health issues, paying particular attention to the health needs and concerns of poor and disadvantaged populations. Students will learn about some of the major health concerns of the developing world and look critically at how local and international communities attempt to address those problems.

Rollins College
1000 Holt Avenue

ANT 301 Nutrition and Health: A course about what people need to eat, how those needs have evolved, and how peoples' choices across cultures effect their health and the health of the environment. Discusses basic human nutritional requirements, and how evolution and culture have both worked to shape traditional and modern diets resulting in different disease patterns in different cultures. Some attention given to current U.S. practices, including fast food and factory farming, and their implications for the health of U.S. populations. Prerequisite: One ANT course.

ANT 305 Topics: Women's Global Health: Examines the plight of women's health, globally, in both developed and underdeveloped countries. Our exploration will utilize a combination of conceptual approaches including political economy, feminism and alternative (non-Western) medical perspectives. Examines how culture, poverty, ethnicity, social class, migration, location, diseases enhanced by development projects, sexually transmitted diseases, pollution and environmental degradation, domestic violence, and reproduction affect women's health. Analyzes the rule and impacts of existing public policy on women's health, and explores human-rights based approach to women's health.

ANT 306 Medicine and Culture: Examines how different cultures view disease and illness, how they explain illnesses, what they do about them, and how they use disease and illness as social controls. Discusses these issues in general and then as they apply to several specific cultures -- including our own. Prerequisite: One ANT or BIO course.

BIO 117 Bacteria, Viruses and Humans with Lab: Introduces world of microorganisms and their impact on human life. Presents basic principles of biology while probing diversity, genetics, and ecology of microorganisms; their uses in food, agriculture, and industry; and their ability to produce disease. Lab exercises include quantitative and qualitative analysis of bacterial nutrition and procedures for identification and control of microbes. Lab course for nonmajors.

BIO 229 Microbiology: Emphasizes metabolism, genetics, reproduction, and ecology of bacteria and viruses and their relationship to infectious disease and immunology. Develops basic research and microbiological lab skills. Lab required. Prerequisite: BIO 121.

BIO 246 Human Physiology: Studies the function of human systems (cardiovascular, muscle, nervous, etc.) related to homeostasis. Designed primarily for students preparing for the study of physical therapy, occupational therapy, other allied health professions, and those biology or other students not planning to attend medical, dental, or graduate school. Laboratory involves physiological studies on humans and other mammals. Prerequisite: BIO 121.

BIO 340E Medical Microbiology: Introduces the basics of medical microbiology by applying basic microbiological principles to specific bacterial and viral pathogens. While the focus will be on the epidemiology and pathogenicity of specific diseases, discussions will also cover treatment and prevention. Student will gain detailed knowledge of one specific pathogen and the skills necessary to investigate disease origins, causes, treatment, and prevention.

BIO 342 Biostatistics: Applies principles and practices of statistics to biological problems. Covers experimental design, descriptive statistics, parametric and nonparametric testing of hypotheses, regression, correlation, and interpretation of results. Prerequisite: BIO 121.

CMC 320 Political Economy of Body and Food: What's wrong with the ways we relate to our bodies, to others' bodies, to eating, and to food - and what can we do about it? This course examines the political and economic interests behind body and beauty ideals, body image, body dissatisfaction, eating disorders, steroid abuse, our cultural fear and hatred of fat, anti-fat prejudice, and inequalities related to the current food system.

COM 330 Health Communication: Introduces theory and research on communication in health and illness contexts, focusing on how messages from interpersonal, organizational, and media sources affect health and belief and behavior.

COM 340 Healthy Policy and Advocacy Communication: Introduces concepts and strategies for policy changes to improve health, based on current health issues. Includes situational analysis, communication strategies, and messaging to advocate for policies affecting health.

COM 350 Global Health Communication: Introduces important issues and key concepts of communication in global health. Focuses on determinants of health, the burden of disease, health disparities, risk factors, and communication strategies.

ECO 285 Introduction to Health Economics. Provides students with an understanding of the microeconomic approach to resource allocation specifically in relation to the health sector. Introduces students to the use of economic tools in the analysis of the 'market' for health care, in terms of efficiency and equity. Provides an analytical framework for assessment of the U.S. health care system, and health policy generally, from an economic perspective.

ECO 305 Health Economics: Uses concepts and tools to examine production, delivery and cost, access and utilization of healthcare services in the United States. Includes demand for health care, the market for health providers and health insurance, and the role of government in the health care market. Also discusses the relative merits of national reform efforts and current individual state reform efforts.

ENG 190 Body Snatchers - Literature and Medicine: Examines the ways that storytelling and medicine have shaped each other. For centuries, literature and visual culture have snatched from medicine thrilling or moving stories of death, illness, and god-like doctors. More recently, developments called "the medical humanities" or "narrative medicine" have infiltrated medical training, in which doctors read novels and are encouraged to write stories themselves in order to more fully connect with their patient's humanity. Explores both of these intersections to ask what reading fiction might bring to medicine and what the universal experience of having a body--a body that gets sick and will die--brings to the study of literature.

PED 201 Physiology of Exercise and Performance: Explains physiological fundamentals of physical fitness and training techniques. Discusses human energy systems, aerobic exercise, muscular fitness, and training techniques. Encourages students to design individualized programs

PHI 308L Topic: Medical Ethics: Examines a number of ethical dilemmas that arise in the practice of medicine – i.e. abortion, euthanasia, human experimentation, new reproductive technologies, confidentiality, and respect for patient autonomy. Some attention will be paid to issues arising from the practice of medicine in a multi-cultural context. We will conclude by exploring in a little more depth the contemporary question of bio-medical enhancement – where the intention is not to prevent or to cure disease but to “improve” people who are medically sound.

POL 223 Power and Diplomacy - The United Nations: Familiarizes students with the operations of the United Nations, its agencies and its affiliated organizations, introduces international relations focusing on selected countries and issues, and teaches how to develop and present oral and written proposals in the U.N. vernacular. Special focus is placed upon the work of ECOSOC, the UNDP, and the WHO, and the interconnected issues of sustainable development, health population, and rights. Current needs and programs are evaluated; best practices are considered.

POL 316 Social and Political Applied Ethics: Focuses on particular social and political problems of actual societies. Studies moral judgments for and against particular issues such as abortion, the death penalty, affirmative action, immigration, the ethics of voting, food politics and genetically modified products, multiculturalism and women's rights, (redistributive) taxation, the justness of war, world hunger relief, and healthcare as a right. These are all issues that motivate heated debates in current liberal democracies. Students will try to understand the analytical and reasoned arguments often invoked to justify or reject them.

POL 335 Global Health and Human Rights: Discusses the policy implications of viewing health care as a human right. Examines the legal, moral, historical, political and economic debates surrounding the question of whether health care should be deemed a fundamental human right. For example, does Obamacare expand poor people's access to a basic right, or does it take away American citizens' fundamental freedoms? Students will investigate the practical application of the right to health through case studies at the local level (e.g., through the work of the NGO Partners in Health), at the national level (e.g., by comparing the U.S. health system with European social models), and at the international level (e.g., through the work of the United Nations Committee on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights). Prerequisite: POL 130.

PSY 217 Psychology of Drugs and Addictions with Lab: Questions whether chemical addiction (drugs and alcohol) is a disease or an attempt to adapt to inner needs and external pressures.

PSY 334 DEV: Foundations of Maternal and Child Health and Wellness: This course introduces the major issues affecting the physical and mental health and well being of mothers, infants, children and adolescents around the world, and describes major international development efforts to improve their lives. Prerequisite: PSY 150 or instructor permission.

Health Professions Advising Program

Zimmerman

Medical, dental, veterinary, optometry, podiatry, and other professional schools seek students with a broad education who can handle the rigors of basic science courses. The Health Professions Advising Program uses an interdisciplinary approach to prepare students for graduate study. While the program highlights the necessary preprofessional courses (science, math, and English), it also encourages students to major in liberal arts disciplines consistent with their interests and talents. Students should consider nontraditional health-related majors (such as history or philosophy), as well as fields like biology and chemistry.

Faculty from the natural sciences, humanities, and social sciences serve on the Health Professions Advisory Committee (HPAC), which coordinates the program. HPAC sponsors the following activities:

- generating and disseminating data about health careers;
- staying in touch with regional health professional schools;
- advising pre-health student organizations;
- promoting student interaction with community professionals and health organizations;
- providing a forum for discussion of problems, concerns, and stresses associated with preparation for professional school;
- advising students on course selection and the value of extracurricular and experiential activities;
- interviewing and evaluating each preprofessional junior who completes the HPAP requirements; and
- writing a committee evaluation for each student who completes the HPAP requirements.

THE CURRICULUM

Medical, dental, optometry, and podiatry schools specify a fairly uniform set of entrance requirements. Prerequisites vary for veterinary medicine, physical therapy, occupational therapy, nursing, etc. Students should seek out information on individual schools of interest, and confirm entrance requirement information with the health professions program advisor.

History

African/African-American Studies

Changes effective Fall Term 2014

American StudiesChambliss Ewing Norris StromAnthropologyYaoArchaeology

The Rollins College History Department provides students with opportunities for intellectual growth, as well as skills vital for today's world. Our students achieve an understanding of the historical context of contemporary society and insight into their place in that society. Our students learn to think critically, to understand cause and effect, to observe patterns and trends, to develop inferential reasoning skills, and to appreciate multiple perspectives. Graduates of our program can research complex questions, read critically, and communicate effectively.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Eleven (11) courses are required, six (6) of which must be at the 300-400 level. Students must complete TWO (2) researching history courses at the 200 level. At the 100, 200, and 300 level, at least TWO (2) geographic areas (Latin America, Asia, Europe, and United States) must be covered.

International Relations

Changes effective Fall Term 2014

African/African-American Studies

Faculty teaching International Relations courses include members of the Humanities and Social Sciences Divisions in the College of Arts and Sciences. Please see the schedule of classes for each academic term for specific assignments.

American Studies

The international relations major asks questions about security, diplomacy, and power relations among nation-states as well as non-state actors; the nature of political life in other societies; the development of economic relationships within and between states; the historical and cultural origins of American, European, Asian, Latin American, and African countries; and requires a degree of proficiency in foreign language. International Relations majors typically graduate to careers in the foreign service, public and private sector internationally-focused organizations, or graduate and professional school.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Majors complete fourteen (14) courses in the four different academic categories of political science, history and culture, economics, and modern languages, at least half of which must be at the 300-400 level. There are four (4) required core courses (POL 130, POL 453, ECO 202, and ECO 203) of which POL 453 is the capstone taken during the last year of study. While we encourage study abroad, a maximum of five (5) transfer courses will be counted toward the major, and no more than two (2) transfer courses will be accepted in a single academic category for the major.

MODERN LANGUAGES

Two (2) courses are required in a modern language at the 200 intermediate level. The courses must be conducted in that language, with the purpose of achieving reading and conversational proficiency (courses in translation may not be counted). If either intermediate level course is waived, an appropriate 300- or 400-level course will be required.

MathematicsModern Languages and Literatures

The two-course requirement may be waived by demonstrating 'native proficiency' in a modern foreign language, as determined by the Rollins College Department of Modern Languages and Literatures (this applies to languages taught by the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures). If the language is not taught at Rollins, the two-course requirement may be waived by demonstrating a proficiency in a modern foreign language at the 'advanced' level by passing a standardized test administered by the ACTFL Testing Office. Information and application forms for these tests can be obtained from the Rollins College Department of Modern Languages and Literatures. Receiving a foreign language waiver does not reduce the total number of courses required for the international relations major (14). Students receiving such a waiver are required to take two additional courses from the lists of approved courses in international relations (political science, history, economics, and cultural area studies). The international relations major does not grant waivers, exemptions, or substitutions for the two-course foreign language requirement to students who do not have proficiency in English and at least one other modern foreign language.

HISTORY AND CULTURE

Four (4) courses are required with an area emphasis on history and culture, at least two of which must focus on the developing world. Students must confirm this developing world focus with their advisor and professor in that course.

Changes effective Fall Term 2014

Alon, A. Alon, I. Boulanger FetscherinKodzi Kupetz Lairson LewinSardy

The International Business major is grounded in the Rollins' commitment to educate students for active citizenship and ethical leadership in a global society, and to prepare graduates for productive careers. The International Business Department (INB) offers a major in International Business, a minor in International Business, a minor in Sustainable Development (in cooperation with Environmental Studies) and two dual degree programs. In the 3+2 program in cooperation with the Crummer Graduate School of Business students earn a B.A. and MBA in 5 years. The 2+2 international program offers students an opportunity to earn in 4 years a B.A. from Rollins and a B.S. from Reutlingen University in Germany.

Now that the business world is interconnected globally, students need more than a traditional business degree to compete. Students studying International Business will find a challenging curriculum integrating basic business skills with emphasis on international economics, politics, area, cultural studies and languages. Their classroom experience is enhanced by participation in an international experience and completing a globally focused business internship.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Requirements for the International Business major are: 16 courses, including eight (8) core International Business courses, an international business internship, two (2) International Business electives, five (5) foreign language and area studies courses, and an international experience.

RESIDENCY AND DISTRIBUTION

INB majors must take all core courses at Rollins (except for courses taken by transfer students prior to admission to Rollins). INB200 and all 300 & 400 level courses in the major must be taken in INB department.

INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS CORE COURSES

- INB 200 Introduction to International Business
- INB 230 International Financial and Managerial Accounting
- INB 233/ECO 233 Economics for International Business
- INB 236 Statistics for International Business
- INB 337 International Marketing Management
- INB 365 International Operations & MIS
- INB 372 International Financial Management
- INB 397 International Business Internship
- INB 450 Global Business Strategy

INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS ELECTIVES

Students may satisfy this requirement by taking at least two (2) of the following courses; at least one (1) must be at the 300-400 level.

- INB 201 Technology and Global Business
- INB 214 Global Business of Sport
- INB 215 The Global Entertainment Business
- INB 225 Sustainable Business Practices
- INB 290 Special Topics in International Business
- INB 302 Green & Social Marketing
- INB 300 International Business Operations
- INB 311 Asian Business Environment
- INB 313 Australian Business Environment
- INB 315 Business and Economic Development in Modern China
- INB 320 Global Development: Challenges & Opportunities
- INB 338 Global Consumer Behavior
- INB 340 Globalization and Gender
- INB 342 International Human Resource Management
- INB 345 International Management & Leadership
- INB 347 International Advertising
- INB 350 Managing Information Systems
- INB 363 Global e-Business
- INB 373 International Investments
- INB 374 Computational Finance
- INB 377 International Real Estate
- INB 380 Global Brand Management
- INB 385 Global Franchising
- INB 390 Special Topics in International Business

INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS INTERNSHIP

INB majors are required to complete an internship (INB 397). INB majors may satisfy this requirement by (a) participating in a Rollins International Internship program (e.g., London, Spain, Costa Rica, China, and Australia), (b) a summer internship abroad, or (c) a local internship with a reflection paper on some aspect of international business. Students register for internships through the Office of Career Services.

Studies*Marine Biology*Mathematics*Modern Languages and Literatures*Music*Neuroscience*Philosophy and Religion*Physics*Physical Education*Political Science*Psychology*Sexuality, Women's, and Gender Studies*Sociology*Sustainable Development and the Environment*Theatre Arts and Dance*Public Policy

INTERNATIONAL EXPERIENCE

INB majors are required to have a direct international experience. This requirement may be satisfied by (a) participating in a Rollins semester abroad program, (b) participating in an INB approved Rollins study abroad course, (c) by experience as an international student studying in the U.S., or (d) by extensive experience living or working abroad at age 16 or older. Students should document their international experience and provide supporting evidence and an essay describing their experience. The department chair will determine whether or not the international experience satisfies the requirements for the INB major.

LANGUAGE and AREA STUDIES (5 courses): Proficiency in English and at least one (1) modern foreign language are essential for a successful career in international business. To accommodate students with different learning styles and needs, the foreign language and area studies requirement of five courses may be satisfied in a number of ways. Choose one (1) of the following:

1. Students can compete five (5) courses in language/area studies, with at least one language at the 300 level and at least one area studies course at the 300 level.
2. Students may satisfy this requirement by declaring and completing one (1) of the following majors/minors: French, German, Russian, Spanish.
3. Students may satisfy this requirement by declaring and completing one (1) of the following majors/minors: Asian Studies, Australian Studies, Latin American and Caribbean Studies, Middle Eastern & North African Studies, and Sustainable Development as long as INB language requirement of at least one (1) language course at 300 level is satisfied. Department of Modern Languages at Rollins offers 300 level courses in Chinese, French, German, Russian, and Spanish.
4. The foreign language requirement may be waived by demonstrating 'native proficiency' in a modern foreign language as determined by the Rollins College Department of Modern Languages and Literatures or by passing a standardized test administered by the ACTFL Testing Office. Contact INB Department Chair for more information.

Receiving a foreign language waiver does not reduce the total number of courses required for the International Business major. Students receiving such a waiver are required to take five (5) area studies or other language courses with at least two (2) at the 300-400 level.

Language and Area Studies Courses

- All courses offered at the 200 level and above by the Department of Modern Languages, including CHN, EUR, FRN, GMN, HBR, JPN, RSN, & SPN courses count as area studies or language

INB 101 Controversial Issues in International Business: Examines current issues in international business (such as wealth, progress, poverty, income inequity, economic development, social responsibility, cultural sensitivity, corruption, ecological efficiency, sustainable development, and worker exploitation) from a variety of perspectives. Students will learn to analyze fact, value, and policy issues using a variety of critical thinking tools.

INB 102 Meaningful Life and Productive Career: Explores personal values and career options in international business and explores the constructs of a meaningful life. Teaches skills necessary to manage career trajectory over a lifetime of changes.

INB 200 Introduction to International Business: Introduces basic concepts and examines key forces impacting international business. Examines global, political, economic, cultural, legal, demographic, geographic, and historical processes to understand how the world economy functions. Discusses international institutions, country market evaluations, foreign direct investment, the multinational company and its functions (organizational behavior, finance, marketing, operations), as well as the ethical environment of global business.

INB 201 Technology and Global Business: Examines technologies important to the competitive operations of global businesses. Technologies such as business software applications, Internet, multimedia, videogames, databases, web services, wireless, and global telecommunications will be understood in relation to their effect on global business.

INB 214 Global Business of Sport: Creates awareness of the magnitude of global expansion and development of sport, and provides familiarity with the principal "players" (firms and organizations) on the global scene, major issues in global sports, and business opportunities that are created internationally. Underlying focus on contrasts between the U.S. sport industry and foreign markets.

INB 215 The Global Entertainment Business: Introduces students to the business side of the multifaceted world of entertainment, including the areas of film, theater, music, and theme parks. Covers the economics, finance, management, and marketing of the industry in addition to current business issues. There may be periodic visits from industry professionals.

INB 225 Sustainable Business Practices: Recognizing the need to manage natural resources more responsibly, international firms have adopted sustainable strategies for resource acquisition and use (known as "Green Management"). Using case studies, this course explores such strategies from a managerial perspective.

INB 230 International Financial and Managerial Accounting: User-based accounting course for students who will become tomorrow's managers, investors, and other business stakeholders. The course surveys international financial and managerial accounting topics emphasizing the analysis of financial statements and managerial decision techniques. Prerequisite: INB 200.

INB 233/ECO 233 Economics for International Business: Introduces micro and macro-economic theory and research as they apply to international business. Examines the economic tools and concepts used to explain, evaluate, predict, and address key problems in international business. Prerequisite: INB 200.

INB 236 Statistics for International Business: Covers many areas of basic statistics with applications to international business. Covers descriptive statistics, probability, and inferential statistics. Includes measures of central tendency, dispersion, skewness, probability distributions, interval estimation, hypothesis testing, correlation, regression, and multiple regression. Prerequisite: INB 200.

INB 268 International Social Entrepreneurship: Introduces students to the different types of socially entrepreneurial businesses. Covers modes of entry, how to develop entrepreneurial organizations and how to sustain a business that does well while doing good.

INB 290 Special Topics in International Business: Deals with significant economic, political, social, and ethical problems facing global businesses. Conducted as a seminar with discussion based on current journal articles. Prerequisite: INB 200.

INB 300 International Business Operations: The day-to-day creation of value occurs through the integrated production and distribution of goods, services, and information (from acquisition of materials through production to distribution of products, services, and information). Discusses all major international business functions. Prerequisites: INB 200 and INB 230.

INB 302 Green and Social Marketing: Focuses on green or environmental marketing and social marketing. Green marketing is marketing products that are environmentally safe. Social marketing combines marketing practices and social policy to influence social behaviors benefiting general society (social good). Prerequisite: INB 200.

INB 311 Asian Business Environment: Examines the nature and development of capitalism in Asia and the problems and issues involved in conducting business in Asia. Uses case studies to investigate how differences in cultures and business practices affect international business; special institutions in Asia; entry strategies by transnational firms; the differences in economic and political circumstances across Asia; and future economic prospects for Asia. Prerequisites: INB 200 or junior standing.

INB 313 Australian Business Environment: Collaborative learning seminar exploring the unique aspects of Australia's free enterprise system. Addresses key aspects of the Australian business environment, Australia's competitive situation, issues currently confronting Australia, and the future of the Australian business system. Prerequisites: INB 200 or junior standing.

INB 315 Business and Economic Development in Modern China: Acquaints students with the issues, problems, and challenges to successfully conduct business, make investment decisions, and/or pursue management careers across national borders in general and in China in particular. Prerequisite: INB 200.

INB 320 Global Development: Challenges & Opportunities. Explores theories, measurement, and various dimensions of economic development, scrutinizes key challenges faced by developing countries, and examines public, private, and non-governmental strategies to address these problems. Prerequisite: INB 233

INB 337 International Marketing Management: Examines strategic marketing and market entry decisions in the context of dynamic global, regional, and country market forces. Emphasizes how international marketers standardize and adapt product/service, pricing, channel, and communication strategies to meet target market needs and company objectives. Students will develop a comprehensive international marketing plan for a specified product or service. Prerequisites: INB 233, INB 236.

INB 338 Global Consumer Behavior: Explores, compares, and applies diverse perspectives to interdisciplinary and multicultural study of consumer behavior. Emphasizes analysis and design of effective marketing strategies to foster and fulfill target market demand across international borders. Prerequisites: INB 233, INB 236.

INB 342 International Human Resource Management: Examines approaches to human resource management (HRM) and implications for competitiveness, standards of living, and quality of life. Topics include competitive advantages, core competencies, HR roles and responsibilities, employee rights, employee relations, employee performance, motivation, communication, recruitment, selection, retention, training, compensation, and evaluation. Taught from a comparative HRM perspective using a variety of case studies. Prerequisite: INB 200.

INB 345 International Management & Leadership: A study of international management theories, concepts, and applications. Focuses on managing international projects and the individual, group, and organizational dynamics involved in managing international project teams. Addresses the creation of value through the integrated management of people, information, structures, operations, and relationships. Prerequisites: INB 233, INB 236.

INB 347 International Advertising: Examines international marketing communication, advertising, publicity, and promotion. Considers management of the process and effects on consumer behavior. Focuses on current issues in international marketing communications. Prerequisites: INB 233, INB 236.

INB 350 Managing Information Systems: The combination of powerful technology developments and global business opportunities has led to the creation of new organizational forms and new challenges in managing them. We call these new organizational forms, "the digital firm," to emphasize that every aspect of the firm is touched and potentially transformed by technology and systems like the internet, mobile phones, or Skype. This course includes topics such as why IT/IS matters, how they can provide a competitive advantage to firms, data and knowledge management, internet and security, electronic commerce, intra- and extranets, enterprise systems and information systems ethics and computer crime. Prerequisites: INB 233, INB 236.

INB 363 Global e-Business: Examines the development of and future prospects for electronic business. Focuses on the technology of e-business and the business models and strategies adopted by firms for the "new economy." Emphasis is given to detailed case studies of a variety of firms, global e-commerce, marketing, supply chains, networks, innovation, customer relationship management, and future developments in e-commerce. Prerequisites: INB 233, INB 236.

INB 365 International Operations & MIS: Examines the competitive transformation of an organization's inputs into the products and services that customers value. The focus is on achieving the optimal configuration of production and information systems that different organizations need to be successful in an international context. Prerequisites: INB 233, INB 236.

INB 366 Global Impact Investing: Introduces students to a spectrum of global impact investing: philanthropic, social entrepreneurs and large firms. Methods of assessing impact will give students hands on experience with impact investing.

INB 367 International Financial Statement Analysis: Introduces students to the different types of financial statement analysis across borders. Covers ways of analyzing these statements to better understand the operations of the firm. Prerequisite: INB 230.

INB 372 International Financial Management: Introduces theory and practice of international finance. Topics include global monetary system, international currency exchanges, capital mobility, central banks, and financial aspects of international trade theory, foreign direct investments, regional economic integration, and specialized institutions (i.e., International Monetary Fund - IMF). Prerequisites: INB 230; INB 233, INB 236.

INB 373 International Investments: Exposes students to theory and techniques used for solving many different investment problems. Problem solving skills will involve spreadsheet modeling, portfolio, asset, and derivative analysis in a global environment. Prerequisite: INB 233, INB 236.

INB 374 Computational Finance: Exposes students to theory and methods used for solving many different problems in areas of finance and investments. Problem solving skills will involve spreadsheet modeling and elements of visual basic programming. Prerequisite: INB 230.

INB 377 International Real Estate: From a value perspective the course addresses significant economic, financial, social, and ethical problems in global real estate. We investigate investment opportunities including commercial and residential development, financing, operations, and ownership. Prerequisites: INB 230, INB 233.

INB 380 Global Brand Management: Brand management is organized around the product and management decisions that must be made to build, measure, and manage brand equity. Objectives are: 1) to increase understanding of the important issues in planning and evaluating brand strategies and 2) to provide the appropriate theories, models, and research tools to make better branding decisions. Course covers the role of brands, the concepts of brand equity, ways to build and measure brand equity, and how to implement a brand measurement system. Prerequisites: INB 233, INB 236.

INB 385 Global Franchising: Examines franchising from both macro- country/society -- and micro- franchisor/franchisee -- perspectives, including the franchising decision, international, master, and micro franchising; and rules of globalization and culture in franchising. Prerequisite: INB 200.

INB 390 Special Topics in International Business: Deals with significant economic, political, social, and ethical problems facing global businesses. Conducted as a seminar with discussion based on current journal articles. Prerequisites: INB 200 and junior standing.

INB 397 International Business Internship: Designed to provide students with carefully monitored work or service experience in international business environments. Students may choose internships from a list of opportunities generated by Career Services or they may develop their own internships (within College guidelines). Prerequisites: Completed one 300 level INB core course.

INB 450 Global Business Strategy: Examines the process, problems, and consequences of creating, implementing, and evaluating business strategy on a global scale. Discusses how the political, economic, social, technological, ecological, and legal environments affect the business functions, including finance/accounting, marketing, human resources/organizational behavior, and ethical behaviors of the company. The course will attempt to use experiential learning, including case studies, simulations and/or "live cases" and engage students in formal presentations, situational analysis, formulation of objectives and strategies, implementation of action plans, and evaluation of results. Prerequisites: INB 337, INB 365, INB 372.

The Latin American and Caribbean Studies (LACS) program is a holistic and interdisciplinary field of study that explores, among other themes, the diverse cultures, history, ideologies, languages, literatures, natural environment and political economy of Latin America and the Caribbean as well as the challenges facing this critical region in the twenty-first century. Latin America and the Caribbean are important in a local and national sense because of the region's many connections to Florida and the United States. Latin America and the Caribbean are also critical in a global sense because of the region's rising economic and geopolitical significance.

The program is designed to educate students for global citizenship and responsible leadership, and to prepare graduates for productive careers in business, government, and other professions. Students majoring in Latin American and Caribbean Studies are expected to:

- Demonstrate a breadth and depth of knowledge of the forces that have shaped the region of Latin America and the Caribbean.
- Learn to think critically about a region that is deeply connected to but also distinct from (North) American society.
- Achieve competence in Spanish, Portuguese or French.

Students are encouraged to experience cultural immersion by participating in one of Rollins' overseas programs to the region.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Ten (10) courses (40 semester hours) are required. At least seven (7) of these courses must be completed at Rollins and five (5) must be at the 300-400 level. The major consists of two core courses, at least one advanced course in modern languages, three divisional courses, and four elective courses (or sixteen semester hours in any combination). No more than five (5) courses taken to fulfill requirements in another major or minor from the departments listed below, and with a concentration on Latin America or the Caribbean, may count toward meeting the requirements of the major in Latin American and Caribbean Studies; these must be approved by the LACS Director.

CORE COURSES (two courses required)

- LAC 200 Foundations of Latin American and Caribbean Culture and Society
- LAC 400 Seminar in Latin American and Caribbean Studies (capstone seminar)

FOREIGN LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT (one course required)

- Modern Languages (300- or 400-level, Spanish, French, or Portuguese)

All Latin American and Caribbean Studies majors are required to take one (1) course in Spanish, French, or Portuguese at the 300- or 400-level, including those students who have native proficiency. Students may find that they need to take courses at the 100-200 level in preparation to enroll in the required 300-400 level courses. Students wishing to fulfill the foreign language requirement through courses in French or Portuguese should consult with the LACS Director regarding appropriate selections. Students wishing to fulfill the foreign language requirement through courses in Spanish should select from the following list.

- SPN 302 Spanish for Advanced Communication
- SPN 303 Business Spanish for Non-Native Speakers
- SPN 322 Peoples and Cultures of Latin America
- SPN 330 U.S. Latino Literature: Writings from Migration and Exile
- SPN 332 Colonial Spanish Literature: Language and Empire
- SPN 334 Latin American Identity in Literature
- SPN 336 Latin American Short Fiction: Telling Stories
- SPN 337 Performing Identity: Hispanic Theatre Today
- SPN 338 Race, Class, and Gender in Latin American Literature: Voices from the Margins
- SPN 340 Hispanic Caribbean Literature: Culture Clash
- SPN 342 Latin American Film
- SPN 344 CSI in Latin America: Crime, Family Ties, and National Politics
- SPN 432 Twentieth Century Latin American Literature: Revolution and Experimentation

Students who do not have "native proficiency" in Spanish, as determined by the Spanish section of the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures, will be required to take additional courses that are prerequisites to the 300-400 level Spanish courses. According to different levels of preparation and previous courses, students will need to complete a minimum of one (1) and a maximum of five (5) Spanish courses before taking a 300-level course.

In order to take a 300-level course in Spanish, students must complete the following:

Studies

- two (2) SPN 200-level courses OR
- one (1) SPN 200-level course and obtain signed consent from professor. (Consent is usually granted with a grade 'B+' or higher in the lower-level course.)

Marine Biology

Students may complete some or all of the 100-200 level Spanish courses through immersion programs abroad (in Spain or Latin America) taught entirely in Spanish. The one (1) 300-level course should be taken at Rollins or at a Rollins-affiliated program.

Mathematics

DIVISIONAL COURSES (three courses required)

- Three (3) courses chosen from three (3) different disciplines, anthropology, economics, environmental studies, history, international business, political science, and humanities (as approved by the LACS Director, are required.)

Modern Languages and Literatures

Music

ANTHROPOLOGY COURSES

- Spanish, French, or Portuguese (300- or 400-level)

Latin American and Caribbean Studies minors may take courses in Spanish, French, or Portuguese at the 300- or 400-level as electives in the minor. Students may find that they need to take courses at the 100-200 level in preparation to enroll in the required 300-400 level course. Students wishing to fulfill the foreign language requirement through courses in French or Portuguese should consult with the LACS Director regarding appropriate selections. Students wishing to fulfill the foreign language requirement through a course in Spanish should select from the following list.

- SPN 290 Introduction to Hispanic Literature (prerequisite: 200-level SPN)
- SPN 302 Spanish for Advanced Communication
- SPN 303 Business Spanish for Non-Native Speakers
- SPN 322 Peoples and Cultures of Latin America
- SPN 330 U.S. Latino Literature: Writings from Migration and Exile
- SPN 332 Colonial Spanish Literature: Language and Empire
- SPN 334 Latin American Identity in Literature
- SPN 336 Latin American Short Fiction: Telling Stories
- SPN 337 Performing Identity: Hispanic Theatre Today
- SPN 338 Race, Class, and Gender in Latin American Literature: Voices from the Margins
- SPN 340 Hispanic Caribbean Literature: Culture Clash
- SPN 342 Latin American Film
- SPN 344 CSI in Latin America: Crime, Family Ties, and National Politics
- SPN 432 Twentieth Century Latin American Literature: Revolution and Experimentation

Students who do not have "native proficiency" in Spanish, as determined by the Spanish section of the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures, will be required to take additional courses that are prerequisites to the 300-400 level Spanish courses. According to different levels of preparation and previous courses, students will need to complete a minimum of one (1) and a maximum of five (5) Spanish courses before taking a 300-level course.

In order to take a 300-level course in Spanish, students must complete the following:

- two (2) SPN 200-level courses OR
- one (1) SPN 200-level course and obtain signed consent from professor. (Consent is usually granted with a grade 'B+' or higher in the lower-level course.)

Students may complete some or all of the 100-200 level Spanish courses through immersion programs abroad (in Spain or Latin America) taught entirely in Spanish. The one (1) 300-level course should be taken at Rollins or at a Rollins-affiliated program.

HUMANITIES COURSES

- A course on Latin America or the Caribbean as approved by the Latin American and Caribbean Studies Steering Committee
- MUS 225 Political Music of Latin America
- MUS 260 Music of Brazil and Caribbean

INTERNATIONAL FIELD STUDY COURSES

- International field study courses in Latin American or the Caribbean
- Study abroad courses approved by the LACS Director

Course of Study

LAC 200 Foundations of Latin America and Caribbean Culture & Society. Surveys Latin American and Caribbean history, anthropology, and literature. Addresses the region's prehistory, colonialism, slavery, kinship, music, dance, race and identity, tourism, transnational encounters, and globalization.

LAC 325 Women in Latin America: Explores women's experience in Latin America as they negotiate their lives within a context of constraints and opportunities that range from how they conceive of themselves, to their status and role within the family and community, to global influences. Prerequisite: one ANT, LAC, or international relations course.

LAC 400 Seminar in Latin American and Caribbean Studies: Highlights research on contemporary problems. May delve into health of institutions in light of economic development (and underdevelopment); revolution and radicalization of masses; overpopulation, land scarcity, and hunger; human rights; role of elite in social and political life; social activism of the Catholic Church; and today's revolutions. Taught in English. Prerequisites: second-semester junior or senior standing and LAC 200.

Effective Fall Term 2013

Engstrom Fokidis Gregory HarperKlemann Pieczynski Schmalstig SegarraStephenson Sutherland Walsh Young

The major in marine biology provides students with a broad understanding of the basic biological and ecological principles as they relate to the marine ecosystems. Core courses will expose students to the discovery nature of science and educate them in their roles as global citizens in preserving the health of the marine environment. The major prepares students to enter careers and advanced studies in biological research, environmental science, and conservation.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Thirteen (13) courses are required: eight (8) core marine biology courses, three (3) core chemistry courses, one (1) biology elective course, one (1) approved field experience in marine biology, and satisfactory performance on a comprehensive standard exam. At least eight (8) of the thirteen (13) courses required for the marine biology major must be taken at Rollins College or as part of a Rollins-sanctioned program. Of these eight (8), at least five (5) must be BIO prefix courses beyond BIO 120/121. Students may not simultaneously major or minor in marine biology and biology. Students MAY simultaneously major or minor in marine biology and biochemistry/molecular biology.

CORE BIOLOGY COURSES (eight courses)

- BIO 120 General Biology I
- BIO 121 General Biology II
- BIO 210 Introduction to Marine Science
- One course in marine organisms
  - BIO 211 Marine Botany
  - BIO 236 Invertebrate Zoology
  - BIO 237 Vertebrate Zoology
  - BIO 240 Biology of Fishes
- One course in molecular biology/genetics
  - BIO 308 Genetics
  - BIO 341 Molecular Biology
- BIO 316 Ecology
- BIO 335 Marine Biology
- BIO 435 Senior Seminar in Marine Biology OR approved BIO 499 in Marine Biology

FIELD STUDY REQUIREMENT

An approved field experience in marine biology is required and may be satisfied by one of the following.

- BIO 388 Marine Biology Laboratory (prerequisite BIO 210 Introduction to Marine Sciences) OR
- One (1) semester in residence at an approved marine field station OR
- One approved marine field course at the 300-level or above

CORE PHYSICAL SCIENCE COURSES

- CHM 120 General Chemistry I
- CHM 121 General Chemistry II
- CHM 220 Organic Chemistry I

BIOLOGY ELECTIVE

Six (6) semester hours.

Any biology course above BIO 210. Courses from the core groupings, other than those used to fulfill the core requirements, may be used to satisfy the requirement. One (1) Biology internship (BIO 396) may be used as an elective. The course(s) used to fulfill the biology elective for the Marine Biology major may not be used to satisfy the requirements of other majors.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Students preparing for graduate programs in Marine Biology, Biology, or Professional schools in health-related areas such as medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, or pharmacy require a thorough introduction to physics and calculus. Therefore, they are advised to take CHM 221, PHY 120/130 and PHY 121/131, a calculus course and a statistics course.

One of the distinguishing characteristics of the Department of Mathematics and Computer Science is its commitment to quality teaching, which promotes active learning on the part of students. Faculty work closely with students to ensure that each has a successful educational experience. To this end, the department has been involved in the calculus reform movement since its beginnings and, as a result, nonlecture methods, coupled with technology, are used in many classes.

The Rollins mathematics curriculum is flexible enough to prepare a major for a wide choice of career options, such as graduate work in pure or applied mathematics, statistics, economics, secondary education, actuarial science, government, industry, or law school.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Fourteen (14) courses are required: ten (10) core courses and four (4) electives.

CORE COURSES

- MAT 111 Calculus I
- MAT 112 Calculus II
- MAT 140 Introduction to Discrete Mathematics
- MAT 211 Calculus III
- MAT 219 Probability and Statistics
- MAT 230 Linear Algebra
- MAT 330 Proof and Abstraction
- MAT 455 Real Analysis OR MAT 475 Abstract Algebra I
- MAT 485 Senior Seminar in Mathematics
- CMS 167A/167B Introduction to Computing

ELECTIVES

Four (4) additional courses in mathematics: two (2) at or above the 300 level and two (2) at the 400 level.

TYPICAL SCHEDULE

There are a variety of ways in which students interested in mathematics can complete the major. However, by the end of the junior year, majors should complete all core courses numbered 330 or below and have taken one elective. This will leave MAT 455/475, MAT 485, and three electives for the senior year.

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

Eight (8) courses from the major requirements, excluding MAT 485.

Course of Study

MAT 103 Quantitative Reasoning: Covers collection of data and analysis of everyday quantitative information using spreadsheets or statistical packages. Touches upon population vs. sample, parameter vs. statistic, variable type, graphs, measures of center and variation, regression analysis, and hypothesis testing.

MAT 106 Geometry for Teachers: Explores fundamental concepts of Euclidean geometry, transformational geometry, and graph theory, including area, volume, and scaling; polygons, polyhedra, and angles; and circles, spheres, and symmetry.

MAT 107 Mathematics for Teachers: Explores areas of mathematics of importance to elementary school teachers. Emphasis on developing students' ability to solve problems in the areas of set theory, number theory, algebra, and geometry.

MAT 108 Essential Math: Basic mathematical competency course required for Rollins Plan students. Covers displaying and describing data; functions including linear, exponential and multivariable; linear regression and correlation; and basic probability. Prerequisite: high school Algebra II. Co-requisite: MAT 108L

MAT 108L Essential Math Lab: Develops proficiency in the use of spreadsheets to prepare students for MAT 108. Topics include formulas, charts and graphs, autofill, tables and pivot tables, and sorting. Co-requisite: MAT 108.

MAT 109 Precalculus Mathematics: Discusses function, including behavior and properties of elementary functions -- polynomial, rational, exponential, and trigonometric. Stresses understanding of graphs through use of graphing calculator. Requires review of algebra but no use of calculus. Prepares students for MAT 110 and MAT 111.

MAT 110 Applied Calculus: Applies concept of derivative to economics, business, and life sciences. Includes partial differentiation with applications. Prerequisite: MAT 109 or consent. Not open to students with credit in MAT 111.

MAT 111 Calculus I: Investigates functions using fundamentals of calculus: limit, derivative, and integral. Uses current technology to support graphical, numeric, and symbolic approaches. Prerequisite: high school precalculus or equivalent.

MAT 112 Calculus II: Emphasizes applications of integrals, methods of integration, power series, and differential equations in the continuing investigation of functions. Prerequisite: MAT 111.

| Studies                                     | MAT 140 Introduction to Discrete Mathematics: Provides the foundation essential for sound mathematical reasoning and computer science. Topics include, but are not restricted to, propositional and predicate logic; proof strategies and induction; sets, functions, and recursion; elementary counting techniques; and number systems.  |
| Marine Biology                              | MAT 201 Mathematics of Gaming: Uncovers the mathematics behind games of chance. Students will learn probability theory and statistical methods through the study of such games as roulette, craps, backgammon, poker, and blackjack. Suitable for nonmajors. Prerequisite: sophomore, junior, or senior standing.  |
| Mathematics                                 | MAT 211 Calculus III: Follows MAT 112 . Explores vectors, directional derivatives, and gradient; functions of several variables; partial derivatives and applications; multiple integrals; and other coordinate systems. Prerequisite: MAT 112 .   |
| Modern Languages and Literatures            | MAT 219 Probability and Statistics: Delves into sample spaces, conditional probability, random variables, expectations and distributions, moment-generating functions, central-limit theorem, and introduction to estimation, confidence intervals, and hypothesis testing. Prerequisites: MAT 112 or MAT 140 .  |
| Music                                       | MAT 230 Linear Algebra: Highlights connections between matrices and systems of equations. Uses technology extensively to examine Euclidean $n$ -space, linear independence, spanning, bases, Gaussian elimination, matrix algebra, determinants, eigen values and eigenvectors, and Gram-Schmidt orthogonalization. Prerequisite: MAT 111 or CMS 167A/167B .   |
| Neuroscience                                | MAT 301 Non-Euclidean Geometry: Delves into the realms of Euclidean and Non-Euclidean geometries. Studies finite geometries, neutral geometry, Euclidean geometry, and hyperbolic geometry. Prerequisite: one 200-level MAT course.   |
| Philosophy and Religion                     | MAT 305 Ordinary Differential Equations: Examines first-order equations and theory of linear differential equations: series solutions, systems of linear differential equations, and basic boundary-value problems and eigen values. Prerequisite: MAT 112 .  |
| Physics                                     | MAT 310 Applied Discrete Mathematics: Builds on the foundation established in Introduction to Discrete Mathematics . Topics include, but are not restricted to, combinatorics and graph theory, Boolean algebra, digital logic circuits, functional programming, models of computation, and computational complexity. Prerequisite: MAT 140 .  |
| Physical Education                          | MAT 320 Math Methods for Physical Sciences I: Covers series expansions, complex numbers, linear algebra, and multi-variable calculus. Prerequisite: MAT 112 or equivalent preparation.  |
| Political Science                           | MAT 330 Proof and Abstraction: Studies logic (including quantifiers) as well as sets, relations (including equivalence and order relations), functions (1-1, onto), and induction. Students test conjectures, write proofs, and provide counterexamples. Prerequisite: MAT 140 or MAT 230 .  |
| Psychology                                  | MAT 340 Models and Algorithms in Graph Theory: An applications-oriented course in graph theory. Topics include properties and representations of graphs, models, trees, connectivity, and traversal and graph-coloring algorithms. Applications are likely to include Chinese-Postman, Traveling-Salesman, software-testing, and time tabling. Prerequisite: MAT 140 .  |
| Sexuality, Women's, and Gender Studies      | MAT 350 Actuarial Mathematics. Introductory course in actuarial mathematics. An actuary is a professional who measures and analyzes the financial cost of risk. Describes and discusses the concepts and techniques used in interest rate theory and financial modeling. Students will gain expertise in interest rates and factors, level annuities and varying annuities, financial instruments, and stochastic interest rates. Prerequisite: MAT 112 . |
| Sociology                                   | MAT 370 Mathematical Statistics I: Introduces random variables, moment-generating functions, functions of random variables, limit laws, point estimations and statistical inference, tests of hypotheses, and interval estimation. Uses commercial statistical packages. Prerequisites: MAT 211 and MAT 219 .  |
| Sustainable Development and the Environment | MAT 390/490 Topics in Mathematics: An intensive introduction to a specialized area of mathematics. Prerequisite: for MAT 390 , MAT 140 or 230 ; for MAT 490 , MAT 305 .   |
| Theatre Arts and Dance                      | MAT 398 Directed Study: Supervises individual study on such advanced topics as differential equations, linear programming, game theory, probability and statistics, and model theory. May be repeated for credit.   |
| Public Policy                               | MAT 410 Pure and Applied Graph Theory: Topics include connectivity, traversals, network flow, and colorings, with balance given to theoretical aspects and their application to various areas in computer science, operations research, science, and engineering. Prerequisites: MAT 140 and any 300-level MAT course.   |
|   | MAT 419 Probabilistic Methods in Operations Research: Applications-oriented operations research course that introduces a variety of probability models and solution methods to solve a broad range of real-world problems in science, financial engineering, economics, and management science. Prerequisites: MAT 219 and one 300- or 400-level MAT course.  |
|   | MAT 440 Coding Theory: Investigates means of encoding information in such a way as to be able to detect and/or correct transmission errors efficiently. Prerequisite: MAT 330 .   |
|   | MAT 450 Mathematical Modeling: Emphasizes creation of mathematical models representing real-world situations and use of models to formulate reasonable solutions to problems. Explores concepts from graph theory, probability, linear algebra, and differential equations. Prerequisites: MAT 140 , MAT 219 , MAT 230 , and MAT 305 .   |
|   | MAT 455 Real Analysis: Examines structure of real numbers, including completeness, topological properties, limits of sequences, continuity, uniform continuity, boundedness, and derivatives. Students write proofs and produce counterexamples. Prerequisites: MAT 112 and MAT 330 .  |
|   | MAT 460 Complex Analysis: A rigorous study of the functions of a complex variable. Topics include complex derivatives, contour integrals, series representations of analytic functions, residues, and some applications. Prerequisites: MAT 112 and MAT 330 .  |
|   | MAT 470 Mathematical Statistics II: Continues Mathematical Statistics I with ranking and selection procedures, decision theory, nonparametric statistical inference, regression and linear statistical inference, multivariate analysis, and time-series analysis. Uses commercial statistical packages. Prerequisites: MAT 230 and MAT 370 .  |
|   | MAT 475 Abstract Algebra I: Acquaints students with large collection of groups and with Cayley's theorem, Lagrange's theorem, and fundamental homomorphism theorem. Emphasizes production of accurate, concise proofs. Prerequisite: MAT 330 .  |
|   | MAT 485 Senior Seminar in Mathematics: Requires students to prepare, deliver, and evaluate oral presentations based on their readings of mathematical literature. Prerequisite: one 400-level MAT course or consent.  |
|   | MAT 499 Independent Study: Covers selected topics in mathematics. May be repeated for credit.   |

Middle Eastern and North African Studies (minor only)

Changes effective Fall Term 2012

Faculty teaching Middle Eastern and North African Studies include members of the Humanities and Social Sciences Divisions in the College of Arts and Sciences. Please see the schedule of classes for each academic term for specific assignments.

Nationwide, there has been an increased interest in the Middle East and North Africa, a region not well understood by most Americans. The minor in Middle Eastern and North African (MENA) Studies offers a thorough survey of the cultures, politics, and religions of the region throughout history, with a strong focus on the contemporary period. Short-term or semester-long field studies are also encouraged, with students in recent years electing to spend time studying in Morocco, Jordan, and Israel.

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

Six (6) courses are required: two (2) core courses and four (4) electives.

CORE COURSES

- ANT 255 - Middle East Culture
- POL 304 - Middle East Politics

ELECTIVES

Choose four (4) courses listed in the schedule of classes as MENA electives that meet the following criteria.

- No more than two (2) language courses may count toward the minor
- No more than three (3) courses may be taken from any one department
- At least one elective must be at the 300-level or above
- Courses taken during semester-long field studies at universities in the Middle East and North Africa may also serve as electives, to be approved on a case-by-case basis

ELECTIVE COURSES

- ARA 101 Elementary Arabic I
- ARA 102 Elementary Arabic II
- ARA 201 Intermediate Arabic I
- ARA 202 Intermediate Arabic II
- ANT 277 Women & Gender in the Middle East and North Africa
- ARH 218 Archaeology of Egypt and the Near East
- FRN 320 Introduction à la civilization maghrébine
- HBR 101/102 Elementary Hebrew
- HBR 201 Intermediate Hebrew
- PHI 205 Middle Eastern Humanities
- POL 306 Muslims in Western Politics
- POL 307 Islam and Politics
- REL 125 Hebrew Bible (Old Testament)
- REL 217 Jewish Life and Thought
- REL 219 Islam: Religion and Society
- REL 223 Contemporary Jewish Literature and Film
- REL 228 Women and Religion
- REL 304 Jerusalem
- REL 351X Religion and Popular Culture

Course of Study

CORE COURSES

ANT 255 Middle East Culture: Explores everyday lives of people in the Middle East as they negotiate the challenges of globalization, new media, human rights discourses, religion, and the legacy of colonialism.

POL 304 Middle East Politics: Explores the politics of the Middle East and various approaches for analyzing its regional and international issues such as U.S. foreign policy in the region.

ELECTIVE COURSES

ANT 277 Women and Gender in the Middle East and North Africa: Explores the concept of gender in the Middle East and North Africa from an anthropological perspective. Examines how religion, cultural practices, media, politics, and social class affect men's and women's roles in work, family, and society.

ANT 305 Middle Eastern Culture and Film: Uses film as a lens through which we can understand Middle Eastern Cultures.

ANT 377 Morocco: Culture and Society: Seminar focused on Morocco's history and culture, as well as its position as a developing nation.

STUDY ABROAD

Qualified Rollins students may participate in foreign study programs by:

- applying for admission to a foreign university;
- applying for admission to an approved foreign-study program administered by another U.S. college, university, or consortium; or
- participating in Rollins College's own overseas programs. Rollins offers a summer and semester program in Spain and occasional programs in places like Russia, Germany, and France.

Students who choose either of the first two options must complete request-for-study-abroad forms available at the Office of International Programs. With approval of the department, courses in accredited academic programs abroad may count toward a language major, if taken in the foreign language.

Rollins in Asturias

Rollins College offers an opportunity to study at the University of Oviedo, Asturias (Spain), for an academic year or a semester. The "Language and Culture Program" is offered in both fall and spring semesters and provides an intensive, in-depth experience in Spanish language, culture, and society, designed for intermediate to advanced students of Spanish who are eager to improve or achieve proficiency in their language skills. The "Direct Enrollment Program" is offered for the academic year or spring semester. It is for advanced or native speakers who want to take university courses in their major field of study. A third option allows students to combine the two programs.

Rollins students who are majoring in Spanish may apply up to three of their courses in Oviedo. Rollins students minoring in Spanish may apply up to two of their courses in Oviedo.

Verano Español

Rollins also offers a summer program in Spain, "Verano Español." This four- to six-week program is designed for students at all levels of language proficiency who want to experience a total immersion in Spanish language. Instructor's consent is required.

Rollins students who are majoring or minoring in Spanish may apply up to two "Verano" courses.

The Virginia S. and W.W. Nelson Department of Music began as a conservatory of music even before the college's founding in 1885. The program is a charter member -- since 1931 -- of the National Association of Schools of Music, whose curricula guide the baccalaureate offerings.

Since the conservatory's restructuring as a liberal arts department in 1966, Rollins has continued to enjoy a reputation as one of the finest schools in the Southeast offering preprofessional music training.

The mission of the department is fourfold:

- to provide majors the best possible education in performance, historical literature, and theory -- the background necessary to pursue graduate work or a career in music;
- to open the curriculum to the wider campus community by encouraging nonmajors to take courses, including those designed specially for novices;
- to give all students -- majors and nonmajors--performance experience through choral and instrumental ensembles and individual training in applied music; and
- to offer the Central Florida community performances of outstanding merit by resident and guest artists, as well as opportunities to study music avocationally.

We are committed to music for all rather than music for the few.

MUS 363 American Music: Explores the soundtrack of United States history, from the music of Native Americans and early colonists, through the various styles, periods, and performers of American Music History: Tin Pan Alley; jazz mixed with blues; classical; Broadway and bop; Copland, country, and Coltrane.

MUS 364 Music History: 20th-Century Music: Surveys concert music styles of the 20th century and their reflection of society and events of the time. Prerequisite: music reading skills preferred, but not required.

MUS 372 Survey of Jews and Music: From Sinai to Symphony: Surveys some of the definitions of what is "Jewish" in music, from liturgical chant, to folk songs, to music of the concert hall and Tin Pan Alley. Fulfills an elective requirement for the music major, music minor, and Jewish studies minor. Prerequisite: sophomore standing.

MUS 380 Literature of the Instrument: Surveys major works of a particular instrument. Requires historical research, examination, and performance of scores, and extensive listening to recordings.

MUS 385 Piano Accompanying: Instruction in the art of piano accompanying through actual classroom performance with instrumentalists and vocalists.

MUS 386 Advanced Sound Recording: Examines advanced methods and technologies used to record, edit, format, manufacture, and distribute music. Students produce their own stereo and multi-track music recordings, and CD masters. Prerequisite: MUS 286.

MUS 388 Advanced Music Technology: Examines the methods and technologies used to record, edit, format, manufacture and distribute music. Prerequisite: MUS 190.

MUS 390 Advanced Conducting and Repertory: Features preparation and performance of compositions from standard repertory. Prerequisite: MUS 290.

MUS 391 Practicum: Conducting: Continues instruction for conducting students at an advanced level to further develop their knowledge of repertoire, performance practices, aural discrimination, and conducting technique. Prerequisite: MUS 390 or consent.

MUS 392 Introduction to Arts Management: Introduces topics required to operate an arts organization, including (but not limited to) public relations, financial management and accounting, marketing, fundraising, and intellectual property, culminating in presentation of a business plan. Prerequisites: junior standing and consent.

MUS 393 Piano Pedagogy I: Introduction to the problems and psychology of teaching the beginning piano student. Emphasis on practical applications of pedagogical principles. Discussions of current methods and beginning materials, adaptation of the child to the instrument, and the development of the techniques and musicianship at the elementary level. Prerequisite: applied piano 201 or consent.

MUS 394 Piano Pedagogy II: Practicum: Observation of private and group instruction at the Community School of Music and opportunity to teach private and group lessons under supervision of the instructor. Continuing discussions of appropriate teaching materials for more advanced student. Prerequisite: MUS 393.

MUS 395 Pedagogy for the Singing Voice: Details anatomy and operation of laryngeal and respiratory apparatus as applied to singing voice. Examines standard voice nomenclature, fundamental acoustics, current singing science, care and hygiene for voice, teaching methods, and current literature in vocal research. Prerequisite: at least three years of applied voice study or consent.

MUS 396 Voice Pedagogy: Practicum: Student teaching of at least two private voice students under supervision. Observation of voice teaching in the College. Seminars in technique and teaching methods. Prerequisite: MUS 395.

MUS 425 Topics in Music: Focuses on single topic, such as composer, genre, or artistic movement.

MUS 451 Form and Analysis: Examines basic principles of musical construction as seen through detailed analysis of representative compositions dating from the baroque to the present. Prerequisite: MUS 252.

MUS 455 Paris, Moscow, Vienna 1890-1915. Investigates various structural principles at work in music by Rachmaninov, Scriabin, and Stravinsky; Faure, Debussy, and Ravel; and Mahler, Strauss, Schoenberg, and Berg. Prerequisite: MUS 252.

MUS 495 Senior Project: This course is designed to tie together students' academic career at Rollins. Individual focus area may include a recital performance, student teaching, or a research project directed by the appropriate music faculty member. Prerequisite: senior standing.

Neuroscience (minor only)

Changes effective Spring Term 2014

American Studies

Faculty teaching Neuroscience include members of the Natural Sciences, Humanities, and Social Sciences Divisions in the College of Arts and Sciences. Please see the schedule of classes for each academic term for specific assignments.

Anthropology

The neuroscience minor combines courses in biology, psychology, and philosophy for an integrated study of how the brain functions and the biological contributions to behavior. The program is interdisciplinary with a variety of topical and methodological perspectives. Students aspiring to graduate studies in neuroscience may combine the minor with a major in biology, biochemistry and molecular biology, marine biology, or psychology.

Archaeology

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

Because prerequisites will be waived for admission to upper-level Psychology and Biology courses, students must apply to register as a Neuroscience Minor. Eligibility requirements include:

- Sophomore standing
- Declared Psychology, Biology, Biochemistry/Molecular Biology, or Marine Biology major
- Minimum of two courses in major sequence completed
- Major GPA of 3.0

Art and Art History

Majors from another discipline may petition the Program Director for admission to the minor with additional requirements including:

- Statement of interest
- Statement of support from a faculty instructor

Asian Studies

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

Ten (10) courses are required: five (5) core courses, four (4) elective courses, and one (1) capstone.

Austrian Studies

CORE COURSES (required)

- BIO 121 General Biology II
- BIO 360 Cellular Biology
- PHI 348 Philosophy of Mind
- PSY 155 Perspectives in Psychology II
- PSY 326 Physiological Psychology

Biochemistry/Molecular Biology

ELECTIVES

Four (4) of the following courses, two from psychology and two from biology or biochemistry

Biology

ELECTIVE COURSES

- BCH 335 Biochemistry
- BIO 308 Genetics
- BIO 312 Animal Physiology
- BIO 341 Molecular Biology
- BIO 370 Developmental Biology
- PSY 302 Brain & Language
- PSY 314 Sensation & Perception
- PSY 322 Cognitive Psychology
- PSY 324 Neuropsychology
- PSY 327 Evolutionary Psychology
- PSY 333 Mind/Body Problem

Business and Social Entrepreneurship

CAPSTONE

One (1) course.

- INT 4xx Senior Seminar in Neuroscience

Chemistry

REQUIRED COURSES

BIO 121 General Biology II: Includes cell structure and function, genetics and evolution. Offered each Fall. Prerequisites: waived for registered minors with instructor's permission.

BIO 360 Cellular Biology: Correlates structure and function of cell. Discusses energy, enzymes and metabolism, membrane structure, transport, endomembrane system, communication, and growth and division. Offered annually. Prerequisites: waived for registered minors with instructor's permission.

INT 4xx: Senior Seminar in Neuroscience: An intensive interdisciplinary investigation of theory, research, and practice relating to neuroscience; requires students to apply knowledge and skills from courses across the student's major and minor. Offered annually. Prerequisites: completion of Neuroscience Foundation and Elective Courses.

PHI 348 Philosophy of Mind: Follows philosophical antecedents of contemporary psychology. Considers nature of mind, mind-body problem, and purpose. Offered annually. Prerequisite: PSY 155.

Topics include structural enzymology, molecular biology, and metabolism. Offered each spring. Prerequisites: BIO 121 and CHM 221.

BIO 308 Genetics: Analyzes prokaryotic and eukaryotic genetics at the level of molecule, cell, organism, and population. Uses quantitative approach in presentation of concepts and in genetic analysis. Offered annually. Prerequisites: BIO 121.

BIO 312 Animal Physiology: Studies animals at cellular and organismic levels: nervous, muscular, endocrine, excretory, circulatory, respiratory, digestive, and reproductive systems. Considers invertebrate and lower vertebrate physiology but stresses mammalian systems. Offered alternate years. Prerequisites: BIO 121.

BIO 341 Molecular Biology: Describes structure of chromosomes and organization of genomes. Examines replication, repair, transcription, and translation of genetic information -- and methodology to study these processes. Offered each spring. Prerequisites: BIO 121.

BIO 370 Developmental Biology: Studies gametogenesis, fertilization, and patterns of embryonic development, differentiation, and morphogenesis. Stresses concept of development program in animals established during gametogenesis, activated at fertilization, and expressed in subsequent development. Offered alternate years. Socrates said, "the unexamined life is not worth living." The disciplines of philosophy and religion examine our lives by investigating the most basic concepts and categories of our self-understanding: true and false, right and wrong, real and imaginary, sacred and profane.

Art and Art History

Courses in the history of philosophy introduce students to the ideas of great thinkers such as Plato, Aristotle, Descartes, Hume, Kant, and Nietzsche. Undergraduates learn by doing -- by engaging in argumentative dialogue with these philosophers.

Asian Studies

Nonmajors acquire valuable skills of analysis and argumentation while learning to ask fundamental questions about identity, meaning, and value. Thematic courses range from ethics and social philosophy to the mind-body problem. Advisors encourage students to acquire background in a special interest by taking courses in other disciplines. A philosopher of science, for example, needs to study biology, just as a student interested in aesthetics must learn about art, music, and literature.

Australian Studies
Biochemistry/Molecular Biology

Religious studies examines the history, beliefs, practices, and role of religion in creating and shaping the world's cultures and societies. The department offers courses in Western and Eastern religions, courses in scriptures such as the Hebrew Bible and the New Testament, as well as more advanced and thematic courses such as Religion and Film, Women and Religion, and Buddhist Ethics. The objectives of the major are to explore the history of world religions, to comprehend religious beliefs along with their philosophical and psychological underpinnings, to appreciate the varieties of religious experience, to consider the impact and meaning of religious pluralism in America, and to assess the role that religions have historically played in shaping society's values.

PHILOSOPHY

PHI 103 Introduction to Philosophy: Presents aims, methods, and content of philosophy through important figures and perennial problems. Asks: How do we know ideas are true? What is reality? Does God exist? Why is there evil? Is mind distinct from body? Are we free or determined? What is our highest good? How do we know right from wrong? What distinguishes beauty? What is place of individual in society?

PHI 108 Ethics: Introduces moral philosophy (defining value) and metaethics (justifying ethical beliefs) and applies them to common problems. Ponders what actions are morally good -- and what makes them that way.

PHI 140 Friends and Others: Examines ways classical and contemporary philosophers have analyzed friendship so that students can develop and express their own understandings.

PHI 212 Philosophy of the Arts: Covers both theory of art and theory of aesthetic. Addresses 2,400 years of writings on imitation, significant form, expression, death of art, taste, psychic distance, beauty, and the aesthetic.

PHI 214 Philosophy in Literature: Investigates perennial philosophical issues in conflicts of literary characters and ideas. Considers works of Voltaire, Dostoevsky, Barth, Ellison, Camus, and Flannery O'Connor.

PHI 215 Social and Political Philosophy: Explores moral grounds for state, place and value of freedom, nature and justification of property, and rights of individual to classical and contemporary thinkers.

PHI 218 Argumentation and Media-Manipulation: Critical Thinking for the 21st Century: Introduces principles of critical thinking and their application to both traditional argumentation and the highly sophisticated use of persuasion in television and other mass media. Examines misleading and manipulative arguments in ethical, political, religious, and philosophical discourse, including the use of persuasion in advertising and journalism. Examines the logic and grammar of images, the use of tacit messages, and other attempts to influence beliefs or otherwise affect behavior that may or may not be in overt propositional form. Develops critical viewing habits.

PHI 223 Introduction to Formal Logic: Examines principles of deductive reasoning expressed in symbolic form. Begins with Aristotelian categorical syllogisms, then considers truth-functional propositional and quantificational logic.

PHI 226 Philosophy of Education: Compares differing views on aims and methods of education. Touches upon theories of human nature underlying educational models, education versus indoctrination, moral dimensions of education, "liberal education," and ideals of educated men and women.

PHI 230 Greek Philosophy: Chronicles development of philosophical thought in ancient Western world from 6th century BC until 300 AD, focusing on classical Greece and Rome. Students read primary sources in four areas: pre-Socratic philosophers, Socrates and Plato, Aristotle, and Late Hellenistic philosophy (Stoics, Skeptics, Epicureans, and Cynics).

PHI 231 History of Modern Philosophy: Investigates important philosophers in Britain and on the Continent during 17th and 18th century. Considers Continental rationalists (Descartes, Spinoza, Leibniz), British empiricists (Locke, Berkeley, Hume), and Kant as mediator of these two traditions.

PHI 240 Topics in Philosophy: Delves into philosopher's work, issue or concept, or specific tradition. Varies. May be repeated for credit. Suitable for first- and second-year students.

PHI 242 Zombies, Serial Killers, and Madmen: Subjects our everyday intuitions about cognition in moral reasoning and individual responsibility to scrutiny using the principles of logic and critical thinking. Investigates the modern phenomenon of zombies, serial killers and madmen in order to answer important moral/legal questions such as: Is rationality a necessary prerequisite for responsibility? What are we to do with irrational people who commit heinous acts?

PHI 250 Survey of Recent Philosophy: Surveys three major movements of late 19th and 20th century: existentialism, pragmatism, and analytic thought. Provides foundation for in-depth courses.

PHI 280 Parapsychology -- Data/ Implications: Analyzes methodology of parapsychological experiments and quantity/quality of empirical evidence produced. Addresses nature of science, parapsychology as philosophy and science, and implications of data.

PHI 290 Medical Ethics: Discusses moral problems of health care and medical technology: abortion, euthanasia, treatment of defective newborns, genetic screening, and human experiments.

PHI 302 American Philosophy: Emphasizes pragmatists -- from C. S. Peirce, William James, and John Dewey to Richard Rorty today. Prerequisite: one PHI course.

PHI 308 Topics in Ethics: Takes on varied topics in moral philosophy. Seminar. Prerequisite: PHI 108 or consent.

PHI 309 Environmental Ethics: Considers duties to and value of animals, plants, entire species, ecosystems, and Earth as whole. Also connects environmental ethics to way we do business and live our lives. Prerequisite: ENV 189.

PHI 310 Existentialism: Links existentialism and phenomenology, two similar European movements of late 19th and 20th century. Tackles Nietzsche, Kierkegaard, Sartre, Jaspers, Husserl, and Heidegger. Discusses fundamental existential problems -- meaning of life, nature and priority of self -- as well as phenomenological method. Prerequisite: PHI 231 or consent.

PHI 311 Philosophy of Science: Analyzes presuppositions, methods, and leading concepts of natural sciences. Questions notions of truth and progress in science. Investigates how scientific account of the world relates to everyday understanding of life. Recommended for science majors. Prerequisite: one PHI course or consent.

PHI 312 Feminist Theory: Feminist theory foregrounds women and gender issues, taking the experiences of women seriously and using gender as a tool for critical analysis. Examines a variety of approaches. Prerequisite: one PHI or WMS course.

PHI 313 Contemporary Analytic Philosophy: Traces major 20th-century movement from Moore and Russell through Wittgenstein, Austin, and Ryle. Prerequisite: one PHI course.

PHI 314 Topics in Philosophy: Probes philosopher's work, issue or concept, or philosophical tradition. Varies. Suitable for juniors and seniors. Prerequisite: one PHI course.

PHI 315 Gender, Rights, and Relativism: Explores tensions between respecting cultural traditions, and respecting human rights, paying special attention to the role of gender, as many cultural traditions disproportionately affect women. Prerequisite: PHI 108.

PHI 317 Philosophy of Religion: Challenges students to subject religious beliefs to rational tests. Explores nature and existence of God, evil, relation of faith to reason, miracles, mystical experience, religious language, and meaning and verification of religious ideas. Prerequisite: one PHI or REL course.

PHI 319 Evil and the Search for Meaning after the Holocaust: Highlights philosophical, theological, and fictional works about Holocaust by Sartre, Camus, Buber, Arendt, Frankel, and Wiesel -- from 1945 to present. Prerequisite: one PHI or REL course.

PHI 320 Postmodernism: Takes on postmodern challenge to notions of truth, objectivity, and unity of self. Looks into limits of language and rationality, critiques of culture and technology, and impossibility of "grand theory." Students read representatives from French, German, and American tradition, such as Foucault, Derrida, Lyotard, Irigaray, Adorno, Horkheimer, and Rorty. Prerequisite: PHI 231 or consent.

PHI 325 Philosophy of Law: Examines concept of constitutionality, "strict constructionism," nature and limits of law, justification of punishment, judicial reasoning, capital punishment, legal responsibility (strict liability and the insanity defense), legislating morality, and paternalism. Prerequisite: one PHI course.

PHI 348 Philosophy of Mind: Follows philosophical antecedents of contemporary psychology. Considers nature of mind, mind-body problem, and purpose. Prerequisite: one PHI or PSY course.

PHI 398 Directed Study for Juniors

PHI 490 Senior Seminar: Focuses on theme or philosopher. Requires substantial paper. May substitute for PHI 498/499. Prerequisites: philosophy major/minor and senior standing, or consent.

PHI 498 Senior Independent Study: Required for philosophy minor. (Must take this or PHI 490.)

PHI 499 Senior Thesis: Required for philosophy major. (Must take this or PHI 490.)

RELIGION

REL 113 Asian Religions: Explores forms, beliefs, and rituals of Hinduism, Buddhism, and religions of China and Japan through primary sources.

REL 125 Hebrew Bible (Old Testament): Treats selections as literary, historical, and theological works. Discusses myth, story, and religious interpretation; theological concepts of creation, revelation, and redemption; views of nature, God, and social order; gender roles; and community.

REL 126 New Testament: Introduces major themes and contemporary biblical scholarship.

REL 135 Religion in America: Surveys Native American religions, Judeo-Christian traditions of European immigrants, and African-American religion; religions originating in America; occult and metaphysical movements; Eastern religions; and regional religion. Examines dominance and unifying force of Protestantism, civil religion, and cultural religion. Also highlights conflicts and reconciliation between Protestants and Catholics, other Christians, and Jews.

REL 170 The Search for Meaning: Follows inner journeys of religious thinkers from a variety of traditions. Ponders process of search and discovery, its motives, and consequences.

REL 217 Jewish Life and Thought: Features modern historical, literary, and theological masterpieces that explore law, ritual, Zionism, Israel, American Judaism, and changing world of women in contemporary Judaism.

REL 218 Christianity: Thought and Practice: Introduces age-old issues: nature of God, evil, nature and work of Christ, redemption, sacraments, Christian living, and methods of theological reflection. Assigns writings of at least two key thinkers in Christian thought.

REL 219 Islam: Religion and Society: Explores religious, cultural, political, and social dimensions of Islam, from beliefs and practices to relationship of Islam to the Judaeo-Christian heritage.

REL 220 Religion and Literature: Discusses religious (and anti-religious) themes in recent writing from a variety of genres.

- REL 223 Contemporary Jewish Literature and Film: Draws upon short stories, novels, and films that depict modern Jewish experience in Europe, Israel, and the U.S. Considers shtetl, enlightenment, and emancipation in Europe, immigrant Jews in Israel and U.S., Holocaust, establishment of Israel and contemporary Israeli society, and tradition vs. modernity.
- REL 228 Women and Religion: Studies the status, experiences, and contributions of women in world religions. Focuses on women in Judaism, Christianity, and Islam, and on contemporary feminist ideology and spirituality. Readings include sacred texts, history, theology, and anthropology. Discussions center around topics such as male and female concepts of the divine, gender roles, creation of new rituals, and women's ordination. Prerequisite: one REL or WMS course.
- REL 230 Buddhism: Theory and Practice: Explores the origins and basic theoretical principles of Buddhism and some of its cultural manifestations. Tibetan Buddhism, Zen, and Buddhism in the contemporary world are focal points.
- REL 235 Religion and Science: Documents 20th- and 21st-century developments in Western religious thought in response to contemporary science. Touches upon religious and scientific language, nature and the supernatural, creation in physics and theology, biological evolution and creationism, sociobiology and ethics, and ecology and religious thought.
- REL 236 Religion and Film: Examines contemporary films that contain messages about the meaning of life and death, the ultimate aims of existence, and other topics that have traditionally belonged to the domain of religion.
- REL 237 Religion and Terrorism: Examines issues such as whether religion is inherently violent, the definition of religious terrorism, the significance of 9/11, the religious justification for violence, and the psychology of religious terrorism.
- REL 240 Buddhist Philosophy: An examination of Buddhist philosophical theories regarding the nature of the self, reality, knowledge, language, the ultimate goal of sentient existence, and the path to that ultimate goal.
- REL 241 Buddhist Ethics: A study of Buddhism's ethical principles and the ways these principles are applied to ethical issues in the domains of nature, economics, war and peace, medicine, sexuality, and others.
- REL 251 Topics in Religion: Focuses on topic of interest to students and faculty. Suitable for first- and second-year students.
- REL 300 Religion and the Body: Explores concepts and practices of the body in Eastern and Western traditions. Topics include mind/body dualism, body and gender roles, sexual norms and taboos, modesty, purity, and impurity. Prerequisite: one REL course.
- REL 304 Jerusalem: History, Religion, and Politics: Examines the history of Jews, Christians, and Muslims in Jerusalem from the biblical period to the present. Focuses on religious teachings that expound notions of sacred land and the subsequent political dominations of the city, modern nationalist movements, and current debates and dialogues on the future of Jerusalem. Prerequisite: One REL course.
- REL 325 Psychological Theories of Religion: Focuses on the psychological theories of religion offered by James, Freud, Jung, and others; examines the theories from a philosophical point of view. Prerequisite: one REL or PSY course.
- REL 331 Religious Ethics: Discovers how different traditions deal with ethical questions: personal behavior in promise keeping, truth telling, and sexuality, as well as social issues about war, peace, poverty, injustice, and oppression. Prerequisite: one PHI or REL course.
- REL 333 Modern and Contemporary Jewish Thought: Treats major Jewish thinkers and ideas from Enlightenment to present: personal autonomy vs. peoplehood and authoritative tradition; nationalism; feminism; and morality after the Holocaust. Prerequisite: one REL or PHI course.
- REL 340 Zen Buddhism: Philosophical assessment of Zen discourse, through reading and critically reflecting on texts attributed to seminal Indian, Chinese, Korean, and Japanese masters. Prerequisite: one REL course.
- REL 351 Studies in Religion: Selects topic of interest to students and faculty. Suitable for juniors and seniors. May be repeated for credit. Prerequisite: one REL course.
- REL 490 Senior Seminar: Focuses on a particular theme in the study of religion. Requires substantial research paper. May substitute for REL 498/499. Prerequisites: junior or senior standing and REL major or minor.
- REL 498/499 Senior Independent Study: Required for all religious studies majors and minors.

Students must complete three (3) terms of physical education: one (1) term of basic physical education (BPE) and two (2) terms of lifetime recreational activity electives. These coed courses: encourage students to maintain good physical fitness; emphasize that physical activity, done for pleasure, should become a way of life; teach new skills that enhance leisure time; provide basic health information; and develop neuromuscular systems. Usually, students take one (1) PEA course per term, although the chair may approve a second. Anyone who has finished four (4) terms may register for another activity as openings permit. Students may not earn more than four (4) semester hours of credit in lifetime recreational activity (PEA) or varsity sport (PEV) courses combined.

The college furnishes equipment for classes and intramural sports -- except tennis racquets and golf clubs. Sports participants assume a risk. Students should not undertake an activity for which they are not physically fit.

The director of Lakeside Health and Counseling Services, in consultation with the PE chair, may waive or alter requirements. The director must also endorse any certificates of disability from personal physicians. The chair reviews exceptional cases, which must also be approved by the assistant dean for academic administration and records.

REQUIREMENTS FOR TRANSFER STUDENTS

Transfer students who have completed sixty (60) semester hours in any field are exempt from the PE requirement. Transfer students with thirty (30) semester hours must take two terms of PE at Rollins but may skip the BPE course.

BASIC PHYSICAL EDUCATION (BPE)

A fitness program based upon Dr. Kenneth Cooper's aerobic system, BPE improves vigor and health through activities that demand oxygen consumption. BPE courses include BPE Aerobic Fitness: Running; BPE Aerobic Fitness: Swimming; BPE Aerobic Fitness: Dance; PED 101, and PED 201.

PED 101 Behavioral Guidelines for Health and Wellness: Emphasizes self-awareness and responsibility in maintaining health. Deals with consumerism, emotional health, intimate relationships, stress management, nutrition, fitness, disease prevention, and individualized behavior modification.

PED 106 Sport and Society: Examines social organization, social change, and connection of sport to structure and dynamics of social life. Does not fulfill BPE or electives requirement.

PED 201 Physiology of Exercise and Performance: Explains physiological fundamentals of physical fitness and training techniques. Discusses human energy systems, aerobic exercise, muscular fitness, and training techniques. Encourages students to design individualized programs.

PED 202 Topics in Sport Psychology: Focuses on selected topics and issues in sport psychology relevant to the psychological and mental factors that influence performance and personal growth, including development of appropriate psychological skills for performance enhancement. Other topics include aggression, audiences and performers, and arousal and performance. Does not fulfill BPE or electives requirement.

ATHLETIC COACHING COURSES

Three professional preparation courses meet state Department of Education requirements, but not the BPE or electives requirement.

Mathematics

PED 475 Athletic Coaching Theory: Improves coaching skills by covering psychosocial development, biophysiology, legal concerns, sport management, and sport instruction. Prerequisite: junior/senior standing.

Modern Languages and Literatures

PED 476 Theory and Practice of Coaching a Specific Sport: Introduces recent advances. Highlights interscholastic coaching/teaching methods, trends, hands-on lab experiences, and safety procedures. Prerequisite: junior/senior standing.

Music

PED 477 Care and Prevention of Athletic Injuries (Sports Medicine): Treats injury detection and treatment, rehabilitation, reconditioning, counseling, and injury prevention. Includes hands-on lab experiences and off-the-field safety precautions. Prerequisite: junior/senior standing.

Neuroscience

INTRAMURAL ACTIVITIES

Students choose to participate in the intramural program. These activities supplement PE classes and include some coed sports and one-day activities.

Philosophy and Religion

Fraternities and sororities, independents, first-year students, special groups, off-campus students, faculty, current graduate students, and administrative staff compete as teams. Sports include basketball, bowling, flag football, golf, sailing, soccer, softball, swimming, table tennis, tennis, and volleyball (beach and regulation).

Physics

ATHLETICS

Sports play a significant role in life at Rollins. The athletic program encourages individual participation in 20 intercollegiate sports--baseball, basketball, crew, cross-country, golf, sailing, soccer, softball, tennis, volleyball, and water-skiing. The college also fields club teams for women's soccer and swimming.

Physics

Changes effective Fall Term 2014

Fuse      Moore      Mortimer      Murdaugh

Physics encompasses more than the study of matter and energy. It seeks general principles behind phenomena as diverse as wispy elementary particles and gigantic galaxies.

Physics courses provide a pathway towards that understanding through laboratory and computer analysis and mathematical and computer modeling. Our laboratories are especially well equipped and our major emphasizes the development of sound laboratory skills. The major also stresses mathematics, the language of physics.

Physics provides a foundation for students interested in engineering -- the application of physical principles to the design of products and processes needed in today's technological world. Future engineers may concentrate in physics for the first three years at Rollins and then transfer to one of the engineering schools with which the college participates in a 3-2 dual-degree program. For further information, contact the coordinator, Christopher Fuse.

Some graduates teach or work in industry while others pursue masters of business administration degrees (M.B.A.). Many physics majors go on to graduate school in specialized areas of physics, while others continue in such fields as astronomy, oceanography, materials science, and applied physics. Since physics majors know how to solve problems and use technology, they find interesting jobs with or without a higher degree.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Fifteen (15) courses are required.

- PHY 130 Principles of Physics I
- PHY 131 Principles of Physics II
- PHY 220 Math Methods for Physical Sciences I
- PHY 221 Math Methods for Physical Sciences II
- PHY 230 Modern Physics
- PHY 232 Experimental Physics II
- PHY 250 Thermodynamics
- PHY 308 Mechanics
- PHY 314 Electromagnetic Theory I
- PHY 315 Electromagnetic Theory II
- PHY 325 Computational Physics
- PHY 396 Physics Seminar
- PHY 411 Modern Optics
- PHY 412 Experimental Optics
- PHY 451 Quantum Physics I

Students without a strong background in physics and mathematics may wish to take MAT 111/MAT 112 and PHY 120 before beginning the sequence for the major.

Students who wish to continue physics in graduate school should consider the following electives:

- CHM 120 Chemistry
- CHM 305 Physical Chemistry
- PHY 452 Quantum Physics II
- PHY 498 Physics Research

Students who intend to transfer to an engineering school via the 3-2 program with a concentration in physics must complete all required courses for a physics major below the 400 level. Additionally, they must pass CHM 120 Chemistry, CHM 305 Physical Chemistry and CMS 167A/167B Introduction to Computing.

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

Nine (9) courses are required.

- PHY 130 Principles of Physics I
- PHY 131 Principles of Physics II
- PHY 220 Math Methods for Physical Sciences I
- PHY 221 Math Methods for Physical Sciences II
- PHY 230 Modern Physics
- PHY 308 Mechanics
- PHY 314 Electromagnetic Theory I
- PHY 396 Physics Seminar
- PHY 451 Quantum Physics I

Course of Study

PHY 105 Evolution of the Universe: Examines characteristics of galaxies, red-shift and Hubble relationship, and quasars, then considers modern cosmological models of how universe has developed into present state. For non-science majors with little or no prior knowledge of physics.

Marine BiologyMathematicsModern Languages and LiteraturesMusicNeurosciencePhilosophy and ReligionPhysicsPhysical EducationPolitical SciencePsychologySexuality, Women's, and Gender StudiesSociologySustainable Development and the EnvironmentTheatre Arts and DancePublic Policy

PHY 108 Nuclear Power, Nuclear Arms, and Nuclear War: Measures impact of nuclear energy in today's technological world, presenting both sides of controversial issues. Intended for non-science majors with no prior knowledge of physics.

PHY 112 Astronomy: Describes characteristics and evolution of solar system, structure and properties of stars and galaxies, and evolution of universe. Requires one formal observing session each week for constellation and star identification through binocular and telescopic observations. Intended for non-science majors with no prior knowledge of physics.

PHY 114 Contemporary Physics: Explores basic ideas of time, motion, and forces, as well as atomic and nuclear physics. When offered with laboratory, hands-on exercises feature fundamental concepts and applications of physics. Intended for non-science majors with no prior knowledge of physics.

PHY 115 The Physics of Music: Explores the physical principles of music and musical instruments. Topics include the scientific basis for music and the physics of brass, woodwind, and string instruments. Intended for non-science majors with no prior knowledge of physics.

PHY 117 An Introduction to Lasers and Light: Touches upon paint mixing, stage lighting, visual illusions, random-dot stereograms, lenses and curved mirrors, optical interference, iridescence, mirages, rainbows, and aurora. Uses interactive demonstrations to explain common and unusual optical effects. Intended for non-science majors with no prior knowledge of physics.

PHY 120 General Physics I: Introduces motion, forces, work, energy, waves, and conservation laws to students interested in science. Stresses interactive teaching and learning in all meetings, including required lab. Highlights theory and problem solving.

PHY 121 General Physics II: Discusses electric and magnetic forces and energies, electric circuits, optics, and foundations of modern physics. Lab required. Prerequisite: PHY 120.

PHY 130 Principles of Physics I: Introduces the concepts of motion, forces, work-energy, and conservation laws using calculus. Lab required. Corequisite: MAT 111 or equivalent preparation.

PHY 131 Principles of Physics II: Addresses electrostatics, direct and alternating currents, electric and magnetic fields, and geometrical and physical optics. Uses calculus. Corequisite: MAT 112 or equivalent preparation. Prerequisite: PHY 130.

PHY 200 Conceptual Physical Science: Presents basic ideas of physics and selected topics in earth science and astronomy. Integrates required lab, practical activities, and computer work with daily discussions. Prerequisite: elementary education major or consent.

PHY 205 Stellar Evolution and Cosmology: Life cycles of stars including supernovae, white dwarves, neutron stars, and black holes. Characteristics of galaxies, red-shift and the Hubble relationship leading to modern models of cosmic evolution. Upper-level elective for science majors. Prerequisites: MAT 112 and PHY 121 or 131.

PHY 220 Math Methods for Physical Sciences I: Covers series expansions, complex numbers, linear algebra, and multi-variable calculus. Prerequisite: MAT 112 or equivalent preparation.

PHY 221 Math Methods for Physical Sciences II: Continuation of PHY 220. Investigation of higher mathematics continues with vector analysis, integral transforms, ordinary and partial differential equations, and probability and statistics. Prerequisite: PHY 220.

PHY 230 Modern Physics: Investigates 20th-century revelations about atoms and light, in contrast to the predictions of classical physics. Includes an in-depth quantitative analysis of Einstein's theory of relativity, quantum theory, statistical distributions, and nuclear physics. Prerequisite: PHY 131.

PHY 232 Experimental Physics II: Second course in experimental technique in which the design, construction, and analysis of experiments in modern physics are emphasized. Focus on experimental design; the collection, processing, and dissemination of data; the application of standard statistical models; and methods of interpretation and analysis of data. Strong laboratory component. Prerequisites: PHY 132 and PHY 230.

PHY 240 Introduction to Astrophysics: Addresses the application of atomic and nuclear physics to the problems of galaxy formation and astronomical spectroscopy. Investigates the basic scientific principles of planet formation and observational astronomy. Prerequisites: PHY 220 and PHY 230.

PHY 250 Introduction to Thermodynamics: Examines the laws of thermodynamics, Maxwell's relations, and illustrative applications of thermodynamics. Introduces kinetic theory, Boltzmann Equation, and statistical mechanics. Prerequisite: PHY 220.

PHY 308 Mechanics: Discusses Newtonian, Lagrangian, and Hamiltonian mechanics of particles and rigid bodies. Analyzes nonlinear dynamical systems with computer simulations. Prerequisites: PHY 131 and PHY 220. Corequisite: PHY 221 or consent.

PHY 314 Electromagnetic Theory I: Applies advanced mathematical techniques to the study of electromagnetics, emphasizing the solutions to Laplace's equation, vector analysis, and multipole approximations. Gives vector treatment of electrostatic and magnetostatic fields in vacuum and in matter, based on Maxwell's equations. Prerequisites: PHY 131 and PHY 221.

PHY 315 Electromagnetic Theory II: A continuation of PHY 314 with emphasis on electro- and magneto-dynamics and time-varying phenomena including electromagnetic radiation. Prerequisite: PHY 314.

PHY 325 Computational Physics: This course introduces the student to the methods of computational physics, emphasizing numerical solutions to integral and differential equations. Prerequisite: PHY 221.

PHY 396 Physics Seminar: Traces evolution of physics and its place in modern society. Discusses readings from classical literature and current journals. Prerequisites: junior/senior standing and physics major/minor or pre-engineering major.

PHY 411 Modern Optics: This course consists of a survey of geometric, physical and quantum optics. Subjects include the design of optical components, systems of lenses, polarization and birefringence, coherence, Fraunhofer and Fresnel diffraction, Fourier optics, laser physics, and nonlinear optics. Corequisite: PHY 412. Prerequisites: PHY 221 and PHY 230.

PHY 412 Experimental Optics: This course introduces the students to experimental techniques used in the study of optics. Optical equipment, design criteria, and methodology are presented in class; then the students are expected to design and build optical instruments to specification. Corequisite: PHY 411. Prerequisite: PHY 315 and PHY 232.

PHY 451 Quantum Physics I: This course begins with early atomic models, wave aspects of particles, Schrodinger equation, quantum mechanical solution of one-dimensional potential barriers and wells, periodic potentials, and three-dimensional bound-state systems. Prerequisite: PHY 221.

PHY 452 Quantum Physics II: This is a continuation of the study of quantum physics that emphasizes applications of quantum mechanics to atomic physics, solid-state physics, and nuclear physics. Students also examine elementary perturbation theory, theory of angular momentum and spin, and quantum statistics. Prerequisite: PHY 451.

PHY 498/499 Physics Research: Requires independent research in such fields as acoustics, optics, astrophysics, condensed

Why Study Politics? Life is already political. Politics, then, is not just something that we study and read about: it is something that we live. In ways large and small, abstract and particular, global and local, theoretical and practical, our everyday lives are shaped by powers, ideologies, and customs. Politics happens to us whether we see it or not. But by studying political science, we can become conscious of the forces that give meaning and shape to our condition while furthering our understanding of change and whether it is beneficial for society.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Australian Studies

To complete the major in Political Science students must pass twelve (12) courses. Students must complete the six (6) required Core courses and six (6) additional courses. Students may not transfer more than four (4) courses from another institution. Winter intersession courses do not count toward the major. The Department requires that students complete one upper-level course in at least two (2) different subfields for breadth.

Biochemistry/Molecular Biology

The Department of Political Science allows students to pursue two tracks through the major. Each track offers students significant flexibility over their major course selections. Students should select a track and their course options through thoughtful deliberation.

Biology

HONORS IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

Business and Social Entrepreneurship

Students who satisfy the College's requirements for Honors in the Major Field (see "Curriculum and Curricular Requirements," Rollins College Catalogue) may graduate with Honors in Political Science through one of the following methods. First, a student pursuing Honors in the Major Field in Political Science must successfully complete and defend an Honors in Political Science Research project under the supervision of a faculty member in the department. Alternatively, students may complete a second senior-year seminar as a thirteenth (13th) course in Political Science and defend their research project before a panel of three (3) faculty members, per the curricular requirements of the College. Students in the College Honors Degree Program may use their senior-year research project for Honors in Political Science, with Departmental approval.

CORE COURSES

Classical Studies

All students are required to take introductory course selections in Comparative Politics (POL 100), Political Theory (POL 120), International Relations (POL 130), and American Politics (POL 160). Students are also required to complete Public Policy Analysis (POL 240A) OR Research Methods in Political Science (POL 240B), and a seminar class at the 400-level that includes the completion of a major research project.

Communication Studies

Students must complete all four (4) introductory level courses:

Computer Science

POL 100 Introduction to Comparative Politics
POL 120 Problems in Political Thought
POL 130 Introduction to International Politics
POL 160 Introduction to American Politics

Seminar in Political Science (POL 410, POL 422, POL 470, or POL 481)
(Normally completed during senior year)

Additional Requirements:

Film Studies

- All political science majors are required to complete one (1) upper-level seminar at Rollins. Students should normally have at least junior status, and have completed the introductory and upper-level courses in the respective substantive area as well as a research methods course to ensure adequate preparation for the seminar.
- A comprehensive examination and portfolio also are required of all graduating seniors.

Global Health

Core courses serve as prerequisites to corresponding upper-division courses. For example, POL 160 must precede all upper-division courses in American politics.

Health Professions Advising Program

Students may choose one of the following two options to complete their major requirements.

Honors Degree ProgramInternational BusinessInternational RelationsJewish StudiesLatin American and Caribbean

Studies

After completing the four (4) introductory-level courses students may select ANY six (6) upper-level courses they prefer. Students are required to complete one course from at least two (2) different subfields at the upper-level.

Marine Biology*TRACK II - SUBSTANTIVE CONCENTRATIONS IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

After completing introductory-level courses, students may use upper-level courses to concentrate in a substantive topic. Students are required to complete one course from at least two (2) different subfields at the upper-level. The Department of Political Science lists below five (5) possible options for substantive concentrations. A concentration is a topic that typically cuts across subfields and allows students to study an important substantive theme in greater depth. A concentration will be composed of six (6) courses. At least five (5) of these courses must be at the 300- or 400-level. A final research project is required for all students completing a concentration and normally will be completed in the senior seminar. Students may also satisfy this research requirement by either pursuing Honors in Political Science or through the Senior Honors Research Project in the Honors Program.

Music*Neuroscience

It is possible for students to design a concentration which is different from those suggested below. ALL students who wish to pursue a concentration MUST receive Departmental approval. Normally, students should declare their concentration when they declare Political Science as their major, but NO LATER THAN registration for classes for their first semester of their junior year.

Philosophy and Religion

The declaration should include a curriculum plan of study that outlines their concentration. The plan of study should state what is motivating the student to pursue a substantive concentration, the courses they have selected, and what separates those courses from the rest of the major.

EXPERIENTIAL OPPORTUNITIES

Faculty in the Department of Political Science believe and encourage majors to pursue at least one non-traditional classroom learning experience, which can be accomplished through participating in a semester abroad program, the Washington Semester program, internships, or taking a course with a travel component. The Department's goal is to offer one course that includes an international trip each year.

WASHINGTON SEMESTER PROGRAM

Through a cooperative arrangement between Rollins and American University, a select number of students, usually juniors, may spend a semester in Washington, D.C., studying public affairs. (See Special Curricular Opportunities section of this Catalogue.)

Participants may select from separate programs in American politics, journalism, justice, foreign policy, peace and conflict resolution, economic policy, and art and architecture. Full-time faculty at American University direct the individual programs.

While enrolled in the Washington Semester Program, students live at American University and have full access to all library, cultural, and recreational facilities on campus. For further information, contact Professor Michael Gunter.

RESEARCH IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

Students also have the opportunity to conduct research in political science. This can be accomplished through a senior year research thesis for Honors in Political Science or as their final research project in their concentration. Students should have strong research and writing skills in order to complete a research project in Political Science.

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

Six (6) courses are required: three (3) introductory courses (POL 100, 120, 130, or 160) and three (3) upper-level courses.

Course of Study

CORE COURSES

POL 100 Introduction to Comparative Politics: Compares environment, structure, and process of politics in different nations. Suitable for nonmajors.

POL 120 Problems in Political Thought: Explores authority, legitimacy, power, democracy, ideology, equality, and political obligation as understood by major political thinkers in Western history. Suitable for nonmajors.

POL 130 Introduction to International Politics: Outlines decision making, conflict, deterrence, coercive diplomacy, interdependence, and international systems. Places issues in 20th-century context, stressing Cold War and its aftermath, international political economy, and international organizations. Suitable for nonmajors.

POL 160 Introduction to American Politics: Analyzes dynamics of American politics: underlying principles and institutions, relationship between democratic freedom and economic equality, poverty, sexism, racial injustice, participation, and problems of liberal, capitalist state. Suitable for nonmajors.

POL 240A Public Policy Analysis: Introduces formal techniques -- some involving computer use -- for analyzing problems in public policy. Examines goals and difficulties in civil rights, discrimination, voting rights, and crime. Does not require background in public policy, politics, computer usage, or statistics.

POL 240B Research Methods in Political Science: Introduces students to the essential elements of research method in political science. Among the topics covered are understanding hypotheses formulation, structuring testable statements, measurement, types of data, casual thinking, and reporting results>.

POL 410 Seminar in International Politics: Presents the past, present, and future role of the sovereign state in the international system with a focus on issues such as economic globalization, non-traditional security threats, and the governance of transnational issues. Prerequisites: completion of core and distribution courses in international politics or consent.

POL 422 Seminar in Comparative Politics: Guides students in preparing, presenting, and writing research paper. Requires progress reports, outlines, bibliographies, and oral presentations. Prerequisite: completion of core and distribution courses in comparative politics or consent.

POL 470 Seminar in Political Theory: Provides context for students to examine in-depth topics of justice, freedom, welfare, and equality, and considers contemporary issues against the arguments of political theorists. Requires extensive oral participation, independent work, and contribution of a major paper. Prerequisite: completion of core and distribution courses in political theory or consent.

POL 481 Seminar in American Politics: Compares competing interpretations of politics and polity. Prerequisites: completion of core and distribution courses in American politics or consent.

AMERICAN POLITICS

POL 161 Issues in American Politics: Uses contemporary issues to explain the enduring features of the U.S. political system. Intended for first-year students interested in exploring the major. Substitutes for POL 160-Introduction to American Politics within the major.

POL 252 American Civil Rights Law and Policy: Civil rights law and policy examines how the United States defines and practices equality a fundamental principle of American democracy. The course uses Supreme Court decisions to evaluate the development of the Fourteenth Amendment's guarantee of equal protection in civil rights policy areas. Policy topics include educational opportunity, voting rights, affirmative action and reverse discrimination, gender and age discrimination, disabilities, and gay rights.

POL 314 The Political Theory of the Welfare State: Reviews the normative reasons in support of the welfare state as a political entity. It also explores philosophical reasons against the ideals that justify it. In the process of studying these philosophical issues, we will concentrate on different institutional and political factors that differentiate welfare state models from one another.

POL 327 Urban Policy Analysis: Focuses on dilemmas of fast-growing urban areas: transportation, education, land-use planning, urban finance, and growth management.

POL 341 Political Leadership: Considers meaning of leadership, changing role of leaders, strategies and styles of effective leaders, and relationship between leadership and democracy. Stresses local government. Prerequisite: POL 160.

POL 343 The American Presidency: Weighs logic and impact of constitutional design upon the office, including sources of power and constraint. Traces development of presidency through "imperial" to "postmodern" era, then turns to relationship between President and Congress, bureaucracy, and interest groups. Prerequisite: POL 160.

POL 346 Voting and Elections: Investigates electoral behavior in U.S.: rational, contextual, retrospective, and economic explanations for voting, as well as contemporary trends. Considers effects of media and money on election outcomes. Prerequisite: POL 160.

POL 361 Urban Politics: Examines impact on urban politics of decline of community in American cities, inequality of power among groups, and local and regional economy. Highlights economic decline in Frostbelt cities and problems of controlling growth in Sunbelt cities like Orlando. Prerequisite: POL 160 or consent.

POL 363 American Social Policy: Treats relationship of politics and markets, reasons for government intervention in economy, and conflict surrounding policy implementation. Discusses pros and cons of government planning. Stresses problem of de-industrialization and efforts to formulate industrial policy. Prerequisite: POL 160.

POL 365 Power in America: Explores how political power is created and maintained. Considers political parties and coalitions, interest groups (including differences in political interests within American capitalism), economic change and international politics, political and economic elite, and state role in supporting and strengthening capitalism. Prerequisite: POL 160.

POL 381 Congress and the Legislative Process: Deals with organization and operation of U.S.. Congress: how representatives make voting decisions, importance of rules and procedures, political strategy, legislative oversight of executive branch, and relationship between Congress and President.

POL 382 Constitutional Law: Analyzes major U.S.. Supreme Court decisions in order to understand development of law regarding powers of national government. Addresses judicial review, federalism, separation of powers, national authority over commerce, and constitutional protection of property. Prerequisite: POL 160 or consent. Suitable for nonmajors.

POL 387 Constitutional Law: Civil Rights and Liberties: Focuses on the Supreme Court's interpretation of the first amendment freedoms of speech, press, and religion, and the rights of the accused, reflected in constitutional amendments four through eight. Prerequisite: POL 120 or POL 160 or consent.

POLITICAL THEORY

POL 270 Ethics and Public Policy: Examines the ethical and moral implications of a wide array of cases and current events, such as use of the atomic bomb, presidential activity, racial profiling, and affirmative action. Prerequisite: POL 120 or consent.

POL 375 American Political Thought: Analyzes the ideals of America, as imagined, cultivated, and practiced. Explores the forces that shape identity, analyzes the contours and exclusions of democratic citizenship, and focuses on how natural geography has uniquely influenced American political thought. Prerequisite: POL 120.

POL 376 Capitalism and Its Consequences: Explores the dialectical critiques of the "Frankfurt School" theorists. Analyzes the ways that capitalism has affected 20th-century life in ways that extend beyond the economic sphere, shaping our social relations and our experience of the world itself. Prerequisite: POL 120.

POL 377 Gender and Political Theory: Analyzes how idealized images of masculinity and femininity shape political theories, feminist theories, and influence public policy and law. Explores the gendered nature of the ideal liberal capitalist subject. Prerequisite: POL 120.

POL 390 Ancient Political Theory: Surveys pre modern political theories with attention to their major theoretical innovations, historical contexts, and contemporary relevance. Major themes include the nature of political community and its relation to the cultivation of virtue, the origins of the ideas of law and freedom, the relation between knowledge and power and between politics and salvation. Readings include Thucydides, Plato, Aristotle, Augustine, Niccolo Machiavelli, and others. Prerequisite: POL 120, one PHI course, or consent.

POL 391 Modern Political Theory: Features such thinkers as Machiavelli, Hobbes, Locke, Rousseau, Mill, Tocqueville, and Marx. Addresses questions about freedom, equality, revolution, private property, and public justice, origins of state, and purposes of political life. Prerequisite: POL 120, one PHI course, or consent.

POL 392 Development of American Political Culture: Explores relationship between republicanism and liberalism as core of American political thought and culture. Delves into human nature, individualism, civic virtue, public good, private property, equal opportunity, democratic capitalism, public freedom and private liberty, competition and marketplace, success, progress, and social Darwinism. Suitable for nonmajors. Prerequisite: POL 120 or consent.

POL 394 Contemporary Political Theory: Examines 20th-century political theory. Covers the moral and conceptual foundations of liberal democracy and critiques of liberalism from communitarian, feminist, critical theory, and postmodern perspectives. Prerequisite: POL 120 or consent.

POL 395 Topics in Political Theory: Advanced investigation of selected problems or areas in political theory. Topics may include feminist political theory, American political thought, and conservative political thought. Prerequisite: POL 120 or consent.

POL 498-499 Independent Study

COMPARATIVE POLITICS

POL 202 The Americas: A Political History of Latin America: Outlines from conquest and colonization to contemporary times. Emphasizes aspects of Latin American civilization with enduring effects on political culture and international relations.

POL 301 Revolution in the Modern World: Analyzes meaning, dynamics, and goals of revolution as part of politics of violence. Prerequisite: POL 100.

POL 302 The Politics of Global Poverty: Examines political dynamics in developing areas such as Africa, Asia, and Latin America, paying special attention to policies that address extreme poverty. Prerequisite: POL 100 or POL 130.

POL 304 Middle East Politics. Explores the politics of the Middle East and various approaches for analyzing its regional and international issues such as U.S.. foreign policy in the region.

POL 306 Muslims in Western Politics. Explores the characteristics of Muslim populations and their role in politics in the U.S.. and three West European countries from a comparative perspective.

POL 307 Islam and Politics. Introduces Islam and covers Islamic theology, spirituality, jurisprudence, culture, and political ideology.

POL 308 Immigration and Multiculturalism in the U.S.. Critically examines immigration and multiculturalism in the U.S.. through extensive community engagement.

POL 309 Global Democratization: Examines theories and case studies of recent democratization across the globe in regions such as Latin America, the former Soviet Union, Asia, Africa, and the Middle East. Prerequisite: POL 100

POL 312 Problems of Latin America: Alternates focus among different topics/regions depending on interest. Prerequisite: POL 100 or at least two LAC courses.

POL 316 Social and Political Applied Ethics: Focuses on particular social and political problems of actual societies. Studies moral judgments for and against particular issues such as abortion, the death penalty, affirmative action, immigration, the ethics of voting, food politics and genetically modified products, multiculturalism and women's rights, (redistributive) taxation, the justness of war, world hunger relief, and healthcare as a right. These are all issues that motivate heated debates in current liberal democracies. Students will try to understand the analytical and reasoned arguments often invoked to justify or reject them.

POL 321 The Politics of Latin America: Discusses problems of underdevelopment, cultural traditions and socioeconomic conditions, and challenge of winning/maintaining political power and bringing about change in Latin American political systems. Prerequisite: POL 100 or consent.

POL 333 Case Studies in Sustainable Development: Explores political concept of sustainable development, comparing how different states confront issues such as population growth, poverty, alternative energy, hazardous waste trade, deforestation, GMOs, ecotourism, sprawl, and invasive species. Prerequisite: POL 100 or POL 130.

POL 335 Global Health and Human Rights: Discusses the policy implications of viewing health care as a human right, including the legal, moral, historical, political and economic debates surrounding this topic. Prerequisite: POL 130

POL 336 Post-Communist Systems: Discovers causes and consequences of changes in former Soviet bloc, particularly character and behavior of elites, parties, groups, and masses. Assesses possibility of democratization and likelihood of economic development. Prerequisite: POL 100.

POL 358 European Government and Politics: Details goals, policies, institutions, and efficacy of European democracies. Treats funding of welfare state, prospects for uniting Europe, and future of NATO alliance. Prerequisite: POL 100.

POL 368 Comparative Public Policy: Determines why certain governments cope better with common problems. Touches upon roles of political parties, bureaucracies, interest groups, political institutions, and public opinion. Prerequisite: POL 100 or POL 160.

POL 370 Comparative Modern Ideologies: Considers liberalism, conservatism, Christian democracy, socialist democracy, communism, fascism, and nationalism. Focuses on political programs of groups associated with these ideologies. Prerequisite:

POL 100.

POL 384 East Asian Politics: Compares political systems of China, Vietnam, Japan, and the Koreas. Looks into key regional issues and East Asia in post-Cold War global order.

POL 385 Politics in China: An examination of politics in modern China. Includes a focus on 19th and 20th century political and military struggles with the West, civil war and invasion, the development of Maoist politics, and the economic reform and process of political change in the post-Mao era. Contemporary political issues include the potential for democratization, relationship of the party-state and economy, evolution of the Chinese Communist Party, mass media, inequality, protest, and corruption.

Prerequisite: POL 100.

INTERNATIONAL POLITICS

POL 203 Political Economy of Water in China: Examines the varied water problems that China faces and the ways that the national government, local governments, the media and citizens groups are addressing these challenges.

POL 223 Power and Diplomacy: The United Nations: Familiarizes students with the operations of the United Nations. Provides an introduction to international relations focusing on selected countries and issues, and teaches how to develop and present oral and written proposals in the U.N. vernacular.

POL 232 World Issues of Our Times: Develops informed opinions on such issues as East-West and North-South relations, population, hunger, development, terrorism, and war. Encourages students to think of solutions to problems. Assigns Foreign Policy Association's annual Great Decisions as core text. Suitable for nonmajors.

POL 310 Sustainable Development: Dominican Republic: Provides students with a better understanding of sustainable development through studying the Dominican Republic. Examines area history of the DR and methodology of sustainable development. Using a number of case studies, from tourism and sugar cane industries, to urban sprawl and forest protection, identifies historical connections to sustainable and unsustainable practices.

POL 313 Economic and Political Development in Eastern Europe: Analyzes economic and political development within Eastern Europe. Explores the Cold War legacy. Includes field study of Hungary, Czech Republic, Poland, Slovakia, and Romania. Complements POL 358 and ECO 305D. Prerequisites: ECO 202, ECO 203, and POL 130 or POL 100.

POL 315 Topics in International Relations: Examines selected topics and theories in international relations.

POL 317 Latin America and the United States in World Politics: Evaluates relationships of nations of Western Hemisphere. Treats U.S.. foreign policy in general, then relations with Latin America. Prerequisite: POL 100, POL 130, or two LAC courses.

POL 319 US-China Relations: An examination of the political, economic, military and security relations of the United States and China. Beginning with China's global strategic and economic realignment in the 1970s, the details of China's global power position, the nature and impact of economic interdependence on China, China's relations with Asia, Africa and Latin America, the potential for conflict and war, and the global strategic implications the China's rise are topics. Prerequisite: POL 130.

POL 320 U.S.-Middle East Foreign Relations and Culture Since 1900: Examines the history of contact between the United States and the Middle East since 1900, from the combined geopolitical and cultural perspectives of political science and anthropology. Prerequisite: POL 100, or POL 130, or one ANT course.

POL 323 Global Environmental Affairs: Examines global environmental issues from climate change to biodiversity protection with international relations theories that explore the role of civil society, institutions, and markets, in both contributing problems and finding solutions. Prerequisite: POL 130.

POL 325 Sustainable Development in Southeast Asia: Southeast Asia provides a striking example of the central challenge facing much of the developing world, balancing rapid economic development and environmental protection. Much of the region's tropical forests have been cleared to make way for agriculture, plantations, and industrial development. Yet despite these inroads, many nations, such as Vietnam and Malaysia, still support a spectacular diversity of natural habitats and species. This course examines the recent history of economic and environmental change in Vietnam, Malaysia and Singapore, focusing on the role of high technology industry, resource extraction, and environmental planning. Students will travel to Singapore to study urban environmental planning, visit semiconductor plants and sustainable development agencies in Malaysia, and explore development issues in Vietnam. Prerequisite: POL 130 or consent.

POL 330 Peace and Conflict Studies: Introduces students to the theories of conflict and peacebuilding, trends in political conflict, and presents case studies of several ongoing conflicts. Prerequisite: POL 130.

POL 331 International Political Economy: Follows development of international monetary system, multinational coordination of economic policy, functions of international economic organizations, role of multinational corporations, energy and international politics, and problems of economic development, exploitation, and dependence in Third World. Prerequisite: POL 130.

POL 332 International Human Rights: Introduces students to the theoretical, political, and legal dimensions of human rights in the modern global system. Students will further engage the concept of human rights through case studies and the study of critical issues in human rights, including gender, culture, refugees, and modern slaves.

POL 334 Political Economy of Japan: Chronicles origins, development, and contemporary arrangements of Japanese political economy from Meiji Restoration to present. Delves into 19th-century commitment to economic modernization and national independence, military expansion, relationship with U.S., and complex link of Japanese state with economy. Prerequisite: POL 100 or POL 130.

POL 351 International Security: Analyzes how international security is changing global interactions and how the world can adjust accordingly in the 21st century. Examines both the causes of war and the conditions that promote peace, all within the context of notable contemporary crises, including economic, environmental, and cultural dimensions. Prerequisite: POL 130.

POL 352 International Law: Uses case studies to survey nature, sources, and applications of international law, particularly to resolve conflict. Prerequisite: POL 130 or consent.

POL 353 Foreign Policy of the U.S.: Assesses decision-making power of interest groups, Congress, President, and bureaucracy. Asks if U.S.. foreign policy is reactive. Discusses nuclear security and arms control, trade relations, foreign aid, new world order, and North-South issues. Prerequisite: POL 130.

POL 354 International Organization: Examines the interaction of state associations such as the United Nations (UN), European Union (EU), World Trade Organization (WTO), and Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC), as well as transnational corporations like DuPont and BP, non-governmental organizations (NGOs) such as Conservation International and Medicines Sans Frontiers, and terrorist networks like Al Qaeda. Changes effective Fall Term 2013

The psychology Major and Minor use the methods and content of psychological science to teach students to:

1. understand the reasons behind their own and others' behavior
2. become competent and critical decision makers
3. respect human diversity and
4. fulfill their social responsibilities.

Asian Studies

With an emphasis on experiential learning and laboratory courses, scientific rigor, quantitative literacy, and verbal and written communication skills, the psychology major provides an excellent background for students planning to join the workforce upon graduation and for those planning to continue their education in graduate school.

Students need to consult a departmental advisor as early as possible to plan course selections. Because of the structure of the major, transfer students should expect to spend at least two (2) years in the Rollins program to complete major requirements.

Course of Study

Studies

PSY 101 Introduction to Psychology: Surveys physiological, developmental, social, and personality psychology; sensation perception; learning; information processing; motivation; psychopathology; and research methods.

Marine Biology

PSY 150 Perspectives in Psychology I: The Individual in Context: Designed for psychology majors and minors (or those considering psychology), course examines historical and current perspectives on topics in developmental, personality, and social psychology.

Mathematics

PSY 155 Perspectives in Psychology II: Thought and Behavior: Designed for psychology majors and minors (or those considering psychology), course examines historical and current perspectives on topics in behavioral, cognitive/physiological, and applied psychology.

Modern Languages and Literatures

PSY 190 Psychology of Adjustment and Stress Management: Helps students cope with stress, bridging gap between current research and clinical treatment. Considers assessment, treatment guidelines and techniques, effects of motivation in controlling stressors, and physiology of stress. Students experiment with stress reduction through meditation, progressive relaxation, autogenic training, hypnosis, and biofeedback. Not open to students who have taken winter intersession classes The Art and Science of Relaxation or Stress Management.

MusicNeurosciencePhilosophy and Religion

PSY 200 Stress Management: Hanging Loose in an Uptight World: Offers an approach to stress management whereby students gain a clear and in-depth understanding of its causes and effects as well as many adoptable management techniques.

Physics

PSY 210 Psychology Across Cultures: Explores cultural components of several major areas in psychology, including research methods, human development, personality, social psychology, perception, and cognition. Empirical research on the interplay between individual and group beliefs and psychology forms the center of the course, which also includes guidelines to improve cross cultural relationships, and respectful research paradigms.

Physical Education

PSY 211 Social Psychology: Presents broad account of how actual or imagined presence of others influences thoughts, feelings, and behaviors. Touches upon conformity, attraction, prejudice, aggression, group decisions, and attitude change, as well as advertising, law, and indoctrination.

Political Science

PSY 213 Health Psychology: Explores the interaction between the mind and the body as it relates to health with special emphasis on the physiological consequences related to healthy and unhealthy behavior. Investigates how psychological events, such as stress and other emotions, affect physical and emotional health.

Psychology

PSY 215 Topics in Psychology: Focuses on a specific topic or field in psychology which is not covered elsewhere in the curriculum. May be repeated for credit. Suitable for nonmajors.

Sexuality, Women's, and Gender Studies

PSY 217 Psychology of Drugs and Addictions, with Laboratory: Questions whether chemical addiction (drugs and alcohol) is disease or an attempt to adapt to inner needs and external pressures.

Sociology

PSY 225 Careers in Psychology: Designed for majors wanting to know more about careers in psychology. Students will research and present information about various careers in psychology, including job responsibilities, historical and current issues associated with different fields, educational requirements, availability of positions, and salary. Emphasis placed on careers that require graduate education, so part of the class will focus on strategies and requirements for applying to graduate school. Registration priority to sophomore/junior psychology majors.

Sustainable Development and the Environment

PSY 250 Statistics and Research Methods I with Laboratory: Surveys application of descriptive and inferential statistical analysis. Covers frequency distributions, transformed scores, normal-curve model, linear correlation and prediction, and hypothesis testing using variance analysis.

Theatre Arts and Dance

PSY 255 Statistics and Research Methods II with Laboratory: Details specialized lab techniques, methodology, and statistical analysis of different topical research areas. Integrates continuing lab project with discussion. Seminar. Prerequisite: PSY 250.

Rollins College
1000 Holt Avenue
Winter Park, Florida 32789-4499
(407) 646-2000

PSY 300 ISP: Cross Cultural Psychology: Explores the cultural components of several major areas in psychology, including research methods, human development, personality, social psychology, perception, neuropsychology, schooling, learning and memory, and cognition. Prerequisite: PSY 150.

PSY 302 BIO-COG: Brain and Language: Examines language in a biological context, and investigates the relationship between brain mechanisms and language behavior. Includes aphasia and other language disorders, hemispheric specialization, aphasia in the deaf, critical periods and aphasia in children, and gender differences in brain organization and cognitive abilities. Prerequisite: PSY 155.

PSY 305 BIO: Sleep, Dreams, and Behavior: We spend approximately a third of our lives engaged in sleep. The psychology of sleep and dreams is an important area of the discipline with implications for physiological psychology, neuroscience, personality, and clinical psychology. Lecture/discussion course in which students and instructor explore the recent scientific research on sleep and dreams and its impact on behavior. Prerequisite: PSY 155.

PSY 306 ISP: Tests and Measurements: Examines social role of tests, as well as methods of development and administration. Looks into achievement and intelligence testing, personality assessment, personnel selection, test bias, and vocational-interest testing. Prerequisites: PSY 150 and PSY 250.

PSY 309 DEV: Adolescent Development: Adolescence is characterized by rapid biological, cognitive, social, and psychological changes. Course addresses major topics in adolescent development (e.g., puberty, family, peers, sexual behavior, and romantic relationships). Prerequisite: PSY 150.

PSY 310 ISP: Psychopathology: Deals with psychological/psychiatric disorders presented in DSM IV. Lab acquaints students with institutional settings. Emphasizes treatment procedures and vocational opportunities. Prerequisite: PSY 150.

PSY 312 ISP: Psychology and the Law: Focuses on psychological research of direct relevance to the legal system. Topics may include police interrogation and confessions, the reliability of eyewitness testimony, scientific jury selection, competency, and the insanity defense. Prerequisite: PSY 150.

PSY 313 ISP: Psychology of Religious Experience: Provides an overview of historical and modern research and theory in the psychology of religion, focusing on empirical studies and religious behaviors. Discussions center on the relationships between religious and scientific world views. Topics include the relationship between religious beliefs and practices and child rearing, mental and physical health, brain functioning, and life after death experiences. Prerequisite: PSY 150.

PSY 314 BIO-COG: Sensation and Perception: Introduces psychophysical, physiological, and cognitive aspects of human and animal perception. Includes visual, auditory, somatic, and chemical sensation; visual perception of color, objects, depth, and movement; and speech, pain, and flavor perception. Prerequisite: PSY 150, PSY 155, and PSY 255.

PSY 315 Intermediate Topics in Psychology: Focuses on a specific topic or field in psychology which is not covered elsewhere in the curriculum. May be repeated for credit.

PSY 317 ISP: Group Dynamics: Investigates group leadership, decision making, communication, conflict, creativity, team building, power relationships, and personal growth within groups. Prerequisite: PSY 150.

- PSY 319 ISP: The Psychology of Work: Explores the psychological processes involved in organizational life. Drawing on current research and theory, examines issues such as employee selection, training, leadership, motivation and organizational change. Prerequisite: PSY 150.
- PSY 322 COG: Cognitive Psychology with Laboratory: Introduces basic cognitive theories, methods, and research findings. Includes areas such as attention, memory, imagery, gene knowledge, language, problem-solving, and logical reasoning. Prerequisite: PSY 150, 155 and 255.
- PSY 324 BIO-COG: Neuropsychology: Studies central nervous system damage and the symptoms, diagnosis, treatment, and rehabilitation of brain damaged individuals. Emphasizes how the study of brain damage enhances our understanding of the intact nervous system. Prerequisites: PSY 155.
- PSY 326 BIO: Physiological Psychology with Laboratory: Introduces the fundamentals of nervous system responses to psychological processes. Explores the anatomy and physiology associated with psychological events, historical and contemporary issues in the field, and the societal and personal implications regarding the use of such measures. Prerequisites: PSY 150, PSY 155, and PSY 255.
- PSY 327 BIO-ISP: Evolutionary Psychology: Draws on evolutionary principles to understand human behavior, thought, and emotion, and maintains that certain psychological processes exist because they facilitated survival and reproduction during our evolutionary history. Prerequisites: PSY 150 and 155.
- PSY 328 DEV: Developmental Psychology with Laboratory: Tracks human growth and change: prenatal development, cognitive development, infant attachment, personality/social development, and language acquisition. Discusses major theories of human development including cognitive-developmental, social learning, and psychoanalytic models. Requires three hours per week of hands-on participation and observation in the Child Development Center. Prerequisite: PSY 150, 155, and 255.
- PSY 329 ISP: Environmental Psychology: Examines how environments (natural and built) relate to thoughts, feelings, and behavior. Topics include nature and mental health, environmental responsibility, identity display, disasters, home and work, and environment and crime. Prerequisite: PSY 150.
- PSY 332 ISP: Psychology of Social Behavior: An in depth examination of research and theory in social psychology related to such topics as social influence, person perception, prejudice and discrimination, group behavior, interpersonal attraction, helping, and aggression. Prerequisite: PSY 150.
- PSY 333 BIO-COG: The Mind-Body Problem. How can physical tissue -- the brain -- create subjective experiences like mood, emotion, color, and sound? Examines this fundamental question from the perspective of philosophy, psychology, neuroscience, and computer science. Prerequisites: PSY 150 and PSY 155.
- PSY 338 ISP: Clinical Assessment Procedures: Presents principles of psychological testing and evaluation. Highlights referral setting, relationships among test scores, consulting outside sources, role of the clinician, interpreting test data, integrating client's history with observations, and age considerations affecting interpretation of test data. Attempts to establish elusive connection between results of psychological testing and psychotherapy. Prerequisite: PSY 150.
- PSY 341 BEH: Learning with Laboratory: Introduces fundamentals of behavior acquisition and modification: reinforcement, stimulus discrimination, extinction, and sequential organization. Emphasizes total competence learning, requiring student to advance beyond recognition and recall. Prerequisite: PSY 150, 155, and 255.
- PSY 342 BEH: Comparative Animal Behavior with Laboratory: Surveys the research by comparative psychologists and ethologists regarding species-specific vs. species-general behaviors. Topics include migration and other seasonal behaviors, territorial behavior, communication, aggression, defense, and reproduction-related behaviors such as mate recruitment, nesting, caring for young, and offspring socialization. Social and group behaviors, including dominance and social-synchrony, also included. Prerequisites: PSY 150, 155, and 255.
- PSY 345 BEH: Childhood Disorders: Surveys a wide range of childhood disorders including behavioral and emotional disorders, developmental disorders, social and health-related disorders, and adolescent problems. Also considers children at risk, and addresses child physical abuse and neglect, child sexual abuse, and substance abuse. Interdependence of biological, psychological, and developmental factors are stressed in developing an understanding of childhood disorders in the context of family, school, community, and cultural influences. Prerequisite: PSY 155.
- PSY 347 Modern Psychology -- History and Systems: Chronicles development and decline of systematic positions within psychology since its establishment as a separate discipline in 19th century. Prerequisites: PSY 150 and 155.
- PSY 354 ISP: Personality: Examines traditional and contemporary theories (psychoanalytic, behavioral, humanistic, and factor analytic) about how individuals organize personal and social selves. Students apply theories to autobiographical data. Prerequisite: PSY 150.
- PSY 491 Senior Seminar in Behavioral Psychology: An intensive investigation of theory, research, and practice relating to behavioral processes in psychology; requires students to apply knowledge and skills from courses across the major. Prerequisites: PSY 150, 155, and 255; and senior standing.
- PSY 492 Senior Seminar in Biological Psychology: An intensive investigation of issues in psychology analyzed predominantly from a biological perspective; i.e., research emphasizing physiological or evolutionary perspectives, and animal or neuropsychological models. Students will synthesize knowledge from across the major. Prerequisites: PSY 150, 155, and 255; and senior standing.
- PSY 493 Senior Seminar in Cognitive Psychology: An intensive investigation of theory, research, and practice relating to cognitive processes in psychology; requires students to apply knowledge and skills from courses across the major. Prerequisites: PSY 150, 155, and 255; and senior standing.
- PSY 494 Senior Seminar in Developmental Psychology: An intensive investigation of theory, research, and practice relating to developmental processes; requires students to apply knowledge and skills from courses across the major. Prerequisites: PSY 150, 155, and 255; and senior standing.
- PSY 495 Senior Seminar in Individual-Social Psychology: An intensive investigation of theory, research, and practice relating to individual and social processes in psychology; requires students to apply knowledge and skills from courses across the major. Prerequisites: PSY 150, 155, and 255; and senior standing.
- PSY 499 Honors Research in Psychology: Intensive independent research on a selected topic in psychology. May be repeated for credit. Two semesters required for consideration of Honors in the Major. Prerequisites: PSY 150, 155, and 255; and senior standing.

Public Policy and Political Economy

Africa/African-American Studies

Changes effective Fall Term 2014

American Studies

Faculty teaching Public Policy courses include members of the Humanities and Social Sciences Division in the College of Arts and Sciences. Please see the schedule of classes for each academic term for specific assignments.

Anthropology

The interdisciplinary program in Public Policy and Political Economy studies substantive and theoretical ways in which economics and political science combine to shape public policies in various countries. Students in the major will become familiar with the theoretical approaches that political science and economics use to study and solve problems that can then be employed to frame and understand public policy issues. Public policy issues will be addressed within an individual and social values context by considering questions such as what is of value to society and its citizens? How best can those values be achieved? What tradeoffs are required when pursuing those societal values?

Archaeology

Art and Art History

The program has the following educational goals:

Asian Studies

- Often public problems exhibit recurring structures that inhibit their resolution through the political process. Students will understand the conditions that encourage and discourage effective human social and political cooperation including theories of collective action and organizational behavior.
- Students will acquire a framework for formulating and evaluating appropriate normative objectives, including liberty, social justice, social responsibility, efficiency, and other social values integrated in moral and political philosophies.
- Students will learn the analytical tools used to evaluate public policies and programs in terms of their efficacy in achieving given social objectives.
- Students will apply the principles and skills from the public policy major to research and propose practical solutions to decision-making problems in the real world.

Australian Studies

Biochemistry/Molecular Biology

Students majoring in Public Policy and Political Economy will acquire the analytical and practical skills that will prepare them for careers in business, law, Wall Street, or the public and/or private sector. Typical avenues after graduation will be to earn a Masters degree in Public Policy, Urban or Regional Planning; earn a J.D. degree, or an MBA; or work in the public or private sector, and enter politics. Students can also pursue graduate programs in economics or political science.

SENIOR YEAR EXPERIENCE

All students majoring in Public Policy and Political Economy are required to complete one senior year capstone course. This requirement may be satisfied through an independent study, a capstone seminar, or an applied internship with a mandatory policy research component. The purpose of the senior year experience is to enable students to integrate the concepts and principles from the major into a single project.

*POL/ECO 119 Contemporary Issues in Public Policy and Economics: Introduction to the intersection of economic and political ideas and processes as these relate to the creation and implementation of public policy. Possible public policy issues include public health policy, education standards, climate change and energy initiatives, immigration proposals, financial regulation and federal debt limits. No prerequisites. Can be taken by 1st year students.

Changes effective Fall Term 2014

Faculty teaching Sexuality, Women's, and Gender Studies courses include members of the Expressive Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences Divisions in the College of Arts and Sciences. Please see the schedule of classes for each academic term for specific assignments.

American Studies

Sexuality, Women's, and Gender studies explores the nature and creations of women often neglected in traditional academic offerings. The multidisciplinary curriculum draws faculty from many departments – anthropology, biology, economics, religion, history, English, political science, sociology, and other disciplines.

Archaeology

Sexuality, Women's, and Gender studies minors learn to evaluate cultural forces that have formed contemporary perceptions and expectations of women. Students investigate biological sexual differences, culturally assigned gender roles, theories about female consciousness and behavior, and restraints imposed by law and social conventions. The field covers an exciting range of topics, from the history of feminism to women's art and literature.

Sociology provides an understanding of human societies for students desiring a liberal arts education, as well as for those preparing for graduate study in sociology or related fields.

Qualified students may be invited to participate in the department's honors degree program, as well as in independent study projects and internships with faculty.

Because sociology relies heavily on advising for program direction, majors must choose an advisor in the department.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Twelve (12) courses are required, at least eight (8) of which must be taken at Rollins. All core courses must also be taken at the College.

CORE COURSES

Choose one (1) of the following four (4) prior to junior year.

- SOC 101 The Sociological Perspective
- SOC 102 American Society
- SOC 208 Self and Society
- SOC 211 Social Problems

Choose one (1) of the following three (3).

- SOC 323 Sociology of Culture
- SOC 355 Race and Ethnic Relations
- SOC 367 Economy and Society

Take all of the following.

- SOC 203 Methodology (fall of junior year)
- SOC 343 Social Stratification (spring of junior year)
- SOC 335 Sociological Theory (spring of junior year)

ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS

- One (1) course in anthropology, philosophy, economics, history, or politics
- Five (5) courses in sociology, at least three (3) of which must be at the 300-400-level
- SOC 418 Senior Seminar (after completion of core courses)

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

Eight (8) courses are required, six (6) of which must be taken at Rollins.

- Five (5) core courses required for major
- Two (2) 300-400 level courses in sociology
- SOC 418 Senior Seminar (after completion of core courses)

Course of Study

SOC 101 The Sociological Perspective: Covers scope, methods, and general principles of the discipline. Focuses on group behavior, race relations, inequality, social institutions, and social change. Suitable for nonmajors.

SOC 102 American Society: Examines recent social, political, economic, and cultural changes and trends.

SOC 112 The Family: Examines how political, economic, and social changes affect marriage and family. Highlights comparative family structure, divorce, abortion, homosexuality, and changing sex roles in light of larger social changes. Suitable for nonmajors.

SOC 203 Methodology: Focuses on collecting, analyzing, and interpreting social data. Addresses research strategies and their ethical implications. Prerequisite: sociology major or consent.

SOC 208 Self and Society: Introduces theories and research findings on socialization, identity formation, and presentation and actualization of self. Explores question of identity in contemporary American society and in everyday life. Suitable for nonmajors.

SOC 211 Social Problems: Follows traditional areas of social problem analysis (poverty, sexism, racism, and crime) as they evolve and transform society as a whole. Suitable for nonmajors.

SOC 250 Sociology of Gender: Examines gender relations and the construction of femininity and masculinity in American society. Explores gender within the context of social institutions, including science, education, families, the economy, and sport. Suitable for nonmajors.

SOC 345 Sociology of Gender: Examines gender in American society, with an emphasis on the construction of femininity and masculinity in the context of major social institutions. Reviews various approaches to the study of gender that include elements of symbolic interactionism, constructionism, post-modernism, conflict theory, and feminist theory. Specific institutional contexts of the construction and management of gender, including science, schools, family, the economy, and sport, also considered.

SOC 355 Race and Ethnic Relations: Explores colonization and immigration, assimilation and pluralism, prejudice and discrimination, and inequality and conflict past and present.

SOC 356 The State of Black America: Examines political, economic, social and cultural standing of African Americans (both historical and contemporary), relationships between blacks and whites, and internal differentiation of black population.

SOC 360 Poverty and Social Welfare: Focuses on changing composition of poverty population, war on poverty, public and academic debates, present-day American welfare system, and relationship between poverty, welfare, and inequality.

SOC 367 Economy and Society: Analyzes American economic institutions, particularly the modern corporation, and the modern state. Relates shifting patterns of production and consumption to structural changes in late industrial capitalism. Measures impact of multinational corporations on community, environment, workers, and U.S. foreign policy.

SOC 371 Deviant Behavior: Investigates deviant behavior as the inverse of power: The more power a particular class of people possesses, the less likely they will be defined as deviant. Challenges students to redefine "deviance" and examine "normal" workings of U.S. institutions. Prerequisite: one SOC course or consent.

SOC 417 Research Seminar: Explores topics in contemporary sociology. Requires individual research projects and oral reports. May be repeated for credit. Prerequisite: one SOC course or consent.

SOC 418 Senior Seminar: Develops common grounding in a specific subject to serve as a framework for individual projects. Requires oral reports. Prerequisites: core courses and senior standing.

Sustainable Development and the Environment (minor only)

Allen Gunter Lairson LinesRogers

The interdisciplinary minor in sustainable development and the environment examines whether transnational corporations can be both competitive and responsible by pursuing a strategy of sustainable development. The minor includes a set of courses that examine carefully the concept of sustainable development in an increasingly global economy. These courses are based on the premise that sustainable development means reconciling the need for economic growth, particularly in developing nations, with the need to protect both natural resources and the quality of life.

This minor will appeal primarily to students majoring in environmental studies or international business, but it will be available to other students as well. It includes a prescribed sequence of academic courses in conjunction with opportunities for practical applications of course theory through field study practical.

Students who complete this minor will gain an understanding of:

- the basic principles of environmental protection and sustainability;
- the emergence and consequences of globalization;
- the increasing role of international cooperation in managing environmental problems;
- the political economy of transnational corporations;
- the range of both positive and negative behaviors of transnational corporations in developing countries, and the ability to evaluate the environmental consequences of those behaviors and
- recent attempts to measure and evaluate sustainable development, including indicators of corporate practice.

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

Twenty-eight (28) semester hours are required: four (4) core courses, worth four (4) semester hours each and two (2) seminar/practicum courses worth six (6) semester hours each.

CORE COURSES

- INB 200 Introduction to International Business
- ENV 292 Political Economy of Environmental Issues OR POL 323 Global Environmental Affairs
- ENV 348 Sustainable Development OR POL 333 Case Studies in Sustainable Development
- INB 225 Sustainable Business Practices***

*Or any INB elective or topics course focused on sustainability (pending approval by Sustainable Development coordinator)

SEMINAR/PRACTICUM COURSES

Seminar/practicum courses serve as case studies in sustainable development. Each is comprised of a semester-length seminar followed by a study-abroad practicum. All are focused on Latin America and the Caribbean, areas that serve as representative case studies to illustrate a wide range of issues in sustainable development. Two (2) courses with field study component are required.

- ENV 365 Environment and Development in Central America
- ENV 365F Central America Field Study
- ENV 375 Island Economies and Sustainability in the Caribbean
- ENV 375F Caribbean Field Study -- Dominica
- ENV 385 Sustainable Development in the Amazon Basin
- ENV 385F Amazon Basin Field Study

Course of Study

ENV 365 Environment and Development in Central America: Studies the need for broad-based sustainable development using Central America as a case study. Considers how widespread deforestation and rapid population growth have combined with other factors to depress living standards throughout the region. Examines why Costa Rica has attained a high level of human development. Explores appropriate models of sustainable development for the region. Co-requisite: ENV 365F.

ENV 365F Central America Field Study: The Central Highlands of Costa Rica provide an excellent case study in sustainable development. Students observe and analyze models of sustainability in the areas of agriculture, tourism, and ecosystem services, while examining a wide range of projects including a large-scale coffee plantation, an organic coffee cooperative, and the Monteverde Cloud Forest Preserve. Co-requisite: ENV 365.

ENV 375 Island Economies and Sustainability in the Caribbean: Examines the natural resources and conservation of terrestrial, freshwater, and marine habitats of the Caribbean. Conservation of these resources for future generations while meeting the legitimate material needs of people in the region also discussed. Explores the prospects for sustainable economic development. Co-requisite: ENV 375F.

ENV 375F Caribbean Field Study: Dominica is currently experiencing a major transition from an economy based primarily on agricultural exports to a tourism-based economy. Examines the tension between various competing interests and identifies opportunities for achieving broad-based sustainable development. Co-requisite: ENV 375.

ENV 385 Sustainable Development in the Amazon Basin: Examines the Amazon Basin, the largest remaining tropical ecosystem on earth, considering the crucial ecological services it provides as well as the exceptional biological and cultural diversity it supports. Reviews historic attempts to exploit the rich biological and mineral resources of the region, which failed through a misunderstanding of tropical ecology and an inability to recognize environmental limitations. Discusses new approaches to development that generate income while protecting crucial ecological systems supporting economic development. Examines such efforts in the areas of tourism, agriculture, forestry, and fisheries. Optional field study component also available. Co-requisite: ENV 385F.

Marine Biology

Mathematics

ENV 385F Amazon Basin Field Study: The Peruvian Amazon provides an excellent case study of how governments, nongovernmental organizations, and private companies can form partnerships to promote sustainable development. Students work with local naturalist guides and project managers to gain a comprehensive understanding of the ecotourism industry. Co-requisite: ENV 385.

Changes effective Fall Term 2014

African/African-American StudiesBarnes      Cavanaugh      Charles      Cody-RapportAmerican StudiesGriffin      Miller      Mobley      OuelletteAnthropologySherry      ZivotArchaeology

The theatre major offers a comprehensive education in the art and craft of the theatre. The curriculum exposes students broadly to theatre history, literature, theory, and criticism, and provides rigorous training in acting, directing, design, and technical theatre. To achieve these skills, students complete a series of required courses and participate in the departmental production program.

Art and Art History

Philosophy

Asian Studies

The Rollins College Department of Theatre Arts and Dance believes that theatrical productions and classroom study are of equal and complementary value.

Australian Studies

The faculty of the Department of Theatre Arts and Dance embraces the liberal arts mission of Rollins College. The study of theatre comes most fully to life when integrated with other disciplines, for example, psychology, English, sociology, art, music, classical studies, and history. The faculty strongly encourages its majors to complement their studies with those of other departments.

Biochemistry/Molecular Biology

Performance

Biology

The department produces eight (8) theatre and dance productions per year at two on-campus venues: the Annie Russell Theatre, a 377-seat proscenium theatre listed on the National Registry of Historic Places, and the Fred Stone Theatre, a 90-seat black box space.

Business and Social Entrepreneurship

Majors take a set of courses and concentrate in performance, design and technical theatre, musical theatre, dramaturgy, or theatre studies. The department issues a comprehensive reading list of theatre literature for majors. Faculty evaluate student progress at the end of the sophomore year, and seniors must complete a senior capstone experience.

Chemistry

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Fifty-four (54) credit hours are required, including:

- a core of eleven (11) courses, all majors take a core sequence of seven (7) four-hour courses and four (4) two-hour production courses; and
- an emphasis in one (1) of six (6) areas, all majors select an area of emphasis consisting of five (4) four-hour courses and a two-hour capstone course.

Course of Study

THE 100 Introduction to the Theatre: Surveys history of theatre art and crafts. Discusses major plays and playwrights, physical stage, dramatic criticism, acting, directing, stagecraft, design, and other relevant crafts. Suitable for nonmajors.

THE 111 Introduction to Technical Theatre: Introduces scenery, properties, scene painting, costumes, lighting, stage management, and drafting. Includes lecture and production projects in each area.

THE 112 Fundamentals of Theatrical Design: Examines through weekly projects the creative process fundamental to designing for stage. Focuses on visual communication and critical response. Includes drawing, painting, collage, and research projects.

THE 113 Fundamentals of Makeup for the Theatre: Explores basics of makeup application, creation of character makeup, and masks for stage. Combines one-hour lecture/demonstration with two-hour lab each week.

THE 131 Introduction to Acting: Nonmajor: Combines study and practice of basic rehearsal and performance techniques. Emphasizes evolution of performer's role.

THE 133 Acting I: Fundamentals: Focuses on development of actor in audition and performance. Develops concentration, imagination, relaxation, and voice production through individual and ensemble exercises. Prerequisite: consent.

THE 135 Dance for Actors: Covers stage movement for actors. Features exercises in coordination, rhythmic ability, and body mechanics.

THE 136 Voice and Speech I: Free Voice: Investigates the fundamental principles and functionality of voice production and speech mechanics. Suitable for nonmajors.

THE 201 Script Analysis: Analyzes structure, style, theme, and characterization in plays from a variety of historical periods. Discusses stage worthiness of scripts and theories affecting creative interpretation and performance. Suitable for nonmajors.

THE 203 History of American Film: Chronicles development of movies and political and socioeconomic impact of film industry from early 20th century to present. Requires evening movie viewing. Suitable for nonmajors.

THE 205 History of American Musical Theatre: Traces development from early and current European influences to present American musicals. Analyzes political, social, and musical styles. Suitable for nonmajors.

THE 206 History of Radio and Television: Surveys broadcasting from 1900 to present: inventions, trends, programs, events, and personalities. Suitable for nonmajors.

THE 207 American Dreams: Interrogating Identity Through Drama: Surveys American Dramatic Literature from the last 100 years to discover the myriad of ways in which American identities have been variously formed, disrupted, negotiated, and transformed. Using dramatic literature and accompanying criticism as a lens, students will interrogate mythologies of "The American Dream" and investigate the ways in which playwrights explore and construct American identity in various cultural and social contexts.

THE 210 Survey of Western Dramatic Literature: Covers major playwrights, genres, and dramatic texts from Ancient Greek tragedy to modern American realism and beyond. Evaluates the ways in which Western culture has (mis)represented itself and others onstage and given meaning to the human experience. Suitable for nonmajors.

THE 220 History of American Musical Film: Historical overview of the American film musical from its inception in the 1920's to the present. Suitable for nonmajors.

THE 221 Design/Technical Theatre Studio: Addresses the communication between theatrical design and technology. In a studio setting, students learn advanced techniques to design, draw, construct, paint, sculpt, sew, and light a variety of projects. Prerequisites: THE 111, THE 211, or consent.

THE 225 Improvisational Theatre I: Fundamentals: Investigates the fundamental concepts and principles of improvisational theatre that enable collaborative, spontaneous play. Particular emphasis is given to issues of storyline, scenic structure, and team-based creativity. Suitable for nonmajors.

THE 233 Acting II: Character w/Laboratory: Prepares actor to express believable, repeatable actions in scene work and monologues through text analysis, improvisation, and exercises. Stresses techniques of finding and playing objectives and intentions. Prerequisites: THE 111 and THE 133.

THE 234 Movement I: Body Dynamics: Explores the physical demands placed on the actor. Techniques learned are for finding a basic knowledge of the body's energies. Skills taught may include: dance technique, improvisation, mime, Pilates, unarmed combat, and physical improvisation. Prerequisites: THE 133-required, THE 136-suggested.

THE 236 Voice and Speech II: Vocal Dynamics: Investigates advanced principles and functionality of voice production and speech mechanics. Intended for THE majors/minors. Prerequisite: THE 136.

THE 241 Classical Theatre: Follows development of classical tragedy and comedy through readings in translation -- drama from Aeschylus to O'Neill and theory from Plato to Nietzsche. Considers mythology, architectural and scenic innovations, and connections between religion and theatre. Suitable for nonmajors.

THE 248 Audition Techniques: An in-depth study of the conditions surrounding and within the audition experience. Examines various audition environments and the techniques, knowledge, and skills required to be effective in both theatre and media auditions.

THE 249 Acting for the Camera: Classes build from the student's use of Stanislavsky's System and the Triune Brain. Aims to train the actor for the technical demands of acting on a film or television set. Prerequisite: THE 133 or consent.

THE 255 Acting for Musical Theatre I: Delves into textual/lyric analysis and history and context of different writing styles (including classical aria, 19th-century patter song, American standard, and Broadway and West End musical). Prerequisite: consent.

THE 260 Feminist Theatre: Examines theatre companies and practitioners throughout the world who have committed themselves to telling "women's stories" in various types of performances, ranging from traditional plays to performance art. Explores the ways in which a feminist perspective shapes both the content and form of theatrical practice.

THE 295 History of American Theatre: The history of American theatre from 1665 to the present day. Examines trends, productions, dramatic texts, and theatre personnel who have helped to shape theatre in America.

THE 321 Scene Design: Applies creative concepts, text analysis, research, and visual communication techniques to scenic design. Draws texts from varying time periods and styles. Develops drawing and painting skills. Prerequisites: THE 111 and THE 211, or consent.

THE 322 Lighting Design: Applies creative concepts, text analysis, research, and visual communication techniques to lighting design projects in varying mediums. Develops drafting skills. Prerequisites: THE 111 and THE 211, or consent.

THE 323 Costume Design: Applies creative concepts, text analysis, research, and visual communication techniques to costume design. Draws texts from varying time periods and styles. Develops drawing and painting skills. Prerequisites: THE 111 and THE 211, or consent.

THE 324 Sound Design: Explores the role of sound in theatrical production as both an artistic and technical discipline. Develops a working knowledge of the equipment and vocabulary associated with theatrical sound. Integrates this working knowledge with the artistic theory and practical application of designing sound for the theatre. Prerequisite: THE 111 or consent.

THE 325 Improvisational Theatre II: Focus and Spontaneity: Explores a specific area of improvisational performance such as focus and spontaneity, characterization and status, physicality and environment, verbal skills and styles, or long-form and advanced structures. May be repeated for credit. Suitable for nonmajors. Prerequisite: THE 225 or consent.

THE 328 Fundamentals of Playwriting: Critiques student scripts and established work. Stages scenes from student plays or exercises in collaboration with acting/directing courses.

THE 331 Acting III: Period Styles: Explores acting in various periods and styles through reading, research, and scene work. Expands performer's agility through exercises in physical theatre and mask work. Requires journals reflecting research. Prerequisite: THE 233 or consent.

THE 332 Acting IV: Scene Study: Emphasizes actors skills in oral interpretation through exercises in energy and language imagery. Continues work in scene study and characterization. Introduces International Phonetic Alphabet (IPA) and use of dialects. Prerequisite: THE 331 or consent.

THE 333 Directing I: Fundamentals: Introduces directing terminology, formulation of ground plan, communication with actors, and concepts such as visual pause, beats, and blocking. Requires students to prepare exercises and scripted scenes from contemporary plays. Prerequisites: THE 111, THE 133, THE 201, and THE 211.

THE 336 Theatre for Social Change: Introduces and explores modern theatrical practices that utilize performance to facilitate heightened social awareness and/or change. May consider a variety of performance practices, such as: theatre of the oppressed, community-based theatre, psycho/sociodrama, theatre-in-education, and playback theatre. Prerequisite: THE 133, or THE 225, or consent.

THE 337 Voice III -Dialects: Covers the process of speech mechanics associated with patterns of speech other than Standard American. Requires knowledge of the International Phonetic Alphabet and Standard American Speech. Prerequisite: THE 136 or consent.

THE 340 Rollins Improv Players Laboratory: An improvisatory laboratory for students interested in exploring the boundaries of spontaneous and service-centered performance. Prerequisite: audition and consent. Graded on a credit/no-credit (CR/NC) basis. May be repeated for credit.

THE 341/342 History of the Theatre I and II: Surveys major periods beginning with classical Greek, focusing on theatre architecture, styles of production, key personalities, and relationship of dramatic literature to production styles. Suitable for nonmajors.

THE 343 Dramatic Theory and Criticism: Surveys important trends in performance theory and criticism from the pre-Socratic and Plato, to postmodernism and queer theory. Examines the ways in which the art of representation has been viewed, pursued, and misconstrued. Prerequisite: THE 210 or consent.

THE 350 Topics in Theatre: Explores practitioners, theorists, and historians in the field of theatre and dance. Second Stage series is the capstone of the course -- student directed, designed, and performed productions in the Fred Stone Theatre.

THE 351 Shakespeare Dramaturgy: Students will read, analyze, and explore a broad range of Shakespearean drama and tropes as a means and inspiration for generating written critical analysis and embodied creative performance.

THE 355 Acting for Musical Theatre II: Continued investigation into textual/lyric analysis and history, and context of different writing styles (including classical aria, 19th-century patter song, American standard, and Broadway and West End musical). Emphasis on musical theatre theory and terminology, text and sub-textual characterization, and the audition process. Prerequisite: THE 255 or consent.

THE 360 Forbidden Acts: The Queer Aesthetic in 20th Century Theatre & Film: Introduces students to aesthetics and theories through an examination of plays and films made by contemporary queer artists. Course develops students' abilities to read, view, and write about dramatic literature and film, as well as scholarly articles through a Queer Theoretical lens. Culminates in a performance piece that is conceived or adapted, rehearsed, and produced as a response to the material presented.

THE 391/392/393 Second Stage: Production: Departmental laboratory for student directors, designers, stage managers, and performers. Provides hands-on experience in all areas related to the production of a play. Prerequisite: consent.

THE 418/419, 420/421 Theatre Production -- Technical: Provides practical experience in technical/design work on major productions at Annie Russell Theatre. Assigns students to crews: scenic construction, props, painting, stage management, lights, sound, costumes, and make-up. Requires minimum 10 hours per week and attendance at weekly production meetings. Note: Majors must work in each of the following four areas: painting/props, stage management/lighting/sound, costumes/make-up, and scenic construction.

THE 422/423, 424/425 Theatre Production Performance A/B, C/D: Offers practical rehearsal/performance experience for major production at Annie Russell Theatre. Requires journal and final character analysis. Prerequisite: consent.

THE 433 Directing II: Advanced: Focuses on artistic collaboration, historical research, themes, and directorial vision. Emphasizes preparation and presentation of period scenes: Greek/Roman, Shakespearean, absurdist, and postmodern. Culminates in presentation of scenes for public viewing. Prerequisite: THE 333.

THE 440 Senior Studio Workshop: Prepares students for postgraduate study by developing auditions and portfolios.

Culminates in public presentations. May be repeated for credit. Prerequisite: senior standing or consent.

THE 480 Theatre Capstone: Serves as the culminating project, performance, or document for theatre majors in the acting, musical theatre, directing, theatre studies, or dramaturgy concentrations. With approval and guidance from faculty, students may elect to complete their capstone experience as a portfolio, performance, or critical/historical document.

THE 481 Design/Technical Theatre Capstone: Focuses on designing and developing an aesthetically pleasing portfolio that incorporates a capstone and demonstrates the student's capabilities and achievements for presentation at graduate school and professional interviews. Prerequisite: senior standing or consent.

THE 398-399, 498-499 Senior Project/Research/Internship/Tutorial: Offers four types of individual study:

- Senior Project -- Focuses on independent production project in acting, directing, design/technical theatre, or management. A comprehensive examination is given in the spring term of the senior year. Prerequisites: senior standing and theatre major.
- Research Project -- Involves independent research in theatre history, criticism, literature, design, playwriting, acting, or directing. Culminates in major research paper. Prerequisites: junior standing and theatre major
- Internship -- Places student with professional performing arts organization for one semester. Host or faculty advisor monitors student's work. Prerequisites: junior/senior standing, theatre major, and approval by career services and department in semester prior to enrollment.
- Tutorial -- Involves intensive research, writing, or production with instructor. May not duplicate regular course offering. Meets weekly and requires presentation and exam. Prerequisite: sophomore standing or consent.

Course of Study

DAN 170 Ballet I: Introduces fundamental concepts and historical background. Presents positions and barre exercises to build correct alignment, flexibility, strength, coordination, and ballet vocabulary.

DAN 175 Tap: Introduces fundamental concepts and historical background. Covers basic time steps, waltz clog, triplets, shim-sham, buffalo, cramp roll, and soft-shoe, along with tap vocabulary.

DAN 177 Jazz I: Introduces fundamental concepts and historical background. Works in studio on body placement and alignment through highly-structured classical jazz warm-up (LUIGI). Values clarity and quality of movement, rhythm, style, and use of dynamics.

DAN 179 Modern Dance I: Introduces fundamental concepts and historical background. Focuses on style, phrasing, mood projection, and changing dynamics.

DAN 200 Dance in America: Studies relationships of choreographers, critics, and performers to historical trends in the art form. Links dance to contemporary political and social issues.

DAN 203 Dance History: Follows evolution of Western concert dance from primitive times to late 20th century: dance in ancient Egypt, Greece, and Rome; Ballet Comique; Opéra Ballet; Ballet d'Action; and romantic ballet.

DAN 210 Dances of Other Cultures: Explores various regional and ethnic dances with a focus on non-Western dance as an expression of culture. Participation in selected dances will be augmented by lecture and film.

DAN 220 Women Leaders in American Modern Dance: Transcending from Sylph to Heroine: Examines the women who led the modern dance movement from 1900 to present. Focuses on choreographic works and politics surrounding the development of modern dance in America through its leaders -- Isadora Duncan, Ruth St. Denis, Doris Humphrey, Martha Graham, Catherine Dunham, and Twyla Tharp.

DAN 270 Ballet II : Drills pirouettes and longer and more complex "adages" and "allegros." Completes ballet theory and essentials of technique. Prerequisite: DAN 170 or consent.

DAN 275 Tap Dance II : Explores technique on an intermediate level, including all time steps (buck, soft-shoe, traveling, wing), Irish-over, Cincinnati, draw-backs, pick-ups, wings, maxiford, and riffs. Stresses speed, accuracy, and performance ability. May be repeated for credit. Prerequisite: DAN 175 or consent.

DAN 277 Jazz II : Concentrates studio work on more complicated combinations, changes of direction, and initiation of pirouettes. Includes historical research, critical studies, and vocabulary building. Prerequisite: DAN 177 or consent.

DAN 279 Modern Dance II : Builds on technique and includes history, theory, and vocabulary. Prerequisite: DAN 179 or consent.

DAN 300 Dance Composition: Introduces dance composition. Highlights personal invention, solo and group focus, and evaluative process in basic choreography. Includes readings and writings on choreographers and choreography. May be repeated for credit. Intended for dance minors. Prerequisite: DAN 394 or consent.

DAN 380 Studies in Dance: Delves into particular period, choreographer's work, or special issue, depending on interest of students and faculty. May be repeated for credit.

DAN 394 Intermediate/Advanced Dance Technique: Offers heightened movement experience with greater emphasis on technical development and performance. Includes weekly classes in ballet, jazz, and modern dance. May be repeated for credit. Prerequisite: consent.

DAN 420 Labanotation: Teaches system of movement notation invented by Rudolph Van Laban and used in dance, sports, science, and other research areas. Does not require knowledge of dance. Consists of lecture, studio work, and movement-recording exercises.

DAN 422 Dance Production: Assigns students to performing or technical/design role in production. Prerequisite: consent.

Changes effective Fall Term 2014

American StudiesAgee Arnold Houndonougbo McInnis-BowersAnthropologyParris Pett Rogers SteckerArchaeologyWarneckeArt and Art History

The Department of Business and Social Entrepreneurship (BSE) through the College of Professional Studies (CPS) offers a major in Business (with a concentration in Management), a minor in Business, a major in Social Entrepreneurship & Business, and a minor in Social Entrepreneurship & Business.

Asian Studies

The BSE programs are grounded in Rollins' commitment to educate students for global citizenship and responsible leadership, preparing graduates to pursue meaningful lives and productive careers. BSE programs are anchored in the Rollins values of Excellence, Innovation, and Community and the AACSB-International values of Innovation, Impact, and Engagement. BSE programs provide opportunities for students to develop a strong set of basic business skills combined with an understanding of current economic, political, cultural, and environmental issues consistent with the Carnegie Foundation's (2012) definition of the purpose of liberal learning "...to enable students to make sense of the world and their place in it, preparing them to use knowledge and skills as a means toward responsible engagement with the life of their times."

Australian StudiesBiochemistry/Molecular BiologyBiology

Key themes of the BSE programs are

Business and Social Entrepreneurship

- The Primacy of the Triple Bottom Line (TBL) in decision making
  1. Economic growth and development,
  2. Social responsibility and ethics, and
  3. Environmental sustainability

Chemistry

- Contemporary theories, practices, content, and applications in business from the Common Body of Knowledge (CBK)
- The global, ethical, responsible, economic, social, environmental, legal, and technological implications of course content
- Problem solving through analysis, critical thinking, creativity, innovation, and entrepreneurship through classwork and community engagement
- Applied liberal arts skills (analytic, reflective, and strategic thinking; problem solving; legal and ethical reasoning, quantitative reasoning; and effective communication)
- Leadership, interpersonal communication, coordination, cooperation, conflict resolution, teamwork, and team building
- Application of information technology skills for research, composition, communication, calculation, and presentation
- Broad global and strategic perspectives on contemporary business, social, and environmental issues
- Reflective examination of self in relation to the global and local communities, and to the diversity of people with whom they will work
- Application of knowledge through experiential learning opportunities (internships, service learning, community engagement, business projects, and case studies)

IMMERSION EXPERIENCE

All SEB majors are required to participate in one immersion experience. This requirement may be satisfied by participating in (a) a Rollins Immersion program, or (b) an approved international service learning experience (approved by the BSE department). Rollins Immersion exposes students to critical cultural, social, political and structural issues in the community through weekend and weeklong projects of civic and community engagement throughout the academic year. Rollins Immersion is rooted in the academic mission of Rollins to educate students for global citizenship and responsible leadership. Through direct community engagement, leadership development, multicultural education, discussion and pre/reflection activities students will be immersed in the big challenges and questions that face communities in the 21st Century. International service learning experiences also focus on social responsibility and enable students to practice 'global citizenship' while engaging in service in a different culture. Students should document their immersion experience, and may be required to provide supporting evidence or write an essay describing their experience.

INTERNSHIP

All SEB majors are required to complete a SE-related business internship (SEB 397). For SEB 397, students may complete (a) a local or international internship designated as a SESI internship by the Office of Career Services, or (b) an approved local, domestic, or international SE-related internship in a business or social enterprise (approved by the BSE department). Students register for local, domestic, or self-designed internships through the Office of Career Services. If an Internship is not appropriate for a specific individual, the student may petition the BSE Department for approval to substitute SEB 398.

GLOBAL EXPERIENCE

All SEB majors are required to have a global experience. This requirement may be satisfied by: (a) participating in a Rollins semester abroad program, (b) participating in an approved Rollins study abroad course, (c) by experience as an international student studying in the U.S., or (d) by extensive experience living or working abroad at age 16 or older. Students may be required to document their global experience.

RESIDENCY AND DISTRIBUTION

SEB majors must take all core courses at Rollins (except for courses taken by transfer students prior to admission to Rollins); at least one-half of all courses for the major at Rollins (no exemption for transfer students); half of all business core courses from the BUS curriculum (no exemptions for internal transfers); must take at least 16 semester hours that are not used to meet a general education or major requirement; and must take at least one-half of all courses for the major at the 300-400 level.

SOCIAL ENTREPRENEURSHIP MINOR REQUIREMENTS

The SEB minor requires seven courses (24 credit hours), including six courses listed below plus one elective from the list of approved SEB electives (see above).

DEPARTMENT OF COMMUNICATION MISSION STATEMENT

We develop dynamic communicators who think critically, speak, listen and write effectively.

We strive to embody this mission in several ways. We encourage freedom of expression, diversity of perspective, and tolerance of dissent to achieve the informed and responsible decision-making skills fundamental to a civil society and a global community. We cultivate the communication skills necessary to fulfill human potential and contribute to the public well-being. Finally, we promote ethical communication that enhances human worth and dignity by fostering fairness, responsibility, and respect for self and others.

The Department of Education offers state-approved academic and field experiences that prepare students to enter the teaching profession. Program completers are eligible for professional teacher certification in the state of Florida.

Students can major in Elementary Education (grades K-6) or minor in Secondary Education (grades 6-12) by completing a selected major in the intended teaching area and the Secondary Education minor.

ADMISSION TO AND COMPLETION OF THE TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAM

Students must apply for admission to the Teacher Education Program as soon as they declare an Elementary Education major or a Secondary Education minor. Students can find and file applications on the Department's website. The Director of Teacher Education notifies applicants of acceptance or reason for denial. Florida requires that students have a passing score on the General Knowledge Test (GK) of the Florida Teacher Certification Exam (FTCE) to be admitted to any state-approved program.

All students completing a Florida State-approved Teacher Education Program must pass all portions of the Florida Teacher Certification Exam (FTCE), including the General Knowledge, Professional Education and Subject Area Exams, and have an overall GPA of 2.5.

Students must be admitted to the Teacher Education Program before enrolling in courses limited to majors and certification students.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS

Eighteen (18) courses are required. All students completing Rollins' Florida State Approved Programs must take the equivalent of a college math course unless they have achieved a grade of C or higher in high school calculus. Students also need a course in U.S. History. Consult with an advisor in the Department of Education for assistance meeting these requirements. Elementary Education majors and Secondary Education minors must complete all of the following:

- foundation courses in professional education,
- elementary or secondary course sequence, and
- clinical experiences, including student teaching.

FOUNDATION COURSES

Sociological Foundations

- EDU 271 School and Society
- EDU 280 Diversity in American Education

Psychological Foundations

Anyone not approved for Student Teaching has the right to appeal to the Education Review Committee. In exceptional cases when a student needs to take a course during student teaching, the student must submit a written appeal explaining the circumstances. This appeal must be submitted to the Director of Field Internships at the same time as the student teaching application.

All Elementary Education majors and Secondary Education minors in English (6-12) must successfully complete the coursework required for the Florida English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) endorsement. Coursework for Elementary Education majors includes EDU 271, EDU 280, EDU 324, EDU 406, EDU 409, EDU 409L, and EDU 490. Coursework for Secondary Education minors in English (6-12) includes EDU 271, EDU 280, EDU 324, EDU 335, EDU 407, EDU 417, EDU 417L, and EDU 491. These courses are part of the already existing state approved teacher certification programs in Elementary Education and Secondary Education.

Course of Study

EDU 100 Contemporary Issues in Education: Introduces school organization and finance, problems of teaching, alternative schools, curriculum development, local control of education, and policy controversies. Suitable for nonmajors. Open to first-year students only.

EDU 210 Sport Psychology: Examines the primary psychological constructs related to performance in sport and athletic settings including motivation, performance anxiety, confidence, and achievement goals. Focuses on both theoretical and practical understanding of sport psychology, as well as the ability to apply these ideas across athletic situations.

EDU 264 Introduction to Educational Technology: Introduces students to basic technology currently used in elementary classrooms and provides instruction in the use of Windows, E-mail, Excel, PowerPoint, Netscape Composer, electronic portfolios, and the Internet as a research tool. The role of these tools in enhancing student learning and teacher productivity is addressed.

EDU 271 School and Society: Chronicles social, political, economic, and historical background of contemporary American school system. Demonstrates how social forces have shaped curriculum, organization, and purposes of formal education. ESOL infused course.

EDU 272 Educational Psychology: Covers child development; learning, evaluation, and assessment; and psychology of teaching. Focuses on motivation, perception, personality, intelligence, and learning. Prerequisite: education major or certification track.

EDU 280 Diversity in American Education: Examines cultural pluralism in the classroom: multicultural education, diversity and teaching, bilingual education, racism, tracking, and teacher preparation. ESOL specific course.

EDU 285 High School Sports: Contemporary Issues: Examines current issues in American sports emphasizing issues affecting public and private secondary schools. Topics include: gender equity, substance abuse (drugs, alcohol, and tobacco), faculty and academic concerns, the media, risk management, ethnicity, and other relevant issues and problems affecting school sports programs.

Theoretical base for reading and language arts methodology courses. Explores basic phonics instruction, reading programs in use, nature of reading and writing processes, and balanced approach to reading instruction. Prerequisite: Passing scores on the General Knowledge (GK) test of the Florida Teacher Certification Exam.

EDU 310 Teaching in a 21st Century Classroom: Offers students a first-hand study of the components of a 21st Century classroom. They will learn about cutting edge techniques, software, hardware, and learning styles of today's digital native.

EDU 311 Teaching Writing in Elementary Schools: Students will learn about the nature of the writing process and how to develop learning activities, where the development of good writing will be facilitated among elementary students. Prerequisite: junior or senior standing.

EDU 324 Curriculum and Educational Assessment for Diverse Learners: Study of the relationship of curriculum approaches to contemporary issues in school program design and instruction. Encourages cross-cultural awareness, language development, and academic progress of all students.

EDU 330 Counseling in Schools: Familiarizes students with values, myths, and realities of school counseling programs in U.S. elementary and secondary schools. Explores personal decision making, career and academic concerns, and social responsibilities.

EDU 335 Content Area Reading in Secondary Schools: Prepares teachers in content areas with tools required to assist students with reading skills. Pre-service teachers will learn strategies to improve vocabulary, reading comprehension, and writing skills, enabling students to better learn content materials. Prerequisites: Secondary Education minors; EDU 271 or EDU 272. ESOL infused course.

EDU 358 Strategies for Classroom Management: Teaches prevention or solution of problems through management of classroom, children, and curriculum. Reviews techniques to move children from external to internal control.

EDU 371 Diagnosis of Reading Difficulties: Covers administration and interpretation of reading tests and acquisition of the knowledge to plan appropriate strategies to provide optimum growth in students' reading abilities. Includes 25 hours of field experience. Prerequisite: Elementary Education major. Prerequisite: Passing scores on the General Knowledge (GK) test of the Florida Teacher Certification Exam.

EDU 385 Teaching Children with Special Needs: Emphasizes useful strategies for teaching special populations, including students with learning disabilities, mental disabilities, emotional disabilities, physical disabilities, sensory disabilities, communication disabilities, and giftedness. Includes field component.

EDU 406 Instructional Strategies and Classroom Management: Emphasizes planning, implementing, and evaluating instruction in an increasingly diverse school environment based on current research. Includes teaching field experience. Prerequisites: admission to Elementary Education major; EDU 271 or EDU 272. Corequisite: EDU 409, EDU 409L. ESOL infused course.

EDU 407 Instructional Strategies and Classroom Management in Diverse Secondary Schools: Emphasizes planning, implementing, and evaluating instruction in an increasingly diverse school environment based on current research. Includes teaching field experience. Prerequisites: admission to Secondary Education minor; EDU 271 or EDU 272. ESOL infused course. Prerequisite: Passing scores on the General Knowledge (GK) test of the Florida Teacher Certification Exam.

EDU 409 Literacy and Content Area Instruction: Presents methods for teaching reading, writing, and language in a constructivist, balanced, reading classroom. Prerequisites: Elementary Education major, junior standing, EDU 309, and EDU 371. Corequisite: EDU 406, EDU 409L. ESOL infused course.

EDU 409L Reading Field Experience: Both EDU 406 Teaching and Learning in Diverse Elementary Schools and EDU 409 Literacy and Content Area Instruction require an extensive field component. Students will spend approximately 100 hours teaching reading and content area reading in an assigned elementary school. Corequisites: EDU 406 and 409. ESOL infused course.

EDU 417 Teaching (Particular Subject) in Secondary Schools: Explores selection, evaluation, and use of instructional materials to adapt college major to secondary school. Prerequisites: Secondary Education minor. Corequisite: EDU 417L. ESOL infused course. Prerequisite: Passing scores on the General Knowledge (GK) test of the Florida Teacher Certification Exam.

EDU 444 Educational Statistics, Tests, and Measurements: Focuses on the basic concepts of educational statistics with applications to the theories of tests and measurements. Topics include descriptive statistics, inferential statistics, correlation and prediction, and test theory.

EDU 470 Competencies for the Beginning Teacher: Survey course taken during the student teaching semester. Prepares future teachers in the planning of instruction, organization of classrooms, and the management of student learning and conduct. Examines topics pertaining to teaching such as child abuse, assessments, and job-hunting skills. The ETEP portfolio based on the Florida Educator Accomplished Practices must be completed at the performance level. Prerequisites: All required courses. Corequisite: EDU 490 or EDU 491.

EDU 490 Student Teaching -- Elementary: Provides full-time experience integrating and applying skills in approved local school under direction of master teacher. Prerequisites: all Elementary Education major requirements. Corequisite: EDU 470.

EDU 491 Student Teaching -- Secondary: Provides full-time experience integrating and applying skills in approved local school under direction of master teacher. Prerequisites: all Secondary Education minor requirements. Corequisite: EDU 470.

EDU 496B Leadership Skills: Evaluates effects of leadership styles on organizational climate and productivity.

ELEMENTARY EDUCATION METHODS

EED 317 Music for Elementary Schools: Presents basic concepts, literature, and methods for teaching vocal and instrumental music. Workshop. Required for certification in music. Prerequisite: Elementary Education or Music major.

EED 318 Art for Elementary Schools: Examines use of art to foster child development and supplement learning in curricular areas. Explores sensory experiences, aesthetics and aesthetic education, management of classroom art center, and adult's role in child art. Participants experience an array of media and conduct art activities with children. Prerequisite: Elementary Education or Art major.

EED 355 Teaching (Foreign Language) in the Elementary Schools: Required for all students seeking foreign language certification.

EED 363 Social Studies for Elementary Schools: Delves into foundations for social studies, exploring human experience, environmental studies (including conservation), teaching strategies for inquiry learning, problem solving, and concept development. Prerequisite: Elementary Education major.

EED 364 Science for Elementary Schools: Stresses major concepts and processes of science: process skills, inquiry strategies, problem solving, environmental and ecological issues, and science in today's society. Prerequisite: Elementary Education major.

EED 367 Health and Physical Education for Elementary Schools: Discusses methods for physical activities for children, concepts and materials of health education, and values underlying programs of personal fitness for children. Prerequisite: Elementary Education major.

EED 368 Mathematics for Elementary Teachers: Content, and Methods: Combines mathematical content and teaching methods based on NCTM Standards. Emphasizes problem solving while covering numeration, measurement, geometry, statistics and probability, and number operations. Prerequisites: Elementary Education major.

EED 369 Children's Literature: Survey of the genres of literature for elementary school-aged children. Emphasis on techniques used to implement literature across the elementary school curriculum. Reviews recent research, major authors and illustrators, and literature circles as means of instruction. Prerequisite: Elementary Education major.

ANTHROPOLOGY TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

ANT 105A Topic: Great Mysteries in Archaeology. Examines the great mysteries in archaeology, including the building of the Egyptian Pyramids, the peopling of the Americas, the Classic Maya collapse, and pseudo-scientific issues, frauds, and myths popularized by mass media, such as ancient astronauts and the lost continent of Atlantis. Introduces students to real archaeology, and its contributions to the formulation of a scientific discipline, and enhanced knowledge and cultural understanding of the ancient and modern worlds. Analyzes Western and non-Western views of these variable cultural phenomena and dispels unscientific, ethnocentric, and even racist notions popularized by pseudo-archaeologists.
Archaeology Minor elective course.

ANT 205 Topic: *Chinese Calligraphy and Culture (2 semester hours only). Focuses on the study of the characters or ideographs that make up the Chinese (and Japanese kanji) writing system. Covers the structure and development of characters, methods of identifying meaning and pronunciation in unfamiliar characters, use of character dictionaries and the significance of characters as symbols of Chinese identity and as media of aesthetic expression. By semester's end students will be able to identify 150 common characters, know how to look up characters in Chinese-English dictionaries, and be able to make informed deductions about the probable meanings and pronunciations of unfamiliar characters.

ANT 205A Topic: Mythical Journeys. Compares the cosmologies – ideas about the order of the universe – of ancient civilizations of the old and the new world through the analysis of cosmogonies – ideas about the creation of the world. Focuses especially on the cosmologies/cosmogonies of Mesopotamia, Egypt, Mesoamerica, and the Andes, and emphasizes the study of the creation and recreation of sacred landscapes in myth and history.

ANT 205A/305B Topic: Third World Cinema. Examines, through a selection of major films, the development and achievements of Third World motion picture artistry from Africa, Asia, Latin America, and the Caribbean.

ANT 205A Topic: Rise of Andean Civilization in Ancient Peru. Survey of the prehistory of the Central Andean area of South America (Ancient Peru). Emphasizes the origins of civilization in this area during the pre-Inca period. Covers topics including the history of Central Andean archaeology, the peopling of the Americas, the introduction of sedentary and agricultural ways of life, and the origins and evolution of political and economic complexity. Focuses on recent, but theoretically diverse, cultural, historical, processual, and post-processual interpretations of Central Andean prehistory. Provides students with a solid understanding of the major Pre-Columbian societies of the Central Andes.

ANT 205B Topic: Pre-Columbian Art and Iconography. Survey of the major traditions of Pre-Columbian art and iconography – particularly those of the two nuclear areas of Pre-Columbian civilization: Mesoamerica and the Andes. Special attention paid to iconological analysis of complex iconographic representations of one of these traditions using a narrative approach. Art History and Latin American and Caribbean Studies major and Archaeology minor elective.

ANT 205B Topic: Race and Ethnic Relations. An interdisciplinary cross-cultural studies course, providing an overview of the social and political construction of racism in the U.S. Reviews the unique cultural and political struggles of Native Americans, African Americans, and Asian Americans as they attain Western identity. Interrogates the symbolic schemes that empowered Western hegemony, and analyzes the symbols and metaphors that have been part of the complex struggles against racial domination during and since colonialism. Cultural positions and representations are situated within the larger landscape of mass media discourses and depictions; therefore, also investigates the different ways popular literature, movies, and television have constructed or deconstructed racial realities. Addresses a foundational question, “How do we form our deepest subconscious impressions (our gut feelings) of the world around us?”

ANT 205C Topic: *Anthropological Perspectives on Love and Marriage. Investigates patterns of courtship and marriage from a cross-cultural perspective. Explores the biological/evolutionary bases of male-female relationships. Includes two texts on love and marriage in non-Western cultures and one non-Western example of fiction pertinent to courtship and marriage.

ANT 205D Topic: *Historical Archaeology of the Caribbean - Pirates, Ports, and Plantations. Investigates Colonial history of the Caribbean using archaeological, historical, and anthropological evidence of pirate activity, trade, and plantation societies. Discusses how pirate activity shaped Caribbean history and assesses the accuracy of modern day perceptions of pirates. Ports were important to pirate activity, but also supported trade between Caribbean islands, North and South America, Europe, and Africa. Discusses the history of trade between these locations, with a focus on alcohol production and consumption. Examines the development of plantation agriculture and its meaning for Caribbean economies and societies.

ANT 205E/ANT 305K Topic: *American Life 1550-1950. Introduces the study of the American past through archaeological and historical sources. Emphasis is on everyday life, ethnic diversity, and culture change in Eastern and Southwestern North America from the 16th to the 20th centuries. Fulfills elective requirement for Archaeology minor at 300 level.

ANT 205E Topic: *Native Americans Ethnohistory. Ethnohistory, as an academic discipline, has recognized for some decades that “history” is tightly bound up with “culture”— that is, that “history,” as a practice, varies from one society to another, and even from one individual to another, in accordance with their “culture.” The term that captures this recognition is “historicity.” “Historicity,” not in the more traditional sense of the veracity of “history,” but in the sense of the culturally determined manner of experiencing and understanding, constructing and representing, “history.” This course is about the Early Colonial (16th century) “historicity” of the indigenous peoples of the New World (with an emphasis in Central Mexico and the Central Andes).

ANT 205G Topic: *Food and a Green Planet. How industrialized countries produce food places our food, water, and other resources in peril, including our health. Explores how human beings in different societies produce food, and the advantages and disadvantages of the types of technologies used. Focuses on how we can grow food more sustainably in the 21st century. Students will participate in creating a garden on the Rollins College campus, to experience the joys and the challenges of growing their own food.

ANT 205G Topic: *Cultures of Colonial Asia. A survey of colonized Asian countries (e.g., China, Indonesia, Vietnam, India, Iran, and others) during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Considers the cultural values and religious traditions of these Asian societies and their response to the domination of colonial powers in light of recent theories about the nature and long-term significance of colonialism. Fulfills elective requirement for the International Relations major and Asian Studies minor.

ANT 205H Topic: Film and Culture. Examines American and international films through their portrayals of cultural values and traditions. Analyses of the images and narratives underlying these portrayals, and their influence on audience perceptions.

ANT 205J Topic: Ancient Mexico. Survey of the cultures of ancient Mexico including the Olmec, Teotihuacan, Toltecs and Aztecs. Issues including the origins of maize agriculture, farming villages, and rise and fall of great empires will be analyzed from the perspective of anthropological archaeology and ethnohistory. As a major non-Western, Native-American culture of significant achievement, it is important to gain a comparative insight into Mexico's remarkable past, since the past still plays an important role in Mexican culture today as well as how it is perceived by outsiders. Counts as an elective course for both the Latin American and Caribbean Affairs major and the Archaeology minor.

ANT 205J Topic: Mysteries of the Maya Civilization. Explores issues of the ancient Maya culture from sedentary farming villages to the emergence, collapse, and revitalization of powerful political states. As a major non-Western culture of significant achievement, it is important to learn about and gain a deeper understanding of the diversity of a great Native-American culture like the Maya who thrived here in America long before Columbus. Archaeology minor elective.

ANT 205P Topic: Anthropology of Folktales and Folk Culture. An introductory course that provides basic concepts of folklore study. Examines the dynamics and the transmissions of different genres of folklore as well as folk groups. Students will be exposed to many examples of folklore myths, tales, legends, and games.

ANT 205Q Topic: Nutrition and Culture. Why people eat what they do? Looks at how our evolution and biology have shaped our nutritional requirements, and then turns to a cross cultural examination of nutritional patterns and what needs they serve beyond basic biological needs. Final focus on the U.S. and a look at how business, politics, and cultural expectations all shape what we consider appropriate to eat and to not eat.

ANT 205R Topic: Native American Mysteries. Introduces a variety of mysterious elements of prehistoric Native American culture. Highlights archaeological evidence representing North American prehistory that has been difficult to account for in the past, and continues to affect theory and practice. Exposes students to new lines of evidence in North American archaeology and revisits evidence that is not fully understood.

ANT 205T Topic: Tools, Technology, and Time. Provides a critical introduction to the principles of physical science and the application of physical science and social science to study artifacts, technologies, and human communities in antiquity (P-GER).

ANT 205T Topic: Archaeology and Material Culture. Archaeology lies at the intersection of the physical and social sciences. Employs scientific concepts and physical science, archaeological, and experimental methods to study aspects of ancient material culture and human technologies in antiquity using a science and technology studies perspective. Includes physical science- and social science-based lab activities, seminar style discussions centered on key issues, and debates evident in scholarly literature.

ANT 205U Topic: Anthropology and the Environment. Examines the impact humans have had on the physical environment beginning with the “invention” of agriculture. Primary focus on contemporary human-environmental relationships, including impact on climate, water, and major ecosystems, and the quality of life consequences these human-induced alterations have on the environment.

ANT 205V Topic: Anthropology of Film with Laboratory. Investigates differing ways films have constructed, or deconstructed, social and cultural realities. Through major ethnographic documentaries and fictional cinematic productions exploring the social structure of various western and non-western communities, students will be exposed to the historical and contextual forces shaping the production of social and cultural representations.

ANT 305A Topic: New World Archaeology. Traces the development of prehistoric and early historic cultures in the Americas from the earliest inhabitants, sometime before 15,000 years ago, to the high civilizations encountered by the Spanish after 1500 A.D. Topics include Paleo-Indians, Anasazis, Mayas, Aztecs, Incas, and Spanish contact. Considers the influences of these traditional cultures on the modern world.

ANT 305A Topic: Aztec and Maya Civilization. Mesoamerican civilization from origins to Spanish Conquest examining how ancient societies and urban centers were organized in Mexico and Central America. Issues are addressed using archaeological data, ethnohistory including descriptions of Spanish chroniclers, and ethnographic information. Analyzes a non-western culture and enhances knowledge and cultural understanding of the ancient and modern worlds. Includes a required field trip to Mexico area during spring break 2003 (see ANT 305F in Off Campus Program Courses section of this bulletin). Fulfills an elective requirement in the Archaeology minor.

ANT 305A Topic: Family, Friends, and Folks. What is “kinship?” What is a “family?” What is “marriage?” How do their forms around the world reflect their social contexts? How do different kinds of social organization challenge Western assumptions about kinship and family? Explores how anthropology’s original interest in lineal descent has broadened to include deeper interests in the relationship between biology and culture and in the shared substances of kinship. Examines the roles that medical innovations in birth control, political controversy over marriage, new reproductive technologies, adoption, and immigration play in determining how we define family and family life. Students will gain firsthand experience conducting ethnographic interviews of local families through a service learning component of the course.

ANT 305A Topic: Mexico as a Global Culture. Introduces students to the study of Mexico as a global culture, from pre-Hispanic days to the present. Throughout the course the student will be introduced to Mexico’s ancient/pre-hispanic cultures; native cultures at contact with the Spanish world; Indians into Mexicans; problems of independence, revolution, and civil war and the founding of modern Mexico; the perils of economic development up to NAFTA; the globalization of today’s Mexican culture; and, the U.S. border and beyond.

ANT 305A Topic: Peru as a Global Culture. Introduces students to the study of the Republic of Peru, South America, from Pre-Colonial times to the present. Course will cover: ancient cultures of Peru from an anthropological point of view, with emphasis on Inca culture before and after the Spanish Conquest; a cultural anthropological view of Peru's indigenous populations, as depicted in the ethnographical literature; a study of present-day Peru looking primarily at socio-anthropological indicators such as poverty, inequality, racism, disenfranchisement of the indigenous populations, and social problems; and the impact of globalization on present-day Peru. Registration preference will be given to Latin American and Caribbean Studies majors and minors.

ANT 305B Topic: Anthropology, Fiction and Literature. How do you represent other cultures through writing? Postmodern critics have argued that it is impossible to write authoritatively about culture, or to achieve complete objectivity. In response, anthropologists since the 1980s have experimented with new ways to represent their experiences with other cultures. Students will learn more about these debates, will see that anthropology has a long history of exploring its concerns through alternative genres of expression, will read fiction and ethnographies that blur the line between fiction and anthropology, and will experiment with their own ways to write about research. Fiction not only brings other cultures to a wider audience, but also allows anthropologists to protect their sources when a direct reporting of events might lead to persecution. Prerequisite: One (1) ANT course or instructor's consent.

ANT 305B Topic: Gender, Feminism, and Culture. Examines how gender/feminist anthropology incorporates ethnicity/race, class, and gender as central categories in an analysis of social and economic inequalities in any culture. Analysis of case studies will illustrate the important contributions that gender/feminist anthropology is making to the fields of education, development, human rights, environmental justice, and migration and refugee studies, amongst others.

ANT 305B Topic: House and Home in Anthropology. Looks at the role of houses not only as physical structures, but also as fundamental elements of understanding human interaction and social relations. Studies examples of vernacular, popular, and modern domestic architecture from a wide selection of home styles in western and non-western societies to look at how social values, ideas and identity are expressed through the built environment and explain the significance of housing across different cultures.

ANT 205A/305B Topic: Third World Cinema. Examines, through a selection of major films, the development and achievements of Third World motion picture artistry from Africa, Asia, Latin America, and the Caribbean.

ANT 305 C Ancient Africa. Explores the long-term archaeological past of Africa. Topics include early modern humans (rock art, ornamentation, tools, etc.), ceramic and metal technologies, domestication of plants and animals, cities and states (Egypt, Jenne-Jeno, Aksum, Ghana, Benin, Kilwa, Great Zimbabwe, etc.), early entanglements with the Mediterranean, Atlantic, and Indian Ocean worlds, and contemporary heritage issues and concerns.

ANT 305C Topic: Florida Archaeology. Evaluates the historical development of contemporary archaeological practice in Florida and provides a comparative overview of regional archaeological cultures in the state. Recounts the emergence of archaeology as a scientific endeavor in the state (within the context of the history of archaeology as a discipline) and familiarizes students with the development of contemporary archaeological practice in Florida and North America. Prioritizes regional variations and commonalities in material culture and landscape usage across time and space within Florida. Demonstrates connections between specific cultural phenomenon in Florida and the broader context of North American archaeology.

ANT 305C Topic: Spanish Colonial Borderlands. Explores life in and around the Spanish towns, rancheros, and missions to the Indians in Florida, California, and Southwestern United States during the fifteenth through early nineteenth centuries, drawing upon evidence from early documents and archaeological excavations. Focuses on interactions among the various ethnic groups and the formation of the criollo cultures of early Spanish America.

ANT 305D Topic: Globalization and Refugees. Refugees are a global phenomena. Since the United Nations Convention on Refugees to respond to post-World War II refugees, people have continued to flee and claim refugee status. There have been a wide range of responses to these refugee flows and this course explores the causes and responses of these global refugee flows. Topics include the international definition of a refugee, refugee law, causes of refugee flows, the variety of responses to refugees, refugee asylum, repatriation, and resettlement. In addition, students explore the anthropological cross cultural issues refugees experience when they seek asylum and the experiences of resettlement in third world countries.

ANT 305E Topic: Anthropology of the City. Offers an anthropological approach to the study of cities and the process of urbanization. By looking at the city as a complex space where multiple and heterogeneous cultures overlap, explores a variety of environments to find the differences and patterns of contemporary urban life.

ANT 305E Topic: Women of Color. Surveys the interplay of race, class, ethnicity, and gender in the lives of women of color, particularly those living in the U.S. Addresses the major concerns facing women of color with respect to their history, culture, and everyday lives via a comparative approach and focuses on the commonalties and differences among women of color on a global scale.

ANT 305G Topic: *Caribbean Communities of the U.S. Surveys the various Caribbean communities presently living in the US to gain understanding of these unique cultural groups. Focuses on issues of migration, sociocultural adaptation, racial/ethnic identification, and transnationalism. Caribbean communities given attention include Haitians, Dominicans, Puerto Ricans, Jamaicans, and Trinidadians, amongst others.

ANT 305J Topic: Modern China. Chinese society since 1900 has undergone dramatic transformations at the level of the family, community, and nation. This course will look at the transformations Chinese culture has undergone and continues to experience since these turbulent changes have transformed the lives of its families, students, communities, and religious and political leaders.

ANT 205E/ANT 305K Topic: American Life 1550-1950. Introduces the study of the American past through archaeological and historical sources. Emphasis is on everyday life, ethnic diversity, and culture change in Eastern and Southwestern North America from the 16th to the 20th centuries. Fulfills elective requirement for Archaeology minor at 300 level.

ANT 305L Topic: Peoples of the Amazon. Study of indigenous groups and caboclos or ribeirinhos in the Amazon and tropical lowlands of South America. Examines the ecology of the tropical lowlands and human adaptations to ecosystems there during the prehistorical, historical, and contemporary periods. Explores how European conquest and recent developments in the region have impacted these groups, and the social and environmental effects of such cultural change. Examines ways that traditional caboclo and indigenous adaptations assist scientists and policy makers in developing strategies to use resources more sustainably in tropical Latin America.

ANT 305M Topic: Cinema and Society in China. Considers changes in the family system, gender roles, ethnic identities, class relationships and the urban-rural dichotomy in modern China as portrayed in Chinese films from the 1920s to present. Analyzes distortions in these portrayals in so far as they reflect responses by the film industry to economic and political forces in the People's Republic of China, Taiwan, and Hong Kong.

ANT 305N Topic: Race and Ethnicity. An interdisciplinary, cross-cultural overview of the social and political construction of racism in the U.S. The unique cultural and political struggles of Native Americans, African Americans, and Asian Americans will be reviewed as they attain Western identity. The symbolic schemes that empowered Western hegemony will be questioned, while analyzing the symbols and metaphors that have been part of the complex struggles against racial domination during and since colonialism. Cultural positions and representations will be situated within the larger landscape of mass media discourses and depictions; therefore, investigating the different ways popular literature, movies, and televisions have constructed or deconstructed racial realities. Finally, we will address a foundational question, "How do we form our deepest subconscious impressions (our gut feelings) of the world around us?" African and African-American Studies Minor elective course.

ANT 305O Topic: The Maya. Examines Maya society in the Pre-Columbian, Colonial, recent civil war, and intellectual renaissance periods. Explores Mayan self representation in complex historical moments by analyzing hieroglyphic writing, Colonial documentation, political narratives, and scholarly work. Focuses on Maya kinship and social organization, gender roles, village life, economic organization, cosmologies and ideologies, folklore and verbal arts, music and performance, and revitalization. Explores links between Maya language, personhood, oppression, and cultural tradition. Latin American and Caribbean Studies and International Relations major and Archaeology minor elective.

ANT 305P Topic: Medicine and Culture. People get sick or stay well in relation to their culture. Hunters, gatherers, and students deal with different health issues; explanations for and responses to those issues are products of culture. For students, disease results from infectious agents and medications are the treatment. For hunters and gatherers, disease reflects the soul's problems and shamans effect cures. Infection might be an immediate cause, but gods, spirits, witches or jealous neighbors can cause infections, so pills and herbs do not work until agents are caught/appeased. Pill consumption following shamans' work depends as much on economics as belief systems. Prerequisite: one ANT or BIO course.

ANT 305R Topic: Forensic Anthropology. Considers the basics of human osteology and the application of osteology to modern skeletal and crime scene investigation. Students will learn about basic bone biology and then move to discussions of the human skeleton, bone by bone. Students will learn to identify bones, teeth and fragmentary material, and will review methods for establishing age at death, sex of individual, ethnic origin, and pathologies. What can be learned about cause of death from skeletal material including how to identify projectile, blunt and sharp traumas, dismemberments, fire and water damage, will also be covered. Archaeology minor elective course.

ANT 305T/HIS 365T Topic: Asian Cinema and Society. Considers the historical development of cinema in the societies of East Asia, including Japan, the PRC, Taiwan, Hong Kong, and Vietnam. Connections between film traditions and contemporary Western cinema also considered, as are the interrelationships among the Chinese, Japanese, Korean, and Vietnamese traditions.

ANT 305U Topic: Applied Anthropology. Introduces applied anthropology by discussing the ways anthropologists can help solve problems in the modern world by applying anthropological principles, insights, and methods.

ANT 305U Topic: Sufi and Buddhist Mysticism. A comparative, interdisciplinary course on Buddhist and Islamic mysticism (Sufism) that examines the similarities and differences between the two major religious traditions. Topics include: defining "mysticism," key figures and social practices in different Buddhist and Islamic cultures, classical works, gender and mysticism, and Western appropriations of Sufi and Buddhist mysticism.

ANT 305V Topic: Culture, Politics, and Cinema. Considers the relationships linking culture, ethnic identity and nationalism, especially as these are interpreted and promoted in the cinematic traditions of developing nations. Film Studies minor elective course.

ANT 305V Topic: Anthropology of Film. Investigates the differing ways films have constructed, or deconstructed, social and cultural realities. In today's global society, the media is a technical continuation of oral culture; therefore, television and cinema are the new carriers of moral values, social behavior, and cultural identity shifts. Through major ethnographic documentaries and fictional cinematic production exploring the social structure of various western and non-western communities, students will be exposed to the historical and contextual forces shaping the production of social and cultural representations as depicted in motion picture artistry.

ANT 305W/PHI 3140 Topic: Women and Globalization. Focuses on the particular problems women experience due to processes of globalization. Gendered effects of globalization include the drastic increase of poverty among women and children, human trafficking and sexual abuse, low status employment and economic exploitation, and the responsibility for maintaining households in traditional societies where men have migrated elsewhere in search of labor. This course is linked to a field study trip to San Miguel de Allende, Mexico, over Spring Break (see field study description, page xx). Students should contact professors directly for application guidelines. Prerequisite: ANT or PHI major or minor. Fulfills elective requirement for Women's Studies minor.

ANT 305Y Topic: Diet, Health, and Adaptation. A look at the basic nutritional requirements for modern humans and how they have evolved in terms of biology and culture. This examination sets the context for examining adaptive and maladaptive aspects of modern diets in terms of the health of individuals and of the planet.

ANT 400 Seminar: Ethnohistory of the Maya. Covers the history and socio-cultural role of the Maya in Southern Mexico and Central America, from Pre-Hispanic days to present. Focuses on the Maya as the most enduring, adaptive, and challenging Amerindian culture of the New World. Provides the student of Mayan history and customs questions to ask about, and interpretations to infer from, for their adaptation and change to the world in which they had to live and successfully survive. Fulfills an elective requirement for the LACA major

ANT 400 Seminar: New World Civilizations. An advanced survey and analysis of selected Pre-Columbian civilizations of the New World, including the Maya, Aztec, Incas, and their predecessors. Examines the economic, social, political, and ideological organization of the great the Native American cultures. Provides an appreciation of the significant achievements of the pre-Columbian people, as well as insight into the major issues concerning the rise of civilizations in ancient America. Prerequisites: Junior and senior ANT majors or consent. Archaeology minor elective course.

ANT 405D/FIL 450 Seminar: Cinema and Society in Japan. Considers Japanese film in light of the culture and society of Japan. Japan has produced some of the world's most influential directors including Akira Kurosawa, Kenji Mizoguchi, Yasujiro Ozu, and Hayao Miyazaki. The range of styles expressed by these various directors (and others too numerous to list here) is extraordinary. As in any country, film is largely a mirror for society, and students will consider Japanese film as not only art form, but also as a medium through which distinctly Japanese ideas and viewpoints have been expressed for more than the past 100 years. Prerequisite: senior ANT majors or FIL minors only.

ANT 405 Seminar: Middle Eastern Cultures. Introduces students to the rise and development of the Islamic Middle East. Beginning with the birth of Islam as a religion, in A.D. 622, and continuing through the foundations of Islamic Middle Eastern culture. The course will cover a wide variety of topics ranging from gender issues, to ideological issues, to the problems encountered in today's Middle East. In addition to the regular tests in the course, a small research paper is required, as well as a number of two-page position statements on the assigned readings. Open to International Business, International Relations, and Anthropology majors, as well as Jewish Studies and Anthropology minors.

ANT 405A Topic: Family, Friends, and Folks. What is "kinship?" What is a "family?" What is "marriage?" How do their forms around the world reflect their social contexts? How do different kinds of social organization challenge Western assumptions about kinship and family? Explores how anthropology's original interest in lineal descent has broadened to include deeper interests in the relationship between biology and culture, and in the shared substances of kinship. Examines the roles that medical innovations in birth control, political controversy over marriage, new reproductive technologies, adoption, and immigration play in determining how family and family life are defined. Students will gain firsthand experience conducting ethnographic interviews of local families through a service learning component.

ANT 405B Topic: Anthropology of Globalization. Examines globalization from a holistic, anthropological perspective. Demonstrates how anthropologists have theorized related issues such as migration, nationalism and transnationalism, the rise of non-state actors, technology and flows of capital, gender, healthcare, and human rights. Through an examination of the processes and effects of globalization, students will be encouraged to see globalization not as an abstract process but as one rooted in real historical events that profoundly affect our world today.

ANT 405E Topic: Anthropology of Reality TV. What is reality? How do we represent it? What role do "reality"-based television programs play in shaping cultural phenomena? What cultural stereotypes do they perpetuate? Do reality television programs represent cultural realities at all? Course explores the emergence of the reality television genre from a global perspective and analyzes reality television programs from the U.S., Latin America, Asia, and the Caribbean as ethnographic representations of contemporary society. Students will examine the role of such programs in defining, perpetuating, and changing cultural practice, and will work with Winter Park senior citizens to film a pilot episode of a reality show focusing on elder care and issues. Prerequisites: junior status and ANT 200. Fulfills elective requirement for the Critical Media and Cultural Studies major.

ANT 475 Seminar: *Ethnicity and Conflict. Considers the nature of ethnic identity, nationalism, and other culturally constructed sources of group identity as these serve as the basis for conflict. Asian Studies and African and African-American Studies minor elective and International Relations major course.

ART and ART HISTORY TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

ARH 206 *Yucatan: Art, Architecture, and Culture. The Yucatan Peninsula: a mixture of Mayan, Spanish, and Latino culture. Using economic, sociological, anthropological, and aesthetic dimensions, we will separate the three cultures, where appropriate, as well as understand where they synthesize or conflict. The dynamic of interaction of forces is evident in every aspect of present-day Yucatean culture. It can also be seen in many parts of Mexico. With the northern migration of Mexicans, these influences can be seen in the United States today as well. This is a freestanding course with a service learning component; it can be taken alone or linked to a January, intersession, service-learning trip to the Yucatan Peninsula. During the service-learning component, students will be required to tutor Mexican-American children, as well as spend time working in a Habitat for Humanity program. Students must plan to participate in these activities, which will require at least three Saturdays of pre-trip time commitments.

ARH 280 *Topics in Art History: Politics and Art in the Modern World. Examines political imagery of the modern Western world, focusing on the 1789 French Revolution, American Revolution, World War II, Cold War, and the Vietnam Era, and dissolution of the Soviet Empire. European and North American colonialism, and 19th- and 20th-century socialist and labor movements will also be addressed. Introduces a wide range of art forms, including painting, photography, architecture, public monuments, caricature, posters and other popular culture, and analyzes visual material for its methods of communicating political ideas. Explores how varying iconographical, technical, and stylistic traditions associated with these media affect how the art is used and how viewers respond.

ARH 315B *A City Frozen in Time: The Art and Archaeology of Pompeii and Roman Daily Life. Often an ancient town's destruction proves to be an archaeologist's windfall. This course will focus on the Roman city of Pompeii, buried by the eruption of Mount Vesuvius in 79 A.D. Pompeii is often viewed as a moment in Roman daily life, frozen in time, with bread still baking in ovens and family dogs guarding the front doors of homes. The course is designed to introduce students to Roman daily life via the different types of evidence found at Pompeii (architectural, artistic, textual, skeletal, botanical, etc.) and to acquaint students with the various archaeological and other techniques used to analyze this evidence.
Archaeology Minor elective course.

ARH 315B *Etruscan Art and Archaeology. Examines the role of visual and spatial representation in the Etruscan culture of early Italy (900-100 B.C.), particularly the architecture, sculpture, painting, ceramics, and metalwork of pre-Roman Italy.

ARH 315C *The Golden Age of Rome: Art and Architecture in the Augustan Age. Examines the cultural context of art (painting, sculpture, ceramics, minor arts) and architecture in Ancient Rome during the time of Julius and Augustus Caesar (100 B.C. - A.D. 14).

ARH 355 *Special Studies: Impressionism. Why was Impressionism considered ugly and incompetent when it first appeared in Paris in the 1870s? What were the Impressionists' aims, and how could they lead to such different works as Mary Cassatt's domestic scenes, Claude Monet's landscapes, and Edgar Degas' ballet dancers? What historical and cultural forces contributed to the eventual success of a movement that radically changed perceptions and practices of art? Explores the origins, rise, and impact of French Impressionism in the context of French 19th- and early 20th-century culture.

ARH 335B *Special Studies: Sixteenth-Century Italian Art. Traces the stylistic evolution of Italian art and architecture from the 'High' Renaissance masters (Leonardo, Michelangelo, Raphael, and Titian) to Mannerism (Pontormo, Bronzino, and Guilio Romano). Themes include the role of the Renaissance patron, papal and familial propaganda, and the impact of the Protestant Reformation and the Catholic Counter Reformation.

ARH 335D *Special Studies: Roman High Baroque - Rome in the Age of Caravaggio and Bernini. Explores developments in painting, sculpture, and architecture in the Roman High Baroque through close examination of the careers of Michelangelo Merisi da Caravaggio and Gianlorenzo Bernini. Themes include critical evaluation of primary sources (especially artists' biographies), artists' working methods, relationships between patrons and artists, Baroque classicism versus Baroque naturalism, theatricality, the influence of new reformed orders, and the spread of the Baroque style beyond its origins in Rome.

ARH 335E *Special Studies: Early Modern Italian Paintings in the CFAM Collection. A collaboration between the Department of Art and Art History and the Cornell Fine Arts Museum. Working with the museum's permanent collection, students will prepare an exhibition to open in January 2012.

ARH 355A *Special Studies: Rococo to Revolution. Examines the dramatic changes that took place in French 18th-century visual culture, focusing on issues of gender, race, and power. Visual culture includes not only art and architecture, but fashion, interior decoration, and landscape gardening. Explores representations of kingship and queenship, women's empowerment within the restrictions of 18th-century gender roles, and images of slavery in an age of liberty, among other areas.

ARH 355C *Special Studies: On the Front Line of Art – The Avant Garde in Europe. Surveys the role of the avant-garde as self-conscious, outside critic of the dominant bourgeois society in early 20th-century Europe. Through a series of "case studies" combining visual analysis, primary texts, and historical contexts, investigates groups such as Surrealism, Dada, and Italian Futurism to better understand each group's stated purpose, its relation to the other avant-gardes, both before and after, and its influence on Western art history.

ARH 355D *Special Studies: Rebel Artists. Examines the phenomenon of the "rebel artist" in Western society. When and why did some artists begin to see their role as questioning or resisting the dominant culture? Who were their detractors and supporters? How did socio-political conditions appear to demand or jeopardize art as critique? What role did their art play? Focusing on art, biography, art theory, and historical context, examines the lives and work of selected artists, including Caravaggio, William Blake, Edouard Manet, and Cindy Sherman.

ARH 355F *Special Studies: Dada and Surrealism. A focused study of two prominent movements in early 20th-century Western art: Dada and Surrealism. Examines innovative cultural production of visual and literary artists in a variety of media, including painting, sculpture, film, photography, objects, and various publications. Featured artists include Marcel Duchamp, Salvador Dali, and Pablo Picasso. Through readings, lectures, class discussion, participatory activities, and possible fieldtrips to museums, students will investigate the variety of creative responses to a turbulent and fascinating era in European and American history.

ARH 365A *Special Studies: The Celluloid Artist. Explores ways in which films produce and perpetuate ideas about visual artists. Through examination of selected films, several themes emerge: the crazy artist, the outlaw artist, the misunderstood martyr artist, and the hysterical woman artist. Interdisciplinary course that uses readings in art history and theory, media and cultural studies, film studies, psychoanalysis, and philosophy in order to gain a deeper understanding of such films as Basquiat, American Splendor, and Frida. Film Studies minor elective.

ARH 365B *Studies: Modern American Culture Wars. Analyzes traditional and contemporary ethical debates and competing theories of how value is assigned to artworks, the role art institutions play in assessing that value, and how art 'works' or produces effects in society, with application to contemporary American art works, art historical movement, debates, and contexts including National Endowment of the Arts policies, censorship, and artistic autonomy. Also taught as PHI 240E Topics: Culture Wars.

ARH 365D *Topic: Picturing War. From Roman triumphal arches to the Abu Ghraib photographs, war has been the subject of much of Western visual culture. Imagery can be just as effective at promoting war and national identity as in questioning the ethics of armed conflict and other forms of large-scale aggression. Course examines the historical contexts and rhetorical strategies of the imagery of war in the Western world from the French Revolution to Iraq and Afghanistan; art forms include painting, sculpture, architecture (monuments and memorials), photography, and film.

ARH 365E *Special Studies: Art of the Harlem Renaissance. Focuses on the virtual explosion of visual art by African-American artists that came to be called the "Harlem Renaissance." Closely connected with movements in music, literature, and theatre, the visual arts of the Harlem Renaissance celebrated African-American life, chronicled African-American history, and broke new ground in experimental approaches to art. Offered as part of a multi-disciplinary, year-long experience honoring the life of Zora Neale Hurston.

ARH 365F *Special Studies: American Modernism. Early 20th-century American artists made important contributions to the development of such radical new art forms as abstraction, Cubism, Surrealism, and Dadaism. Explores these movements in America, tracing developments in painting, sculpture, and photography. Special emphasis placed on the art of the Harlem Renaissance, in keeping with Rollins' year-long celebration of Harlem Renaissance writer Zora Neale Hurston.

ARH 380 *Topic: The Jewish Artist and the the Emancipation in Europe, 1810-1910. Considers ways that religion, history, politics, anti-Semitism, and aesthetics affected the work of Jewish artists, examining how major art movements influenced them as they were freed from the ghettos during the Emancipation. Prerequisite: One art history course or instructor's consent. Fulfills an elective requirement in the Jewish Studies minor.

ART 232A/332A *Special Studies: Photography. Builds on prior technical expertise in camera and darkroom techniques and may include both analog and digital photography. Emphasizes critical thinking about conceptual and stylistic issues in photography, with the end goal of building individual portfolios. Course is suitable for intermediate and advanced photographers and artists, and includes field work, darkroom printing, and individual and group critiques. Prerequisite: Prior photography or studio experience.

ART 233 *Special Studies: Kinetic Sculpture. Bump, grind, and groove: Course explores the artistic potential of light, sound, and motion as integral components to sculptural work. Projects focus on basic mechanical constructs (ie: gears, cams, and pistons), as well as more contemporary electronic and digital media. Students complete four projects over the course of the semester. Coursework is supplemented by readings and discussions. Prerequisite: ART 120.

ART 332C *Special Studies: The Figure in Sculpture. An investigation of the figure as subject in sculptural work. Examines the stylistic and allegorical development of the representation of the figure through time, tracing its evolution from the ideal to the abject. Studio projects will revolve around the creation of figurative sculptural work in both traditional and non-traditional media, including but not limited to clay, stone, and wood. Please note: This course contains nudity and graphic imagery. Suitable for all art-majors and motivated non-majors. Prerequisite: ART 241 or instructor's consent.

ART 334 *Special Studies: The Photograph As Language. A service-learning course focused on the codes and conventions of photography that examines the communicative capacities inherent to the medium. The class will regularly travel to The University of Central Florida (UCF) to conduct workshops for patients with aphasia (an acquired language disorder). Additionally, students will pursue independent studio projects based around their particular area of interest with regard to the course. Appropriate advanced elective for majors, but is also suitable for highly motivated non-majors. Prerequisite: ART 293 or instructor's consent.

AUSTRALIAN TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

AUS 205A Topic: Australian Literature in the 20th Century. Introduces Australian literature from the 1890's to the present by reading and discussing a selection of Australian writers with an emphasis on writing by or about aborigines. Registration priority to Australian Studies minors.

AUS 205D Topic: Australian Dreams and Realities. Examination of contemporary Australian social life and attitudes through the study of literature and film. Prerequisite: Australian Studies minor or consent.

AUS 205H Topic: Indigenous Cultures in Film. Construction of Australian Aboriginal and Native American identities in film. The politics of film-making and the value systems and cultures revealed in the films will be discussed. Note: course ends at mid-term.

AUS 245 Evolution of Life in Australia: A Separate Experiment in Evolution. An investigation of evidence for a southern supercontinent, GONDWANA, splitting from northern hemisphere lands. Subsequent evolution in isolation, producing Australia's unique flora and fauna, especially birds, and egg laying and marsupial mammals.

AUS 245 Evolution of Australian Flora and Fauna. Traces the evolution of animal and plant life in Australia from its origin, as a part of the ancient southern supercontinent Gondwana, to the break-up of Gondwana, and the isolation of Australia. American connection to the evolution of Australia's unique biota is examined with an emphasis on advanced plants and vertebrates, especially marsupial mammals. Stresses convergent and divergent evolution shown by Australian marsupials after the separation of Australia from Gondwana.

AUS 250 Australian Ecosystems at Risk. Focuses on the ecosystems of Australia. Investigates the changing nature and variety of Australian ecosystems, examines the reasons that they are at risk, looks into the reasons for their protection, and studies strategies to manage the ecosystems. Meets on a shortened, intensive schedule from January 13 to March 3. Registration priority to Australian Studies minors.

AUS 275 Out of Empire: The British Dominion of Australia. Examines Australia in its British imperial context from 1901, the year the Australian colonies federated, to the present. Raises questions about race and colonization, power and privilege, education and indoctrination, and the relationship between the imperial center and the colonial fringe. Focuses on the imperial theme under federation, the rise and fall of the British Dominion of Australia, and the acceptance of the Westminster system.

BIOLOGY TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

BIO 340 Topics: Medicinal Botany. Explores the history, chemistry, discovery methods, mechanisms of action, natural ecology, and social impact of medicines, drugs, and poisons derived from plants and fungi. Stresses the use of taxonomic keys and identification guides for local plants and the learning of major plant families with important medicinal plants. Includes field and laboratory work with medicinal plants and their effects on animal systems. Prerequisites: BIO 120/121 and CHM 120/121.

BIO 340 Parasitology and Invertebrates. Emphasizes the study of the important parasite groups and related free-living invertebrates. Laboratories include a long weekend invertebrate field trip to the Florida Keys and reef, as well as the study of an array of representative living parasites through their hosts and life cycles. Emphasis on those species that are most important in human and other higher vertebrate hosts. Prerequisite: BIO 121.

BIO 340A Topic: Marine Mammalogy. Examines the biology of marine mammals using an evolutionary approach. Topics include the ecology, physiology, behavior, exploitation, and conservation of representative species of pinnipeds (seals and sea lions), cetaceans (whales and dolphins), and sirenians (sea cows). Course meets twice a week for the first seven weeks of semester. Student performance will be assessed by two exams, a comprehensive research paper and oral presentation, as well as preparation and participation in class discussions. (Note: this is a two semester hour course. Meets: TR 9:15 -10:45 a.m.; 08/24–10/07.)

BIO 340D Topic: Bioinformatics with Laboratory. Investigates the application of molecular biology, computers, and the internet to generate and manage DNA and protein sequence data. The lecture and laboratory involve generation, management, and analysis of real and archived (in Genbank) data, including that from the Human Genome Project. Topics covered include genome organization and evolution, archival (web-based) and other information retrieval, sequence assembly, alignment, comparative genomics, phylogenetic and evolutionary inferences, and analyses of protein structure and micro-array data.

BIO 340E Topic: Medical Microbiology. Applies basic microbiological principles to the topic of bacterial and viral pathogenesis. Focus is on molecular and cellular action of virulence factors, genetic control of pathogenicity, and the epidemiology of disease transmission. Bacterial colonization mechanisms and host response to disease will also be covered. Note: Two (2) semester hour course; meets Aug. 24 to Oct. 10. Prerequisite: BIO 229.

BIO 440 Senior Seminar: Evolutionary Biology. Focuses on student-directed discussion of two popular books on evolutionary biology, the organizing theme of the biological sciences. The books, Making of the Fittest by Sean Carroll and Before the Dawn by Nicholas Wade, lead students to primary literature to examine the evidence upon which the claims of Carroll and Wade are based. Students will also engage in the writing and defense of a 'library thesis' on a topic of personal interest.

CHEMISTRY TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

CHM 390 Topic: Introduction to Chemical Research. Bimonthly seminar introducing research skills, including searching and citing scientific literature and databases; use of the internet, spreadsheets, and drawing software; choosing a research mentor; developing a research proposal; laboratory record keeping; and research and ethics. Team-taught. Required for junior majors enrolling as seniors in CHM 498 and 499.

CLASSICS TOPICS COURSES

CLS 305 Topic: Gods and Heroes: The Ancient Greek Bronze Age. Examines the Ancient Greek Bronze Age through representations in literary texts (Homer, Iliad, and Odyssey) and archaeological evidence from ancient cities in Greece, Crete, and Asia Minor (Troy).

CLS 305 Topic: Magic, Medicine, and Science in the Greek and Roman World. Examines the origins of science and medicine in the Greek and Roman world, and the relationship of early scientific thought to myth, magic, and superstition. Readings are drawn from ancient magical and mythological texts, the Hippocratic corpus and other medical texts, and the scientific views of the philosophers such as Pythagoras, Plato, Aristotle, and Lucretius.

CLS 305A Topic: Greek and Roman Medicine. A study of the origins of western medicine in the Greek and Roman world. We shall examine how the Greeks and Romans attempted to answer the following questions: What does it mean to be healthy or sick? Are diseases caused by gods/spirits or natural processes? What should one do to cultivate a healthy body? In addition we shall ask, What did Greek and Roman physicians do and how effective were they in treating medical problems and performing surgical operations? What did the various schools of medicine believe and why did they dominate the western medical tradition for so long? Our readings are drawn from ancient magical and religious texts, the Hippocratic corpus, and selections from Galen and other medical theorists and philosophers.

CLS 305B Special Studies: Archaeology of the Ancient City. Today, the majority of the world's population lives in urban communities. A few thousand years ago, humans were moving from place to place in search of steady food supplies. Traces the story of this incredible development from the origins of agriculture and the first cities in Mesopotamia through the complex Early Christian communities of the 4th century AD. Explores the development of urban spaces and the key role that sanctuaries (the abodes of the divine) played in these ancient cultures. Engages students in interpreting both the primary evidence of the cities themselves and the texts that their inhabitants authored, as well as modern cutting edge theories on the development of ancient urbanism.

CLS 305C Topic: Archaeology of Food and Dining. The social contexts of food and dining pervade modern society. Business deals and marriage proposals occur over dinners and often with elaborate services of wine. Behaviors are dictated by the settings in which we eat. A family barbecue demands a different set of manners than a dinner at a five-star restaurant. Just as in the modern world, food and dining create a common thread of social rituals, such as elite dinner parties and funeral banquets that allow us to understand the societies of Greece and Rome. Course focuses on recovering these behaviors and rituals through the use of textual and archaeological evidence. Fulfills an elective requirement for the Art History major/minor and Archaeology minor.

CLS 305D Topic: Ancient Slavery. Explores the practices of slavery in the ancient world. Focuses on the moral, ethical, and human rights issues involved in the ownership of human beings. Emphasis placed on the unique features of ancient slave societies. Geared toward discussion of primary sources (archaeological, historical, and literary) as they shed light on the institution of slavery in antiquity. Art History major and Archaeology minor elective.

CLS 305E/PHI 314P Topic: Socrates and Sophistry. A study of the life and philosophy of Socrates in fifth-century Athens during the war with Sparta. The course examines the different perceptions of Socrates held by his contemporaries (Aristophanes, Xenophon, and Plato). Focusing on Plato's middle dialogues, we shall contrast Socrates' use of dialectic and irony with rhetorical and eristic practices of the Sophists such as Gorgias, Protagoras, and Hippias. Fulfills an elective requirement for either Philosophy or Classical Studies majors/minors.

COMMUNICATION TOPICS COURSES

COM 240H/PHI 240H Topic: Evolution and the Law. This interdisciplinary course examines the current evolution debates, asking how/why legal change happens and if it confirms an inevitable evolution of social policy reflecting shifts in U.S. social norms.

COM 315 Topic: Rhetoric from the Pulpit. Helps students to speak publicly with conviction, persuasiveness, and inspiration. Basic principles of how to deliver an effective sermon and review of the greatest sermons of all time, starting with the classical sermons from the Bible and continuing to contemporary, acclaimed pulpit masters. The class will have an opportunity to hear some of the best preachers in the area and critique their delivery. Finally, students will have the opportunity to write and deliver their own sermons.

COM 315A Topic: Professional Presentations. Utilizes classical roots to adapt to contemporary public situations such as presentations, briefings, symposiums, and group facilitation as students prepare for graduate school, careers, and community outreach opportunities. In addition to a text and other readings, students will learn from guest speakers, as they prepare, present, and critique diverse projects.

Prerequisite: COM 110.

COM 315A Topic: Public Speaking II. Expectations for professional and personal achievement include the ability to speak effectively in varied situations. Explores and practices various styles and types of public speaking, ranging from impromptu messages to extemporaneous presentations with question/answer periods, to formal speeches incorporating the use of technology. Through analysis, observation, reading, and guest speakers, considers options and hones rhetorical skills in preparation for a wide variety of situations. Prerequisite: COM 110 or equivalent.

COM 315B Topic: Performance Studies. Examines performance as a unique mode of communication in which we repeatedly engage in our daily lives. Examines special codes by which communicators inform audiences that their behavior is a performance. Also examines ways in which everyday behaviors involve performance, such as performance of social roles associated with gender, organizational identification, and cultural identity. Most crucially, will explore how performances shape identity and can be engaged more consciously and more critically. Students will demonstrate their grasp of course concepts through written essays, examinations, and staged performances. With advisor approval, this course may count toward a Critical Media and Cultural Studies major concentration area requirement.

COM 315L Topic: Critical Media Studies. Examines the history, structure, and function of various print and electronic media. By emphasizing the interconnectedness of communication and mass communications, this course elucidates how media help construct, reinforce, and transform personal identity, the meanings of romance and interpersonal relationships, and conceptions of gender, race, socio-economic class, and sexual orientation. Film Studies and Women's Studies elective course.

COM 315L Topic: Listening. The study of the art of listening and its importance in our personal and professional lives. Students learn to analyze, assess, and improve their own listening abilities.

COM 315Q Topic: Health Communication. Explores theory and techniques for communicating about health challenges from interpersonal, family, small group, cultural, and medical perspectives.

COM 315S Topic: Lawyers in Film and Literature. There is something in the American psyche that is fascinated with lawyers, and, not surprisingly, that fascination has frequently found its way onto film and in literature, from the classics to modern-day fiction. This course will examine how film and literature have changed the public perceptions of lawyers from (for example) the once applauded Atticus Finch in To Kill a Mockingbird to the greedy, foolish and arrogant Mitch McDeere as he passes for a hero in The Firm. The course will also examine why lawyers have long been a fit subject for film and literature, and the influence these media have had not only on the profession of law, but also on the politics, civil liberties, and social discourse of both earlier societies and current times.

COM 315T Topic: Performance Ethnography. Involves participating in and analysis of performances to understand specific cultures. Topics include the ethics of speaking with and for members of another culture; ways in which culture must be embodied and performed in order to be made real; and the value of creative and more personalized expressions of what one learns through ethnographic research.
Communication minor elective.

COM 315U Topic: Rhetoric of Religion. Explores various world religions as symbol systems designed to make sense of lived experience. Most religions are by nature rhetorical, because most religions aim to persuade others to adopt a specific world view and belief system. Explores the persuasive symbolic means by which diverse religions communicate their understanding of reality.

COM 440A Topic: Interviewing. Study of interviewing as a procedure applied in various ways by professionals in work situations. Business, research, and journalist/broadcasting contexts will be explored. Specific types of interviews include: selection interview, performance appraisal, counseling, discipline, exit, negotiating, telephone survey, focus group, organizational audit, investigative/broadcast reporting, and press conference. Examines interviewing from both interviewer and interviewee perspectives.

COM 440B Topic: Preachers and Preaching. Students will read and analyze some of the more celebrated sermons ever given, and learn techniques for public speaking. Students will give a variety of sermons, both the sermons of someone else and those they compose themselves, familiarizing them with not only with the history of preaching, but also with the experience of personally communicating a sacred message.

COM 440C Topic: Great Trials of the Centuries. Studies classic cases that affected, and were affected by, the culture of the times including the trials of Jesus, Socrates, Sir Thomas More, Joan of Arc, Oscar Wilde, and Lizzie Borden. Includes other cases that have significantly changed the course of American history, culture, and jurisprudence.

COM 440E Topic: Rhetoric of Religion. Explores various world religions as symbol systems designed to make sense of lived experience. Most religions are by nature rhetorical, because most religions aim to persuade others to adopt a specific world view and belief system. Investigates the persuasive symbolic means by which diverse religions communicate their understanding of reality.

COMPUTER SCIENCE TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

CMS 395C Topics: Data Compression. Provides necessary theoretical foundations for data compression methods. Emphasis on lossless text compression with a look at basic concepts of information theory, Huffman coding, arithmetic coding, dictionary techniques, and predictive coding. Time permitting, lossy compression techniques will be explored by studying problems of sampling and quantization, transforms, and filters. Prerequisites: CMS 170 and MAT 219.

CMS 395/495 Topics: Embedded Systems. Explores the development of embedded software systems such as those used in cell phones. Looks at assembly code the way it is commonly used in practice – to implement small, fast, or special-purpose routines called from a main program written in C. Will use a software tool that executes on an ordinary Pentium-class PC to build simple stand-alone embedded applications. Prerequisites: CMS 250 and 370

CMS 395/495 Multimedia Design. Project-oriented course focused on building multimedia presentations of computer science concepts. Uses Photoshop, some three-dimensional modeling tools, and Director with Lingo programming to create interactive, multimedia modules. Prerequisite for 400-level course: CMS 270.

CMS 395/495 Topic: Multi-Media with Objects. Students will learn a pure object-oriented language, a variety of Smalltalk, and use it to implement a substantial multimedia application. They will practice object-oriented design, learn to design and evaluate user interfaces, and learn to incorporate graphics, animation, sound, movies, web-browsers, etc., into their applications. Prerequisite: CMS 270.

CMS 395H/495H Topic: Networking. Study of the technology, architecture, and software used by systems of network connected computers. Topics include data transmission, local area network architectures, network protocols, inter-networking, distributed systems, security, and network applications such as e-mail, WWW, and FTP. Students will develop programs that run concurrently on multiple computers. Prerequisites: CMS 270 and instructor's consent.

CMS 395/495 User Interface Design. Introduces principles of designing effective user interfaces for a wide range of computer applications. Principles will be used as a basis for designing software and implementing user interfaces in Java. Students will build a complete interface for an interesting application. Prerequisite: CMS 270.

CRITICAL MEDIA AND CULTURAL STUDIES TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

CMC 350A Topic: Media, Peace, and Justice. Allows students to develop and apply talents and imagination to the realization of peace and justice through both the formal study of media as well as experiential education. Considers contemporary and historical media and the politics of filmmaking concerning peace, social justice, and the environment, while practicing hands-on learning as active participants in the production of the 2009 Global Peace Film Festival. Prerequisite: CMC 100 or instructor's consent.

CMC 350B Topic: Native American Media and Cultural Studies. With its frameworks to rethink assumptions about American myths and stereotypes regarding race, gender, class, ethnicity, family, education, and more, cultural studies provide important critical insights for examining historical and contemporary misrepresentation of American Indians in the media. Though a focus on both non-Native and Native media – film, digital video, television, radio, music, print media – traces misrepresentation and explores how contemporary indigenous people use the media to form identity, reconstruct the past, revitalize culture, and assert their sovereignty and treaty rights. Foundations are provided by an introductory section that addresses American Indian prehistory, the European colonial period, and the American period of American Indian history and experience. Prerequisite: CMC 100 or instructor's consent.

CMC 350C Topic: International Media. Examines flows of information, "news" and entertainment, across national and international media systems. Considers how technology, economics, and international relations affect the content, structure, and consumption of media, both globally and within specific regions such as Latin America, the Middle East, Africa, and Eastern Europe. Prerequisite: CMC 100 or instructor's consent.

CMC 350D Topic: Media Activism. Media activism is the use of media for social change. Examines grassroots and institutional media initiatives that promote development, political reform, and/or social justice. Looks at media activism in terms of actors, messages, and the structure of media systems. Prerequisite: CMC 100 or instructor's consent.

CMC 350G Topic: The Political Economy of Body and Food. U.S. culture bombards us with conflicting messages about what our bodies should look like and what/how/when/where we should eat: super-size fries, slow food, protein powder, tummy tuck, anorexia, obesity, community garden, genetically-modified food, food waste, food desert, and The Biggest Loser. By investigating the representation, production, distribution, consumption, and effects of food, course seeks to uncover whose interests are served -- and not served -- by the current cultural "menu."

CMC 350H Topic: Cinema and Modernism. Explores the broad relationship between cinema (a medium created in the late 19th century) and the Modernist cultural movement, one that reached its apex precisely as the art of film came of age. Begins by attempting to give a theoretical and historical overview of the term "Modernism" and by confronting the controversy of whether or not the cinema is "inherently" Modernist (either because of its ontological nature or its chronological positioning). Course then considers major issues foregrounded in discussions of Modernism including gender, primitivism, mechanization, politics and propaganda, nationalism, commodification, labor, etc. Under each topic, considers selected films that relate to the subjects as well as works from other arts and media: literature, painting, decorative arts, advertising, etc. Film Studies elective.

CMC 350M Topic: Solidarity, Community, Equality. Seminar focused on national, state, and local struggles for human and civil rights for persons who identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgendered (LGBT). Students will research a different aspect of LGBT inequality and will compose creative works designed to raise consciousness. Professor and students will also collaborate on a video project. Students must be deeply passionate about human rights and those with photography, Photoshop, video editing, and/or songwriting experience are especially welcome to apply. Prerequisite: Instructor's Consent, register in department. Women's Studies minor elective.

ECONOMICS TOPICS COURSES

ECO205E Topic: Economic Rhetoric and Crisis. Examines the role of economic rhetoric in shaping popular understanding of economics and public policy. Surveys institutions producing pop-economic knowledge from education to media, paying particular attention to the various interpretations of the current economic crisis. “The ideas of economists and political philosophers, both when they are right and when they are wrong, are more powerful than is commonly understood. Indeed the world is ruled by little else. Practical men, who believe themselves to be quite exempt from any intellectual influences, are usually the slaves of some defunct economist” (John Maynard Keynes, 1936). Critical Media and Cultural Studies major elective.

ECO 305A Topic: Economics and Cinema. An interdisciplinary seminar applying film studies to economic themes portrayed in the arts. Features a diverse selection of classic and recent films, discusses the economic issues they address, and analyzes the artistic devices used to convey those issues. As a final project, students will create and present a proposal for a movie including a synopsis of the story, its economic context, and an analysis of the ways it would express social-economic issues. Prerequisites: ECO 202 and 203 or consent.

ECO 305A Topic: Games, Rationality, and Behavior. Uses class games derived from game theory and cross-disciplinary experiments to develop an understanding of rationality. Drawing on readings in economics, philosophy, psychology, and evolutionary anthropology, explores the power and limitations of rationality as a core concept for understanding our behavior and ourselves. Prerequisites: two ECO courses, junior/senior status.

ECO 305A Topic: International Economic History. Traces the evolution of economic institutions from the Stone Age to present, paying particular attention to the diversity of these institutions across cultures. Studies the relevant interest-group considerations that motivate social processes, traditions, and structures – often asking, “who wins and who loses?” Major historical themes include the political economy of oil and war, colonialism and neo-colonialism, and punishment and social order. Prerequisite: ECO 212, 213, or instructor's consent.

ECO 305B Topic: U.S. Macroeconomic Policy. Examines the history of U.S. macroeconomic policies. Emphasis will be on monetary policy, but fiscal and other stabilization policies will also be considered. Specific policy decisions will be analyzed in detail. The history of the Federal Reserve System, and its changing role in Federal regulation of the macroeconomy and the banking system, will be discussed and critically analyzed. Prerequisites: ECO 202 and 203 (or 212 and 213).

ECO 305C Topic: Economic Impacts of Social Capital. Interdisciplinary course focused on interrelations between economic performance (economic development and economic growth), polity and transitions to democracy, social capital, civic engagement, trust, and institutional infrastructure. Roles of the state, the market, and civil society in building sustainable communities in a variety of developed and developing countries, and emerging market economies, including the transition economies of Central and Eastern Europe and former Soviet Union, will be analyzed. A portion of the course will also examine civic engagement in the Metro-Orlando area.

ECO305C Topic: Economic History of Conflict. Traces the evolution of economic institutions from antiquity to present as they relate to conflicts and war, while particularly focusing on the economic history of the U.S. and its conflicts. Studies the relevant economic interest-groups that drive social processes, traditions, and structures to interpret and understand histories encountered. This approach will be applied to several important historical conflicts throughout the course, concentrating on those particularly relevant to our understanding of current debates -- the Crusades and other religious wars, colonialism and neo-colonialism, the Cold War, several conflicts in the Middle East, and the political economy of the military industrial complex. Will explicitly tell the story from the (usually ignored) perspective of politically and economically weak groups (Native Americans, poor, Africans, immigrants, foreigners, savages, heathen, primitives, workers, labor-unions, etc.).

ECO 305C Topic: Rhetoric and Markets. Examines the differences between the actual functioning of markets, as understood by economists, and the political rhetoric about them. Students will thus acquire a “map” of the competing academic, social, and political positions that will go some way towards penetrating the rhetorical veil of ignorance obscuring the political discourse. Prerequisites: ECO 212 and ECO 213.

ECO 305D Topic: Comparative Modern Empires. Economics developed as a discipline in parallel with the British Empire, both as a mode of justification and as a critical voice. Recently, these debates have become particularly urgent as different economic systems come under the increasing pressures of globalization. We will compare the political economy of the British Empire and the United States, and attempt to draw useful geopolitical conclusions from the analysis. Prerequisites: ECO 212 and ECO 213.

ECO 305D Topic: European Emerging Markets. Provides historical background to the Soviet and East European economies between 1950-1990; institutional features of Soviet type economies (balanced planning, pricing, success indicators, etc.); patterns of economic performance under communism; conceptual approaches to transformation and elements in the process of transformation; development of capital markets; foreign investment; EU enlargement; case studies of national strategies and outcomes. Prerequisites: ECO 202 and 203.

ECO 305D Topic: Post-Communist Transitions. Examines the major economic problems of transition from centralized planning to a market-based economy. Focus on the problems of creating an institutional infrastructure compatible with markets and private property, in the context of real social, political, and cultural practices in post-communist societies. Examples are drawn from Russia and former communist countries since the 1980s. Prerequisites: ECO 212 and 213.

ECO 305D Topic: Transition Economies. Provides historical background on the Soviet and East European economies from 1950-1990; institutional features of Soviet-type economies (character of plan targets, balance planning, pricing, indicators of economic performance, etc.); patterns of economic performance under communism; conceptual approaches to "transformation;" elements in the process of transformation, and review of related literature; development of capital markets, foreign investment, European Union enlargement; and case studies of national strategies and their outcomes, particularly Russia, Poland, Hungary, Romania. Prerequisites: ECO 202 and 203.

ECO 305E Topic: The Economics of International Financial Markets. Covers current institutions and practices making up international financial markets. Interactions among national monetary systems, the forex market, and other international financial assets are examined. Students develop basic understandings of speculation, risk hedging, portfolio management, derivatives, fundamental versus technical analysis of stocks, and other topics. Also includes simulated real-time international asset trading via the Internet.

ECO 305J Topic: The Economic Policy Study Group. Economic policy issues of current interest are discussed and analyzed in a cooperative group setting. Topics are chosen collectively by the class members. Topics may include: welfare reform; issues in international trade; the flat tax; anti-poverty programs; social security reform; environmental policies; and macroeconomic stabilization policies. Prerequisite: ECO 213.

ECO 305K Topic: Comparative Theories of Growth and Technical Change. An introduction to comparative theories of growth and technical change. Classical, Keynesian, and neoclassical theories of growth will be presented and developed. Included are the Harrod-Domar model and its recent extensions, the Solow model, as well as recent developments in both classical and neoclassical endogenous theories of growth. Emphasis will be placed on empirical applications of each approach. Prerequisites: ECO 202/212 and 203/213.

ECO 305K Topic: Economics and Human Behavior. Human behavior is often 'economically irrational,' contradicting traditional assumptions of economists. For example, in their actual behaviors, people are often willing to give up economic benefits to enforce their sense of fairness or justice, or for other 'non-economic' goals. Surveys scholarly research on actual human behaviors, both the purely individual as well as social. Involves extensive readings, classroom exercises and quasi-experiments, discussions, and readings-based papers. Research in other disciplines relevant to a new understanding of economic behavior, and the latest work that monitors human brain activity that is also beginning to affect economics also reviewed. Prerequisites: ECO 202, ECO 203, ECO 204.

ECO 305L Topic: Gender Issues in Latin American Economic Development. Explores the relationship between gender and economic development in Latin America. Examines the evolution of women's property rights, access to resources and employment, and socio-economic position. Uses economic tools to understand the role that gender plays in various development models, as well as in the analysis of poverty, inequality, credit, land, and labor markets. Looks at the impact of economic change and economic development on gender, families, and the household, as well as women's responses to such changes via movements for social and gender justice. Finally, examines 'post-development' feminist alternatives to modernization that are emerging from the Global South. Prerequisites: ECO 202 and 203 or ECO 212 and 213.

ECO 305L Topic: Gender and Economic Development in Latin America. Explores the relationship between gender and economic development in Latin America. Examines the affects of women's property rights, access to resources and employment on household decisions, and local development strategies. Uses economic tools to understand the role that gender plays in various development models as well as in the analysis of poverty, inequality, credit, land, and labor. Looks at the impact of economic change and economic development on gender, families, and the household, as well as women's responses to such changes via movements for social and gender justice. Finally, examines 'post-development' feminist alternatives to modernization that are emerging from the Global South.

ECO 305M Topic: *History of International Trade and Finance. Traces the history of international trade and finance from the classical period, through the medieval period, to the modern period. Focuses on issues concerning the evolution of the institutions that facilitated trade and finance, and the impact that they had/have on economic and social behavior. Prerequisites: ECO 202/212 and 203/213. International Relations major elective.

ECO 305N Topic: *The Global Marketplace. Many economists herald markets as institutions that promote individual freedom, expansion of wealth, and social harmony; others condemn them for generating avarice, economic inequality, and social dissolution. Addresses how economists and others have interpreted the increasing scale and scope of market relations upon society historically, and applies these understandings to the global marketplace today. Critically examines several key institutions in today's global marketplace, including the WTO, NAFTA, and multinational corporations. Prerequisites: ECO 202 and 203.

ECO 305Q Topic: *The Global Marketplace. Focuses upon how economists and philosophers have interpreted and debated the proper role of 'the market' in contemporary global society and in producing good economic outcomes. Critically evaluates global market integration from a number of economic and ethical positions across today's political spectrum. Specific topics discussed include the World Trade Organization (W.T.O.), North American Free Trade Agreement (N.A.F.T.A.), outsourcing, and foreign direct investment (F.D.I.).

ECO 305R Topic: *Urban Political Economy. Explores the central concepts and themes in urban economics and urban social theory. Briefly examines the neoclassical perspective and shifts focus to the political economy approaches to urban built spaces and relations. The latter draw on radical and social theory to look at economic processes, forms of power, and cultural meanings as complexly determining the historical patterns of urban development and change. Course also presents ideas from sociology, geography, political science, urban studies, and anthropology. Themes include modernization and the city, de-industrialization, neo-liberal urbanization, forms of social exclusion, negotiation of urban difference and rights, and alternative urban development. Prerequisites: ECO 202,203, and 221.

ECO 305S Topic: *Health Economics. An application of economic reasoning to organization, delivery and cost of healthcare services in the U.S. Examines the supply and demand of health care, the market for health care professionals, health providers and health insurance, and the role of government in the health care market. Emphasizes comparative analysis of healthcare financing and delivery in several industrialized nations. Compares the performance of the U.Ss healthcare system to other nations, considers possibilities for healthcare reform in the U.Ss and discusses the relative merits of current reform efforts. Prerequisite: ECO 202 and 203.

ECO 305U Topic: *Economic Development of Latin America. Explores the key issues and debates with respect to economic development in Latin America. Begins with a look at Latin American economies in historical perspective (e.g., colonialism, independence/nation-building, and revolutionary movements) and continues through 20th-century stages of development and associated theories. Surveys mainstream economic development theories and their relevance to Latin America, as well as Latin American theories of development and underdevelopment such as dependency and structuralist theories. Also examines contemporary critiques and alternatives such as social movements, post-structuralist views, grassroots development, and gender and development. Specific topics to be covered include trade policy, debt crises, stabilization policy, poverty and inequality, rural development, and sustainability.

ECO 305W Topic: China's Development Experience. Introduces contemporary Chinese economic development in historical and global contexts. Delineates changes in China's economic systems across different time periods, examines domestic and international forces driving these changes, evaluates the performance of distinct economic institutions and policies China experimented with in the past six decades, and explores the challenges posed by China's current development model to China itself and other countries in the world. Lessons from the Chinese development experience and implications for the rest of the developing world and global capitalism highlighted throughout the course. Prerequisites: ECO 202 and ECO 203, or ECO 212 and ECO 213.

ECO 305Y Topic: Economics and Contemporary Social Issues. Through readings of current books on contemporary social issues, examines and critiques the author analyses and perspectives through the lens of economic ideas and the values they reflect. At least two of the books will be chosen by students in the course. Prerequisites: ECO 202 and ECO 203, or ECO 212 and ECO 213.

EDUCATION TOPICS COURSES

EDU 205A Topic: *Biblical Sources for Ethics and Values in Education. Introduces the field of ethics and values in education. Through the study of Biblical texts, students will gain familiarity with basic values and ethical teachings. Explores topics such as selfishness and dishonesty, as well as current questions of the ethics of ecology, biomedicine, and technology. Students will review teaching models and develop lesson plans utilizing appropriate teaching strategies. The required texts are a bible (any type) and Kidder and Rushworth's, How Good People Make Tough Choices.

EDU 205A Topic: *Education and Social Change: A Global Perspective. Examines education and social change in different regions of the world, especially Tanzania. Explores how education has been used by different States to achieve national political transitions (“promote democracy” and/or produce citizens), as well as by popular/grassroots group to resist state political/economic agendas. Fulfills an elective requirement for the African and African-American and Women’s Studies minors.

EDU 205C *Biblical Personalities as Role Models for Character Education. Introduces theories and models of character education using biblical personalities and the moral issues that they deal with during their lives as role examples. Character education as a field of study in education has many theories and proponents. Since character education is part of the curriculum in many schools, the study of biblical personalities and their stories provides insights for creating effective teaching strategies. When students develop character, they internalize the capacity to know the good, love the good, and do well. Jewish Studies Minor elective course.

EDU 365A/HIS 365A *Comparative Education in the 20th-Century U.S. and China. Examines historical evolution of policy changes, debates, and current issues in the context of political, economic, and social change. Fulfills an elective requirement in the Education and History majors.

ENGLISH TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

ENG 190 *Lord of the Rings Revisited. Whether you read Tolkien long ago, met him at the movies, or still wonder what he's all about, this course offers the pleasure of reading deeply into the novels, watching the films, and talking through how Tolkien captivates us with his visions of honor and friendship, obligation and desire. How do his hopes for global community help us understand our own?

ENG 190 *Magical Realism. When a man awakens as a giant cockroach . . . when an owl perches on a window crying sweet warnings . . . when a dead baby rises from the grave or the local shopping mall draws us into fairyland . . . what are we to think? Exploring works of magical realism, this course offers delightful metaphors, strange dreams, and a whole new way of understanding experience.

ENG 205 *Language Studies for Writers. Extends knowledge, appreciation, and effective use of language. Aren't words wonderful! If you as a serious writer want to grow more resourceful and polished in using English by studying its history, word roots, rhetorical devices, and stylistic possibilities, take this course and add to the tools of your craft. Prerequisite: ENG 101 or ENG 140.

ENG 329N/THE 350K Topic: *Troubling the Waters—The Plays of Tony Kushner. Kushner's plays challenge our values, pose compelling questions, and offer pleas for compassion and understanding. Aligned with the Pulitzer prize-winning playwright's visit to Rollins in April 2011, this course examines themes in Kushner's works including Angels in America: Parts One and Two; A Bright Room Called Day; the musical Caroline, or Change; and the children's book Brundibar (a collaboration with Maurice Sendak). Co-taught by a Theatre and an English professor, Troubling the Waters will consist of both close readings, discussions, and staging of scenes/monologues from Kushner's plays and adaptations. Previous performance experience is not required. Restrictions: Professor's consent required.

ENG 234 *Literary Themes: Caribbean Literature. Introduces students to the study of Caribbean literature with a focus on the legacy of colonization. Readings include slave narratives, novels, and poetry.

ENG 234 *Selected Studies in World Literature: Lyric Nations. Considers how a range of poets and writers from former British colonies fashion nation, national identity, and homeland in many fantastic, nostalgic, and resistant ways. Looks at poems and novels from Ireland, the Caribbean, Africa, and India, next to popular music and cinema forms (reggae/Irish folk/Hollywood film/American pop). Examining such motley cultural registers, we will ask ourselves how we imagine other nations and our own as both fabulous fantasy spaces and necessary political entities.

ENG 234A *Selected Studies in Literary Themes: Revisiting the Books of Childhood. Discusses the books that appealed to us when we were very young, and then moves to an analysis of a variety of fairy tales, exploring cultural, psychological, and philosophical interpretations of the tales. Six to eight classics for children and adolescents will be read and analyzed, chosen from works such as Alice's Adventures in Wonderland; Bambi; The Wind in the Willows; The Wizard of Oz; Peter Pan; Little Women; Tom Sawyer; The Yearling; The Lion, The Witch, and the Wardrobe. Suitable for non-majors.

ENG 234E *Selected Studies in Literary Themes: Great Speeches. Explores how great speeches have the power to move people. Looks at how fictional authors have used speeches to further their plots and how actual historical speeches have propelled social change. Will use readings, audio, and film to study works of Shakespeare, Wilde, Lincoln, John F. Kennedy, Gandhi, and others. Analysis illuminates the goals, values, emotions, local and general contingencies, and language informing text construction and interpretation. Suitable for non-majors.

ENG 234G *Selected Studies in Literary Themes: Gruesome Anatomy. The minute focus of a medical examiner during autopsy; the seductive cry of the carnival barker asking you to, "Step right in;" the varied ways in which doctors, both real and fictional, repurpose corpses for new ends – each of these acts associated with bodies is surprisingly similar to the skills of reading and writing well. We will read about bodies at all kinds of extremes: from medical cadavers, to monsters, to freak show performers. In the process, we will learn to think differently and more critically about reading by analyzing texts that are themselves strange, often both in subject matter and style.

ENG 235A *Selected Studies in Environmental Literature: Literary Habitats – The River Community. America is a land of magnificent rivers. Many of her finest writers have imagined their world and community in the context of their watershed. After a brief survey of the major river writers, this course will focus especially on Florida's waterways, the St. John's River and its local tributary, the Wekiva. Here, we will see, in political practice and field trips, how the ideals of our nature writers can help formulate a community plan for Central Florida.

ENG 235C *Selected Studies: The Poetry of Earth (L). This course is a subset of environmental literature, focusing exclusively on the best American nature poets from Whitman to the present. The course follows the development of an ecological imagination in the history of American poetry and features a creative project on a specific theme.

ENG 236 *Themes in Mythology. May examine mythology, epics, international folk tales, Greek and Roman literature, movements in European Literature, and Third World Writings. Suitable for non-majors.

ENG 241 *Images of Women in Fiction and Film. Focuses on the history and aesthetics of film and its relationship to literature. Emphasizes the female image presented in these two genres and examines cultural and intellectual trends that have influenced these views.

ENG 245 *Studies: Afro-American Cinema. Focuses on the film genres and theories that African Americans have shaped by their participation and presence. Students will confront a variety of sources, theory, text, and context, in order to amass a working knowledge of the body of work we call African American film. Fulfills elective requirement in the African and African-American Studies and Film Studies minors.

ENG 245C *Selected Studies in Popular Culture: Gender Images in Science Fiction (L). Examines hard and soft science fiction, and fantasy, focusing on cultural diversity in popular culture. Discusses metaphors science fiction offers to analyze social values and solutions to personal and planetary problems. Asks how we define ourselves as men and women, how genders interact, and how we come to appreciate the alien.

ENG 245D *Selected Studies: Black Women Writers. Women of Africa and African descent, including the Caribbean, are scrutinized in this course. What are the particulars of occupying a racialized and sexualized space in the Western diaspora? Paule Marshall, Toni Morrison, Alice Walker, Mariama Ba, Bessie Head, Octavia Butler, and Jamaica Kincaid all contribute to this layered position. Also draws heavily from theories of black women's writing. Such authors may include Hortense Spillers, Cheryl Wall, Barbara Johnson, and Bell Hooks. African and African-American Studies and Women's Studies minor elective course.

ENG 245N *Selected Studies in Popular Culture: Gender Adaptations. Given such contemporary shows as Extreme Makeover, we will ask whether our popular and literary narratives have "adapted" to allow for a greater range of gender identifications in the present. We will think about the different ways we "read" gender and sexual identities in autobiographical narratives, plays, novels, comics, films, and television. We will examine a range of sexual and gender identities from "straight" to "queer" – from acceptable, normative, and outrageous to outlawed, closeted, and pathologized. We will ask how these identities have varied radically over time and place. Finally, we will think about how gender and sexual roles in literary works have been reworked into Hollywood adaptations in such works as Susanna Kaysen's Girl, Interrupted, and Chuck Palahniuk's Fight Club. What is lost and what is gained in translations of gender scripts across mediums and across time?

ENG 255 *African American Film. Explores "black" cinema, its influence on dominant media culture, and its critical scholarship. Reading and writing intensive, and will feature independent and major films along with critical essays that explore the black experience as portrayed by independent black filmmakers and by Hollywood. Preliminary texts include Donald Bogle's Toms, Coons, Mulattoes, Mammies, and Bucks and Valefie Smith's Representing Blackness. Films may include School Daze (1988), Daughters of the Dust (1992), and The Best Man (1998).

ENG 259 *Exploring the Fringe Practicum. Explores alternative theater in Central Florida and provides practical experience with alternative theater organizations. Attendance at a series of experimental productions throughout the term and the Orlando International Fringe Festival required, along with projects for the Orlando Fringe Festival. Written series of play reviews, research projects on alternative theater, and individual class journals also required.

ENG 259 *Florida Noir—Fiction and Film. Explores the evolution of crime fiction in Florida from John D. McDonald and Brett Halliday to Carl Hiaasen, Edna Buchanan, and Laurence Shames. Also examines crime films from classics like Key Largo and Body Heat to contemporary Florida movies like Ulee's Gold and Wild Things. Film Studies minor elective.

ENG 275 *Studies: Afro-American Science Fiction. Critical examination of the black contribution to the science fiction literary genre including the novel, film, and theory. Investigates the boundaries of the genre on their own terms and will engage with critical discourses that have excluded the genre from the literary canon. Students will also confront marginalization within the genre, thus challenging their own assumptions about race and aesthetics. Fulfills elective requirement in the African and African-American Studies minor.

ENG 276 *Writing for the Future. How do we depict ourselves when we're communicating on the internet? How does our sense of audience shift? Course explores how our own personal reading and writing are being changed by advances in technology, how online practices are reshaping corporate and academic writing, and whether our ability to learn is affected by our uses of technology.

ENG 277 Writing in the Community. Explores issues shaping communities and writing forms intended to gain voice (political, environmental, social, etc.). Through compelling service learning projects, students write responses, letters, field studies, documentaries, or other persuasive pieces to gather public support.

ENG 290 Sophomore Seminar: Formalist Poetry. Formalist poetry is the main tradition in English and American verse before the innovation of "free verse" a century ago, and it is still prominently practiced today. Our aim is to examine these traditional techniques and practices to learn the mysteries of meter, rhyme, and stanzaic pattern from Chaucer onward. You will also have the opportunity to try your hand at formal versecrafting, if you wish. Prerequisites: ENG 170 and sophomore standing.

ENG 290 Sophomore Seminar: Magical Realism. A man awakens as a giant cockroach. What are we to think? M.H. Abrams suggests that such writers "interweave, in an ever-shifting pattern, a sharply etched realism in representing ordinary events and descriptive details together with fantastic and dreamlike elements." Magical realism is a new way of looking at experience, allowing us to fuse what we know and what we suspect. Prerequisites: ENG 170 and sophomore standing.

ENG 290 Sophomore Seminar: Short Fiction. Examines the short story as a literary form, with special emphasis on theories of narrative. Prerequisite: sophomore standing and ENG 170, or instructor's consent.

ENG 295 Creative Non-Fiction Workshop: Autobiographical Writing. Introduces reflective writing and invites students on the journey to the land of self. Considers self-expression via journals and memoirs, letters or confessions, poetry and fiction, songs of the self, familiar and not-so-familiar essays.

ENG 295 Studies in Nonfiction: Writing for the Future. Explores the forms and practices of writing online that are reshaping corporate, academic, and personal futures. Focuses on options for integrating visuals with text, exploring the potentials of cyberspace, and writing in a hypertext environment.

ENG 295A Studies in Non-Fiction: Writing in the Community. How do we give voice to private and public concerns in shaping the places we live? How do we become active members influencing decisions in our various communities (political, environmental, religious, social, or intellectual)? By practicing the genre of civic writing students will gain a better understanding of issues. Course allows students to develop selected forms of civic writing (letters to the editor, fact-finding summaries, field studies, proposals, documentaries, and other persuasive public project pieces organizations use to develop cases and gain support), write for an organization, and practice service learning.

ENG 295C Selected Studies in Non-Fiction: Writing Australia. Been to Australia? Preparing to go? This travel writing course lets us write in creative ways about expectations and discoveries, examining how our experiences of a place shape our knowledge and change us as individuals. Opportunities to write what we've learned and read about what we missed as we focus on the people, the place, and the mystique of Australia. Note: Students may substitute another country for Australia. Prerequisite: ENG 140.

ENG 300 Introduction to Professional Writing. Provides English majors with tools for analyzing writing tasks, producing effective documents, and evaluating writing quality, specifically in professional situations. Organized around four major types of writing that represent common tasks for professional writers – proposals, resumes, business correspondence, and technical writing – and the features unique to these genres. Culminates in a writing portfolio suitable for employment applications. Prerequisite: ENG 101.

ENG 300C Expository Writing: Argumentation. Focuses on strategies for persuasive writing, speaking, and presentation. Topics include logic, word choice, audience analysis, and presentation skills.

ENG 308 Shakespeare on Film. Few authors' works have been translated into film as often as Shakespeare's. This course will examine that translation process, the way, for example, the original Romeo and Juliet became Zeffirelli's highly romantic 1968 version, the hip hop Baz Luhrman 1996 version, and the American musical West Side Story. In addition to fairly classical film interpretations of plays like Macbeth (e.g., Welles and Polanski) and King Lear (e.g., Olivier), we will discuss Kurosawa's samurai version of Macbeth (Throne of Blood) and Jane Smiley's Midwestern revision of Lear (A Thousand Acres).

ENG 310 Studies in Anglo Saxon and Medieval Literature: Chaucer's Women (L). Examines the representation of women in a selection of Chaucer's middle English texts including The Canterbury Tales, Troilus and Criseyde, The Legend of Good Women, and The Book of the Duchess, along with some of his shorter poems.

ENG 310 Studies in Medieval Literature: Transformers in Medieval Literature. Examines transformers not from a different planet, but from a different era. Through readings of romance, fabliaux, confessionals, allegories, and drama, explores conditions that made transformations of gender, legal status, and social class possible, thinking critically about consequences of these changes upon earlier cultures and our own. In the case of medieval transformers, there is always more than meets the eye.

ENG 314C Topic: The Age of Milton. Examines the major poetry of John Milton in the context of the political and religious history of 17th-century England. Students will do a close reading of Paradise Lost and selected other works, including poems by Andrew Marvell, and will focus on issues raised by these texts, including questions of freedom and religious tolerance, gender roles, and the problem of evil. Students will be expected to do background readings in selected biblical, historical, and mythological texts and to be actively engaged in discussing the issues involved.

ENG 315 Studies in 19th-Century British Literature: English Romantic Poets. Examines major writers and writings of the Romantic and Victorian periods. Emphases may include works of either period, the forms of lyric poetry, the rise of the novel, or literary movements in their cultural contexts.

ENG 319/419 Studies in 20th Century British Literature: 20th Century English Novel. Examines the novel (both in theme and technique) as a reflection of the increasing complexity of life in the twentieth century. A principal concern is the passing of traditional English values.

ENG 319 Studies in Twentieth Century British Literature (Playwrights). Examines major writers and writings of the modern and contemporary periods. Emphases may include movements in poetry, fiction, or drama – especially those that represent experiments in new modes of expression at the beginning and end of the century.

ENG 324 Selected Studies in Minority Literature (African-American). Minority literary studies. Offerings vary from year to year. Suitable for non-majors.

ENG 328 Contemporary American Literature: Connie May Fowler. Offers a unique opportunity to consider trends in contemporary American literature through an examination of the work of Rollins' Writer-in-Residence, Connie May Fowler. Students will read Fowler's best-known novels and memoirs, and view the film based on her book Before Women had Wings. Class will be unusual in that guest lecturers with expertise in specific subjects, such as memoir, Southern literature, film theory, etc., will each lead a segment of the course. As a result, students will learn not only about Fowler's fiction, but also about how her work reflects contemporary fiction.

ENG 329 Studies in American Literature: Contemporary American Literature (Welty, Tyler, and Morrison). A critical and historical study of American literature in the last half of the twentieth century, from the end of World War II and the emergence of the Beats, through the tumultuous '60s and '70s, and on to the final years of the millenium.

ENG 329C Studies in American Literature: (20th-Century American Playwrights). A critical and historical study of American literature in the last half of the twentieth century, from the end of World War II and the emergence of the Beats, through the tumultuous '60s and '70s, and on to the final years of the millenium. Prerequisites: Junior or senior standing.

ENG 367E Creative Writing: Poetry. From the instructor, Billy Collins, "This course will be a study of poetic maneuvers. Using The Seagull Reader as our text, we will treat poems not as static containers of meaning, but as kinetic procedures. We will look at the gambits poets use to open poems, the shifts and turns that keep poems going, and the various types of closure that give poems a reason to stop. That is to say, we will look at poems from the poet's point of view. Our course is not a workshop, rather an examination of poetic tactics, yet students are invited to submit one of their own poems in our final class as an example of something we have learned." Credit: One (1) semester hour. Meets: Four consecutive Mondays (September 13, 20, and 27; October 4), 4:00-6:00 p.m.

ENG 390 Expository Writing: A Voice of One's Own. Explores current literary forms for the voice of the so-called "traditional" college student. Provides practice in writing techniques used by published writers who are, in many ways, peers, comparing these techniques to those used by classical and modern writers.

ENG 390 Junior Colloquy: Jane Austen: Fiction and Film. Focuses on the work of Jane Austen, regarded by many as the finest novelist in the English language. Through a close reading of her six novels and a close viewing of films those novels have inspired, students will discuss not only her achievement as a writer, but the ways different films have translated her style and stories into their medium. Prerequisite: junior standing and ENG 290, or consent. European Studies and Film Studies minor elective.

ENG 414 Studies in the Eighteenth Century (The Novel). Examines how the English novel originated in the work of such writers as Daniel Defoe, Samuel Richardson, and Henry Fielding and how it evolved through Laurence Sterne, Oliver Goldsmith, and Jane Austen. Explores the ways each author helped shape our modern ideas of such issues as character, plot, setting, and theme. Note: This course, formerly numbered 455, fulfills the British Literature requirement of the English major.

ENG 429A *Studies: Postmodern Culture. The content of this course will give new meaning to the term, “shock and awe.” The course will introduce students to the main theorists of postmodernism and apply their criticisms to a wide range of contemporary “texts”: novels, plays, magazines, films, music videos, hip-hop, TV, virtual reality, bodies, and architecture. We’ll learn what a whole lot of really cool terms like “historiographic metafiction” actually mean and be able to use them to impress parents and deconstruct reality, among other things. This course will ruin your ability to be a mindless complacent consumer of media — so be forewarned! We will read some fairly difficult material, but since no one really understands what any of it means, you might as well go along for the ride. So if you think The Daily Show is the most factual thing on TV, this course is perfect for you.

ENG 444 *Topics in Advanced Literature and Cultural Studies. Offers advanced study in literature and culture with focus on critical theory. Specific topics vary. Possibilities include theories of gender and sexuality, critical race theory, post-colonialism, performance, and formal innovation.

ENG 450 *Topics: Autobiography. Explores the history and diversity of the forms of writing one's life, from the Confessions of St. Augustine, to the dream visions of Carl Jung, to the prison diaries of Life and Death in Shanghai. Some lives will be read in common and others as part of a research project to be reported to the group. Each student will also write her or his own life, in a variety of short forms or in one accumulating record, as fact or fiction.

ENG 450C *Kindred Spirits: Exploring a Writer's Lifework. Discussing attractions to writers, we enter into a community of kindred spirits. Students choose favorites for a compendium of commentaries (analytical, creative, personal, critical), and review studies in English for first drafts of the Senior Portfolio. Prerequisite: junior/senior standing or instructor's consent.

ENG 467A *Advanced Creative Writing Workshop: Winter with the Writers Internship. Add-on section to the Winter with the Writers Festival, the Winter with the Writers Master Class, and the Winter with the Writers course. Students will submit creative writing manuscripts that will be critiqued by a Winter with the Writers visiting author. Students will act as teaching assistants in the Master Class and will receive hands-on experience in all phases of the planning and execution of Winter with the Writers. Prerequisites: consent, ENG 267 and/or ENG 367 Creative Writing--Poetry or ENG 367 Creative Writing--Fiction.

ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

ENV 205A Topic: *Human Impact on the Environment. Examines interactions between natural systems and human activities resulting in environmental change or degradation of the earth's atmosphere, water, soil, vegetation, and animal life. Provides historical background, scientific underpinnings, and examination of significant issues via case studies. Conservation, mitigation strategies, and policy changes implemented as a result of change or degradation also included. Suitable for non-majors.

ENV 205A Topic: *The Politics of Climate Change. Learn about one of the greatest challenges of our times and how climate change solutions can improve the human prospect. Introductory level course that examines the U.N. Global Climate Treaty, arguments for addressing rising carbon dioxide levels, and the resulting political tensions over energy consumption. Also examines and debates alternative ways to reduce risks and adapt to the consequences of global warming, such as rising sea levels and the relocation of communities.

ENV 205B Topic: *Environmental Restoration. Examines ecological issues associated with efforts to restore a wide range of natural habitats. Explores various restoration techniques in the context of long-term goals such as ecosystem function and biological diversity. Considers restoration case studies from a number of regions including Florida and Costa Rica.

ENV 205B Topic: *Introduction to Geographical Information Systems (GIS). Introduces ArcView GIS package, providing students the background and knowledge of GIS theory and applications. Designed for students with no prior GIS experience, but requires basic Windows computing skills.

ENV 205C *Geography of Africa: People and their Environment. This course covers the four regions of sub-Saharan Africa and examines the environmental, cultural, economic, and social processes that shape the continent. Current event issues are covered. African and African-American Studies minor elective.

ENV 205D Topic: *The Living Planet. Studies the ways plants and animals have adapted through evolution and colonized the various biomes (tundra, forests, lakes, streams, grasslands, etc.). Course examines diversity of life forms and interdependence between plants/animals and environment, and the place of humans in ecosystems. Implications of human alteration of natural biomes will be addressed. Restoration efforts will be used to illustrate human efforts to be stewards, not destroyers, of natural environments; to conserve, protect, and restore our biosphere to, therefore, sustain it and draw sustenance from it.

ENV 205J Topic: *Eco-justice. An inquiry into the policies that promote or hinder environmental justice and social equity. Analyzes the causes and effects of disasters with lingering ecological consequences, such as Love Canal, the failure of levees in New Orleans, the effects of strip mining for coal, and the Chernobyl and Bhopal tragedies.

ENV 215M Topic: *The Art of Landscape Design - From Renaissance Garden to Restoration Ecology. The health of a society is discerned by the quality of its landscape and the manner in which it is designed. The Renaissance Garden is the point of origin for this class. From this early effort to reunite humanity and nature, the evolution of landscape design will be studied. Culminates with studies of Bok Tower Gardens and the Genius Reserve, and concludes with project implementation. There will be three (3) Sunday field study excursions.

ENV 305 Topic: *Environment and Development in the Andes. Explores the potential for sustainable development in one of the richest cultural and biological regions on earth. Emphasizes the role of geography and history in shaping the present economic landscape of the Andes. Students enrolled in this course must also enroll in the 10-day field study (ENV 305F), which runs from May 12-21, 2009, in the Ecuadorian Andes. Field study sites include the Choco/Andean cloud forest; Cotopaxi National Park; rural indigenous markets; and the colonial center of Quito, a World Heritage Site. Co-requisite course: ENV 305F; fulfills an elective requirement in the Sustainable Development minor.

ENV 305A Topic: *Advocating Environmental Reform. Students will be introduced to the advocacy process at the core of the American social and political system and allowed to practice articulating, explaining, and criticizing the status quo. Participants will understand the ways and means, as well as the necessity, for transforming existing power relationships at the state and national levels to protect people, property, and wildlife.

ENV 305A Topic: *Physical Geography of the Americas. Why do the Americas support such a spectacular range of physical environments? What forces have shaped the natural history of these regions? What kind of relationship do people have with the physical landscape in these places? Course explores a wide range of critical environmental regions including Baja California, the Amazon, the Caribbean islands, and the Pacific Northwest. Prerequisite: register in department.

ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES FALL TERM INITIATIVE From Manifest Destiny to Environmental Sustainability: Rediscovering the Landscape of the Americas.

A semester-long learning experience designed around four linked courses sharing a common theme of environmental sustainability through which students gain a better understanding of both the American landscape and the key principles of sustainability. All students participating take ENV 305A Topic: Physical Geography of the Americas, ENV 305B Topic: Principles of Sustainability, ENV 305C Topic: American Environmental Thought, and ENV 305D The American Landscape in Film as a group, and no other courses (see course descriptions on next page). The block schedule allows a mid-semester, twelve-day field study in the Pacific Northwest that engages students in some of the most innovative developments in the areas of environmental planning, green architecture, habitat restoration, national parks, and sustainable agriculture. Students completing the program satisfy requirements for the Environmental Studies major with the exception of the six core courses. Prerequisite: consent of instructor. Field Study Highlights: Portland, Columbia River Gorge, Mt. Rainier, and/or Olympic National Park. Travel Dates: Sept. 21 to Oct. 2. Field Experience Cost: Approximately $950. Credit: total of 16 semester hours for four-course block, standard letter grades. To Register or for More Information Contact: Dr. L. Lines, llines@rollins.edu, 407-646-6377, or Dr. B. Allen, ballen@rollins.edu, 407-646-2647. Registration Deadline: April 3, 2009.

ENV 305A Topic: *Wildlife Restoration. Explores techniques for restoring habitat and lands for the conservation or reintroduction of wildlife. Topics include the concepts of habitat and niche for wildlife species, how to monitor wildlife populations, restoration planning for wildlife, and case histories of restoration projects for wildlife.

ENV 305B Topic: Principles of Sustainability. Why has sustainability suddenly become a major societal focus? What does sustainability mean? And what, exactly, are we trying to sustain? Prerequisite: instructor's consent; register in department.

ENV 305B Topic: Sustainable Development and Conservation in East Africa. An examination of the natural resources and conservation efforts in savannah and highland habitats of East Africa. Conservation of these resources for future generations, while meeting the basic material needs of the people in the region, is also discussed. Explores the issue of conflict between local people and the national parks over economic benefits of the parks. Prerequisites: Concurrent enrollment in ENV and consent.

ENV 305C Topic: American Environmental Thought. How have environmental attitudes shaped the American experience? How has the unique American experience shaped our approach to the environment? Explores the ideas of a diverse group of American thinkers including Thoreau, Olmsted, Muir, Leopold, Carson, Daly, and others. Prerequisite: register in department.

ENV 305D Topic: The American Landscape in Film. What ideas have played a key role in shaping depictions of the American landscape in film? To what extent are these ideas valid? What are the strengths and limitations of film as a medium for communicating ideas about the American landscape? Explores these questions through a wide range of films including Black Robe, The Motorcycle Diaries, Koyaanisqatsi, and The Fast Runner. Prerequisite: register in department.

ENV 305D The Unsettling of America. Examines the profound changes in the American landscape tied to large-scale development and globalization. Emphasizes the farmlands, water projects, and cities of the American West.

ENV 305G Topic: Birds and Pollinators. Due to the variety and uniqueness of Florida ecosystems, peninsular Florida hosts an amazing diversity of mobile organisms! In Birds and Pollinators students will learn about the many species of birds and pollinators of the peninsula. Both birds and pollinators can play crucial roles in shaping ecosystems and the services that ecosystems provide to humanity. Focus will be on taxonomy, physiology, behavior and conservation issues, all while identifying and exploring these organisms in the field. Two Saturday field trips will be required.

ENV 305J Topic: Food, Culture, and Environment. Is agriculture about more than just producing food? Is modern agriculture sustainable? Do Americans view food differently than people in other countries? Is organic agriculture really everything it's "cracked-up" to be? These kinds of questions lie at the heart of our exploration of food, culture, and the environment.

ENV 315A Landscapes of Promise, Landscapes of Conflict. Focuses on three signature landscapes (Southern California, Florida, and the Pacific Northwest) and the cultural response to their urbanization since World War II. Works of film and literature will be analyzed to enhance the understanding of efforts to find a balance between demands for development and the desire to maintain historic landscape values. Special emphasis will be placed on Portland, Oregon, a national leader in urban sustainability. This course is linked to Landscapes of Promise: Oregon Field Study.

10/07/10

ENV 350 Topics: Case Studies in Sustainable Development. Uses case studies to evaluate attempts to implement sustainable development programs in the service of social, economic, and ecological reforms. Prepares students for field study in sustainable development in Costa Rica.

EUROPEAN STUDIES TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

EUR 224/324 Seminar: The Empire Strikes Back. From the nineteenth through the early twentieth centuries, many countries in Europe maintained a far-flung empire. As late as 1900, the majority of Africa, Polynesia, and Asia were governed by European powers. Provides an overview of how writers (from Kipling to Said), artists (from Delacroix to Picasso), and films (from Tarzan to the many versions of The Jungle Book) have looked at this period. Prerequisites: 300-level course requires FRN 202 or GMN 202 and incorporates assignments in the language. European Studies minor elective.

FILM STUDIES TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

FIL 250/450 Topics/Seminar Visions of America in Film. Examines the different ways 'America' is depicted in the cinema. Begins with a historical and theoretical overview of 'America' and confronts how contemporary film both represents and constructs our understanding of 'America.' Through seminar discussions organized in three thematic units, 'The American West,' 'The American City,' and 'The Other Americas,' considers issues central to discussions of 'America' including myth, frontier, Manifest Destiny, nationalism, natural resources, Americana, and race, class, and gender, etc. Within each unit, discusses a selection of readings and a wide range of films that relate to the topics. Films may include Chinatown, Thelma and Louise, Easy Rider, Do the Right Thing, 8 Mile, Maria Full of Grace, and The Motorcycle Diaries.

FIL 350A Topic: Making a Full Length Film. Students will make a full-length film (about 80 minutes running time) by completing processes of script development, story boarding, casting, filming, and post-production. All filming must take place during the fall 2010 semester. Script creation, however, may be completed during summer 2010. Students will sign up for the course as part of a team of filmmakers. Ideally, teams will be comprised of four individuals (at least one team member should have a comfortable knowledge of Apple® Final Cut®, Adobe® Premiere®, or other film editing programs). Special permission of the instructor required for a smaller group of two or three individuals. Each group must have their own portable external hard drive dedicated to storing all the work. For more information, contact Prof. Boles (wboles@rollins.edu). Prerequisite: Enrollment by consent of the instructor only.

FIL 350B Topic: The Visual Geography of Film. Why do films exert such a powerful influence on our understanding and perception of place? How do various film elements (e.g., cinematography, editing, mis-en-scene, narrative, or sound) work together to convey a strong sense of visual geography? What are the strengths and limitations of film as a medium for communicating ideas about place? These questions lie at the heart of our exploration of the visual geography of film. Films discussed include Before Sunrise, The Motorcycle Diaries, Babel, The Thin Red Line, and Manhattan.

FIL 450 Film Studies Seminar: Sex and the Working Girl: Film, Feminism, and the Proletariat. Considers representations of sexuality and work in American film from predominantly feminist perspectives. Students develop their own filmic perspective by way of analysis essays, and enrich their understanding of film by considering the trajectory of work and sex in the West's recent history.

FIL 450 Artists and Film. Explores cultural conceptions of the role of art and artists in Western culture as seen through film. What do films reveal about persistent stereotypes of the "crazy artist," the "outlaw artist," "the martyr artist," and the "victimized woman artist?" Where do these ideas originate and how do the cinema and film as a medium participate in supporting or resisting them? In addition to films about artists made by directors or actors, such as Frida and Pollock, the course explores films made by artists about artists, like Basquiat, and artist-director collaborations like Un Chien Andalou. FIL elec, ARH elec.

FIL 450/ANT 405D Seminar: Cinema and Society in Japan. Considers Japanese film in light of the culture and society of Japan. Japan has produced some of the world's most influential directors including Akira Kurosawa, Kenji Mizoguchi, Yasujiro Ozu, and Hayao Miyazaki. The range of styles expressed by these various directors (and others too numerous to list here) is extraordinary. As in any country, film is largely a mirror for society, and students will consider Japanese film as not only art form, but also as a medium through which distinctly Japanese ideas and viewpoints have been expressed for more than the past 100 years. Prerequisite: senior ANT majors or FIL minors only.

HISTORY TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

HIS 120 *Decade of Decision: Blacks, Babes, and Bathtub Gin. Examines the political, social, economic, cultural, and diplomatic history of the United States during the 1920s. Starting with the end of World War I, charts the great migration of African-Americans to the north, the agricultural depression, the rise of jazz and the flapper era, America in the age of isolation, and the general excitement, dislocation, and discontent that accompanied this pivotal decade.

HIS 120 *Decade of Decision: The Mexican Revolution 1910-1920. The Mexican Revolution was the first major revolution of the twentieth century. It consumed the lives of millions of Mexicans, devastated Mexico's economic and social institutions, and significantly altered the course of the country's development. Examines the causes of the revolution, the political ideologies that motivated the contending factions, the social and economic effects of the conflict, the military course of the struggle, and the international interests that played an important role in the upheaval. Concludes by looking at how the revolution shaped Mexico in subsequent decades.

HIS 120 *Decade of Decision: The 1780s: War, Constitution, and Revolt – The Birth of the United States. Examines the decade of the 1780s. Considers the end of the Revolutionary War, the debate over the Constitution, Shay's Rebellion, and the Whiskey Rebellion, along with the everyday life of men, women, and children in the new nation.

HIS 205B/355 *Topic: Soviet Russia. Survey of Russia in the twentieth century, from its defeat in the Russian-Japanese war of 1905 to the ending of the "cold war" in the 1990s. Topics include: the revolutions of 1917, the civil war, and the creation of the USSR; the hegemonic role of the Communist Party and its leaders; Soviet economic and social development; WWII and post-war political dominance over Eastern Europe; political, economic, and social problems leading to the loss of legitimacy and eventual disintegration of the USSR; and problems of democratization and economic transition in Russia in the 1990s.

HIS 260 *Topic: History of Imperial China. A study of the development of China from the early Republican period to the aftermath of the Cultural Revolution, with emphasis upon nationalism, Marxism, revolutionary tactics, and Chinese relations with the former USSR and USA. Appropriate for non-majors.

HIS 265A *Topic: Geography and World Affairs. Reviews concepts, terms, and subfields of geography, integrating historical analysis with current issues. Designed to familiarize students with a nation's (or region's) major geographic features, including location and physiography, as well as economic, social, ethnic, and cultural profiles. Regions studied include: Europe, Russia, North Africa-Southwest Asia, Sub-Saharan Africa, and South Asia. Suitable for nonmajors.

HIS 265B *Topic: Geography and World Affairs II. Reviews concepts, terms, and subfields of geography, integrating historical analysis with current issues. Designed to familiarize students with a nation's (or region's) major geographic features, including location and physiography, as well as economic, social, ethnic, and cultural profiles. Regions studied include: North America, Russia, East Asia, South Asia, and South-East Asia. Suitable for non-majors.

HIS 365 Topic: *Children and Childhood in America. Concepts and experiences of childhood are much different today than they were 300 years ago. This course examines what has changed and how, examining the history of American childhood through paintings, photographs, toys, children's stories, diaries, clothing, and our own observations, and links changes in childhood to broader developments in American history.

HIS 365 Topic: *Environmental History. Surveys the historical interaction of Americans with their physical environment from the beginning of European expansion to the present. Emphasizes the ways human beings have interacted with their surroundings, how they have modified the places they lived, and how they have responded to the results of these modifications. Substitutes for ENV 380 in the Environmental Studies major/minor.

HIS 365 Topic: *Gender and Sport. Examines the history of sports culture in the late 19th and 20th centuries to understand what sports can tell us about the history of our culture. Pays particular attention to gender, and how American sports culture has been shaped, reinforced, or challenged by ideas about masculinity and femininity. Why, for example, were members of the All-American Girls Baseball League, the women's professional league that thrived from 1943 to 1954, required to attend charm school? How does the media contribute to sex role stereotyping by focusing on the loutish, indeed criminal, behavior of male athletes while portraying female athletes such as the World Cup Soccer team as "babe city?" Fulfills elective requirement for the Women's Studies minor.

EDU 365A/HIS 365A Topic: *Comparative Education in the 20th-Century U.S. and China. Examines historical evolution of policy changes, debates, and current issues in the context of political, economic, and social change. Fulfills an elective requirement in the Education and History majors.

HIS 365A Topic: *Women and War in the U.S. Scholars in peace and women's studies have constructed myriad theories about the relationship between women and war, addressing questions about women's inclinations toward war or peace, women's capacities for combat, and the impact of maternity on both of these. This course takes an historical approach to these issues by examining American women's experiences of and contributions to various wars, including the American Revolution, the Civil War, the World Wars, the war in Vietnam, and the more recent war(s?) in the Persian Gulf. Study includes anti-war protesters and women on the "home front" as well as female combatants, nurses, and "camp followers." Also investigates the effects of war's aftermath on women's roles, opportunities, and behavior. Evaluates the salience of various theories about women and war at different moments in United States history.

HIS 365B Topic: *The Civil Rights Movement. At the conclusion of the Selma-to-Montgomery march in 1965, Martin Luther King, Jr., gave one of those lilting speeches for which he is justifiably famous. Among his most remembered lines that day was this: "The arc of the moral universe is long, but it bends toward justice." He uttered these inspiring words at one of the most triumphant moments of a decade-long mass movement to secure legal rights, "simple justice," and basic human dignity for African Americans. Nearly 40 years later, we may have reason to doubt the accuracy of King's assertion, or, alternately, we may conclude that at least a rough justice for all citizens does now characterize American social and political life. In either case, we will surely be better able to reach some reasoned judgment if we examine closely the epic story and surprising complexities of the Civil Rights Movement.

HIS 365D Topic: The Chinese Revolutions. Two revolutions – the Nationalist Revolution and the Communist Revolution – have defined 20th-century Chinese history. Compares and contrasts the two revolutions in terms of their historical origins, developments, and various consequences on Chinese society.

HIS 365G Topic: The Holocaust. Examines the long history of Antisemitism from the ancient world to the present, and its cumulative affect on the fate of the Jewish people of Europe during the 1930s and 1940s, who were the victims of Nazi Germany's "Final Solution," a bureaucratically created and technologically implemented genocide.

HIS 365G Topic: Urban America. Analysis of the growth and development of urban civilization in the U.S. Emphasis on how cities began and their impact on politics, economics, and culture.

HIS 365J Topic: Ethnicity in America. An introduction to racial and ethnic identity issues through a critical examination of the social, political, and economic factors that helped to construct identity in the U.S. Examines how American racial and ethnic constructions were created and maintained, and what is at stake struggle to define racial and ethnic identity. Considers how class and gender affect race and ethnic construction, educational institutions, film, television, and mass culture.

HIS 365K Topic: World War II. The Second World War was a seminal event of global significance that has influenced the world into this new century. Uses texts, lectures, group discussions, and films to explore the war's multi-faceted implications and historical, geo-political, social, literary, psychological, and ethno-racial legacies. Seeks, moreover, to instill in each student the understanding that World War II was an historical catalyst -- perhaps even the defining event of the 20th century, which changed the course of global history. Suitable for non-majors.

HIS 365L Topic: Lincoln. Examines the era of slavery and civil war from the perspective of A. Lincoln, melancholic and sexually confused young Springfield lawyer, Whig politico, unsuccessful Republican Senatorial opponent of Stephen Douglas, President of the U.S. Seeking answers to the above questions, we'll be drawn into the maelstrom of mid-nineteenth-century sectionalism and war, where ever more intriguing issues await our consideration.

HIS 365M Topic: Urban America. Offers an analysis of the growth and development of urban civilization in the United States. Special emphasis on how cities began and their impact on politics, economics, and culture. Also considers the technological transformation associated with urban life and perception of the city in society.

HIS 365N Topic: Women in the Civil Rights Movement. Although Martin Luther King, Jr., deserves all the accolades given him for his often-courageous leadership of the Civil Rights Movement, his story is hardly the full story of the Movement. It was, after all, a mass movement, composed of a number of local movements, with local heroes, a number of whom were fearless women. This course, then, examines the "hidden" mass movement and the women (and some lesser-known men, too) whose determined leadership produced historic change.

HIS 365O Topic: The Evolution of American City Planning: Comprehensive Planning and Beautification in the United States, 1890-1930. The management of municipal growth, the easing of urban congestion, and promotion of cleaner environment are core tenets in the contemporary planning debates, yet these same goals fostered the development of Progressive Era planning ideology that is often ignored by contemporary thinkers. Explores the ideological justification that shaped the role and defined the function of city planning between 1890 and 1930. Examines the evolution of beautification and planning, municipal governance, comprehensive city plans, and assess the implications of planning professionalism on the development of the American city.

HIS 365P Topic: Europe Since 1945. A study of the remarkable recovery of both Western and Eastern Europe in the decades after 1945. Reading and lectures focus primarily on political and social issues, with additional commentary regarding economic and cultural aspects, as they relate to 40 years of East/West confrontation during the Cold War and after.

HIS 365Q Topic: Hitler and Nazi Germany. An in-depth study relating to Hitler's rise to power, the political, socio-economic, and cultural aspects of Nazi Germany, and the goals, ambitions, and genocidal crimes of Nazi Germany during the Second World War.

HIS 365R Topic: From Sissies to Brokeback: Modern Gay History Projected on Film. Although the riots at the Stonewall Inn stand out as a pivotal point in the history of gays and lesbians in America, less well known is their history prior to 1969. Most Americans also remain unaware of the experience of gay people in other parts of the world. Provides a comparison of the history of gays and lesbians in America and Britain from the end of World War I to the present. Using films as primary historical documents, examines how the lives of gays changed during this period and the reasons for that transformation.
Critical Media and Cultural Studies major and Film Studies minor elective.

HIS 365U Topic: Europe 1914-1945. Reviews political, cultural, and economic aspects of European history from the First World War, the inter-war years, the rise of Nazism, Fascism, and Communism, and the Second World War. These were defining events that changed the course of European history for the remainder of the 20th century, and ultimately affected global trends and issues which influence our lives in the early 21st century.

HIS 365V Topic: Modern Latin American History. Examines the important political, economic, social, and cultural developments in Latin America from the mid-1800's through the end of the 20th-century.

HIS 375 Aspects of War: The United States in Vietnam. Examines the political, diplomatic, cultural, and ideological reasons for the United States' involvement in Vietnam after World War II. Discusses the origins and escalation of war, opposition at home and internationally, and America's final defeat.

HONORS TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

HON 202 *American Identity: The American Self, From Within And Without. This course is an interdisciplinary investigation of American identity -- what constitutes it historically for Americans, as well as what it means to other nations looking at America. Through the disciplinary lenses of literature and philosophy, we will examine the roots of an early American ethos and sense of American personhood, tracing budding ideas from the transcendentalists through turn-of-the-century writers and theorists. Drawing on both traditional and non-canonical works, we will consider themes of self-reliance, independence, individualism, expansionism, pragmatism, protestant work ethic, democratic civic engagement and entrepreneurial spirit. We will examine how writers and theorists have constructed local and international myths and definitions of 'American identity', including those who have fought to gain inclusion into the American cultural landscape.

As America has long been a nation of regions-- geographical areas whose inhabitants share enough common experiences, values, and history to make them distinct from other areas-- the course will examine both the notion of "American" identity, and the idea of local identity, to see the way in which writers and philosophers politicize and create themselves. Some examples include Zora Neale Hurston and her Eatonville; Marjorie Rawlings' connection of identity and environment; Jane Addams' writings from Chicago's Hull-House settlement movement, circa 1930; John Dewey's ideas about American education; and writings from the Harlem Renaissance period by Alain Locke and WEB DuBois on culture and national identity. Other authors may include Emerson, Thoreau, Fuller, Dickinson, Douglass, Nella Larsen, James Weldon Johnson.

HON 202 *Equity. Explores some of the inequities within and among human societies. Examines how inequities are arising in recent times within a relatively egalitarian Amazonian society, and the maintenance, increase and consequences of inequities in the United States and among nation states, globally. At the same time, one of the challenges will be to come to terms with what is meant by the term "equity," and to explore a few ways by which people try to achieve more equitable situations in the world today. Prerequisite: HON 201.

HON 202 *Fanatics and Visionaries. Exploration of fanaticism and foresight as depicted in world literature, international and historical legal case studies, popular culture, and political practices. After studying prominent and fictive accounts of fanatics and visionaries, and considering their influence on culture, religion, or politics, students will identify fanatics and visionaries from experience or research. Final projects will seek to address how individuals of seemingly extreme positions affect the evolution of a society or culture.

HON 202 *Honors Seminar: Family Values? Taking an interdisciplinary approach, explores the origins and modern condition of the family. Examines the historical background of the family, looking in particular at the impact of industrialization and urbanization on family structure, marriage, divorce, sex, gender roles, and child-rearing practices. Finally, through the use of fiction and film, discusses current concepts about the family versus its contemporary reality. Honors Degree Program students only.

HON 202 Honors Seminar: Fanatics and Visionaries. Explores fanaticism and foresight as depicted in world literature, international and historical legal case studies, popular culture, and political practices. After studying prominent and fictive accounts of fanatics and visionaries, and considering their influence on culture, religion, or politics, students will identify fanatics and visionaries from experience or research. Final projects will seek to address how individuals of seemingly extreme positions affect the evolution of a society or culture. Honors Degree Program students only.

HON 202 Honors Seminar: Outside, Looking In – The Dynamics of Marginal Status. Analyzes the structures and dynamics of groups and communities occupying marginal status, that is, those whose access to mainstream sources of power is seriously limited. Topics include the influence of voting rules for the representation of minority interests in the US, women in the US, and Bohemia and communities of social protest. Themes covered include maintaining mainstream power, mechanisms of exclusions from the mainstream, justifications for inequality, outsiders' strategies for coping with marginal status, and the construction of self identity and the identity of "the other."

HON 301 Sophomore Honors Seminar: Exploring with Simulations. Explores the use of simulation software applications to reason about decisions made to create solutions to problems from various domains. Knowledge of computer programming is not required, although learning to use a Windows-based application will be necessary.

HON 301 Sophomore Honors Seminar: Gabrieli to Grunge. Investigates the history of Western music, incorporating the social, artistic and scientific influences that have shaped its development. Studies the development of Western music and musical instruments, investigates the scientific and technological innovations that allowed the introduction of new instrumentation, and discovers how instruments have historically been designed, built, and used. Emphasis on understanding how science and technology has affected, and been affected by, the development of Western music.

HON 301 Sophomore Honors Seminar: Theatre Physics. What do Einstein and Shakespeare have in common? Intense focus, astounding imagination, and a desire to understand their part in the cosmos. Examines theatre and physics as partners in an exploration of what physicist Virginia Corless calls "the complex and often bewildering contours of our world." Features plays that bring some of the great moments of physics onto the stage by placing celestial mechanics, relativity, and quantum uncertainty in the midst of human conflict, including: Bertolt Brecht's Galileo, Michael Frayn's Copenhagen (about the friendship between Heisenberg and Bohr), and Steve Martin's Picasso at the Lapin Agile (Picasso and Einstein walk into a bar...). Prerequisites: HON 201 and 202.

HON 301 Sophomore Honors Seminar: Memory and the Photograph. Investigates issues of memory from a psychological perspective, as well as through the study of art and visual culture. Explores the medium of photography, its relationship to memory and personal history, and its inherent communicative capabilities. Allows students to develop methods and techniques for expressing issues of memory via the found and created photographic image. Photographic assignments, weekly readings, participation in seminar discussions, and independent projects based around particular areas of interest (i.e., documentary essay, conceptual series, research paper, case study, etc.) are required. Includes a service-learning component during which students will work with a local population of elderly men and women on photo-based projects related to issues of memory. Prerequisites: HON 201 and 202.

HON 301(1) Honors Seminar: Democracy. Explores contemporary proposals for renewing American democracy. Focuses on what young people need to prepare them for the responsibilities of citizenship in a democratic society. One objective is to develop a civic education program for the College as a whole.

HON 301(2) Honors Seminar: Religious Activism. Considers the development of public activism in religious groups by examining their role in the civil rights movement, the anti-war movement and nuclear disarmament, and protests against capital punishment, on the one hand; and anti-abortion efforts, anti-gay movements, and involvement in Republican politics, on the other. Examines the motivations for the rise of religious activism, explores the reasons for the shift in its political temperament. Students will learn basic research techniques and complete independent research on one particular movement.

HON 302(1) Honors Seminar: Qualitative Research in Social Science. Hands-on course designed to help students develop an understanding of qualitative research methods and designs in the social sciences. Work by qualitative researchers read and discussed to provide an understanding of lessons learned and challenges faced in moving from project design, to project implementation, to data analysis and reporting. Student research teams will identify possible research problems and design pilot research proposals and procedures to address those problems. Students will then undertake the collection and analysis of actual data and report on their findings. Honors Degree Program students only.

HON 302 Honors Research Methods. Introduces students to research methodology. Integrates substantive examples and studies in the social sciences with the logic and method of conducting scientific research, while taking a social science approach to the study of public policy problems using quantitative skills. Designed to help students think analytically and formally about research questions. Students will analyze public problems such as education, health care, and crime, with major emphasis throughout the semester on race and voting rights, and their political consequences in the United States. Presumes no background in statistics or computer technology.

HON 302(2) Honors Seminar: Weimar Germany. In his new book, Shell Shock Cinema, Anton Kaes argues that the trauma of the First World War and Germany's unexpected defeat created a deeply shell-shocked and traumatized nation. The first global war ended nearly a century ago, but the ideas it spawned are still with us – from violent nationalism and total mobilization, collective fear and paranoia, to technological warfare. Kaes also argues that Weimar film, though not representing the battlefield itself, was still a site in which the German nation could revisit the traumatic experience of war and defeat. Considers the war and the tensions with increasing modernism in the 1920's, we will also look at films such as The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari, Nosferatu, the Nibelungen, Dr. Mabuse, Metropolis, M, and Berlin, a Symphony of a Great City. Honors Degree Program students only.

HON 302(1) Order and Disorder in the Sherlock Holmes Stories. Explores strategies for reading one of the world's most remarkable literary characters. Examines several elements -- including detection, plot, narrative, society, gender, and ideology -- in the Sherlock Holmes stories. In particular, considers issues of order and disorder illuminated in and by and through the stories. Prerequisites: HON 201, 202, and 301.

HON 302(2) Critical and Cultural Perspectives on Gender and Sexualities. This course focuses on the interactive relationships between culture, gender, and sexualities. It explores multiple ways that institutions such as the family, education, the workplace, and media construct, reinforce, and challenge our conceptions of femininity and masculinity as well as hetero- and queer sexualities. The class connects theory and research to students' academic and personal lives. Throughout the term, participants will analyze current constructions of gender and sexualities and will be encouraged to envision alternate possibilities.

Prerequisites: HON 201, 202, and 301.

HON 302: *Sherlock Holmes & Contemporary Critical Contexts. This course examines critical and theoretical strategies for reading one of the world's most remarkable literary characters. We will examine several elements--including plot, narrative, society, gender, and culture--in the Sherlock Holmes stories. In particular, we will consider issues of social order and disorder illuminated by the texts. We will consider also Holmes's place in the literature of mystery and detection, his identity and ideology in their late-Victorian contexts, and, of course, those aspects of his character that make him unique and enduring.

HON 302 *The Philosophy of International Law. The purpose of this course is to provide students with a philosophical and legal understanding of international law and America's legal position on various issues in international law. Please note that jurisprudential concerns will always be in the background of our conversations. However, we will not always discuss them unless they directly inform the practice of international law or America's position on some issue in international law. The goals of this course are fourfold: (1) to give students a philosophical and legal understanding of international law; (2) to give students an understanding of America's position on various issues in international law; (3) to give students a glimpse into what philosophical and legal studies in graduate and law schools are like; and, finally, to provide students with the knowledge and skills to do both graduate level and legal research.

INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS TOPICS COURSES

INB 190A Topic: *Meaningful Life and Productive Career. Provides students the opportunity to examine their values and goals as they explore career options in international business. Selected topics include the purpose and role of business in society, liberal learning and successful leadership, spirituality in business, the meaning and experience of happiness, and work-life balance strategies. Students will learn useful methods of exploring and researching career options, as well as skills of developing and tailoring resumes, interviewing, projecting a professional image and strategies for managing the transition from student to professional. NOTE: Section 1 designed for freshmen and sophomore students, section 2 designed for juniors and seniors.

INB 390A Topic: *Managing the Digital Firm. The combination of powerful technology developments and global business opportunities has led to the creation of new organizational forms and new challenges in managing those forms. We call these new organizational forms, “the digital firm,” to emphasize that every aspect of the firm is touched and potentially transformed by technology and systems like the internet, mobile phones, or skype. This course focuses on understanding the nature of the digital firm and the key issues in organizing and managing it. Managers of digital firms need to identify the challenges facing their firms; understand the technologies that will help them meet these challenges; design business processes to take advantage of the technologies; and create management procedures and policies to implement the required changes. Prerequisite: INB 300.

INB 390B Topic: *The Australian Business Environment. Elective course designed to give students the opportunity to explore the structural elements and unique dynamics of the Australian business environment. The course will guide students in understanding the complexities and challenges of this nation as they partner and compete in the South Pacific. Utilizes a seminar format. Australian Studies minor elective.

INB 390B Topic: *International Market Research-China. China is known for its apparel and toy exports. Most recently, the Chinese began exporting electronic products, spirits, and automobiles. How do the Chinese enter foreign markets? Which product? Can they establish their own brand abroad? These and other questions will be discussed and specifically researched in this course. The objectives of this course are twofold: providing students with the fundamentals of the research process and a better understanding of the globalization of Chinese firms. Each student will complete an individual research paper. The best papers will be selected to be published in a book and/or be submitted to an international conference. Possible workshop on the topic at Rollins College (to be announced). Prerequisite: INB 300.

INB 390C Topic: *International Advertising and Promotions. Covers fundamental theory and constructs of effective advertising and promotions from an international perspective. Students will analyze successful/unsuccessful execution of advertising/promotion campaigns and design advertising/promotion campaigns. Prerequisite: Junior standing.

INB 390C Topic: *International Business Transactions. Foundations course that serves as a complement to Topic: International Business Law. Together, the courses form an invaluable business orientation for the international student. Focuses on international sales, negotiation of business transactions, letters of credit, e-commerce, import and export controls, trade law, currency issues, technology transfers (including intellectual property and licensing) franchising and foreign investment. Prerequisite: junior or senior INB majors only.

INB 390E Topic: International Entrepreneurship. Provides students with learning opportunities to explore the international business start-up around the contexts of business environments. Areas to be explored: personal entrepreneurial development, entrepreneurship and sustainable development, social entrepreneurship, eco-entrepreneurship, entrepreneurship in underdeveloped and emerging markets, and organizing for entrepreneurial ventures. Prerequisite: INB 300.

INB 390G Topic: International Business Law. An introduction to international law and jurisprudence, the Hague, and international business transactions in international trade terms, financing international trade transactions, legal problems arising from tariffs, international tax policy, commercial treaties, international trade agreements (GATT), the Vienna convention on the law of treaties, World Intellectual Property Organization and other such bodies, and the resolution of international trade disputes. Prerequisite: INB 300. Registration preference: Junior and Senior INB majors.

INB 390H Topic: Global Brand Management. Organized around the product and brand management decisions that must be made to build, measure, and manage brands, this course seeks to increase students' understanding of important issues in planning and evaluating brand strategies and to provide appropriate theories, models, and tools to improve product and branding decisions. Topics covered include brand equity, brand identity, managing across brand and markets, the brand as a product, the brand as an organization, the brand as a nation, the brand as a person (brand personality), and the brand as a symbol. Utilizes multiple instructional methods, such as lectures, discussions, case analyses, in-class exercises, and team assignments. Prerequisite: INB 300.

INB 390J Topic: Legal Issues in International Business. An examination of practical topics such as drafting contracts and settling disputes, intellectual property protection, regulations against bribery and corruption, sanctions, customs and shipping requirements, and immigration controls. Prerequisites: INB 300 and junior or senior International Business majors only.

INB 390K Topic: *Managing in the People's Republic of China under "Reform and Opening Up." An overview of China's history of administration, followed by an examination of the central planning system under Mao Zedong, to lay a foundation for study of management practices developing in China since the 1978 establishment of Reform and Opening Up. Prerequisite: INB 300.

INB 390L Topic: International Real Estate. Using a value perspective, addresses significant economic, financial, social, and ethical problems facing the global real estate industry. Investigates a range of investment opportunities including commercial and residential development, its financing, operation, and ownership. Reviews the Green Building phenomenon and the emerging global code standards, e.g. LEED (U.S.), BREEAM (U.K.), and Green Star (Australia). Students are required to analyze International Case Studies taken from the Urban Land Institute series, as well as investigating presenting on real estate topics around the world. Real estate problem solving skills involve spreadsheet modeling to provide a rigorous quantitative platform for a range of future industry occupations as well as personal real estate investment. Conducted as a seminar with discussion based on current literature and audio-visual presentations. Prerequisite: INB 372.

INB 390M Topic: International Portfolio Management. Advanced course that develops an understanding of the theories and quantitative methods of portfolio optimization, forecasting, and risk management. Covers market inefficiency and how such can be exploited with strategy development, as well as issues specific to the management of fixed income portfolios, including funding, yield curve dynamics, and monetary economics. Additional topics include international markets and foreign exchange, financial market history, and the management of mortgage and credit instruments. Basic understanding of statistics, college algebra, fixed income securities, macroeconomics, and modeling in MS Excel® are required.

INTERDISCIPLINARY TOPICS COURSES

INT 100 *Learning Strategies Seminar. Helps students improve their academic performance by developing better reading and study habits, learning effective note-taking techniques, planning and managing time efficiently, improving testing skills, managing stress, and defining academic goals. Prerequisite: Instructor's consent; register TPJ Center, Mills Building, second floor. One (1) semester hour; graded credit/no-credit (CR/NC).

INT 105 *Foundations of Personal Leadership. Introduces the study of leadership from both theoretical and practical perspectives. Explores leadership in relation to individuality rooted in self-awareness, commitment, congruence, values, identity, and the discovery of voice. Through readings, case studies, reflection, and small-group sessions, students examine leadership as an inclusive, relational process. One (1) semester hour; graded credit/no-credit (CR/NC).

INT 150 *Academic and Career Planning. Designed for students in the second term of the first year or sophomore year, to guide them through the career and academic exploration and planning processes. Provides strategies and skills necessary for a lifetime of career-related decision making through self-discovery initiatives and exploration of personal interests, values, and abilities. Students will learn how to research career and academic options utilizing campus and community based resources. One (1) semester hour; graded credit/no-credit (CR/NC).

INT 201 *Crossing Cultures. Provides students with a variety of experiences that will develop awareness of the degree to which individual behavior is culturally determined and encourage effective cross-cultural relations. Prerequisite: acceptance into a Rollins study abroad program.

INT 205 *Leadership in Groups and Organizations. Builds upon a theoretical understanding of leadership, social change, and service by integrating students with one another and other group settings at Rollins through skills training, exploration of common purpose, the practice of controversy with civility, and clarification of group norms. Focuses on moving from reflection to reflexivity in relation to leadership. Prerequisite: INT 100 preferred, but no required. One (1) semester hour; graded credit/no-credit (CR/NC).

INT 205A *The Lively Arts. What makes a work of art a masterpiece? What importance do the arts have for us? Through attendance at various on-campus concerts, plays, and museum exhibits, students will begin to develop more insight into and a personal philosophy of the lively arts. Students will also develop skills in critical reading and effective writing.

INT 210 *Women of Vision: Building Partnerships, Creating Change. Applying social justice education and leadership theory, students will be intentionally engaged in learning opportunities that will challenge and evaluate assumptions about the roles of women in contemporary society. Through service learning, students will have the opportunity to bridge the knowledge gained in the classroom with real world experience. Team-taught.

INT 215A *Topic: Arts Criticism: Problems and Methods. Students will study the problems of professional journalistic criticism with the drama critic of The Wall Street Journal, then write and collectively edit newspaper-style performance reviews. Emphasis is on technique and style, not content. Class participants will attend two performances, Orlando Shakespeare's production of Hamlet and Palm Beach Dramawork's production of Michael Frayn's Copenhagen as a part of the course requirements.

Note: This is a two-credit-hour (2 credit) short course that will meet on Tuesdays and Wednesdays from Jan. 12- Feb. 9. The course is graded on a credit/no-credit basis (CR/NC).

INT 215A Topic: *Sophomore Solutions - Finding Your Way. Students will engage in personal assessment and reflection; considering strengths, weaknesses, personality, learning styles, relationships, morals, decision-making and values. Discusses life at Rollins (including majors and curriculum requirements) and life after Rollins (including careers, community involvement, and family). Provokes reflection on self, values, and how a liberal arts education can be transformative.

INT 223 *Power and Diplomacy: The United Nations. Introduces students to the United Nations and international relations. Familiarizes students with the operations of the UN, provides an introduction to international relations focusing on selected countries and issues, and teaches how to develop and present oral and written proposals in the UN vernacular.

INT 230 *Foundations of Peer Health Education. Introduces the concepts of peer education, from theoretical and practical perspectives, with a focus on health issues. Explores models of peer education with regard to social learning, social identity, trans-theoretical, harm reduction and health belief models, as well as experiential learning, group facilitation skills and attending skills. Through readings, reflection, experiential activities and small-group presentations, students critically evaluate peer education models, increase their awareness of pertinent college health issues, and learn to effectively educate their peers. One (1) semester hour; graded credit/no-credit (CR/NC).

INT 231 *Alcohol and Drug Peer Education. Provides students with a theoretical framework for peer education, as well as the practical knowledge and skills necessary to effectively educate their peers on issues of safe and responsible substance use.

INT 255P *Conquering the LSAT. A two-credit, non-graded (CR/NC) course designed to help students maximize their scores on the Law School Aptitude Test (LSAT). Four Rollins professors, each an expert in the section of the LSAT they teach, offer intensive instruction in logical reasoning, analytical reasoning, reading comprehension and writing, and test taking strategies. Course meets once each week (Wednesdays from 3:00-5:15 p.m.). Materials used in the course are actual LSAT tests and official Law School Admission Council publications. Course Fee: $450.

INT 260 *Foundations of Leadership. Introduces the field of leadership studies and surveys leadership in historical and contemporary contexts, probing the social and moral responsibilities involved in the process. Exposes students to leadership as an inclusive, dynamic, and change-oriented process via case studies in the Winter Park community, small group sessions, and reflection exercises. A service-learning component provides students with the opportunity to apply class material to concepts of community development and citizenship.

INT 261 *Leadership and Citizenship in Action. Builds upon a theoretical understanding of leadership, social change, and service by integrating students with one another, and the Rollins and broader communities through community service, skills training, and facilitation opportunities. Serves as a gateway to obtaining the skills to function in leadership and peer educator capacities on campus and beyond. Prerequisite: INT 260 recommended prior to or concurrent with registration.

INT 305 *Community-Based Leadership. Surveys leadership and social change through studies of theory through an interdisciplinary lens. Exposes students to leadership as an inclusive, dynamic, change-oriented process through case studies in the community, small group sessions, and reflection exercises. Through service-learning, provides students with the opportunity to apply class materials to concepts of community development and citizenship. Prerequisites: INT 100 and INT 200 preferred, but not required. One (1) semester hour; graded credit/no-credit (CR/NC).

INT 315A *Topic: Pathways to College -- Guiding and Empowering Underserved Youth. Students enrolled in this course will mentor, teach, and assist underserved youth (grades kindergarten-five) through a series of lessons on leadership, service, goal setting, and college awareness at Fern Creek Elementary School in Orlando. In the spirit of global citizenship and responsible leadership, Pathways to College will provide Rollins College students the opportunity to serve as change agents in the lives of underserved youth in our community.

INT 315B *Topic: Documentary Film. The documentary film is potentially a powerful and expressive means by which to educate and enlighten, providing the viewer with revealing insights and perspectives into the many-faceted realms of human activity. Yet this film form has also been described as "almost always an instrument of propaganda," possessing elements both visually stunning and disturbing. This course examines the particular social, political, cultural and historical issues and themes through selective documentary films.

INT 317 *Personal Finance. Outlines a wide variety of financial instruments available for managing money. Touches upon personal financial statements, insurance, social security, investments, tax, retirement, and estate planning. Also introduces personal financial planning as a profession. Prerequisite: junior standing.

INT 350 *Fiat Lux: World Issues in Perspective. This course focuses on current world events and other relevant social issues, and also on writing and interview skills required for prestigious national/international student scholarships. Students who express interest in applying for any prestigious scholarship will be invited to attend the course.

INT 360A *Topic: Culture Wars: Ethics, Aesthetics, and Politics (A-D-V). Analyzes historical and contemporary ethical debates, and competing theories of how value is assigned to images, and how images produce effects in society and are used to enflame political responses. Highlights current cultural cases, where competing values underlie divergent interpretations of some visual object or representation. Students will compare, contrast, and integrate methodologies of art history, philosophy, and history, and will participate in scholarly debates with faculty, who seek intellectual engagement and connections across disciplines. By analyzing many varieties of "culture wars" and the competing values at stake over the term, we will create a "lab" environment in which students identify, choose, and analyze such thorny topics and multiple perspectives. Note: Course requires co-requisite of IFT 112. Students who have already completed IFT 112 or who can demonstrate web design competency, with the instructors' permission, may enroll in Advanced Web Design (IFT 113), Design with Photoshop (IFT 120), or Digital Video (IFT 300) instead.

INT 400 Death and Dying. Focuses on new and emerging technology, and its ethical implications for healthcare, terminal illness, "defective" newborns, organ transplantation, suicide, surrogacy, and in vitro fertilization. Students volunteer at health care related agencies, putting into practice classroom theory and case studies. Features guest lecturers including survivors of the Holocaust, Hiroshima, and recent terrorist activities.

INT 480 A Senior Colloquy: Current Issues in Liberal Arts. Allows students to debate controversial contemporary issues using skills and knowledge from their respective disciplines. Students will participate in dialogues with peers, scholars, and other members of the community, and examine strategies of effective argument and debate. Focuses on learning skills for reading complex dilemmas and other materials, isolating the issue(s) involved, and reasoning to appropriate and persuasive conclusions.
Prerequisite: senior standing or instructor's consent.

INTERSESSION TOPICS COURSES
(from Spring 2000 to present)

ANT 205G *Strangers from a Strange Land: Americans in Vietnam. Puts students in the shoes of the people of Vietnam in the 50s and early 60s, when many Vietnamese saw Americans for the first time. This was the period before the Vietnam War began in earnest, a period in which Americans were first coming to know and be known by the Vietnamese. By first building an understanding of the Vietnamese world view, we will enable ourselves to see how strange and unpredictable we Americans sometimes seemed to the people of Vietnam. Vietnamese guest speakers will be invited to talk about their memories of their first encounters with Americans. Credit: Meeting Dates:

ANT 205I *Cinema & Society in Iran. Unveils some of Iran's complexities through the works of several of its world-class filmmakers. Students will begin to see Iran for the fascinating and dynamic society it is -- and not simply as a threatening, unruly place characterized by religious fundamentalism and a corrupt, unyielding government. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

ANT 205I *Islam in the West: Central Florida's Muslim Communities. Introduces students to the life and culture of Muslims living in Central Florida. Through activities including guest speakers, films, cooking lessons, music, and a visit to a local mosque, students will not only get the chance to interact with local Muslims, but also learn about the diversity of Muslim culture in Central Florida and some of the issues and misunderstandings Muslims face in their everyday lives. Class culminates in group projects aimed at establishing relations with and enhancing understanding of our local Muslim communities. Credit: Meeting Dates:

ANT 205I *Walls & Bridges: Tibetans, Muslims, and Chinese in the Twenty-First Century. Offers a view of the non-mainstream people and places in China. Tibetans and Uighurs of the old Silk Road, have been showing signs of restiveness in the Celestial Kingdom, while the once powerful Manchus have blended into the mainstream with little or no friction. Looks at China's many nationalities to learn something about what they think the meaning of life is and whether their ideas clash or harmonize with those of the all-powerful Beijing government. Credit: Meeting Dates:

ANT 205J *Mesoamerica: Past and Present. Explores life in ancient Mesoamerica and examines how contemporary Mesoamerican peoples use history to legitimize their roles in contemporary society. Examines the history, religion, ritual, writing, and politics of ancient Mesoamerica and how contemporary Mesoamerican communities use historical understanding as the basis of revitalization movements. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

ANT 205J *Oral Traditions of Eatonville. An exploratory course, in which students will collect and classify folklore and oral history from the Eatonville community. Through their collections and interactions with the citizens of Eatonville, students will attempt to gain an understanding of the historic and contemporary cultural values and norms specific to the Eatonville community. Credit: Meeting Dates:

ANT 205J *Maya Hieroglyphic Writing. An exploration of Maya writing as history, identity, propaganda, and power. Examines the Maya calendar and the accession to power, warfare, and rituals recorded in Maya hieroglyphic writing. Explores how indigenous communities use writing to legitimize cultural belief practice. Credit: Meeting Dates:

ARH 210A *Michelangelo 101. Michelangelo Buonarroti (1475-1574) dominated the art world in Italy from approximately age 20 until his death at 89. His career spanned most of the sixteenth century, and his prolific work as a painter, sculptor, draftsman, and architect profoundly impacted the 'High' Renaissance in every artistic medium. The artist's production as well as his close relationship with scholars, prelates, noblemen, noblewomen, and all the Popes of his era will serve as touchstones for our exploration of the religious and sociopolitical environment of Renaissance Italy. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

ART 210 *Contemporary Approaches to Art. Exposes students to contemporary art methods through visits to artists' studios and art exhibitions, class lectures, and hands-on art projects. One contemporary art approach is to create a sketchbook that exists as both a document of the artist's daily life as well as an art piece. Students will produce such a sketchbook and will learn the basics of installing an art exhibition by showing their sketchbooks in an on-campus group show. Students will gain a fundamental understanding of the working processes of various types of artists, and will produce their own mixed media art piece in the form of the sketchbook. Compliments the regular curriculum of the studio and art history majors, and familiarizes non-majors with the working processes of contemporary artists. Credit: Meeting Dates: Note: This course carries a $45 materials fee that will automatically be billed to your College account.

ART 215I *Community in Art. Familiarizes students with the work of modern and contemporary African-American artists such as Romare Bearden, James Kerry Marshall, and Lezley Saar. Investigates their work, their lives, and their artistic visions, and also seeks connections between these artists and their local contemporaries, whose work has played a role in forming the identity of the historic community of nearby Eatonville. As students discuss aspects of each artist's work, they will have the opportunity to reflect more deeply through the creation of their own visual journal. This project allows students to integrate written responses with image-making techniques that artists, such as Romare Bearden, actually used in their own work. As a post-class assignment, students will volunteer during the Zora Neale Hurston Festival, a once-a-year artistic celebration in honor of Eatonville's famous literary figure. In the final pages of their visual diaries, students will record their impressions of the festival, meditating on the importance of Zora's hometown to Central Florida and its vital role in contemporary African-American artistic traditions. Credit: Meeting Dates:

ART 215I *Community Voices in African and African American Art. Familiarizes students with the work of modern and contemporary African and African American artists such as Romare Bearden, Michael Ray Charles, James Kerry Marshall, Kehinde Wiley, Yinka Shonibare, Kara Walker, Julie Mehretu, and Ellen Gallagher. Seeks connections between these artists' voices and the importance of community in African and African American experiences. Includes lecture and discussion, but focuses on the creation of a visual journal project which will be on display in celebration of the 2010 Martin Luther King, Jr. holiday. African and African American Studies (AAAS) minor elective. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

ART 215I *Community and Identity: Reflecting On Contemporary African-American Art through Visual Journals. Familiarizes students with the work of contemporary African-American artists. Investigates their work and their lives, to uncover common themes of community and identity. Students will reflect on these themes in the artists' work (and what they mean in their own lives) through written essay and creation of a visual journal. Credit: Meeting Dates:

ART 215I *Community Voices in Contemporary African-American Art. Familiarizes students with the work of contemporary African-American artists and explores its emphasis on community. Includes lecture and discussion, but focuses on the creation of a collaborative artwork in celebration of the 2010 Martin Luther King, Jr. holiday. Credit: Meeting Dates:

ART 245I *Kayak101: The Kayak as a Vehicle for Self-Expression, Self-Discovery and Environmental Engagement. Familiarizes students with basic woodworking and contemporary boatbuilding methods through the creation of a functional craft object, the kayak, thus affording students the opportunity for self-expression and self-discovery. Investigates historical, cultural, and environmental issues related to the kayak as part of the building process. Credit: Meeting Dates: Materials Fee: $100.

ART 247 *Pinhole Photography. Studio art course designed to be a hands-on creative art experience. Emphasis is on visual problem solving based on class projects and critiques. In class, we will build different cameras, expose a variety of different films and papers as negatives, and produce photographic prints in the darkroom. Prior to the beginning of classroom work, the class will research the history and evolution of pinhole photography. This will be a pre-intersession-week assignment and will be completed before class begins to establish a foundation for class projects. The course is suitable for students without an art background as well as art majors. Our study of the nature of pinhole photography will cover both the technical aspects of the medium, and the conceptual issues common to contemporary photography. However, many of the visual and stylistic issues we will consider are specific to pinhole photography, and separate it from other types of photography. Credit: Meeting Dates:

BIO 205I *A Walk on the Wild Side: Exploring Central Florida's Natural Habitats. Interdisciplinary course focuses on threatened natural habitats of Florida. Asks students to weigh the pros and cons of conservation efforts in Florida and answer the question, "Is Florida's natural environment worth preserving?" Students will visit several ecosystems in central Florida that have recently been designated as key sites for preservation by the Florida 2050 plan: the Indian River Lagoon, Kissimmee Prairie, Wekiva/Ocala Greenway, St. Johns-Econlockhatchee Mosaic, Green Swamp, Volusia Conservation Corridor, and Lake Wales Ridge. At each site, students will learn about the different aspects of that particular ecosystem and the challenges it faces. Students will meet with other students and faculty in four linked courses during Intersession week to discuss shared readings and share their perspectives on Florida's natural history. Students should be prepared for significant outdoor activity and long travel times. Credit: Meeting Dates:

CHN 205A *Chinese Cinema of the New Millennium. China's directors have attracted the world's attention ever since the 1980s when the famous Fifth Generation burst on the scene with an array of films that were both critically acclaimed and received enthusiastically by audiences. But now, a new generation is pushing China's cinema in new and ever more interesting directions. Director Wang Chao, whose film Luxury Car won an award at the Cannes Film Festival last May, is representative of the new generation and he will co-teach this course with Professor Teng Jimeng. The course will showcase some of the best films coming from current Chinese directors, including Luxury Car. Credit: Meeting dates:

COM 205I Listening Leadership. Outstanding leaders are outstanding listeners. Yet, it's estimated that the average person ignores, forgets, or misunderstands at least 75-percent of what he or she hears. The value of listening goes far beyond common courtesy. It is fundamental to effective leadership and team success. During this highly interactive course, you will learn the "Listening Leaders" model that consists of 10 golden rules that will help you to achieve your listening and leadership objectives. Credit: Meeting Dates:

ECO 205I The Great Recession: An Economic Analysis. The Great Recession of 2008 has started to abate, but its effects will be felt by generations to come. Course examines the causes of the current economic and financial crisis, explains the global nature of the recession, and comments on various measures deployed by governments around the world to contain it. Credit: Meeting dates:

ECO 205I Economics in Motion: An Approach to Studying an Economic Process as a Time-Evolving System. Exposes students to a non-mainstream approach to the study of economics. An economic process will be described as a time-evolving system put in motion by causal relations among its components. A comparison with the classic approach predicated on the supply-and-demand equilibrium principle will also be considered. Factors essential to the evolution of economic systems such as cause, effect, transition, positive and negative feedback, critical points and emergent properties characteristic of complex systems will be identified in examples and discussed in class. In addition to emphasizing the roles of time and causality in the economic process, this course will introduce students to a set of tools for studying an economic process in motion. These tools are: cobweb diagrams for equilibrium problems, analytic modeling of time evolving processes, and agent-based simulation. Credit: Meeting Dates:

ECO 205I Is the Party Over? Peak Oil, Peak Everything: Economics of Fossil Fuels. Considering both the exponentially rising extraction costs and the increasingly threatening "external" costs of the associated high-energy economy, we are almost certainly now at the historical "peak" of global production of fossil fuels. Explores that reality and some of its enormous implications for the future. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

EDU 205B Topic: Technology for Teachers. Introduces students to basic technology currently used in elementary classrooms. Instructs students in the use of Windows, E-mail, Excel, Power Point, Netscape Composer, electronic portfolios, and the Internet as a research tool. The role of these tools in enhancing student learning and teacher productivity will be addressed. Credit: Meeting Dates:

EDU 350 Strategies for Classroom Management. Practical classroom management based on the theories of Linda Albert (Cooperative Discipline) and Harry Wong (Effective Teaching). Video observations and critiques, reading and sharing ideas, and the development of a classroom management notebook will be incorporated into a seminar-type format. Activities will focus on the planning and learning environment sections of the accomplished practices. Credit: Meeting Dates:

ENG 140 Short Story into Film. Examines problems of adapting short stories into films by studying the relationship between films and the original stories on which they were based. Explores the difficulties of translating voice, narration, and character to the screen, and class projects will involve both creative and analytical components. Prior to attending the first class meeting students must see Steven Spielberg's Minority Report and read Philip K. Dick's original short story The Minority Report (on reserve in the Olin Library). Credit: Meeting Dates:

ENG 205I Buffy the Vampire Slayer and American Culture. Explores the television show Buffy the Vampire Slayer from various angles, debating what "Buffy" says about feminism, what "Xander" says about masculinity, what "Faith" says about Nietzsche, and why high school is hell. Students should emerge from this seminar better able to closely analyze tv shows and discuss what they tell about how, what, and why America and Americans believe what we/they do(es). Credit: Meeting Dates:

ENG 205J Embodied Creativity: Using Yoga and Writing to Channel Creative Energy. Students take a yoga class each morning at College Park Yoga, followed by afternoon discussions of the memoir Eat, Pray, Love and the ways the yogic path prepares us for deep creative work. Class discussions and writings examine how yogic awareness enhances creative focus and productivity. Credit: Meeting Dates: Fee Course: $60.00 fee for five mornings of yoga instruction at College Park Yoga studio. Note: Fieldtrip release forms required for all participants prior to participation.

ENG 205J Buffy the Vampire Slayer and American Culture. Explores why the television show Buffy and the Vampire Slayer (BtVS) has become an academic breakout, spawning an online journal, multiple conferences, and perhaps a dozen critical books. Examines episodes from various angles, debating what Buffy says about feminism, what Xander says about masculinity, what Faith says about Nietzsche, and why high school is hell. Students will emerge from this seminar better able to closely analyze television shows and discuss what they tell about how, what, and why America and Americans believe what we/they do. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

ENG 205K Mean Girls in American Literature and Film. Uses the topics of "mean girls" in American literature and film to examine the issues of individual and society in American culture, from beginnings to present. Books and films may include, Daisy Miller, The Crucible, Sula, Saved, and, of course, Mean Girls. Seminar class with as much reading as the schedule allows, short papers, and class discussion. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

ENG 215I Exploring Wild Florida. Following in the footsteps and canoe wakes of William Bartram, we will explore wild central Florida, along the middle St. Johns River and throughout the Wekiva River basin. Daytrips will include 3-5 of the following (arranged according to weather conditions): Genius Preserve, our local eagle's nest, Big Tree Park, and Rock Springs Run; Wekiwa Springs, Rollins's own Shell Island; the Little Wekiva River and Twin Mounds (the most thoroughly studied Timucuan midden in the basin); De Leon Springs, Lake Woodruff Wildlife Reserve, Hontoon Island State Park (Indian mounds); and Seminole State Forest, Blackwater Creek. These field trips in ecology will focus on the extraordinary program for preservation and restoration that balances the sprawl of central Florida with a regional plan of national significance. It represents on a larger scale the harmony and balance that Aldo Leopold and John Nolen envisioned for America's cities and that Rollins students and professors have embodied in the Genius Preserve. Prerequisites: hearty spirits, hiking and canoeing stamina, and an outdoor mind. Fee: $150. Credit: Meeting Dates:

ENG 241E Films of Christopher Nolan. Inception, Memento, The Prestige, The Dark Knight—these are just a few of the films created by critically-acclaimed director Christopher Nolan. Focuses on Nolan's cinematic vision and the ways his films speak to a unique thematic philosophy. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

ENG 245I Pulp Fiction. Pulp fiction lived on the margins of American society; its subject matter and sensational cover art, however, made it a popular literary genre. Course reviews representative examples of this literature. Visits to local art museum to see the inspiration for many of its most dramatic covers included. Credit: Meeting Dates:

ENG 250I Great Speeches and Social Change. Pivotal moments of social change are often accompanied or instigated by powerful speeches that move whole segments of society. Such speeches help frame issues and position actors in strategic ways. Investigates the rhetorical techniques used in designing and delivering such speeches. Analyses will illuminate the goals, values, emotions, local and general contingencies, and language informing speech construction and interpretation. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

ENV 205I Icons of Paradise: Rollins College and Winter Park. The idyllic beauty of Rollins College and Winter Park is no accident. Both carefully planned, the last vestiges of a design style initiated during the Italian Renaissance. Charles Morse, Winter Park's town founder, laid out a city based on the ideals of harmony, balance, and the veneration of nature. Rollins President Hamilton Holt followed suit with his "ideal building plan" that provided the setting, he wrote in 1932, for "Rollins' great experiment in common sense education." Rollins had recently hosted a national conference dedicated to advancing the liberal arts beyond the college campus. The noted educator, John Dewey, chaired the event and Holt would champion Dewey's belief that a quality education was measured in the ability of faculty and students to enlighten the surrounding community and work for its betterment. This course is dedicated to reviving this earlier generation's educational vision, which Rollins will celebrate this spring. Students will be introduced to the basics of Renaissance design and its application in the planning of Rollins Campus and Winter Park. The class will also focus on the Genius Reserve, a 50-acre sacro bosco (sacred grove) Charles Morse set aside a century ago. On this unique "Old Florida" landscape, students will pursue the "enlightened pragmatism" Holt and Dewey championed. They will update a centerpiece of the sacro bosco and, in the process, create a place that will educate future generations on the practical art of sustaining paradise. This course, then, will create paradise as well as study it. Credit: Meeting Dates:

ENV 215I Planning Matters: Lessons from Hurricane Katrina. The disaster and chaos that ensued after Hurricane Katrina rampaged through New Orleans was in large part a human disaster. Scientists knew the damage a category four hurricane would inflict, but unfortunately the plans designed to protect the city were never funded. Will Hurricane Katrina change the way we design our cities or will we continue investing public dollars in pursuing an American Dream that is increasingly at odds with nature? In addition to New Orleans, plans designed to protect natural resources and minimize hurricane damage in Tampa Bay (second to New Orleans for hurricane damage potential) and the Orlando area will be the focus of study. Credit: Meeting Dates:

ENV 302F Traditional Town Planning: The Art of Civic Design. The suburbanization of America has fostered a host of problems. During the last decade, the New Urbanism, a congress of planners and architects, have re-introduced traditional civic design to solve the conundrum of suburban sprawl. Course focuses on the art of civic design, examining exemplary projects from Europe to Central Florida. A field component is included to enhance understanding of the course material. Credit: Meeting Dates: (fieldtrip to Celebration).

FIL 101 Filmmaking 101. Students will learn to make a film, from storyboard to final edit, by working as the “crew” for director Amy Hobby. Ms. Hobby, New York-based producer/director of films such as Secretary, Thirteen Conversations about One Thing, and Ethan Hawke’s Hamlet, will film a script chosen from the screenwriting class being taught this fall by Dr. Bill Boles. Students chosen for this class will work filmmakers’ hours, and thus will commit all their waking hours (and some sleeping ones, too) to the project Monday through Sunday. In addition, following intersession, students will develop their own film project, which Ms. Hobby will critique. Students who wish to enroll in the course must e-mail a one-page essay detailing why they wish to take the course to Dr. Roger Casey, Dean of the Faculty, RCasey@Rollins.edu, no later than Friday, Nov. 14. Class size will be limited to 12. Credit: Meeting Dates:

FIL 125 Introduction to Filmmaking: Shooting the Scene. Introduces students to the world of a film shoot through classic Hitchcock films. Students will gain the hands-on experience of reproducing a scene from a classic movie as they direct, design, act, and shoot video and 16 mm film stock of a short scene. History of film and the elements of production design, as well as the proper terminology used on a film shoot, will be provided through screenings, lecture, and discussion. Required private screening/critique of the final scenes within two weeks of the start of the spring term. Fee: $50 per student for film stock. Credit: Meeting Dates:

FIL 205I American Film Themes: The Biracial Buddy Film - Police Style. Looks at a staple of the cop film genre - the pairing of a black cop with a white cop. Why this continual pairing? What does it say about the relationship between the races? How do these films work in the depiction of African-American characters? Do these films reify stereotypes or do they offer alternatives? Examines the depiction of women and other minorities in these films. Are these merely movies for entertainment or does a larger social and cultural meaning exist behind these pairings? Credit: Meeting Dates:

FIL 206I Images of Paradise: Florida in Film. An interdisciplinary course that will examine a selection of readings and narrative feature films while also delving into documentary works that concern the natural history of Florida and its ecosystems, notions of ecological preservation, restoration, and aesthetics, Florida's relationship with development, and the larger implications of suburban sprawl. Helps students learn something about Florida's habitats and ecosystems and human interaction with these systems through film and site visits as they determine the value of preserving Florida's natural environment. Develops an understanding of representation and contestation that the medium of film offers, and features visits to areas in Central Florida currently threatened by development. Through film, students can perceive the conflict endemic to the modern American Dream: how to realize our hopes without destroying the beauty and heritage of a landscape that defines the very places we desire. All linked classes will view Sunshine State. Other films may include Cross Creek, Ulee's Gold, and several period documentaries. Credit: Meeting Dates:

GMN 205I Following Traces of German Settlement in Central Florida. The unincorporated community of Gotha, Florida was settled originally by German speakers in the late 19th century. Students of German language will enhance websites created by students from the Fall 2008 advanced German composition course concerning the history of Gotha. Students will create materials to share with children from the New School Prep Orlando (NSPO) to ensure a basic understanding about how Gotha was settled; will host a Gotha field trip for NSPO students including visits to Henry Nehrling’s historic home, the old graveyard, and the historic Zion Church; and will make a visual presentation and host a potluck dinner for the children and their families at Camp Ithiel. Credit: Meeting Dates: Note: Fieldtrip release forms required for all participants prior to participation.

HIS 205C *Policy and Disaster in the U.S.: A Documentary Exploration of Public Perception and Policy Action. Uses documentaries and selected readings to explore how the two dominate policy producers in the U.S. frame and approach disaster. Scholars have long recognized the difference between experts charged with planning and regulating society and their approach to managing the different contingencies associated with manmade and natural disasters, and the approach taken by elected officials. These distinct perspectives serve as the guidepost for creating public policy. Examines three different incidents: The Triangle Factory Fire (1911), Polio Outbreak and Eradication (1949-1952), and the Hurricane Katrina Disaster (2005), using documentaries and articles to explore how expert recommendation and political views shaped responses to these disasters and perhaps explained outcomes. Credit: Meeting Dates:

HIS 205D *China's Modernization. Provides students with an overview of modern Chinese history. Organizing theme is China's modernization in response to the challenge of Western intrusion. Examines the trajectory of China's modernization, debates among Chinese elite on models of modernization, and changes in various aspects of Chinese society and culture. Credit: Meeting Dates: .

HIS 205I *City in Film. Explores themes in urban studies through film. Positive and negative views of cities and city life are presented in classic and modern films. The films are augmented by readings on urban life that explore the political economy, social, and cultural examination of urban life. Credit: One (2) semester hour. Meeting Dates:

HIS 205I *The American West in History and Film. The frontier's effect on the creation of U.S. identity has been hotly debated since the introduction of Frederick Jackson Turner's frontier thesis in 1893. Turner argued that the U.S. used the western frontier as a framework for its political, social, and economic development. This process cultivated a self-image that emphasized American's duty to civilize the countryside and create a viable society. Course examines the evolving American fascination with western history and imagery through a critical examination of a specific historical event. The gunfight at the O.K. Corral remains a defining frontier episode that has been imagined and re-imagined in American culture. By critical deconstructing the history and memory of this event through films produced in the 40s, 50s, 60s, and 90s, students will examine the changing relationship between popular culture and the frontier myth affect on perceptions of leadership, conflict, and community. *Students will be required to write a post-session review essay based on assigned reading. During the intercession students will produce written critiques based on the films. Credit: Meeting Dates:

HIS 205I *Iraq to Afghanistan. American troops will begin leaving Iraq in 2009, some tens of thousands of them surely to be re-deployed to Afghanistan. Thus, as the new President takes office, among his several daunting foreign policy tasks will be to figure out how to "stabilize" the country where the Taliban has re-emerged and is allied with Al-Qaeda. Students will view several documentaries on American policy in Iraq, as well as filmed interviews with Westerners now working in Afghanistan. Credit: Meeting Dates:

HIS 205I *The Space Race and American Film. Examines the impact of the space race on the United States' global standing and domestic development through literature and film. At the height of the Cold War, the United States and the Soviet Union engaged in a heated competition over space. The Space Race began in 1957, when the Soviet Union launched the first artificial satellite, Sputnik. With that initial success, the USSR and the United States each committed themselves to conquering outer space for national security and propaganda reasons. Each country strove to win, struggling to overcome the scientific hurdles and gain the corresponding military advantage that would come from controlling space. President Kennedy's 1961 pronouncement that going to the moon represented the single most impressive act for mankind also acknowledged no event would be more "difficult or expensive to accomplish." The ideological struggle represented by space race was symbolically important; yet this race was a pivotal force shaping regional development, national education, and industrial innovation. Moreover, key figures such as Sally Ride, Ronald E. McNair, and other minorities have struggled to be included in the national vision represented by the space program. We will examine some of the crucial films and literature associated with the shifting social, political, and economic priorities connected with the American space program. Credit: Meeting Dates:

HPA 175F *International Medical Service-Learning Trip. Students learn valuable lessons about what it means to be a global citizen, a responsible leader, and a healthcare advocate through work in a hospital, healthcare clinic, or medical office outside of the U.S. that benefits both the healthcare facility and the students. Students "shadow" or follow a physician or other healthcare professional as s/he goes about doing his/her normal job. Students will also embrace the importance of altruism within the healthcare field by providing services that benefit the clinic. Finally, students will undertake direct patient care experiences involving measuring and recording blood pressure, pulse, temperature, and respiration rates, assisting with wound cleaning and dressing, facilitating patient transport, or assisting with patient registration. Each student in the program must obtain CPR and basic first-aid certification and demonstrate competency with the ideas and practices of how to conduct a medical history and interview, knowledge of appropriate behavior when it comes to patient rights, medical ethics, and professional etiquette. Credit: Meeting Dates:. Fee: $??? per student. Prerequisite: Instructor's consent.

HPA 397 *Health Science Observership. Week-long (40 hour) hospital or medical setting shadowing of residents and third-year medical students as they examine and speak with patients. Enrollment by consent only. Students should contact Dr. Judy Schmalstig, Department of Biology, jschmalstig@rollins.edu, for additional information. Credit: Meeting Dates

INT 215A *Social Advocacy through Film: Movies that Change Minds. Students will evaluate films with messages centered on issues of social justice, diversity, and responsible leadership. There will be discussion and scholarship based around recognizing subtext and identifying themes contained within the individual films. Students will examine existing community efforts to use film as an advocacy tool for underrepresented groups and apply their learning to create similar programming for the Rollins community. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 215G *Going to Graduate School. Exposes students to reasons why graduate school may be a good option after Rollins, how to research the best graduate programs (including international institutions), how to prepare for standardized entrance exams, and what to expect during the application process, including personal statements, references, and interviews. Course does not cover med school or law school options. Credit:. Meeting Dates: Prerequisite: Sophomore or junior standing.

INT 215I *Hunger and Homelessness in Central Florida. Through an "into the streets" immersion project, students experience, reflect, and analyze issues of hunger and homelessness in the U. S. and Central Florida. As reciprocal learners, students are involved in a multitude of active learning experiences that explore the intersections between privilege, opportunity, ability, race, gender, and socioeconomic status. Participants will engage in an overnight experience on Wednesday and an immersion on Saturday morning. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 215I *Into the Streets: Hunger and Homelessness in the United States. Through an “into the streets” immersion project, students will experience, reflect on, and analyze issues of hunger and homelessness in the U.S. and in Central Florida. As reciprocal learners, students will be involved with a multitude of active learning experiences that explore the intersections between privilege, opportunity, ability, race, gender, and socioeconomic status. Please be aware that participants will engage in an overnight experience on Wednesday. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 215K *Recovery and Regeneration: Restoring New Orleans. Join Rollins Relief in New Orleans to work for its recovery from the 2005 hurricanes. In this student-faculty collaborative effort, we learn by doing relief work to experience the scope of this tragedy, reading about the deluge, and by working every day with Habitat for Humanity to rebuild people's homes. Students work with Habitat for Humanity Monday through Saturday, and stay in their secure facility located at a new site called Camp Hope just south of Violet, LA. Academically, students attempt to understand and take some responsibility for helping people to put their lives back together by reading articles and books about this ongoing tragedy, keeping a journal, and writing an essay about rejuvenating the city upon our return. In addition, teams of students will conduct a forum or discussion for all interested students in the spring term. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates: January 6-13, 2008. Fee: $330 per student. Prerequisite: Priority to sophomores and juniors.

INT 215K *Katrina Recovery Project: Rebuilding St. Bernard Parish. St. Bernard Parish, LA, was devastated by Hurricanes Katrina and Rita a year ago; virtually every residence and business in the Parish was flooded with 8-15 feet of water for as many as two weeks when the levees broke. Sponsored by Rollins Relief, this week-long, immersive, service learning course will allow five student-led faculty-staff-student teams of 12 to provide direct assistance to elderly and handicapped residents of St. Bernard Parish in rebuilding their homes in a volunteer project managed by the parish government and Habitat for Humanity. Work could include gutting houses and debris removal, mold abatement, house reconstruction, and/or new home construction. Note that this will involve some physically demanding work. We will be housed and fed at Camp Hope. We will work on homes from 7:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. daily, and afterwards engage in personal and group reflection, and reading and journal writing; each team will be responsible for the creation of an annotated photo or video presentation suitable for posting on the Web upon return. Evening excursions into New Orleans are planned. This will be a zero-tolerance alcohol/drug free course. Registration priority will be given to first-year students and sophomores. Two (2) REQUIRED pre-trip class meetings. Fee: $100, non-refundable, at first meeting; additional fees, if any, will be determined based on ongoing fundraising. A limited number of grants will be available. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255(01) *Truth and Illusion: A Journey with Edward Albee. Edward Albee is one of the foremost playwrights and directors of our times with a career that spans more than thirty years. He has earned Pulitzer Prizes for A Delicate Balance, Seascape, and Three Tall Women; a New York Critic's Award and two Tony Awards for Who's Afraid Of Virginia Woolf?; a Kennedy Centre lifetime achievement award; and a National Medal of the Arts conferred by President Clinton. Albee burst the bubble of safe American theatre by asking the question Truth and Illusion: Who Knows the Difference, Toots?, which forces his audiences to exam their illusions, personal to national. His plays, rich in humor and pathos are bridges between European influences (e.g., Beckett, Genet) and uniquely American sensibilities. Includes video, film, guest performances, and an Albee production – A Delicate Balance – at the Annie Russell Theatre. Prerequisite: read A Singular Journey, Albee’s new biography by Mel Gussow, New York Times drama critic (required before attendance). Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255(02) Utopian Community: Celebration USA. For the last century, Florida has been a laboratory for utopian communities. Disney’s Celebration is the latest, and perhaps most important, new town designed as a model of a better life. Celebration contains an element of “Disney magic” that makes it both an escape from reality and a new model for suburban America. Celebration will be placed in perspective from both a political and design point of view by Rollins authors, Rick Foglesong and Bruce Stephenson. Doug Frantz and Cathy Collins, authors of Celebration USA: Disney’s Brave New Town, will also discuss what it was like to live in Celebration for two years and their search for the reality of this new creation. This course delves into social theory, the politics of Disney, New Urbanism, and, most importantly, the struggle to create a democratic community. Prerequisites: read Celebration USA and prepare a 4-page book review utilizing existing reviews in the New York Times Review of books and other sources (required before attendance). Credit: Meeting Dates: (field trip to Celebration USA)

INT 255 American Film Studies: The Coen Brothers. Before the Farelly Brothers and There’s Something About Mary and before the Wachowski brothers and The Matrix, the Coen Brothers were making important, genre bending films. Studies the maverick film makers Ethan and Joel Coen and their influential film making talent by examining the body of their film work, ranging from Blood Simple (their first film in the mode of film noir) to Miller’s Crossing (a take on the gangster film) to Barton Fink (simply put: a strange, strange film) to their Oscar-nominated Fargo (who knew people from Minnesota could be so funny). The class will also view their latest works: O Brother, Where Art Thou? and The Who Wasn’t There. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255A American Film Studies: Wes Anderson/Kevin Smith. Two of the more popular independent film writer/directors to emerge in the 1990s were Wes Anderson (co-writing with Owen Wilson) and Kevin Smith. However, on the heels of Smith’s Jersey Girl and Anderson’s The Life Aquatic with Steve Zissou, it is worth considering the career direction of both of these directors. Are they important filmmakers or just flash in the pans? Examines their films (including Bottle Rocket, Rushmore, The Royal Tenenbaums, Clerks, Chasing Amy, and Dogma) and considers their significance. Credit: Meeting Dates: Note: Open to first year students only.

INT 255A American Film Themes: Retooling Hollywood – Films by Female Directors. It is a well known fact that the Hollywood film industry is dominated and controlled by men: just look at who controls the studios, writes, directs, produces, and stars in the movies. Just look at who brings home the big paychecks. However, what goes unnoticed by many is that a group of successful women filmmakers write and direct their own films, challenging the “boy’s club” nature of the Hollywood film. Course looks at films by Jane Campion (In the Cut), Nora Ephron (Sleepless in Seattle), Sofia Coppola (Lost in Translation), Amy Heckerling (Clueless), Kimberly Pierce (Boys Don’t Cry), and Lisa Cholodenko (Laurel Canyon), and in doing so we will explore the distinct differences gender plays in the shaping and molding of movies and our reactions to them. Students will be expected to read and view films during the winter break. Priority to first-year students. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255A Murder, Magic, and a Lovelorn Angel. Students will shape a campus-wide, Gender Matters Read-in of Alice Hoffman’s short Florida novel, Turtle Moon. Here we see the intersection of troubled lives: a rebellious teenage boy, a young mother hiding her baby, a confused divorcee, a teenage girl with doubts about college, an unhappy cop, and the unexpected angel lurking in a gumbo-limbo tree. Enter the murderers. After discussing the novel, students will spend time shaping a campus-wide Rollins Read-in, designing brief advertising materials and planning their own contribution to spring term campus conversations. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255B *Introduction to Leadership for First-Year Students. Focuses on the role of self and group in the leadership process. Operating as an interactive "leadership laboratory," explores leadership in relation to individuality, group dynamics, social justice, and community engagement. Through readings, case studies, reflection exercises and group work, student leaders will examine leadership as an inclusive, relational process through which individuals, organizations, and systems develop visions and create change on campus and beyond. Credit: Meeting Dates: Prerequisites: First-year students only and instructor's consent.

INT 255B *Introduction to Leadership. Introduces the study of leadership and social change from theoretical and practical perspectives. Explores leadership in relation to individuality, group dynamics, and community building. Readings, case studies, reflection, and small-group sessions, allow students to examine leadership as an inclusive, relational process through which individuals, organizations, and systems create social change. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255B *Courageous Leadership. Responsible leadership requires us to engage in conversations about values and leadership. Yet, we know that our global society is challenging us to not access emotions and our purpose. Challenges engagement in these important dialogues and discovers the courage required to become a true global citizen and responsible leader on campus and beyond. Credit: One (1) semester hour. Meeting Dates:

INT 255C *Mentors in Violence Prevention Training. The Mentors in Violence Prevention (MVP) Program is a gender violence prevention and education program. The multi-racial, mixed gender MVP team is part of a large-scale attempt to prevent all forms of men's violence against women. Utilizing a unique bystander approach to gender violence prevention, the MVP Program views student leaders not as potential perpetrators or victims, but as empowered bystanders who can confront abusive peers. Program participants will develop leadership skills and learn to mentor and educate others on these issues. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255C *Poverty and Homelessness: Causes, Consequences, and a Call to Action. Poverty and homelessness are social issues that call into question the priorities of our nation. This experiential course explores the demographics and difficulties facing the poor in the U.S. It challenges common sense notions about those who are marginalized by providing diverse theoretical perspectives explaining the existence of the poor in our communities. Students apply methodological approaches associated with the social sciences to understand the intersection of race, class, and gender. The consequences of being poor on one's health status and educational experience are also explored. The promising role of applied social research in linking colleges to their communities, developing socially responsible citizens, and contributing to incremental social change are highlighted throughout the course. Course readings will be e-mailed to all students prior to the winter break with the expectation that students will arrive for intersession with all assignments completed. Credit: Meeting Dates: Prerequisite: Required course for all Cornell Scholars.

INT 255C Who are we? How do we know it? Where are we going? 'Human Nature' and the Quest for the 'Unity of Knowledge' in the 21st Century. A seminar reading/discussion/writing course focused on current debates about what 'human nature' is and whether all knowledge ('science') will accept as foremost foundation a strongly natural (biological, chemical, and physical) orientation, and that other fields (e.g., social sciences, arts, and humanities) will become sub-disciplines of this emerging, potentially dominant, scientific philosophy. Also addresses a few social and political implications of such an approach. After an introduction to these issues, we will read the related writings by participants in President Duncan's "Colloquy on Liberal Education and Social Responsibility in a Global Community." These are writings by E.O. Wilson, Steven Pinker, Jared Diamond, and others. Supplemental readings, extensive use of Internet resources, and films will deal with these same issues from additional perspectives. Students will develop a related theme, read about it further, and keep a journal, parts of which will be shared with the rest of the class. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255D The Psychology of Sport. Explores the psychological processes and mechanisms that influence performance outcomes. Specifically, will develop and understanding of the cognitive, motivational (including belief systems), and physiological factors that lead to optimal or, conversely, poor performances. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255D Winning in College and in Life. Has your first semester at Rollins been a bit of an academic disappointment? Had you expected an easier transition to college academics? A guide to being successful in college; but also a guide to success in life. Students learn to TAKE CONTROL! (Much of the pressure for first-year students comes from not taking control.) Raises issues very important to your present and future life and provokes reflection on yourself, your values, your goals, and how a liberal arts education can transform you into a thoughtful independent successful adult. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255E The Habitat Project. A service-learning experience that engages students with the Winter Park community through the Habitat for Humanity initiative. Classroom activities will focus on learning about the Habitat for Humanity program: its history, initiatives, core values and philosophy. Students will work directly with the local Habitat for Humanity foundation, gaining an appreciation for the challenges and opportunities within the community. Students will have the opportunity to interact with prospective homeowners and will spend time working on a Habitat house. In addition to working on the construction of a house, students will engage in experiences that will allow them to experience the "behind the scenes" work involved in coordinating the program. Overall goal of the course is to engage students in meaningful activities that challenge them to consider issues of social justice and ask themselves questions such as: Why does our society need programs like Habitat for Humanity and what can we do to eliminate this need? Class time will consist of hands-on experience at the work site as well as daily reflection/discussion time in the classroom. Out of class activities will include reading assignments and a journal project. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255I Leadership for Student Organizations. Focuses on the role of self and group in the leadership process. Operating as an interactive 'leadership laboratory,' explores leadership in relation to individuality, group dynamics, social justice, and community engagement. Also explores unique opportunities and challenges facing the fraternity and sorority community at Rollins College, in the context of local and national values and behavior. Through readings, case studies, reflection exercises, and group work, students examine leadership as an inclusive, relational process through which individuals, organizations, and systems develop visions and create change within the fraternity and sorority community. Engagement component of the course focused on connecting underprivileged youth with Rollins students through the forum of leadership. Credit: Meeting Dates: Prerequisite: Instructor's consent; register in department.

INT 255J *Environmental Activism on the Peace River. Interdisciplinary course focused on threatened natural habitats of Florida and the leadership necessary to facilitate individual, campus-wide, and political change in these areas. Goal of the course is to have students weigh the pros and cons of conservation efforts in Florida and answer the question "Is Florida's natural environment worth preserving?" and further, "How do I go about making change to ensure its preservation?" In the culminating immersion experience, students and instructors will visit the Peace River in Arcadia, FL, for a day of canoeing and an overnight camping trip. Students should be prepared for significant outdoor activity and travel times. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255J *Coming into Your Own. Intense experience designed to sharpen the participants' interest and competence in seeking and finding themselves. Relies on various texts, including Herman Hesse's Siddhartha, for intellectual underpinning. But as important is interaction among class participants as students attempt to create community through a process in which the highest value is each participant's individuality. Students will learn from this how our culture erects barriers to finding ourselves. Credit will be awarded to those who complete all required work and participate at a level of commitment comparable to that of the facilitator. The instructor, Peter White, the Rollins' Scholar in Residence for, is nationally known as an advisor to families on issues of material abundance and community. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255K *Drug Discovery and Molecular Medicine. Focuses on the exploration of drug development, discovery, evaluation, and application. Topics include how pharmaceutical agents are designed to perform in a medical response to a disease or condition, how they interact with receptors, how the pharmaceutical industry works, and the interaction of the industry with the Food and Drug Administration (F.D.A.). Particular emphasis placed on the neuroscience, neuropharmacology, and central nervous system (C.N.S.) reagents. Ensures understanding and appreciation of the new field of molecular medicine. Taught both from neuroscience and chemical perspectives. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255K *Antioxidants and Free Radicals in Biology, Nutrition, and Disease. Explores how antioxidants such as beta-carotene, vitamins C and E, protect the body from a variety of pathologies and diseases including cancer, AIDS, and neurological disorders. Examines how taking antioxidant supplements can promote a healthier lifestyle, slow down the aging process, and increase the benefits of exercise. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255L *Human Immunodeficiency Virus and Sexually Transmitted Infection Peer Health Education. Recent studies have shown that the rate of HIV-infection for the college-aged population has shown a steady increase over the past decade. The messages of the late-80's and early-90's are wearing off, students are reverting back to invincible sexual practices. This course will train students to serve as peer educators for HIV/AIDS/STI related issues. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255L *HIV Peer Health Educators. Recent studies have shown that the rate of HIV-infection for the current college-aged population has shown steady increase over the past half-decade. This has been partially attributed to a decrease in the amount of education that college-aged men and women are receiving about the disease. As the messages of the late-80's and early-90's wear off, students are reverting back to invincible sexual habits. Trains students to serve as peer educators for HIV/AIDS related issues -- including means of infection, nature of the virus, current state of the virus, viral load, most recent treatments and therapies, and the social impact HIV has had on our global society, including our Rollins College environment. Students volunteer part of a day with a local HIV volunteer clinic, working with Centaur, Hope and Help, or The Hug Me Centers, gaining first hand knowledge of the impact HIV and AIDS has on our Central Florida community. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255M *Finding Global Citizenship at Rollins: Opportunities and Experiences. Are you a global citizen? Encourages students to define what global citizenship means to them. Through international films, cross-cultural activities, and readings, course encourages students to understand culture in a broader way and map their own path toward becoming a global citizen. Opportunities for study, service, research, and scholarship abroad, both before and after graduation, will be presented. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255M *Civic Design and Democracy. Presents the sometimes conflicting demands of civic design and political democracy. On one hand, introduces students to new trends in the physical design of cities - - namely, the so-called New Urbanism, which emphasizes the importance of creating well-designed civic spaces. On the other, addresses the challenge of maintaining democratic governance of cities, recognizing that New Urbanism often entails privatized planning and control of urban spaces. For examples of New Urbanism, and of its conflict with democratic governance, we will turn to the Orlando community, taking field trips to Celebration, Florida; Baldwin Park in Orlando; and Park Avenue in Winter Park. Includes class lectures and discussions, field trips, films, and outside speakers. Students will read one book in its entirety, portions of two other books, and several articles, and will write one three-page book report (due on the first day of class), two two-page focus papers, and one five-page essay (due Thursday of the following week). Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255M *Civic Design. The suburbanization of America has fostered a host of problems. During the last decade, the New Urbanism, a congress of planners and architects, have re-introduced traditional civic design to solve the conundrum of suburban sprawl. Course focuses on the art and politics of civic design, examining exemplary projects from Europe to Central Florida. A field component is included to enhance understanding of the course material. Credit: Meeting Dates: (fieldtrip to Celebration).

INT 255N *Conflict Resolution. Provides a structure in which participants may gain a basic understanding of the mediation process, the skills involved in mediation, and have the opportunity to practice each skill and step. Participants will be evaluated on each of 13 conflict resolution skills and processes. Students will receive a certificate indicating their successful completion of the 20-hour basic mediation training program for the college and university setting. This certification allows students to mediate roommate, relationship, and organization conflicts within the Rollins College community under the leadership of the Alternative Dispute Resolution Services office. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255O *Economics in the Movies. This course focuses on social economics, or what could be called "economic cultural anthropology," as portrayed in film for students with a genuine interest in cinema and in social issues. Students will view a movie involving economics each day, discuss the film, and write short written reviews of the day's movie(s). Tentative list of films to be viewed includes Charles Chaplain's Modern Times, Elia Kazan's On The Waterfront, John Ford's The Grapes of Wrath, Vittorio de Sica's Bicycle Thief, Oliver Stone's Wall Street and/or Ben Younger's Boiler Room, and Larry and Andy Wachowski's The Matrix. As a post-intersession project, students will write a proposal for a movie involving economics that must include a synopsis of the story and the social-economic issues it would raise. Credit: Meeting Dates: (times will be adjusted for viewing schedule).

INT 255P Conquering the LSAT. The two most important criteria for determining a student's admission to law school are the undergraduate grade point average (GPA) and the Law School Admission Test (LSAT) score. This is a comprehensive course designed to help students earn higher LSAT scores and attend better schools. Rollins professors from the four major disciplines addressed on the LSAT will provide intensive instruction in all of the four major areas tested, explain strategies which are designed to enhance test scores, and offer personal counseling as students take practice tests, all of which are actual recent tests administered by the Law School Admission Council (LSAC). Credit: Meeting Dates: Note: This course carries a $100 materials fee that will automatically be billed to your College account.

INT 255P Relationships in Film. Investigates how interpersonal relationships are depicted in popular films. Focuses on the ways popular films explain how interpersonal communication is used to initiate, maintain, and terminate relationships. Films will be treated as texts to be read and critically analyzed as a means of exploring important communication issues in interpersonal relationships. Students will read textual materials prior to intersession week and will view films centered on the rubric of interpersonal communication and relationships in film during intersession week. Written critical reviews of each film and a final reaction paper required. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255Q Cracking the Da Vinci Code. An examination of the popularity, controversy, and historical accuracy of Dan Brown's The Da Vinci Code. On the New York Times best-seller list for more than 80 weeks, The Da Vinci Code has thrived on its promotion of secrecy, scandal, and sexism in Christianity. But are the claims made within the book true? Do people want them to be? Through an examination of Christian texts and history, the course will attempt to separate fact from fiction and hype from historicity. We will also examine what it is about American Christianity that lends itself to the overwhelming popularity of this work. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255R City in Film. An exploration of various perspectives on urban studies through the medium of film. Examining both positive and negative portrayals of urban space, students will be asked to consider metropolitan life as presented in films from different eras. Featured films will be augmented with selected readings and serve as a starting point for analysis of the political, social, and economic perspectives on American urban society. Post-interim assignment will be to take the perspectives offered and produce a position paper based on the reading and films. This short paper will give students an opportunity to critically compare and analyze the images of the city with the literature on urban development. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255R Globalization and "World Beat:" Hybridity, Presentation, and Appropriation. "World Beat" (or "World Music") is mass mediated music targeted at "sophisticated" Western metropolitans. Its distinctive non-Western sounds and rhythms provide both an opportunity for hybrid musical expression and a space for cultural appropriation. By highlighting some of the prominent "World Music," this course will help students develop an understanding of how transnational capital and modern digital technologies transform the ways in which we consume music. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255R Globalization and World Music: Hybridity, Presentation/Representation and Appropriation. "World music" is a mass-mediated genre targeted at Western metropolitans. Its distinctive, non-Western derived sounds and rhythms provide both an opportunity of hybrid expression and a space for cultural appropriation. By showcasing prominent examples of “world music,” the course examines critical issues concerning production and consumption of music, such as globalization, presentation/representation, and appropriation. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

INT 255S *Middle Eastern Cinema. Provides a glimpse at social life in the Middle East through the eyes of some of its pre-eminent filmmakers. Although Middle Eastern films are not widely known in the U.S., the region has a long and illustrious moviemaking tradition dating back to the beginnings of the Egyptian film industry in 1922. Over the years, filmmakers have skirted the restrictions of censors to make films that are subtly and often overtly political, offering a commentary on issues such as government oppression, women's rights, nationalism, the Arab-Israeli conflict, and Islamic fundamentalism. In this course, we will watch and analyze recent films from Tunisia, Iran, Algeria, Palestine, and Egypt, with the idea that films serve as a lens through which to examine important social issues in Middle Eastern societies. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255T *Lives of Moral Commitment. An exploration of the lives of a few individuals that have lived in exemplary and courageous ways. Emphasis on reflecting on the reasons and motives for their actions. Ultimately this course wants students to ask themselves: “What kind of life should I live?” Credit: Meeting Dates:

INT 255U *Galapagos y Florida: The Nature of Paradise. This course, led by a native naturalist and guide from the Galapagos Islands and a world traveler and lover of Florida, will explore two paradises: the natural world of the Galapagos, the Enchanted Islands of Ecuador, through readings and visual aids; and the natural world of Florida, through visits to pristine sites such as the Merritt Island Natural Wildlife Refuge and our own Winter Park backyard. Students will explore their connections to nature and re-vision the natural world through new lenses. Credit: Meeting Dates: Note: Students will be asked to cover a portion of transportation costs related to off-site travel, estimated to be $30.

INT 255V *Formal Versecraft Workshop: The Sonnet, etc. Allowing for both late night and early morning visitations by your Muse,* this workshop meets between the daytime hours of 11:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., with a two-hour lunch and meditation break. By the end of the week, you will have learned and practiced the rudiments of formal verse-making, and studied intently the immortal sonnet forms, fashioning some of your own. A pre-intersession reading assignment will be John Hollander’s Rhyme’s Reason: A Guide to English Verse (New Haven & London: Yale University Press, 1981), 52 pages. Additional text for the course will be The Formalist poetry journal. Credit: Meeting Dates: *Licensed Verse Practitioner.

INT 255Y *Rollins Journalism Boot Camp. An intensive “boot camp” focusing on journalism and the student press. The Sandspur workroom is a real-life learning laboratory, and students who complete this course will be fully prepared for success as a student journalist. Through hands-on experience, readings, research, writing, and instruction from outside presenters, students will examine journalism from the perspective of reporter, researcher, editor, photographer, page designer, and business manager. Also explores the role of journalism in democracy, touching on First Amendment rights, censorship and ethics, and the integrity of the press. Credit: Meeting Dates:

LAC 295A *Cuba and the U.S.: Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow. The year 2009 marked the 50th anniversary of the triumph of the Cuban Revolution. Examines the political and cultural changes that have taken place on both sides of the Florida Straits as a result of this historic event. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

PED 205 *Ethical Issues in Modern Sport. Encourages students to confront the many ethical issues in competitive sports, while advocating moral reasoning as being essential to the attainment of values such as character development, teamwork, cooperation, and self-discipline. Offers perspectives on the ethical issues facing society in youth sports, intercollegiate athletics, and, time permitting, the Olympics and professional sports. Using thought-provoking questions and real-life situations, students will examine case studies and develop the skills needed to construct reasoned responses to ethical dilemmas in modern sport. Students will be challenged to articulate their own positions in light of applicable universal ethical principles. Designed to stimulate philosophical thinking, while fostering and preserving ethical values in sports. Credit: Meeting Dates:

PED 205I *How You Play The Game. The central themes of this course are the concepts of Olympism, world peace, and sport. Olympism is based on the philosophical belief that international sport, such as the Olympic games, has the unique educational value of enhancing respect for universal fundamental ethical principles. The modern day Olympics were established to promote peace among the various countries of the world. While world peace has not yet been attained, proponents insist that sport on the international level remains a driving force towards that objective. While confronting a variety of ethical issues in competitive sports, the course will focus primarily on the goals of Olympism. Students will examine documents and selected literary evidence to support or refute the claim that Olympism serves as a major holder and distributor of social peace. Students will research topics of historical significance and debate the original goals for re-establishing the modern Olympic games. In this third millennium, the International Olympic Committee is confident the positive role of sport can, and must play as a catalyst in society. That sport can teach the world about respect and tolerance, two values that are viewed as essential in today's world, more effectively than many other dynamics seeking peace accord. Therefore as students develop skills needed to construct reasoned responses to ethical dilemmas in modern sport, the Olympic Games will be the focal point. Credit: Meeting Dates:

PHI 211I *Bali: Paradise in Film and Reality. The island of Bali (Indonesia) has been portrayed in books and literature as a paradise. Students will watch old films and read materials about Bali, and then compare them to what we can learn today from commercial films, the instructor's research videos, and from articles. Examines the fascination with and the misrepresentation of 'The Other.' Credit: Meeting Dates:

POL 205A *Democracy and Citizenship in the Contemporary Middle East. Provides a survey of the current state of democracy, freedom, and citizenship in the Middle East, particularly in the Arab world, as well as a review of some of the leading theories that purport to explain why the region has made relatively limited democratic progress when compared to the non-Arab, or non-Muslim-majority, world. Credit: Meeting Dates:

POL 205A *Genocide in Bosnia: A Problem from Hell. Challenges students to consider the rationality of ethnoreligious conflict, the world's commitment to stop genocide, and the goal of peacekeeping and humanitarian intervention. Develops an appreciation of the complexity of the issue as well as an understanding of the physical and ethical costs of war. Extremely timely given the recent arrest of Karadzic and the Russian interventions in Georgia and Chechnya. Material and issues are timeless, as problems of genocide and dilemmas of intervention stretch from Armenia and Nazi Germany, to Rwanda and Sudan. Credit: Meeting Dates:

POL 205A *Political Conflict and Repression through Fiction. Makes use of four contemporary works of fiction to better understand political conflict and repression in the Middle East and Central Asia. Engages the question of what role fiction, and artistic expression more broadly, can play in influencing the conduct of international politics. Throughout the course, we will be attuned to both the innate power of the written word, and the broader political significance of writers and the works they produce. Credit: Meeting Dates:

POL 205B *Disney and the City. Assesses the Walt Disney Co.'s contribution to planned urban development. Drawing upon the instructor's book, Married to the Mouse, examines the design features of the Magic Kingdom viewed as a controlled urban environment, compared with the planning and design of Epcot, the Disney new-town Celebration, and Orlando's International Drive, taking fieldtrips to all four places. The key question of the course is pertinent to city-building worldwide: are Disney-style developments founded upon centralized control superior to urban environments built under the fragmenting conditions of capitalism and democracy? Credit: Meeting Dates: Fee Course: $15 transportation cost. Note: Students are required to purchase a three-day, Florida-resident, Disney pass at a cost of $140. Note: Fieldtrip release forms required for all participants prior to participation.

POL 205B *Disney and the City. Assesses the Walt Disney Co.'s contribution to planned urban development. Drawing upon the instructor's book, Married to the Mouse: Walt Disney World and Orlando, examines the design features of the Magic Kingdom viewed as a controlled urban environment, compared with the planning and design of Epcot, the Disney new-town Celebration, and Orlando's International Drive, taking fieldtrips to all four places. The key question of the course is pertinent to city-building worldwide: namely, whether Disney-style developments founded upon centralized control are superior to urban environments built under the fragmenting conditions of capitalism and democracy. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

POL 205B *Money and Politics. Explores matters of law and political behavior involving campaign finance and lobbying. Investigates legal issues concerning freedom of speech, the activities of lobbyists and fundraisers, the needs of office-seekers and of political parties, and prospects for reform. Credit: Meeting Dates:

POL 205C *Post-Cold War Conflict in Film: What the Silver Screen Can Teach Us about World Politics Today. Analyzes international conflict through alternative lens of feature film. Targeting political developments since 1991, students examine how the 21st century differs from the 20th, and how to adjust accordingly. Case studies highlight the role of United States power, promise, and pitfalls within the United Nations, dependence on fossil fuels, and the continued threat of terrorism. Credit: Meeting Dates:

POL 205C *War & Conflict in Film: World Politics on the Silver Screen. Examines international conflict through the alternative lens of feature film. Objective is to better comprehend how the early 21st century environment fundamentally alters traditional global interactions and how to adjust accordingly. Case studies highlight role of U.S. power, promise and pitfalls within United Nations (U.N.), dependence on fossil fuels, and continued threats of terrorism. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

POL 205D Campaigns and Elections. Considers the style and structure of American campaigns. In addition, considers why candidates decide to run and how they design their campaign messages. Also covers the importance of campaign polling, and the impact of campaigns on voters. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

POL 205E Power and Responsibility. Examines the concept of social justice and asks what, if any, associated universal rights and responsibilities exist. Diverse perspectives will be explored, including socialist, conservative and liberal. Articles and films will prompt reflection, discussion, and debate. Prerequisite: Cornell Scholars only. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

POL 215I Human Rights at Home. Since introduction of the Universal Declaration Human Rights in 1948, human rights have been a critical global issue. Yet even today, in one of the most developed, wealthy countries in the world, some communities still struggle to live a life of human dignity, a life where their most basic human rights are supported and respected. Begins with an examination of what we consider to be fundamental human rights, and uses this as a guide to understand the struggles of some of the most marginalized communities in Central Florida -- migrant workers in Apopka, impoverished families in Eatonville, and modern slaves throughout the region. Finally, we will consider what policies can be developed to advance human rights right here at home in Central Florida. Credit: Meeting Dates:

PSY 205A The Mind in the Machine. In the 100 years from Fritz Lang's Metropolis to Pixar's Wall-E, robots in film reflect our ambivalence towards technology and multifarious conceptualizations of human nature. Analyzes a variety of artificial characters in film, using "not human" to gain a better understanding of what it means to be "human." Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

PSY 205B This is Your Brain on Music. Few human experiences are as effortless and visceral as appreciating music. But music is enormously complex, and the listening experience draws upon cognition, memory, emotion, perception, and movement systems for analysis. Addresses how nearly our entire brain is involved in the listening experience. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

PSY 205C Art and the Brain. Will attempt to provide a biological basis for the theory of aesthetics beginning with the basic anatomy of the brain and the areas responsible for functions such as facial recognition, color vision, depth perception, optical illusions and dream images. Brain function and dysfunction will be associated with specific works of art from the perspective of both the artist and the perceiver. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

PSY 205I Mental Health and the Natural Environment. Research and theory in environmental psychology indicates that nature can be both a source of stress (e.g., disasters, extreme settings) and a restorative force that can alleviate stress (e.g., relaxing in nature, outdoor recreation). Research in medicine, psychopathology, and health psychology suggests that high levels of stress can result in a decline in physical and mental health. Both bodies of literature support the importance of understanding the link between natural settings and psychological processes, and the importance of protecting and sustaining the natural environment. In a fun and intensive week of reading, writing, experiential activities, and field trips, we will explore these important issues. Credit: Meeting Dates:

PSY 221I Topic: The Winning Edge. Highlights the psychological considerations in maximizing sport performance. Research has consistently supported the promise that maximal performance is affected not only by physical skills and psychological conditioning, but also by the personality, psychological preparation, and conditioning of the athlete. Approach taken will apply principles and techniques that clinical psychologists utilize in mental health clinics or private practice to assist individuals in attaining peak performance. Credit: Meeting Dates:

SPN 200I *Nuestros Vecinos Hispanos: Our Hispanic Neighbors. A thought provoking, interdisciplinary seminar that examines questions of cultural identity, assimilation, discrimination, and the economic and political forces behind Hispanic immigration to Florida and the U.S. Takes an interdisciplinary approach to understanding the Hispanic experience: politics, history, current events, literature, and film, as well as a field experience in Orlando's Hispanic community. Credit: Meeting Dates:

SPN 205 *Spanish Grammar Review. Designed to help students who are about to enter the intermediate sequence of Spanish courses (SPN 210C, 210G, or 210S), but who feel unsure of their grammar skills and would like a refresher. Reviews elementary and advanced grammar, focusing on the most problematic grammar points, develops writing and conversational skills, as well as listening comprehension. Students will have daily writing assignments, grammar activities, and a final exam. Students will be assigned two hours of homework per day. Not open to students who have completed a Rollins SPN course above the 201 level. Credit: Meeting Dates:

SPN 205I *One Island, Two Worlds: US-Cuban Relations Since 1959. In 2009, the 50th anniversary of the triumph of the Cuban Revolution will be marked. Examines the political and cultural changes that have taken place on both sides of the Florida Straits as a result of this historic event. Credit: Meeting Dates Note: Fieldtrip release forms required for all participants prior to participation.

THE 205I *Physical Theater in Shakespeare. Students will explore the physical aspects of aerial theater, mask work and movement in order to present Shakespearean text. Permission of department is required. Credit: Meeting Dates

THE 350B *Topics: Something Wicked this Way Comes: Macbeth in Production. Designed to mirror the professional rehearsal process, student actors cast in the upcoming Annie Russell Theatre production of Macbeth will work alongside their professional counterparts addressing the physical and vocal demands of a classical play. Areas covered will include text analysis, scansion and meter, stage combat, and classical acting styles. Credit: Meeting Dates:

THE 350C *Molière--The Comic Genius. Molière is the complete theatrical persona – actor, producer, and playwright. He is the best-loved foreign language playwright on the English-speaking stage. The Bourgeois Gentleman provides a springboard for an exploration of Molière's comic genius – his combination of wit, romance, social hypocrisy, financial greed, and farcical hi-jinks. The course will include scene study, video presentations, exercises, and research. A special focus will be placed on the relations between the life of the play and society. Required for all cast members of the Theatre Department's spring production of The Bourgeois Gentleman and open to all other students. Credit: Meeting Dates:

THE 350D *Theatre for Young Audiences: Interactive Play Creation. Introduces students to the potentials of interactive (audience participatory) play creation, with a particular concentration on the strategies of building theatre for young audiences. Students will consider issues such as what role performances of this nature serve, and how interactive theatre forms can reclaim or honor lost or marginalized voices and stories. Utilizing the language and skills of improvisational, interactive, and ensemble-based schools of thought, each student will develop a performance frame/text that will enable future on-site theatrical performances. Participants should be comfortable with the demands of performance and have a commitment to the development of subject material that celebrates diversity, tolerance, and understanding. Credit: Meeting Dates:

THE 350D *Fairy Tales, Folk Tales, Tall Tales, and Myths: Trends in Theatre for Youth. Surveys the history, literature, and contemporary practices in theatre for youth. The practice of child drama includes dramatic play, story enactment, imagination journeys, theatre games, music, and dance. Students will make use of the basic materials, techniques, and theories for facilitating improvisational drama with children and youth, and will gain an overview of a few classics in the theatre for youth canon of dramatic literature. Culminates with a staged reading/performance of a children's classic. Open to all students. Credit: Meeting Dates:

THE 350I *Fundamentals of Improvisational Theatre. Introduces students to the collaborative and play-inspired world of spontaneous theatre, and explores the unique artistic potentials inherent in non-scripted performance. Upon successful completion of the course, students will be able to articulate and demonstrate the fundamental principles that inform and enable improvisational play; constructively employ the above principles in the pursuit of team-oriented, scene-based play in a collaborative and supportive fashion; achieve deliberate stylistic and structural effects in scenic work; generate improvised scenes that embody energy, honesty, and variety; and successfully perform in a competitive-style show format. Charna Halpern's Truth in Comedy must be read prior to first class meeting. Credit: Meeting Dates:

THE 350L *Twelfth Night: In Production. Through a close textual examination of Shakespeare's Twelfth Night, this course explores the themes, language and style of Elizabethan theatre from the perspective of production. Students will discover the rich potentials of poetic language, style and form, the importance and manifestation of status, rank and gender, and the emotional depths and comedic peaks of Shakespearean play in action. The course serves as preparation for the upcoming Annie Russell Theatre production and, as such, preference will be given to cast members and key crew positions. Prerequisite:  Casting and/or consent of instructor. Credit: Meeting Dates:

THE 350N *Leadership and Ensemble Building Through Long-Form Improv. Examines concepts of leadership and ensemble within the creative site of long-form improvisation and explores the interpersonal tools, techniques, and doctrines that are crucial to the successful pursuit of this unique mode of theatre performance. Participants develop core improvisational competencies that allow for focused group play, and apply these skill sets to both established long-form structures (such as the La Ronde, Harold, and Montage) and long-forms in development (such as E. Pluribus Unum, The Renga, and Plot Points). Throughout, players experience issues of leadership and ensemble, and how to balance the needs or objectives of the individual with the artistic and social goals of the group. Prior improvisational experience or training is not required, but some familiarity with the world of improv theatre will prove helpful. Credit: Meeting Dates:

THE 350N *Leadership and Ensemble Building Through Long-Form Improv. Examines the concepts of leadership and ensemble within the creative site of long-form improvisation, and develops the interpersonal tools, techniques and doctrines that enable focused group play in both existing and new performance structures. Prior improvisational experience is helpful but not necessary. Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

THE 350R Producing an Original Script. Students will work with a professional director and playwright on a production of an original script (Letters to Sala). Character research, acting technique, and staging principles will be addressed. (The Rollins student cast and crew of Letters to Sala are strongly encouraged to take this class, but it will also be open to other interested students.) Credit: Two (2) semester hours. Meeting Dates:

TPJ 125 Reading Right for Rollins. Are you not getting you the grades you want at Rollins? Does your reading have something to do with it? Do you want to find techniques to help you: 1) get motivated to read, 2) find and follow the author's main point, 3) figure out what the professor thinks is important in the readings, and 4) make connections between concepts in readings and in class sessions? In-class sessions, individual conferences, and practice time will enable you to design strategies for doing the "reading right" in your spring term courses. Bring to the first class some materials from a difficult course you've recently taken -- your assigned readings, class notes, papers, tests, etc. Also bring the textbooks for one or two of the courses you'll start in spring term. Credit: Meeting Dates:

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

IFT 101 *Information Fluency. An introduction to information literacy and the process of library information research and communication. Through discussions, exercises and class projects emphasizing both electronic and print library information resources, students will develop their understanding of information research and communication processes. One (1) semester hour; graded credit/no-credit (CR/NC).

IFT 106 *Using the World Wide Web for Research. In this course students will evaluate and discuss techniques for locating and verifying research information on the World Wide Web. Discussions will also cover copyright issues and "pay for usage" databases. Final project: electronic bibliography. Assumes knowledge of basic Windows functions including use of scroll bars, mouse, and menus. One (1) semester hour; graded credit/no-credit (CR/NC).

IFT 107 *Using PowerPoint and Computer Graphics for Presentations. Students will learn to use Microsoft PowerPoint and graphics techniques for creating effective classroom presentation. Final project: classroom presentation. Assumes knowledge of basic Windows functions including use of scroll bars, mouse and menus. One (1) semester hour; graded credit/no-credit (CR/NC).

IFT 109 *Using Access for Data Collection and Analysis. Microsoft Access will be used to show how information is stored and retrieved for use in data collection and analysis. Assumes knowledge of basic Windows functions including use of scroll bars, mouse, and menus. One (1) semester hour; graded credit/no-credit (CR/NC).

IFT 110 *Using Excel Spreadsheets Effectively. Students will learn how to use Microsoft Excel to solve problems that might be expected in liberal arts courses. Basic math skills required. Student cannot receive credit for both IFT 110 and Spreadsheets for Accounting. Assumes knowledge of basic Windows functions including use of scroll bars, mouse and menus. One (1) semester hour; graded credit/no-credit (CR/NC).

IFT 112 *Creating Home Pages for the World Wide Web. Students will learn the basic skills necessary to create Web pages, including the incorporation of computer graphics into pages. Students will create their own home pages as a final project. Assumes knowledge of basic Windows and Rollins' Novell systems. One (1) semester hour; graded credit/no-credit (CR/NC).

IFT 113 *Creating Home Pages for the World Wide Web II. Students will use high-level Web tools such as FrontPage, Dreamweaver and others to create advanced Web applications. Assumes knowledge of basic Windows and Rollins' Novell systems. One (1) semester hour; graded credit/no-credit (CR/NC).
Prerequisite: IFT 112 or consent.

IFT 114 *Using Microsoft Word for Publication Design and Layout. Students will learn to use the features of Microsoft Word to design newsletters, resumes, and other publications that require unique formatting. Assumes basic knowledge of Windows & Word. One (1) semester hour; graded credit/no-credit (CR/NC).

IFT 116 Special Topics/Information Technology. Students will work independently with an instructor to develop specialized skills such as database, Perl, CGI, other Web programming tools, or other topics as agreed to by student and instructor.

IFT 118 Introduction to Information Literacy: Library Information Research and Evaluation. Introduces information literacy and the process of library information research and communication. Through discussions, exercises, and class projects emphasizing both electronic and print library information resources, helps students develop their understanding of information research and communication processes.

IFT 120 Design with Photoshop. Students will learn to use the features of Adobe PhotoShop, image-editing software, to create and manipulate graphics for print and the Web. Format will be class meetings and online assignments. Students will be expected to work independently. One (1) semester hour; graded credit/no-credit (CR/NC).

IFT 130/131 Information Technology Lab I and II. Provides instruction to student employees on the operation of the campus network, e-mail, Web systems, and general computer knowledge. Helps students learn to work in stressful situations, respond to requests for assistance by phone and in person, and research problems. One (1) semester hour; graded credit/no-credit (CR/NC; IT assistants only).

IFT 200 Information Technologies. Introduces students to Information Technology by surveying current technologies and software including communication networks, the Web, e-mail systems, computer programming, and specialized software tools. Students will work in groups and individually to complete projects on software evaluation, computer programming, current technology trends, and Web site design. The course will be taught substantially online with periodic class meetings. Students will be expected to work independently. Four (4) semester hours; prerequisites: three (3) IFT courses; laptop may be required depending on section/semester.

IFT 300 Digital Video I. Explores video capturing, editing, and exporting through hands-on, integrated use of digital cameras, VHS, CDs, and DVDs. Video editing software will be used to create transitions and effects.

IFT 301 Digital Video II. Presents advanced video editing techniques using industry-standard software, as well as non-linear and non-literal use of images and video. Prerequisite: IFT 300.

IFT 305 Network Design and Implementation. Students learn how computer networks are set up and run from a technical and operational standpoint. Students will be expected to work independently in group and individual projects. Prerequisites: IFT 200, CMS 147, CMS 157.

IFT 310 Database Applications. Introduces students to database applications including relational concepts, organization, sorting, querying and reporting. Students will learn how to analyze the contents of a database for abnormalities using SQL and other tools. Oracle databases and Microsoft Access w/ODBC will be the tools used.

LACA TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

LAC 205 Topic: *Ancient Maya Civilization. Explores issues of the ancient Maya culture from the beginnings of sedentary farming villages to the emergence, collapse, and revitalization of powerful political states. The Maya are one of the most significant complex societies of pre-Columbian America who practiced advanced agriculture, built beautiful stone architecture, and lived in large cities set within a challenging tropical environment. Archaeology minor elective course.

LAC 205A Topic: *Latino/a America - Understanding the Latino/a Community Locally and Nationally. An interdisciplinary course for first-year students that examines the history, politics, culture, and issues surrounding the national debate on the impact of the growing Hispanic population and immigration to the U.S. Students will gain knowledge of the socio-cultural experience of Hispanics in the U.S.; an understanding of the complex relationships between immigration, economics, and politics; an appreciation for the artistic expressions of the Hispanic experience; and an understanding of the similarities and differences between the diverse peoples of the Hispanic Diaspora. Through service and experiential learning, as well as a field study (May 6-8) trip to South Florida at the end of the semester, students will come to a personal understanding of the issues facing Hispanic immigrants in our society. Prerequisites: first-year student standing and participation in the Language Living and Learning Community in Elizabeth Hall; instructor's consent required. Fee: Students will be responsible for additional cost for South Florida field study: $700.

LAC 205A Topic: *Mexico as a Global Culture. Introduces the students to Mexico as a global culture, from its pre-Hispanic past to today. Topics include: the pre-Hispanic past; the native cultures at contact; Indians into Mexicans; problems of independence, revolution, and civil war and the founding of modern Mexico; the perils of economic development up to NAFTA; the globalization of Mexico's culture today; the U.S. border and beyond; and Mexican-American culture in the U.S.

LAC 205A Topic: *Peoples of the Andes. Survey of the cultures of the Andean region during both pre-Hispanic and modern times, beginning with a discussion of pre-Inca peoples, the rise and fall of the Inca Empire, and the impact of the arrival of Pizarro and his men on Andean society. Also analyzes the impact of processes such as war and political upheaval, the internationalization of labor, national austerity programs, the global economic crisis, urbanization, migration, development projects, etc., upon Andean peoples. The economic and political strategies Andean people use to ensure their interests at several levels: the household, social class, neighborhoods, and special interest groups, will also be discussed.

LAC 305A Topic: *The Real and the Supernatural in Latin America. Examines the relationships between people's belief systems and the economic, social, and political components of their cultures. Explores ways in which people of different cultures cope with the unpredictability of everyday life during normal times and those of rapid culture change. Focuses on the folklore traditions in Latin America of the supernatural, including conditions under which incidences of witchcraft increase, and explores pharmacological and psychological causes of the Haitian zombie phenomenon, uses of magic, ritual sorcery among tropical groups, and shamanism and healing.

LAC 305D Topic: Cuba, Haiti, Dominican Republic, and Puerto Rico. Introduction to the basic social problems confronting these nations in recent memory. Examines the commonalities and problems among these islands, and how their people have been able to cope with issues such as racism, economic dependency, stratificational and ethnic disparities, and the presence of the United States in their lives, amongst others. No background in the area is necessary.

LAC 305E Topic: Argentina and Chile As Global Cultures. A study of the Republics of Argentina and Chile, from Independence in the early 1800's until the present. Methods of analyses employed by the instructor are those of the anthropologist and the ethnohistorian, in the hope of providing an in-depth analysis of Argentinean and Chilean culture and society. Special attention paid to the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. An optional spring break field study trip to Argentina and Chile during Spring Break will be offered in conjunction with the course.

LAC 400 Seminar: Cuba, the U.S., and Cuban-Americans. Covers the social and political background of Cuba, from 1800 to the Cuban Revolution, to current events. Special attention is paid to interrelationships between Cuban society, culture, political economy, and its turbulent relationship with the U.S. An understanding of Cuban-American issues is also included. Preference given to LACA and ANT majors.

MATHEMATICS TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

MAT 390/490 *Optimization Models and Methods. Applications-oriented course that introduces a variety of models and solution methods, including the use of a commercial optimization software package, to solve a broad range of real-world optimization problems in science, engineering, economics, management science, and operations research. Prerequisites: for MAT 390: at least one year of mathematics at the level of MAT 111 or above; for MAT 490: at least one 200-level math course. (MAT 490 students will be required to do more in-depth work.)

MAT 390B *Operations Research: Deterministic Models. Applications-oriented course that introduces a variety of mathematical models and solution methods, including the use of an optimization software package, to solve a broad range of real-world optimization and decision-making problems in science, engineering, economics, management science, and operations research. Prerequisite: MAT 140, 230, or 240.

MAT 390C *Topic: Optimization. Optimization uses mathematics and mathematical modeling, often on computers, to choose the “best” of several alternatives for a given decision-making problem. Applications-oriented course that introduces a variety of models and solution methods, including the use of a commercial optimization software package, to solve a broad range of real-world optimization problems in science, engineering, economics, management science, and operations research.

MAT 490A *Topic: Graph Theory. Graph Theory is a major area of current mathematical research and many of its unsolved problems are accessible to undergraduate students. Students will learn the fundamental principles of graph theory and will apply those principles to solving problems, be required to produce proofs of elementary theorems, and will spend time attacking various unsolved problems. The students will also obtain a basic understanding of graph theory, will improve their ability to write mathematical proofs, especially proofs by induction, and will gain an enhanced appreciation of the nature of mathematical research. Prerequisite: MAT 330.

MAT 490B *Topics: Applied Combinatorics. Combinatorics is sometimes called the art of counting. Students will experience the rich interplay among different areas of mathematics as they learn and apply a variety of combinatorial strategies and techniques. Topics will include some or all of the following: the pigeonhole principle; inclusion-exclusion; generating functions; recurrence relations; symmetry, permutation groups, and Pólya enumeration; combinatorial designs, finite geometries, and error-correcting codes; and combinatorial optimization. Prerequisites: MAT 240 and one (1) 300-level course in mathematics.

MAT 490D *Topic: Coding Theory. Introduction to the general theory of linear codes, as well as several important examples of such codes including Hamming codes, Golay codes, Reed-Muller codes, and cyclic codes. Discusses methods for constructing linear codes and for evaluating their efficiency. Brief mention of nonlinear codes. Prerequisite: MAT 230 or 330.

MAT 490E *Topic: Point-Set Topology. Generalizes key concepts from calculus such as continuity, closed and open intervals, and convergence of sequences. Explores and characterizes various topologies, including metric spaces. Studies continuous functions between topological spaces and concepts such as connectedness, compactness, and convergence. Prerequisites: MAT 230 and 330.

MAT 490G Topic: Transformational Geometry. Studies Euclidean, affine, and projective geometries, adopting the approach taken by Felix Klein in his Erlangen Programme, in which he considers a geometry to consist of an underlying set together with a group of transformations acting on that set. Prerequisite: MAT 330.

MODERN LANGUAGES AND LITERATURES TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

FRN 320A Topics: *French Civilization, Culture, and History - Metropolitan France. Examines the major political, intellectual, social and economic events in French society. The conflict between traditional and modern values will be studied through issues such as education, the family, employment, and the place of women and minorities in society. Lectures and discussions in French. Prerequisite: FRN 202 or consent.

FRN 481 Seminar: *France's Integration with the European Union. Advanced seminar on French civilization focused on France's integration with the European Union (EU). Discussions will be based on the history and political structure of the Fifth Republic, institutional changes needed for membership in the EU, the current social and economic issues that tie France to the EU, and the cultural aspects that distinguish the French from their partners in the EU. Conducted in French. Prerequisite: 300-level French course, or consent. Note: Summer travel lab for this course provides related off-campus field study experience (two semester hours of credit). Additional credit also available for successful completion of an approved research paper based on the knowledge gained from the summer travel lab (two semester hours). (See FRN 175F/375F description under Field Studies in this booklet or contact Dr. Richard Lima for additional information.)

GMN 231/331 Survey of German Literature: *Germans and Jews. From Albert Einstein to Sigmund Freud, from Arnold Schönberg to Karl Marx, Jews have played a central role in Germany's cultural and spiritual development. Working from more contemporary texts backward to the late Middle Ages, this course investigates German literature in view of what they can tell us today about developments in German history and culture. (GMN 231 taught in English; GMN 331 includes short texts in German.)

GMN 250A/350A Topic: *Looking Back at the Third Reich. Sixty years have passed since WWII ended, yet hardly a week passes without some reminder of the Third Reich. Banks are investigated for unclaimed monies from Holocaust victims, the Vatican grapples with continued reconciliation between Jews and Catholics, and German and American companies provide compensation for those forced into slave labor. Investigates the events unleashed by Nazi Germany and seeks to understand their reverberations today. Readings for the course [all in English] will include primary documents, websites, a textbook on the Third Reich and the Holocaust, a prize-winning memoir, and a best-selling novel by a German. Those with German skills of at least the intermediate level will read an additional text in German (and should enroll in GMN 350A).

SPN 304 Introduction to Translation. Challenges students to translate variety of texts from Spanish into English and English into Spanish. Considers idiomatic usage, grammatical distinctions, and subtleties of tone and style. Prerequisite: SPN 202 or consent.

SPN 481 Seminar: *Contemporary Latin American Film. Explores tendencies and practices in current Latin American cinema by examining representative films produced from 1990 to present. Considers primarily the cultural, political, economical, and social contexts in which they were conceived and produced, but also analyzes culture, gender and, ultimately, the connection between national identity and filmmaking. Includes movies from Latin American film industries such as Mexico, Cuba, Brazil, and Argentina, and productions from Colombia, Bolivia, and Puerto Rico. Prerequisite: One (1) 300-level SPN course.

MUSIC TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

MUS 225 Topic: Bach, Beethoven and the Boys. A classical music course for those who are doubtful about classical music. Surveys some of the major composers, their compositions, and what makes them work. Involves listening to music. Designed for non-music majors.

MUS 225 Topic: The Lively Arts. Acquaints students with the performing arts through exploration of the history of ballet, opera, and symphony, as well as contemporary musical art forms such as musical theater and jazz. In-depth analysis of upcoming programs will be highlighted by required attendance at specific concerts throughout the semester. Prerequisites: modest computer skills are required.

MUS 225A Topic: Music and the Movies. While a script may help us in knowing what to think, music helps to know how to feel. Music in film enhances the action and mood and together facilitates an integrate work of art that becomes bigger than the sum of its parts. So from Handel to Horner, Mozart to Mancini, and Williams to Wagner, this class will listen to great music found in movies and beyond and study the musicians that made it possible.

MUS 225B Topic: Advanced Music and Technology. Further aspects of music production using a computer-based, digital audio workstation integrating MIDI sequencing and audio. Topics include digital audio theory, sound synthesis, sound design, the use of new technologies in popular and commercial styles, multimedia, computer music, contemporary compositions incorporating music technology and acoustic instruments, and the use of new technology in performance. Prerequisite: MUS 190 or instructor's consent.

MUS 225C Topic: Introduction to Music Therapy. Introduces students to the use of music in restoring, maintaining, and improving mental and physical health. Demonstrates how music techniques are applied in a therapeutic environment to bring about desirable changes in behavior, allowing for a greater understanding and adjustment of self and society.

MUS 225D Men, Women, and Music: Gender and Genre. Surveys the music and lives of men and women in various musical settings beginning in medieval Europe and ending in the 20th-century United States. Examines the roles and contributions of men and women as singers, instrumentalists, composers, and conductors, as well as the challenges facing them as professional musicians. Designed for non-music majors; no musical background necessary. Fulfills an elective requirement for the Women's Studies Minor.

MUS 225H Topic: Introduction to Sound Recording Technology. Provides students with expertise in the art of sound recording. Participants will take on responsibilities for recording live events at the College, utilizing the latest computer systems and equipment. To produce quality sound recordings, students are expected to reflect on the artistic standards acquired in other music courses, applying those standards rigorously to their activity in the class.

MUS 225J Topic: Singing for the Stage. Provides theatre and music students with a basic understanding of techniques necessary for performing on the concert, opera, and musical theater stage. Emphasizes healthy practice procedures, basics of good presentation, and auditioning practicum. Special emphasis placed on identifying one's strengths for the stage. Helps students to develop an organized approach to learning music for contemporary audition situations, and also helps students to develop repertoire suitable to their voice and physical type. Fee course: $30.

MUS 225M Topic: *Advanced Sound Recording. Applies knowledge acquired in MUS 225H Topic: Beginning Sound Recording. Advanced application of sound design and sound editing techniques and software will be explored. Special emphasis will be placed on practicing and assessing recordings projects. Prerequisite: MUS 225H.

MUS 225N Topic: *Writing with Digital Media. Instructs composers and arrangers in practical, real world applications of interfacing theoretical music composition skills into digital media. Assignments will include notating, editing, and transcribing personal projects as well as projects to develop aural (ear training) and computer-related skills. Prerequisite: MUS 151.

MUS 225P *Song Writing I. Examines the tools and methods of the songwriter and inspires and encourages the creation of original compositions. Through the study of lyric structure, rhyme schemes, harmonic structure, song forms and song styles, participants become proficient in both the analytical and the artistic aspects of producing original works.

MUS 285 *The Business of Music. Familiarizes students with the many aspects of business associated with the contemporary music industry. Topics include royalties, recording techniques, and common music business structuring. Prerequisite: MUS 152 or consent.

MUS 305B Topic: *Opera Production. Offers students practical rehearsal and performance experience in a full-length operatic role. Students will be provided with musical coaching and stage direction, while being challenged to develop their character through vocal and dramatic technique. The rehearsal period will culminate in a fully staged and costumed performance of a selected operatic work with orchestra. Prerequisite: audition and instructor's consent.

MUS 425B Topic: *The Music and Legacy of Our Bach Festival -- 75 Years of Great Music. The Bach Festival Society of Winter Park is the "crown jewel" of the Central Florida arts community and the longest operating fine arts organization in the state. Students in this class will discuss Bach Festival's rich heritage and the musical offerings of this 75th Anniversary Festival.

MUS 425C Topic: *Paris, Moscow, Vienna – 1890-1915. The narrow window of time between 1890 and 1915 stands as one of the most turbulent eras that Western music has seen to date. This course examines the impact that this period of veritable revolution had on musical trends in three important geographical centers: Moscow, Paris, and Vienna. Undertakes a study of the social and political climate of the times and in-depth analysis of works by Rachmaninoff, Scriabin, and Stravinsky; Fauré, Debussy, and Ravel; and Mahler, Schoenberg, and Berg.

MUS 425D Topic: *Schumann and Brahms. Examines the spiritual kinship and work of two seminal figures in the development of the most personal, intimate, side of German Romanticism. Examines songs, piano works, chamber pieces, choral works, and symphonies by these composers and places them in the larger context of the Romantic movement. Students will gain historical and theoretical perspective as they investigate elements of style, musical symbolism, and literary influences in representative works.

Prerequisite: MUS 252.

10/07/10

PHYSICAL EDUCATION TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

PED 202 *Psychology of Competition. Focuses topics in sport psychology relevant to the psychological and mental factors that influence performance and personal growth. Coverage includes developing appropriate psychological skills for performance enhancement, such as developing skills in imagery, attention-focus and concentration, self-confidence and goal setting, and managing stress. Other topics of interest to be considered are aggression, audiences and performers, and arousal and performance.

PHILOSOPHY TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

PHI 240A Topic: Philosophy of the Body. Focuses on the topic of the body in philosophy. Discusses the mind/body problem; the traditional Cartesian view that the mind and body are separate substances. Contributes to a general understanding of philosophy and an appreciation of how the body as a topic is dealt with in philosophy. Women's studies minor elective course.

PHI 240B Topic: Cross Cultural Concepts of the Self. Focuses on three cultural complexes--that of the West, the Balinese, and the Australian Aborigines. Explores the Western concept of self, which emphasizes atomistic individualism, and juxtaposes it to more collectivist ideas of the self. Considers the implications of the differing notions of self on our understanding of how we relate to others and to the environment.

PHI 240C Topic: Zombies, Serial Killers, and Madmen. Moral philosophy subjects our everyday intuitions about moral reasoning and individual responsibility to scrutiny using the principles of logic and critical thinking. Course investigates the modern phenomena of zombies and serial killers, and the ancient phenomena of madmen, to answer important moral questions such as: Is rationality a necessary condition for responsibility? The point of this scrutiny is twofold: (1) to expose any misconceptions or fallacious positions we might hold concerning sanity and responsibility, and (2) to gain a better understanding of the role that philosophy plays in ethical decision-making and our practices of imposing punishment on one other.

PHI 240D Topic: Chinese Philosophies -- Explorations of the Tao. Introduces classical Chinese philosophies. Studies various schools of Chinese philosophical thought, including the Confucian, Taoist (Daoist), Mohist, Legalist and Buddhist traditions. Provides understanding of the relevance of such thought to contemporary life, the relationships between the various Chinese philosophies, the similarities and differences between classical Chinese and Western philosophical thought, and the challenges of approaching such philosophical texts in translation. Readings will include translations of Confucius (Kongzi), Mo Tzu (Mozi), Mencius (Mengzi), the Tao te Ching of Lao Tzu (Laozi), Chuang Tzu (Zhuangzi) and others. All readings will be in English.

PHI 240E Topic: Culture Wars. Students will gain knowledge of traditional and contemporary ethical debates and theories concerning art production and evaluation. Competing theories of how value is assigned to artworks, the role art institutions play in assessing that value, and how art 'works' or produces effects in society will be examined and applied to particular contemporary American art works and art historical movements, debates, and contexts including National Endowment for the Arts policies, censorship, funding issues, and artistic autonomy. Students will learn to identify what is ethically at stake in large-scale societal practices and policies in the arts, and will gain the ability to assess, critique, and propose alternatives to such. Also taught as ARH 365B Studies: Modern American Culture Wars (V).

COM 240H/PHI 240H Topic: Evolution and the Law. This interdisciplinary course examines the current evolution debates, asking how/why legal change happens and if it confirms an inevitable evolution of social policy reflecting shifts in U.S. social norms.

PHI 240J Topic: *Human Nature in a Cross-Cultural Context. The old question of whether human nature is the result of nature or nurture has been expanded by findings in evolutionary biology, neuroscience, and cross-cultural psychology. These areas raise fundamental questions about what it means to be human. This course examines these issues, focusing particularly on cross-cultural issues, as well as ethical implications of this new research.

PHI 308 Topics in Ethics: *Business Ethics. Develops sensitive and systematic ways of thinking about the ethical aspects of business decisions. Topics may include the possible conflicts between one's personal ethics and the "rules of the business game," accountability for corporate actions, company loyalty, honesty in advertising and sales tactics, product safety, discrimination in hiring and promotion, and sexual harassment.

PHI 308 Topics in Ethics: *Care Ethics. Recent moral theorists argue that women employ an ethic of care rather than an ethic of rights. In this course we will read Carol Gilligan's In A Different Voice, which sets out the theoretical framework for this claim. We will explore the claim that women use a "different voice" in moral reasoning, and that this results in an ethic of care. We will discuss both applications and criticisms of care ethics, including whether or not it is a gender-specific form of moral reasoning. We will discuss specific cases and draw on examples from literature and film.

PHI 308 Topics in Ethics: *Ethics and Identity. Contemporary debate in moral theory centers on whether to accept or reject the Kantian view of the moral self as completely autonomous and abstracted from circumstances. Many philosophers now argue that the self is best viewed as intersubjective. Examines the arguments that lead to this intersubjective view of force and discuss the implications of this view for ethics. Prerequisite: PHI 108.

PHI 308 Topics in Ethics: *Happiness. A study of the philosophical disputes about happiness, moral objectivity, and the good life. Questions considered include: What is the nature of happiness? Is there more than one conception of happiness? What is the connection between happiness and the good life? What is the connection between happiness and moral objectivity? Readings include selections from Plato, Aristotle, Mill, Nozick, Mackie, Huxley, McFall and others.

PHI 308D Topic: *Gender, Relativism, and Rights. Explores tension between respecting cultural traditions and respecting human rights. Role of gender is emphasized as many cultural traditions that violate human rights disproportionately affect women. Issues such as female genital mutilation, forced prostitution, dowry, suttee (widows throwing themselves on husbands' funeral pyres), and 'wearing the will' are considered. Explores the theoretical debate on these issues, examines specific cases, and discusses the implications for politics, ethics, and public policy. WMS Minor elective course.

PHI 308G Topic: *Philosophy of Politics and Poverty. Subjects everyday intuitions concerning political theory and the practice of politics to scrutiny using the principles of logic and critical thinking. Considers contemporary political and economic theories, and legal cases to answer important questions such as, What is the proper relation between politics and poverty? Exposes misconceptions or false beliefs concerning political theory and the practice of politics enabling adjusted beliefs, and, provides a better understanding of the role that philosophy plays in political theory, economic theory, and the practice of politics with respect to the problem of poverty. Prerequisite: PHI 108.

PHI 308J Topic: Terrorism and Human Rights. Provides students with a historical, philosophical, and legal understanding of the phenomena of terrorism and how it affects the balance between our duty to secure the state and our duty to respect the human rights of all. Studies the philosophy of terrorism and humans, and some legal rulings concerning terrorism and human rights. In short, this course will be taught using two methods: philosophy and case law. Course goals are threefold: 1) to give students a historical perspective on terrorism and human rights, 2) to give students a philosophical understanding of terrorism and human rights, and, 3) to give students a legal understanding of terrorism and human rights.

PHI 314 Topic: Games, Rationality and Behavior. Uses class games derived from game theory and cross-disciplinary experiments to develop an understanding of rationality. Drawing on readings in economics, philosophy, psychology, and evolutionary anthropology, we will explore the power and limitations of rationality as a core concept for understanding our behavior and ourselves. Prerequisites: two PHI courses, junior/senior status.

PHI 314 Topic: Human Nature. Examines recent work in philosophy, psychology, anthropology, and evolutionary biology to discern the elusive contours of human nature. Focuses on: sex- and race-related differences among people; what brain science might tell us about human nature; humans raised by other species (wolf-children), and what, if anything, they can teach us about ourselves; cross-cultural comparisons in search of common human nature; and the recent resurgence of Darwinism in social thought. Examines ways that claims about human nature influence social, political, and ethical discourse. Prerequisite: One (1) philosophy course.

PHI 314B Topic: Controversies in the Philosophy of Mind. Advanced course in the philosophy of mind intended primarily for those who have completed PHI 348. Focuses on three areas of active interest and debate today: 1) What is consciousness, what is it good for and can it be understood? 2) Are our evolutionarily-developed ways of thinking rational? If not, why do they usually seem to work so well? and 3) Is mind primarily "in the head" or is it extended through the body and even embodied in the surrounding world? Prerequisite: PHI 348 or consent.

PHI 314D Topic: Phenomenology. Introduces phenomenology, the most important continental philosophy of the last century. Focusing on the work of Husserl, Heidegger, and Merleau-Ponty, examines phenomenology's method and field of inquiry, as well as its influence on other continental European philosophies.

PHI 314G Topic: Analytic Philosophy: Truth, Language, and the Limits of Philosophy. Analytic philosophy is marked by a preoccupation with the relationship between language and the true nature of reality. Examines the major developments during the twentieth century in the analytic tradition by considering the following questions: what is language, and how does it work? What is thought, and how does it relate to the external world? What is truth, and how can we find it? Focuses on how, in answering these questions, analytic philosophers deny the skepticism common to the previous era of philosophy only to create a new type of skepticism — a skepticism that questions even the very possibility of philosophic knowledge. Covers many of the most influential and important philosophers of the last 100 years— Bertrand Russell, W. V. O. Quine, Ludwig Wittgenstein, and Saul Kripke.

PHI 314H Topic: Queer Theory. Queer theory is the most recent of a number of influential theories that examine salient aspects of human identity, such as race, class, sex, gender, and sexuality, exploring the relationships among these categories, as well as their origin and meaning. Although queer theory is a relatively recent phenomenon, emerging out of feminist theory and gay and lesbian studies in the 1990's, its impact has been felt in a wide range of disciplines including literature, classic art, history, philosophy, religion, sociology, anthropology, psychology, history, film studies, communication studies, cultural studies, and biology. This interdisciplinary course familiarizes students with the key texts and figures in queer theory, including Michel Foucault, Judith Butler, and Kate Bornstein. We will explore the issues raised through theory, literature, and film.

PHI 314J Topic: The 'Linguistic Turn': 20th Century Analytic and Continental Approaches to the Question of Language. Two of the most influential philosophical movements in the 20th century are the analytic and the continental movements. As opposed to most previous philosophical traditions, both of them focus on a correct understanding of and use of language as the way to solve or dissolve philosophical problems, but each approaches this task in different ways (and from different assumptions). This course examines these two movements in their respective "linguistic turns" and prepares the way to better understand contemporary philosophy.

PHI 314K Topic: Advanced Logic. Philosophy forces us to go beyond our ordinary intuitions and perceptions about the world by subjecting them to scrutiny using the principles of logic and critical thinking. The process leads to true, justified, belief, or, simply put, knowledge, by expressing arguments in everyday language and evaluating them using the principles of logic and critical thinking. Course focuses primarily on formal logic, symbolizing arguments and evaluating them using the principles of logic and critical thinking, to gain understanding of the role that philosophy, or logic, plays in constructing and evaluating our intuitions and beliefs grounded in arguments about the world. Predicate and modal logic will be used to symbolize arguments and the validity of the arguments symbolize will be determined. Prerequisite: one PHI course.

PHI 314M Topic: Freedom. Systematic attempt to understand the concept of human freedom from psychological, metaphysical, political, and existential perspectives. Looks at answers to questions like: What does it mean to say that someone is free? Is anyone free? Why would anyone want to be free? Readings taken from classical and contemporary sources, including works of philosophers, psychologists, novelists, and scientists. Prerequisite: One PHI course.

PHI 314N Topic: Self in Philosophy. There is no more central idea in philosophy and psychology than the self. Examines views of the self developed in the Western philosophical tradition by major philosophers and discusses theories by contemporary philosophers and psychologists. Also examines non-Western approaches to the self, especially examining the distinction between Western individualism and Eastern collectivism. Takes a philosophical perspective on material in philosophy, psychology, and anthropology with the aim of taking a critical perspective on our traditional assumptions. Prerequisite: one PHI course. Australian Studies minor elective.

ANT 305W/PHI 314O Topic: Women and Globalization. Focuses on the particular problems women experience due to processes of globalization. Gendered effects of globalization include the drastic increase of poverty among women and children, human trafficking and sexual abuse, low status employment and economic exploitation, and the responsibility for maintaining households in traditional societies where men have migrated elsewhere in search of labor. This course is linked to a field study trip to San Miguel de Allende, Mexico, over Spring Break (see field study description, page xx). Students should contact professors directly for application guidelines. Prerequisite: ANT or PHI major or minor. Fulfills elective requirement for Women's Studies minor.

CLS 305E/PHI 314P Topic: Socrates and Sophistry. A study of the life and philosophy of Socrates in fifth-century Athens during the war with Sparta. The course examines the different perceptions of Socrates held by his contemporaries (Aristophanes, Xenophon, and Plato). Focusing on Plato's middle dialogues, we shall contrast Socrates' use of dialectic and irony with rhetorical and eristic practices of the Sophists such as Gorgias, Protagoras, and Hippias. Fulfills an elective requirement for either Philosophy or Classical Studies majors/minors.

PHI 314Q Topic: Foucault. An examination of Michael Foucault's thought and its implications for philosophy. Arguably one of the most important thinkers in the twentieth century, Foucault (1926-1984) influenced not only the discipline of philosophy, but also those of history, sociology, criminology, psychology, political science, and literary theory. Foucault was a prolific writer and his books cover a wide range of subjects: knowledge, language, madness, health, medicine, prisons, gender, sexuality, methodology, truth, power, and politics. Classified as a postmodernist philosopher, Foucault successfully challenged many of the legacies of modern philosophy, all the while addressing perennial philosophical questions.

PHI 490 Senior Seminar: Foucault. Michael Foucault was a prolific writer and his books cover a wide range of subjects: knowledge, language, madness, health, medicine, prisons, gender, sexuality, methodology, truth, power, and politics. Examines Foucault's thought and its implications for philosophy and investigates some of the major themes and topics in Foucault's work, including his concepts of freedom, subjectivity, power, and truth. Prerequisite: Junior/Senior majors/minors or instructor's consent.

PHI 490 Senior Seminar in Philosophy: Nietzsche. Examines the work of the 19th-century existentialist, Friedrich Nietzsche. Focuses on his rejection of Modernist philosophy, especially ethics, as well as his criticisms of religion, especially Christianity. Also examines his attempts at offering alternatives, embodied in such notions as: will to power, beyond good and evil, overman, perspectivism, and eternal recurrence. Prerequisite: senior philosophy major or instructor's consent.

PHI 490 Senior Seminar in Philosophy: Plato. Examines Plato's dialogues on love and friendship, concentrating on the Symposium, Phaedrus, and Lysis. Discussion will focus on Plato's use of love or erôs in his metaphysics, ethics, and political theory. Intended for third- and fourth-year Philosophy and Classical Studies majors and minors.

PHI 490 Senior Seminar in Philosophy: Spinoza. Spinoza was recognized (and persecuted) as a heretic and a radical in his own seventeenth century. He wrote two important philosophical works, one on religion and politics, and the other on metaphysics and ethics. Both books were immediately banned by the Church and by governments all over Europe. His ideas on religion and politics no longer seem quite so revolutionary today, but his overall view – of human beings as a part of nature and of how we can achieve joy and “salvation” through reason and self-knowledge – are as timely as they ever have been. Revered by scientists (Einstein) and Romantic poets (Coleridge), by contemporary neuroscientists and environmentalists, Spinoza has been most recently hailed as the seminal thinker of the “Radical Enlightenment.” Seminar provides historical and philosophical context for his writings and a close reading and discussion of his two undisputed masterworks – the Theological-Political Treatise and the Ethics.

POLITICAL SCIENCE TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

POL 252 Topic: American Civil Rights Policy. Examines the various meanings of equality and their implications for policy, distinguishing between a 'discrimination' -- which violates an individual's civil rights -- and a 'differentiation,' which is permitted by law. Studies the major civil rights policies which have been adopted since 1960 and how they have evolved and been interpreted by the U.S. Supreme Court. Analyzes the political processes that influence the production of civil rights policy and studies the major actors -- Congress, the President, parties, voting blocs, and major interest groups -- to illustrate the conflict generated by civil rights. Also examines several major areas of civil rights policy: voting representation, educational opportunity, affirmative action/reverse discrimination, sex discrimination, and the administration of justice.

POL 305 Topic: Comparative Urban Poverties. Examines the process of urbanization in the third world to gain an understanding of the politics and sociology of the shantytowns and lower income communities that emerged on the peripheries of third world megacities. The forces that led to tremendous rural to urban migration and the creation of communities and popular political identities will be investigated with an eye toward understanding the sociology of urban poverty in the developing world. Prerequisite: POL 100.

POL 305 Topic: International Environmental Affairs. Outlines context of global environmental diplomacy, considering both political sources of conflict and specific strategies that foster cooperation. Both governmental and civil society approaches considered. Topics include global and regional environmental threats such as climate change, ozone depletion, acid rain, global fisheries, and species loss. Prerequisite: POL 100.

POL 315C Topic: War and Conflict on the Silver Screen: Fact and Fiction in Film. Uses a number of seminal political conflict films as an alternative medium to better understand sources of past, present, and future wars and conflict. Prerequisite: POL 100 or 130. International Relations major and Film Studies minor elective.

POL 315E Topic: Peace and Conflict Resolution. Examines diverse perspectives on the causes of violent conflict, the meaning of peace, and the avenues to achieve peace. Studies various attempts to intervene in violent conflict, including prevention, negotiation, mediation, peacekeeping, and post-conflict reconciliation. Students will gain experience in analyzing the dynamics of conflict, as well as skills in interpersonal negotiation and mediation.

POL 315J Topic: Politics of Northern Ireland. Explores the development of the Northern Ireland 'troubles,' in which 3,600 people have died since 1969, and various attempts to regulate the conflict. Includes explanations for unionist-nationalist antagonism, role of Britain's secret agents, IRA disarmament, American interventions, and consociational approaches to conflict resolution in NI and other divided societies. Emphasis placed on difficulties implementing the 1998 Good Friday Agreement. Prerequisite: POL 100 or 130. International Relations major elective.

POL 315K Topic: International Human Rights. Covers the historical, political, legal, and normative development of international human rights, with a primary emphasis on the post World War II era. Both the theory and practice of human rights in the international system will be addressed, with attention to specific cases of human rights abuses, as well as the intersection of human rights and issues of gender, modern slavery, the media, and refugees.

POL 315L Topic: Latin American Trade and Financial Environments. Analyzes the contemporary political economy of Latin America from a business and investment perspective. Gives special attention to domestic policies, regional trade agreements, and foreign investment activities, using business cases to illustrate how to operate in the Latin American market. Knowledge of macroeconomic issues is useful, but not required, as students will be provided with the tools to effectively assess the current Latin American trade and financial environments and likely future scenarios.

POL 315M Topic: Political Psychology. Focuses on the intersection of human psychology and the conduct of politics. In recent years, political psychology has emerged as a formal area of study and this class is designed to introduce students to some of the most interesting, timely questions being tackled in the field. Topics include the psychology of leadership and decision-making, psychology of conflict, and the psychology of terrorism. Prerequisite: POL 130. International Relations major elective.

POL 315N Topic: Contemporary Inter-American Relations. Analyzes inter-American relations using the theories and concepts of international relations. Gives special attention to relations in the post-cold war and post 9/11 eras. Because the United States is the regional superpower, the course will emphasize U.S.-Latin American relations. Students can expect to acquire familiarity with the history of international relations of the Western hemisphere, an understanding of regional organizations and the ability to interpret contemporary issues and analyze five key bilateral relationships. They will also become more knowledgeable about contemporary Latin America political economy. Prerequisites: POL 100/130/200, LAC 201/305.

POL 315O Topic: Economic Sanctions. Explores the major theoretical concepts on the role and usefulness of economic sanctions as a tool of foreign policy. Applies some of these concepts to specific sanction situations. In particular, we will analyze U.S. economic sanctions against Sudan, Iran, Burma/Myanmar, and Cuba. Prerequisite: POL 130.

POL 315P Topic: Introduction to Peace and Conflict Studies. Provides an introduction to the interdisciplinary field of peace and conflict studies. Examines causes for conflict from various angles, and then focuses on how various theoretical and empirical perspectives attempt to resolve conflicts.

POL 315Q Topic: Conflict in the Middle East. Surveys some of the major current conflicts in the Middle East, such as the existence of Israel, the Shiite/Sunni divide, scarce natural resources, religious fundamentalism, and nationalism. Special attention will be given to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, Lebanon, Iran, and Iraq.

POL 315R Topics: Politics and Political Science. Why do things happen as they do in state and local government? Three perspectives will be offered in addressing this question-that of a political insider and long-time elected official, that of an academic political scientist, and that of newspaper editorial boards and good government groups. Issues addressed will range from taxation, to transportation, to economic development and growth management, all in Florida. Taught by Orange County Mayor Richard Crotty and Rollins political science professor Richard Foglesong.

POL 350A Topic: American Political Parties. Examines the roles that political parties play in the American political system. Studies the history of American political parties, beginning with the battle between Thomas Jefferson and Alexander Hamilton over the nation's future, through the development of mass political parties under Andrew Jackson and Martin Van Buren, the changes wrought by Progressivism and the New Deal, and the fluctuation of partisanship in recent years. Then examines how parties shape elections for both candidates and voters and how they shape the relationship between Congress and the President.

POL 395A Topic: Feminist Political Thought. An exploration and analysis of 18th-, 19th-, and 20th-century feminist theory within the conventions and discourse of traditional political theory; contemporary feminism from a theoretical point of view. Topics will include equality, difference, regulation of the body, and sexuality. Prerequisite: POL 120 or WMS 205. Women's Studies minor elective course.

POL 395A Topic: Gender and Political Theory. An analysis of how idealized images of masculinity and femininity shape political theories, feminist theories, and influence public policy and law. Consciously engages students in gender critiques, but will also be critical of gender as a methodology itself, analyzing the difficulties involved in contemporary approaches to studying gender. Provides a basis for understanding gender politics as well as the politics of gender. Prerequisite: POL 120.

POL 395B Topic: Theories of Social Justice and Welfare. Attacks on the 'Welfare State' are common in Western liberal democracies. These attacks criticize the welfare state's philosophical underpinnings and social ideals, and challenge its political viability. The criticisms include welfare states interference with individual autonomy and/or they embody an ethically unacceptable vision of justice, namely, one that violates basic considerations of reciprocity by favoring those who do not deserve to benefit. These objections are founded on philosophical principles, which often sit well with moral intuition. This course reviews normative reasons given for and against the concept of the Welfare State. In so doing, it explores issues such as the role of solidarity for political thinking, duties of fair play towards fellow citizens, the connection between equality and liberty, and whether higher order human needs such as self-realization should be the province of social and economic rights.

POL 395C Topic: Marxist Political Thought. Examines the development of Marxist thought through a survey of central texts by Marx, as well as some contemporary 'post-Marxist' movements such as critical theory, radical democracy, and anti-globalization. Topics covered include alienation, the revolutionary process, the treatment of culture and religion, and the adequacy of Marxist thought for explaining and improving contemporary socio-political situations. Prerequisite: POL120

POL 395D Topic: American Political Thought. Analysis of the idea and ideals of America, as both have been imagined, cultivated and practiced. What does it mean to be an American? What does it mean to be a citizen of American democracy? How have these ideals and realities been shaped by changing historical contexts? We will see how different texts have addressed, embodied and enacted these questions by studying political writings by Puritans and Revolutionaries, Federalists and Anti-Federalists, Transcendentalists, Utopian Socialists of the 19th century, Abolitionists, Feminists, Progressives and Twentieth Century thinkers. Prerequisite: POL 120.

POL 395E Topic: Israel and Palestine. Introduces students to the history of the conflict between Israelis and Palestinians, focusing primarily on the 20th century to present. Cultivates a multifaceted understanding of the conflict by exploring issues of post-colonialism, religion, culture, nationalism, political power, economics, and regional influences. Particular attention will be paid to the ongoing peace process, the significance of changes in leadership among Israelis and Palestinians, the possibility of a viable Palestinian state, and the impact of this conflict on regional and global politics. Prerequisite: POL 130.

POL 395H Topic: *Cuba and the U.S. An analysis of contemporary Cuba's political, economic, and social realities, with a focus on the post-Cold War period. Special attention paid to the deep economic recession following the collapse of the former Soviet Union, the limited capitalist-style reforms implemented in the first half of the 1990s and more recent changes, the characteristics of the Cuban society, and the relations between Cuba and the U.S. The overall goal of the course is to acquire the knowledge and skills necessary to interpret political and complex socioeconomic phenomena related to Cuba.

POL 481 Seminar in American Politics. Explores the "political personality" through a close reading of the biographies of contemporary political figures. Looks for common denominators among these figures, exploring the differences between leadership and political skill, examining the sacrifices people make to serve in public office, assessing the importance of passion and judgment in politicians' careers, and considering how race, gender, and ethnicity affect the political personality. Students will participate in presenting the course material and research the life of a major political figure.

PSYCHOLOGY TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

PSY 115A Topic: Psychology of Wellness. An overview of how psychological phenomena such as emotions, stress, and the placebo effect interact with your physical well being. Some specific topics include substance abuse, AIDS, chronic headaches, eating behaviors, and cancer.

PSY 115B Topic: Problem Solving and Creativity. Involves the exploration of creative and problem-solving mental processes.

PSY 221E Topic: *Computers and Technology (2 semester hours only). Surveys applications of digital technologies in psychology, from early uses as control and presentation equipment in laboratories to adaptive instructional technology. Explores artificial intelligence research that focuses on mimicry of behavior (robotics), simulation of visual and other sensory activities via complex pattern recognition (handwriting recognition), human language (voice recognition and production), expert systems environments (to supplement or replace humans with expert skills such as flying airplanes), sophisticated repair and maintenance diagnostics, and even teaching. This latter application, known as adaptive instructional technology, will be explored in depth. Because adaptive instruction is founded on psychological learning principles, those principles will also be reviewed.

PSY 221F Topic: Hanging Loose in an Uptight World. Stress is a built-in fact of life (the buzzword and malady of the day). This course introduces students to the variables involved in the stress reduction process, with an emphasis on actively involving the student in the learning process. Intent is to enhance students' knowledge about the process, but not necessarily make them more relaxed.

PSY 221M Topic: Brain Behavior Connection. Surveys the basic principles, methodology, and application of the multidisciplinary field known as neuroscience. Designed to provide information and a basic understanding of the biological basis of a broad range of behaviors including those considered "normal," and those that represent anomaly. Intended to fulfill the need for understanding in this field without regard to background in biological or psychological sciences.

PSY 315 Topic: Assessing School Readiness. Focuses on developmental screening, the process of describing a child's developmental level and school readiness, using screening tools approved for this purpose in Florida. Covers common types of developmental delays, as well as a description of therapies used to address developmental problems. Combines classroom instruction with experiences in the Rollins College Child Development Center or one of several early childhood centers in the community screening developmental levels. Prerequisite: any course in human development.

PSY 315A Topic: Cognitive Psychology. Introduces basic cognitive theories, methods, and research findings. Includes such areas as attention, memory, imagery, gene knowledge, language, problem-solving, and logical reasoning.

PSY 315B Topic: Motivation. Topical coverage typically includes conceptual and historical foundations for motivational theory; ethological and physiological foundations of motivated behavior -- including maternal behaviors, animal migration, homeostatic body and energetic functions, and sexual behavior; activation -- ranging from sleep to stimulus seeking; stress; learned drives, incentives, and motives; cognitive and social sources of motivation; and dimensions of emotional expression as they relate to motivation.

PSY 315B Topic: The Mind-Body Problem. The mind-body problem has intrigued philosophers for centuries, but only in the last two decades have physiological psychologists begun to treat the problem empirically. This interdisciplinary course synthesizes perspectives from philosophy, psychology, and neuroscience on the empirical study of consciousness and free will, and concentrates on an emerging literature on the physiological correlates of self-awareness, visual qualia, perceptual binding, and intentional action. Background in biology, philosophy, or physiological psychology recommended, but not required.

PSY 315C Topic: Clinical Assessment. Provides students with an understanding of some of the main tests used in clinical practice, as well as the problems underlying assessment procedures. Clinical Interviews will also be highlighted.

PSY 315E Topic: Feminism, Behaviorism, and Psychological Science. Feminist scholarship has challenged traditional assumptions and practices across academic disciplines including psychology. The feminist challenge of traditional psychological science has generated probing questions that address the very foundations of that science including: the nature of objectivity; the embeddedness of values in the scientific enterprise; the patriarchal biases inherent in traditional methodologies. Course examines the feminist critique of traditional psychological science and explores an array of feminist alternatives proposed. Introduces students to the philosophy of science that supports contemporary behaviorism, and explores its potential to bridge feminist and traditional psychological science.

PSY 315E Topic: Psychology of Women. Focuses on topics and research findings relevant to the psychological experiences of women such as gender-role development, education, sexuality, employment, mental health care, and victimization. Women's studies minor elective course.

PSY 315F Topic: Industrial and Organizational Psychology. Provides students with a greater understanding of the psychological processes involved in organizational life. Draws on current research and theory to focus on issues such as employee selection, training, leadership, motivation, and organizational change. Special emphasis is placed on the process of applying psychological principles to important issues in the workplace.

PSY 315G Topic: Neuropsychology with Laboratory. Examines ways in which the brain influences behavior and psychological phenomenon. Focuses on three major categories, neuroanatomy, behavior, and mental processes, and disorders caused by brain injury or malfunction.

PSY 315H Topic: Psychology of Religion. Studies social and individual religious behaviors of people. From altruism to exorcism to visions, some of humankind's most interesting behaviors are related to religion. Topics include religion, mental health, and mental illness; the psychology of conversion; cult membership; the psychology of evil and torture; the physiology of prayer and meditation; and life after death experiences.

PSY 315J Topic: Childhood Across Cultures. Examines ways that culture and social diversity affect the development of children and families in both the U.S. and other countries. Studies the biological/physical, social-emotional, and cognitive development of children from a cross-cultural perspective. Following the child's chronology, examines prenatal development and birth practices around the world, then focuses on topics such as cultural views of parenting of girls and boys, child care and early childhood education, schooling and cognition, adolescent rites of passage, child labor, and marriage beliefs and practices. Students will complete an intensive cross-cultural study of one area of development. Prerequisite: PSY 101 or 150.

PSY 315K Topic: Environmental Psychology. Examines the relationship between individual psychological processes and the physical environment (i.e., both natural and built settings). Topics include environmental attitudes, natural environments, environmental responsibility, human territoriality and identity display, personal space and nonverbal behavior, crowding, environmental stress, design and crime, reactions to disaster, environment health, residential settings, work settings, cities and communities, health care facilities, children's environments, correctional facilities, environments for the elderly and disabled, recreational settings, and retail settings.

PSY 315M Topic: Human Sexuality. Designed to inform and enlighten adults about one of the fundamental drives necessary for maintaining the human species, sex. Calls upon biological, psychological, medical, and social theory to elucidate all aspects of being and feeling sexual. Attempts to answer a variety of students' questions utilizing various learning tools, including the Internet, PowerPoint presentations, films, and guest speakers. Women's Studies minor elective.

PSY 315N Topic: Physiological Psychology with Laboratory. Introduces the fundamentals of nervous system responses to psychological processes. Explores the anatomy and physiology associated with psychological events, historical and contemporary issues in the field, and the societal and personal implications regarding the use of such measures. Laboratory exercises include instruction, use of, and data analysis for a variety of psychophysiological measures.

PSY 315O Topic: Psychopharmacology. Explores the use of medications in treating a variety of mental illnesses including schizophrenia, depression, and Alzheimer's disease. Covers basic brain processes, their relation to mental illness, and the effects of medications on such processes.

PSY 315P Topic: Psychology of Trauma And Recovery. Course is an in-depth exploration of traumatology, the study of psychological trauma resulting from horrific experiences. Empirical research surrounding the assessment and diagnosis of various trauma disorders (e.g., posttraumatic stress disorder, acute stress disorder, dissociative disorder) will be discussed along with research showing how trauma survivors change interpersonally because of their experiences. Recent biological and neuropsychological evidence of how traumatic memories are processed in the brain will be reviewed, including false memory syndrome. A variety of trauma populations will be studied: war veterans, survivors of physical abuse, children, survivors of natural disasters, and so forth. Finally, treatment for trauma will be discussed with an emphasis on cognitive and behavioral intervention strategies.

PSY 315P Topic: Theories of African/Black Psychology. Explores the theory, practice, and research of the study of human functioning from the unique perspective of Afrikan/Black people. Offers students a topical survey of psychology from antiquity to the present and the opportunity to examine the development of Afrikan/Black psychology as an academic discipline. Designed to introduce students to the concepts, tenets, and conceptual framework for understanding the behavior of people of African descent.

PSY 315Q Topic: Advanced General Psychology. Revisits all areas typically covered in an introductory course to ask new questions about the most significant and enduring vocabulary, research, principles, philosophies, theories, and contributors in psychology. Especially relevant for, but not limited to, students planning to take GRE or advanced placement tests in anticipation of application to graduate programs in psychology. Priority to junior and senior Psychology majors.

PSY 315S Topic: Evolutionary Psychology. Evolutionary psychology is an interdisciplinary approach that draws on evolutionary principles to understand human behavior, thought, and emotion, and maintains that certain psychological processes exist in the species because they facilitated survival and reproduction at some point in our evolutionary history. Although such processes may be influenced by learning and experience (nurture) they may be passed on via inheritance and are part of the genetic makeup of the species (nature). Evolutionary psychology applies this approach to a variety of domains in the discipline including human development, learning, cognition, motivation and emotion, social and personality psychology, and psychopathology.

PSY 315S Topic: Psychology and Law. Focuses on theory and research in psychology that is directly relevant to the legal system. Specific topics may include police interrogation and confessions, the reliability of eyewitness testimony, scientific jury selection, insanity and competency, expert witnesses, child interviews and testimony, jury deliberation and decision making, presentation of scientific evidence, profiling and criminal behavior, and the psychology of corrections. Does not assume background in psychology or the law. Open to non-majors. Junior status; PSY/WMS elective.

PSY 315T Topic: Cross Cultural Child Development. There is no such thing as just a child ... There is always a child in a family, in a society, and in a culture. (Psychiatrist J. Winnicott, paraphrased.) In this course, students will begin to step outside their own views to see the vast array of human experience. We will study human development by first examining variations in children's lives within mainstream U.S. culture -- the influence of variations in country of origin, urban vs. rural upbringing, boarding school, religious beliefs, and divorce on child development. Then, we'll move across the lifespan and around the world: childbirth in Africa; infancy in Brazil; schooling in China, Japan, and Afghanistan; rites of passage among the Navaho and the Sudanese; and parenting in Central America. The course includes an optional cross cultural field placement. No background in psychology required, but readings are original journal articles and book chapters. Prerequisite: A first course in any social science discipline or sophomore status.

PSY 315V Topic: Red Cross Disaster Training. Rollins College and the American Red Cross have partnered to create a unique learning and community service opportunity for students. The Red Cross training includes a variety of on-line and classroom exercises that provide students with managerial-level training in the establishment of shelters and disaster response. Upon completion of training, students will be eligible for deployment anywhere in the country to support disaster relief efforts. Students will receive credit for the course after successfully completing all Red Cross training requirements. Course also includes some training in mental health responses to disaster and a brief review of post-traumatic stress disorder. Contact Dr. David C.S. Richard, Department of Psychology, dcrichard@rollins.edu, for additional information or questions. Prerequisite: PSY major or minor, or instructor's consent.

PSY 315Y Topic: Existential Psychology. Explores the relationship between free will, choice, and responsibility, and traditional experimental, psychoanalytic, and evolutionary approaches to understanding human nature.

PSY 415A Topic: Autism and Behavior Analysis. Introduces advanced psychology students to behavior analytic techniques of assessment, observation, and therapeutic intervention for children diagnosed with autistic spectrum disorders. Specific conditions include autistic disorder, Asperger's disorder, and childhood disintegrative disorder (CDD). Students will work directly with board certified behavior analysts in on- and off-campus therapeutic settings specializing in early intervention and treatment of autism and related disorders. Prerequisites: PSY 328 and 341, or concurrent enrollment in PSY 328.

PSY 415C Topic: Multivariate Statistics. An applied project involving the development and validation of a psychological test will be completed as part of this course. Students will learn theory and practical skills in tests and measurement, and will gain experience in the use of multivariate statistical techniques such as multiple regression, factor analysis, and path analysis. Designed for students with an interest in research methodology. Prerequisite: Grade of B+ or higher in PSY 265 and PSY 361 and instructor's consent (register in department).

PSY 415D Topic: Clinical Psychology Research Methods. Introduces students to the rich history and methods of research in clinical psychology. Topics include the design and implementation of open and randomized clinical trials, the rationale for and literature behind empirically supported treatments, program evaluation, participant attrition, methods for assessing the adequacy of assessment instruments, clinical research ethics, issues surrounding dissemination of research results to practitioners (translational research), and comparative outcome research (psychotherapies and pharmacotherapy). Introduces students to the peer review process by having students write a research paper that will be reviewed anonymously by three members of the class. Student groups will also be responsible for putting together a mental health awareness faire on campus and evaluating its effects using the program evaluation methodologies discussed in class. Provides mentoring on the graduate school application process, with a focus on the kinds of programs that Rollins students have shown an interest in (e.g., clinical Ph.D., clinical Psy.D., master's programs in counseling, clinical, and so forth).

PSY 415E Topic: Advanced Personality Psychology. Looks at the major theories of human nature by reading the original works of Freud, Jung, Skinner, Rogers, Erikson, and others. Students will also complete personality measures and interpret results. Class will be run on a humanistic model in which students take responsibility for their own learning. Prerequisite: PSY 254

PSY 415H Topic: Advanced Cognition. Integrates an in-depth exploration of selected topics in cognition with an emphasis on experimental research methods. Readings in original research, active participation in laboratory replications, complete research report preparation, and write-ups accompany each topic. The course culminates in the preparation of an original research project. Prerequisite: PSY 322; completion of or concurrent enrollment in PSY 361 is highly recommended.

PSY 415J Topic: *Youth Development in School. Children spend a substantial number of waking hours in school, an important context for development. This senior seminar will address key developmental topics and research methodology used in school settings. Prerequisite: PSY 328.

PSY 415K Topic: *History and Systems. Surveys how humans have historically attempted to understand themselves and interactions with their environments by developing theories of mind and human behavior. Covers philosophical systems that pre-date psychology, as well as modern systematic movements within psychology. Students are encouraged to identify recurring themes and concepts. Special focus given to sociopolitical and cultural forces that influence the development of psychology's history. Prerequisite: All core courses in PSY major.

PSY 415Q Topic: *Advanced General Psychology. Revisits all areas typically covered in an introductory course, asking new questions about the most significant and enduring vocabulary, research, principles, philosophies, theories, and contributors in psychology. Especially relevant for, but not limited to, students planning to take GRE or advanced placement tests in anticipation of application to graduate programs in psychology. Prerequisite: all core courses.

10/07/10

RCC TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

RCC 150 *Rollins Cultural Explorations. A course designed for first-year students, in which they attend approved cultural and academic programs on campus, reflect on them, and discuss these events with other students and a faculty member. Open to first-year students only. Graded CR/NC.

RELIGION TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

REL 251 Topic: Black Mysticism. Explores the spirituality and devotional practices of African Americans from the last century and the contemporary period. Focus on the meditations, prayers, and music—both sacred and secular—that black people have used to promote intense religious experiences and visions. Investigates the various ritual practices black Christians and black religionists outside of institutional Christianity have employed in their attempts to see and experience the sacred. The artistry and religious thought of Bob Marley, Marvin Gaye, Howard Thurman, and Alice Walker will all be central to our exploration. Fulfills and elective requirement in the African and African-American Studies minor.

REL 251 Topic: Jerusalem - Religion and Politics. Jerusalem, the spiritual capital for Jews, Christians, and Muslims, is a laboratory in inter-religious, inter-ethnic living, and politicking. Introduces students to the religious history and diversity of Jerusalem, the religious beliefs of its inhabitants, especially regarding its sacredness as expressed in scriptures, poetry, and prayer, from its biblical origins until today. Topics include the interplay of Jerusalem's religious and political dimensions, messianic ideals and activism, and the Israeli-Palestinian conflict over the future sovereignty of Jerusalem. Fulfills an elective requirement in the Jewish Studies minor.

REL 251 Topic: Love and Sex in the Bible. This course is an introduction to the Bible with a concentration on themes and issues related to love and sex as these are depicted in biblical teachings, narratives, and poetry. We will examine narratives and poems that depict the dynamics of sexuality and erotic love, patterns of courtship and marriage in the lives of well-known personalities from this time period, attitudes and emotions such as lust, jealousy, loyalty, betrayal, obedience, and longing. We will also address teachings and laws that deal with permissible and prohibited sexual conduct. Our study will consist of three layers: the literary meaning of the biblical text, Rabbinic commentaries to the text, and contemporary perspectives and scholarship on anthropology, psychology, gender studies, and religion. Our analysis will be extensive and will include not only erotic love relationships, but also parental love, friendship, human, and divine love relationships.

REL 251 Topic: Religion and Science in Dialogue. Introduces the dialogue between religion and science, and studies the implications of current scientific theories of cosmology, evolution, and neuroscience for Eastern and Western beliefs regarding creation, God, the purpose of life, the afterlife, the soul, and human freedom. Explores spiritual teachings and practices of the body in relation to Western and Eastern medical theories. Considers cross-cultural religious views of humanity's relationship to nature in light of ecological crisis.

REL 251 Topic: Religious and Philosophical Issues in Medicine. Considers and clarifies issues that underlie ethical decision-making in medicine, especially philosophical and religious issues concerning human self-understanding, meaning, and purpose. Probes beyond the usual medical ethics texts, in an effort to identify, define, and examine these fundamental issues and assumptions.

REL 251A Topic: Religion and Evolution. Covers theories of evolution from both Western and Eastern perspectives (Buddhism and Hinduism), and how these relate to religion. Discusses evolution in both its natural and social aspects. Examines how locating human origins within nature has affected traditional religious understanding in the West (natural evolution), and discusses how "social" or "cultural" evolution uses evolutionary theory to claim that some human groups are more "evolved" than others.

REL 251A Topic: Buddhist Literature (C). The three canonical collections of Buddhism—Pali, Chinese, and Tibetan—contain a vast array of sutras, discourses that purport to be the word of the Buddha. In this course students will read, interpret, reflect on, critique, and discuss a number of significant Buddhist texts. We will also introduce ourselves to issues regarding the structure of the Buddhist canons, touch on questions in the theory of interpretation (hermeneutics), and consider ways in which this literature has been studied from an historical-critical perspective.

REL 251B Topic: Religion and Popular Culture. Examines the relationship between religion and popular culture. Primary focus on contemporary American culture, but also examines non-Western examples (i.e., Indian, Iranian, and Japanese). Creates understanding of how popular culture functions as a means by which to think about fundamentally religious questions: the nature of God and/or ultimate reality, the origins of good and evil, morality, eschatological and apocalyptic thought, notions of humanity's identity and purpose, and ideas of sacrifice and redemption.

REL 251C Topic: Introduction to the Study of Religion. Introduces the academic study of religion. Begins with the history of the study of religion, or how religion came to be a topic of study for scholars. Also introduces some of the different scholarly approaches taken to the study of religion (e.g., phenomenology of religion, history of religion, anthropology of religion, textual studies, cultural studies, etc.). Closely examines some seminal studies of religion. Focus throughout the course will not be on the particular doctrines or practices of any religion, but rather on how religion has been studied.

REL 251C Topic: Liberation Theology. Examination of the theological beliefs of victims of oppression. Beginning with the assertion that religious thinking is never done in a vacuum, this course studies the relation of religious responses to political, social, and economic conditions in America, such as racism, sexism, poverty, social injustice, homophobia, and discrimination, in terms of African-American, Native American, feminist and womanist movements, and their theologies. Prerequisite: One course in religion or consent.

REL 251D Topic: African Religions and the New World Culture. African religion and culture continues to exist in the religious and cultural life of African-Americans. Using an interdisciplinary approach, course examines African-American religion, folklore, literature, music, and communication in order to assess the continuation and transformation of African culture in the world view of African-Americans.

REL 251D Topic: Contemporary Ethical Issues and Jewish Laws. Examines the Jewish legal position on controversial issues such as assisted suicide and aborting a defective fetus. Acquaints students with ancient Jewish legal sources including Torah, Mishna, Talmud, and Codes, and discusses how these sources may help shape contemporary views on a variety of issues.

REL 251G Topic: Religion and Film. A number of contemporary films contain more or less explicit messages about the meaning of life and death, the possibility of salvation, the ultimate potential of human existence, and other issues that have traditionally belonged to the domain of religious discourse. We will closely examine some of these films, reading them as texts alongside other texts. That is to say, we will study these films in conjunction with readings of primary and secondary sources on religion. The films examined may include Donnie Darko, Thelma and Louise, and Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon, and the readings may include those on Buddhism, Gnosticism, and Taoism. The primary aim of the course is to train ourselves to be more reflective about the religious messages conveyed in contemporary film.

REL 251G Topic: *Religious Thought of Martin Luther King, Jr. Begins an interpretation of the life and thought of Martin Luther King, Jr., in the context of the black freedom movement of the 1950s and 1960s. King's religious development from his earliest days in the black church, his continued study of liberal theology in seminary, his embrace of Gandhian nonviolence, and the fertile interchange between his religious stance and his political engagement will receive special attention.

REL 251H Topic: *Contemporary Israel - Culture, Society, and Politics. Israel is among the countries most reported in world news today, though much of that attention is focused on conflict, history, and religion, rather than on everyday life or the achievements of Israel's citizenry. As one of the world's most diverse and dynamic societies with a population that is almost equally divided between Eastern and Western cultures, Israel deserves to be better understood than through television "sound bites" and polemical documentaries. An introduction to the geography, culture, language, society, institutions, traditions, literature, music, cuisine, and the current social, demographic, political and economic issues "behind the headlines" of contemporary Israel. Jewish Studies minor elective.

REL 251I Topic: *Buddhist Ethics. Discusses and assesses the ways in which Buddhism deals with ethical issues, including personal behavior in the domains of sexuality and speech, for example, and social questions regarding war, peace, and poverty.

REL 251I Topic: *Buddhist Philosophy. Buddhism began in India some two and a half millennia ago. Throughout its development, Buddhism has offered a number of theories on the nature of the self, reality, knowledge, language, the ultimate goals of sentient existence, and the path to those ultimate goals. Course examines and considers some of these theories, especially as they developed in India. Concentrates on four forms of Buddhist philosophical discourse: Abhidharma, Madhyamaka, Yogacara, and Pramana. Goals will be to gain some familiarity with the concerns, methods, and themes of Buddhist philosophy, and to cultivate critical reflection on these concerns, methods, and themes.

REL 251I Topic: *Buddhism: Theory and Practice. Surveys the fundamentals of Buddhist thought and practice from its formative period in India through later developments in East Asia and Tibet. The impact of Buddhist philosophy, ethics, and spiritual disciplines on various cultures in Asia and the West today will be critically examined.

REL 251J Topic: *Evangelicals, Fundamentalists, and Televangelists. Explores the historical development of conservative and evangelical Christianity from its 19th-century beginnings to present. Topics include: relationship between Christianity and 19th-century moral controversies (slavery, abolition, women's rights and temperance movements); its response to the social gospel movement; the conflict between fundamentalism and modernism; its growth and institutional diversification since WWII; and its embrace of communications technology and political action in the contemporary period. Video and audiotapes will be used to explore our understanding of modern movements as social phenomenon.

REL 251J Topic: *Religion and Science Fiction. Examines the major themes and concepts in science fiction and how these themes both extend and diverge from the traditional religious imagination as understood in the major "world religions" of Judaism, Christianity, Islam, Buddhism, and Hinduism. Considers such issues as the nature of humanity and technology, humanity's multifaceted relationship with technology, and the power and persistence of the religious imagination.

REL 251K Topic: *Jewish Experience in the American South: Kasha and Cornbread. A survey from 1750 to the present, told largely through biography and autobiography. Focus on the pressures of assimilation, isolation, and alienation on successive waves of Jewish immigration to the Southern United States: Spanish-Portuguese, German, and Eastern European. Also, how Jews dealt with the regional issues of slavery and racism, and other reasons why Jewish life was qualitatively different below the Mason-Dixon Line. What is Jewish life like today in the modern, suburban Sunbelt? Jewish Studies minor elective.

REL 251N Topic: *Introduction to Black Religions. Explores the highly diverse religious expressions and postures among persons of African descent in the United States. Course is largely chronological, but it is not a comprehensive survey of black religious expressions. Attempts, however, to situate black religious expressions in a broader historical and cultural context in the U.S., where different groups have together created various religious worlds.

REL 251O Topic: *Psychology and Asian Religion. Explores the psychology of religion from the perspective of Buddhism (including Zen and Tibetan Buddhism), Taoism, and Hinduism. A working presumption of the class is that Asian religions function more as psychological systems of healing and transformation than do the more social and political Western religions. Potential connections between Asian religions and contemporary psychology will be traced, with the goal being to identify a new psychology that can incorporate both science and religion into a comprehensive system of human understanding. No prerequisites are required in either field. Asian Studies minor elective.

REL 251T Topic: *Religion and Popular Culture – "Animating Faith." Examines how various religious faiths and philosophies are portrayed in television cartoon series, in particular "The Simpsons," "South Park," "Family Guy," "Futurama," and "King of the Hill," as well as on more edgy shows on Cartoon Network's "Adult Swim." Also explores how evangelical Christian producers make use of the genre, in particular the "VeggieTales" series in videos, theaters, and on NBC-TV. Students will view and discuss episodes of these programs in class, and complete papers based on original research.

REL 251V Topic: *The Lost Tribes of Israel. Explores remote Jewish communities around the world, including Africa, Asia, and South America, members of which claim to be descendents of the lost tribes of Israel. Students will gain an appreciation for Jewish multiculturalism by understanding the basic beliefs and practices of non-Western Jewish communities, as shaped in their adopted lands and in isolation from and ignorance of Western Jewish life. Through study of history, ethnographic literature, and documentaries, students will examine how these groups incorporated the dominant surrounding cultures into their original biblical/Jewish framework, and will assess the challenges in recent interactions between members of these communities and Western Jews, with a focus on those who emigrated from Ethiopia to Israel. Jewish Studies minor elective.

REL 251W Topic: *The Jewish Immigrant Experience. An exploration of the cultural experience and history of Jews in New York from the beginning of the 20th century to the present. Topics include Ellis Island, the Lower East Side, Vaudeville, Hassidic life, as well as patterns of assimilation and acculturation. Culminates in a required spring break field study in New York City, where we will tour the Jewish historical sites and partake of contemporary Jewish life in the city. (See REL 251F in the Spring Break Field Study Course descriptions on page XX of this bulletin.)

REL 251Y Topic: *Religion and the Body. Explores teachings, concepts, and practices pertaining to sexuality and the body that are integral to Eastern and Western religious traditions. Course goal is the critical evaluation of the role that religions play in the social construction of the body in light of changes in contemporary values, gender roles, and identities.

REL 351A Topic: *Psychology of Religion. Many theories explaining or interpreting the phenomenon of religion have been offered in western thought (e.g., theological, anthropological, sociological, etc.). This course examines some psychological theories of religion from a critical point of view, which is to say, we will not only be concerned with understanding these theories, but also with moving towards arriving at normative conclusions about them -- conclusions about their validity and value. Course will be focused on works by William James.

REL 351A Topic: *Semiotics. A course on the theory of signs (semiotics) and the philosophy of language, especially in terms of what it might tell us about religion. Considers the dimensions of syntactics (signs in relation to other signs), semantics (signs in relation to objects), and pragmatics (signs in relation to interpreters). Assesses accounts offered on signs, words, language, meaning, referential objects, logic, and paradox.

REL 351B Topic: *Postmodernism. Introduces the study of the nature of postmodernism. Takes up a variety of texts in literature, philosophy, theology, visual media, and theory. Introduces literary and critical methods (including deconstruction, dialectics, theology, feminist, queer, and Marxist analysis), and texts from a wide range of genres (architecture, the novel, and media) within the historic epoch of the 20th century. Goal is to enhance the student's ability to become familiar with the logic of "postmodernism."

REL 351B Topic: *Religion and the Body. Explores teachings and concepts of the body found in a variety of religious traditions, and examines cultural constructions of gender roles that have resulted from them. Discussion includes: notions of the body and sexuality in creation myths; masculine and feminine images of the divine; idolatry and its critique; concepts and practices of purity/impurity; circumcision and other rituals of the body; female modesty and sexual norms; the ascetic ideal and its social implications; views of erotic love and their expressions in theological and mystical literature. Jewish Studies Minor elective course.

REL 351D Topic: *Religion and Modernity. Examines religion from an interdisciplinary perspective. Focus of the course will be on exploring the meaning of modernity and how it relates to religion. Entertains questions such as : What is modernity? How does modernity represent human nature? What are the limits and possibilities of modernity? How can we reflect on the changes in religion given the transition from modernity to postmodernity? Note: This course takes the place of the Senior Independent Study for graduating Religion majors and minors, and for Jewish Studies minors. This course is also open to all students.

REL 351E Topic: Dead Sea Scrolls. Broad overview of the manuscript finds of the Judean desert, particularly those from the caves near Khirbet Qumran, from 1947 to present. Examines the literary and historical context of these manuscripts and fragments, which comprise a “library” of ancient texts. Considers the relevance of the Scrolls within a broad socio-religious framework including comparative religion and the “roots” of rabbinic Judaism, Christianity, and Islam. Highlights more recent controversies and debates over the publication and interpretation of the scrolls.

REL 351E Topic: Feasting and Fasting - Comparative Religious Experience and Food. Explores food and eating practices in religions and cultures around the world, from the perspectives of comparative religion and anthropology. Addresses topics such as food symbolism and holidays, feasts and festivals, prohibitions/taboos of food, rituals of fasting, gender roles and food preparation, sacrifices and religious experience, social justice practices such as feeding the hungry, food bountifulness as expressions of divine and human love, and eating practices as contributing to cultural/religious identity. Addresses moral issues pertaining to food practices in major world religions and tribal cultures through study of religious and legal texts that provide justifications/rationales for food practices, such as the killing and slaughtering of animals for human consumption. Prerequisite: One REL course. Jewish Studies minor elective.

REL 351H Topic: Buddhist Dialogue with Christians and Jews. People from various religions are not only becoming more aware of each other, but they are also beginning to engage in interesting and meaningful dialogue on basic life question. Introduces each of the three religions and provides for group discussion of these focused on this ongoing dialogue. Students' reflections will also be sought through journal writings and research papers. While prior knowledge of any of the three religions may be helpful, it is not required. Prerequisite: one REL course or consent.

REL 351J Topic: Love and Eros in Judaism and Hinduism. Love and Eros are among the most important human experiences and are at the heart of religion itself. Students will read love stories and poetry from the Jewish and Hindu traditions that depict the intensity, complexity, and dialectics of human and divine love. Students will also explore laws and practices pertaining to love, relationships, and sexuality that shaped values and social roles in their respective cultures. Will address dichotomy between spirituality and sexuality, raising issues pertaining to gender and the body. Prerequisite: One (1) REL course or consent. Fulfills elective requirement for the Jewish Studies minor.

REL 351K Topic: Portrait of the Modern Jew in American Film and Fiction (L). Study of popular Hollywood representations of Jews and Jewish life in contemporary films and fiction. Discusses portrayals of the immigrant experience in the lower Eastside, images of women, especially the “Jewish mother” and the Jewish American Princess, the experience of assimilation, intermarriage, and the struggle to remain Jewish in America. Jewish Studies and Film Studies minor elective.

REL 251L/351L Topic: Love, Eros, and Religion. Love and Eros are among the most important human experiences and at the heart of religion. Students will read love stories and poetry depicting the intensity, complexity, and dialectics of human and divine love from several religious traditions, and will study laws and practices pertaining to love, relationships, and sexuality that have helped shape values and social roles. Analysis of religious teachings will address the dichotomy between spirituality and sexuality, raising issues pertaining to gender and the body. Students will gain understanding and appreciation of central religious values and practices, and compare and contrast these with contemporary western values.

REL 351N Topic: Religion and Global Politics. Since the events of September 11, the concepts of terrorism, secularism, fundamentalism, Islamism, and globalism have become political “buzzwords”. Many times, these words are used ambiguously in an attempt to evoke political and emotional response in an international context. Students will ‘unpack’ these terms by investigating the role that religion plays both in the sphere of international politics and in the formation of national identities. Students will explore the intersection of religion and politics in the Middle East (Iraq, Iran, and Saudi Arabia), South Asia (Afghanistan, India, Pakistan, and Indonesia), and the U.S. Questions such as: “How does religion influence foreign policies?” “What is the role that religious belief plays in the formation of national policies concerning human rights?” and “How does a nation’s religious identity shape its political self-understanding?” will be considered.

REL 351O Topic: Gender and Sexuality in the Christian World. Examines the ways in which religion, gender, and sexuality intersected in the world of early Christians (200-600 C.E.). Constructions of masculinity and femininity were integrally related to notions designed by religious and philosophical ideals. Examines how these cultural constructions were tied to political and social concerns. Special attention paid to representations of gender and class. Classical Studies major/minor elective and Women’s Studies minor elective.

REL 351P Topic: God in the 21st Century. Investigates ways in which the practice of religion has intersected with technological advances including the internet and cyberspace, space exploration, and artificial life. Students will examine a variety of religious responses, both positive and negative, to these advances. Questions to be explored include: How do the Internet and cyberspace communities affect how one experiences divine reality, and, further, how do they affect how humans relate to one another? What moral imperatives, if any, should influence the goals and direction of technology? Students will also explore class and gender issues relevant to these moral questions.

REL 351T Topic: Religion and Bioethics. Analyzes the ethical principles that should undergird decisions in science, medicine, and healthcare. Focuses on ethical principles developed within different ethical traditions (such as Protestantism, Catholicism, Judaism, Islam and Humanism) and on their implications for cases in abortion, death and dying, research involving human subjects, artificial reproduction, genetic engineering, cloning, and allocating resources. Several films, videotapes, and cases will be used.

REL 351U Topic: Sufi and Buddhist Mysticism. Comparative, interdisciplinary course on Buddhist and Islamic mysticism (Sufism) that examines the similarities and differences between these two major religious traditions. Topics include defining “mysticism,” key figures and social practices in different Buddhist and Islamic cultures, classical works, gender and mysticism, and Western appropriations of Sufi and Buddhist mysticism.

REL 351Q Topic: Zen Buddhism. The term “Zen” may call to mind images of emptiness, sounds of silence, and thoughts of no thought. Zen Buddhism is sometimes characterized as “a special transmission outside the scriptures, directly pointing at the mind.” (How do you point at a mind?) We will try to think through just what the discourses of Zen Buddhism might mean. We will read a number of primary sources, as well as secondary sources offering critical perspectives on Zen. We might say that from the point of view of Zen Buddhism, our approach will be misguided from the beginning.

REL 351X Topic: Jewish Experience in the South: Kasha and Cornbread. A survey from 1750 to the present, told largely through biography and autobiography. Focus on the pressures of assimilation, isolation, and alienation on successive waves of Jewish immigration to the Southern United States: Spanish-Portuguese, German and Eastern European. Also, how Jews dealt with the regional issues of slavery and racism, and other reasons why Jewish life was qualitatively different below the Mason-Dixon Line. What is Jewish life like today in the modern, suburban Sunbelt?

REL 490 Senior Seminar in Religious Studies: Kabbalah and Popular Culture. Explores the major forms of Jewish mysticism and esoteric doctrine, as expressed in the classical teachings of the Zohar, Lurianic Kabbalah, Hasidism, and in modern and contemporary Jewish mysticism. Topics of discussions include comparative mysticism, the nature of mystical experience, "New Age" spirituality, and popular culture and its influence on the spiritual quest. Prerequisite: junior and senior Religious Studies majors and minors only.

SOCIOLOGY TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

SOC 311B Topic: *American Dream and Popular Culture in Film and Fiction. Critically examines the portrayal of social class in two important forms of popular culture, films and works of fiction, from a sociological vantage point. Encourages students to utilize the sociological perspective to analyze specific films and works of fiction that address issues of ideology, social class, social inequality, and social mobility. Considers such issues as power, privilege, social justice, legal justice, and other pertinent issues relating to social class inequities.

SOC 311C Topic: *Social Movements. An examination of sociological approaches to social change, social movements and collective action, covering such topics as: movement formation, strategies and effectiveness, collective identities, counter-cultures, the media, and social control. Utilizes empirical research on several U.S. social movements including the civil rights, feminist, GLBT, and labor movements. Students will also complete independent research on a current social movement of their choice.

SOC 311D Topic: *Gender and Society. An advanced analysis of gender in Western Society. Emphasizes the construction of femininity and masculinity in the context of major social institutions. Begins with a review of various approaches to the study of gender that include elements of symbolic interactionism, constructionism, post-modernism, conflict theory, and feminist theory. Turns to specific institutional contexts of the construction and management of gender, including science, schools, family, the economy, and sport.

SOC 311G Topic: *Ideology, the Mass Culture Industry, and Legitimation. Critically examines the mass culture industry as a dominant player in the legitimation process. Specific components of the dominant ideology such as individualism, meritocracy, and the American Dream will be analyzed from a sociological perspective.

SOC 311H Topic: *Social Problems in Film and Fiction. Encourages students to utilize the sociological perspective as they analyze specific films and works of fiction that address the human condition, specifically those aspects of the human condition that create or result in "social problems." The central focus will be to assist students in their understanding of the manner in which specific components of popular culture influence public perceptions of social problems and the concomitant social policy debates.

THEATRE ARTS & DANCE TOPICS COURSES
(from Fall 1998 to present)

DAN 205A Topic: *Dance of Other Cultures. Explores regional and ethnic dances augmented by related cultural experiences. Selected cultures and their dances are explored via in-class participation, and supplemented by videos, class lectures, guest lecture-demonstrations, extracurricular folk dance field trips, and attendance at live performances.

THE 250A Topic: *Improvitational Theatre I: Plot, Storyline, Narration and Structure. Provides the skills necessary for students to make their own scenes -- comedic, satiric, and dramatic -- through teamwork, enhanced listening, and the application of basic principles. No prior experience is necessary. Discover the excitement of truly acting in the moment, while releasing your inner playwright and director.

THE 205A Topic: *History of the American Musical Film. Historical overview of the development of American film and the film industry from the early 20th-century to present. Films selected represent various examples of cinematic techniques basic to all film making and illustrate multiple genres. Discusses, in detail, a number of movies; historical trends in the industry; and all types of movie workers, performers, directors, producers, musicians, designers and others contributing to the art of film making.

THE 205B Topic: *History of American Musical Theatre. The American musical stage, one critic has noted, included "the minstrel show, burlesque and extravaganza, comic opera, operetta, vaudeville revue, and musical comedy." It is a "large popular genre with many subgenres, each with its own formulas and conventions and each reflecting American values, tastes, and character." Music used in films and television productions is derived from the musical stage, and opera houses increasingly add Broadway musicals to their repertoires -- both activities emerging from a history of American musicals beginning more than 200 years ago. The American musical has some claim to be termed indigenous and central to America's cultural life.

THE 250B Topic: *Improvitational Theatre II: Physicality, Mime and Locale. Continues students' growth in the field of improvisational scene work. Areas of concentration include enhancing physical presence and awareness; exploring the use of space objects, mime, and the impact of the immediate environment; examining staging devices and principles; and pursuing heightened physicality through gibberish scenic work. Prerequisite: THE 250A Improvisational Theatre I or consent.

THE 250C Topic: *Audition Technique - "3 Minutes Or Under." The goal of the class is to create a polished audition piece that is ready to go. By the semester's end each student will have two contrasting monologues and 16 bars of a song (optional) that they can execute professionally in three minutes or less. By reading both classical and contemporary works, students will find monologues that are best suited to them, while building their repertoire of plays and playwrights. They will learn to cut or edit their pieces (or songs) as needed, make clean transitions between their monologues, work within timed parameters and introduce themselves and their work with confidence. Focus also be given to cold readings, resume formatting, and callbacks.

THE 310 *WinterFest VI: Theatre Production. Provides practical theatre experience through participation in student-directed productions in the Fred Stone Theatre and an in-depth examination of the practical elements of directing, designing, and constructing a production. Students are assigned to one of the crews -- construction, properties, costumes, sound/lighting/painting -- and/or an acting role. Includes an academic analysis of the play(s) being produced and a focus on the practical collaboration inherent in presenting plays for public audiences.

THE 350A Topic: Second Stage. Investigates and produces leading contemporary playwrights. Student directed, designed, and performed productions in a four-part series concurrent with the Annie Russell Theatre main stage productions. By audition; register in department.

THE 350A Topic: Stage Management. Introduces students to the work of the stage manager in theatrical production. Explores the stage manager's vital role as the primary communicator and mediator in the collaborative process. Provides practical experience in scheduling, blocking notation, prompt book preparation, reports, and calling cues. No prior experience necessary.

THE 350B Topic: Improvistional Theatre I: Plot, Storyline, Narration, and Structure. Provides skills necessary for students to make their own scenes – comedic, satiric, and dramatic – through teamwork, enhanced listening, and the application of basic principles. No prior experience is necessary. Discover the excitement of truly acting in the moment, while releasing your inner playwright and director.

THE 350B Topic: Rollins Improv Players. Provides a focused venue for the practical application of improvisational techniques honed in the laboratory. Students devise and prepare shortform, longform, and experimental improv structures for public performance. Instructor's consent (register in department). Graded on a Credit/No-Credit (CR/NC) basis only.

THE 350B Topic: Singing and Acting: A Match Made in Music. Integrates principals of technical vocal performance and musical acting. Students will at times be split into two groups: actors focusing on integrating vocal technique into performance, and singers focusing on dramatic interpretation. Groups will then come together in an exchange of experiences and ideas in both areas. Co-taught by faculty from the Department of Music and The Department of Theatre Arts and Dance.

THE 350C Topic: Advanced Musical Theatre. Examines advanced aspects of the musical theatre form, focusing on critical elements of textual and musical analysis. Explores ensemble and individual performance issues, audition skills, integration of acting and vocal techniques, and refines ability to seamlessly integrate the spoken word and the sung phrase.

THE 350C Topic: Advanced Voice and Speech. Advanced Voice and Speech is both an application course as well as an introduction to the process of vocal production beyond the “free” voice. Course materials will be drawn from the work of Arthur Lessac and Tadashi Suzuki among others. Prerequisite: THE 136.

THE 350C Topic: Edward Albee in Residence – Playwriting. Albee will be in residence from October 15–November 15, 2003 as a Thomas P. Johnson Distinguished Visiting Artist. To enroll in this course, students must submit a full-length or one-act play manuscript to the Department of Theatre Arts by not later than the first day of Fall Term 2003 classes. Play reading list (to be announced) will also be required. Note: Two-semester-hour (2) seminar.

THE 350E Topic: Contemporary Dramatic Literature. Twenty-first century dramatic literature has plenty to say about the state of America and its theatre. This course immerses the student in a panoply of brand-new theatrical voices and visions.

THE 350J Topic: Acting For The Camera. Specialized acting course that explores the skills and techniques used in performance for film and television. Through lectures, dialogue, in-class exercises, and outside classroom assignments, students will gain valuable experience and a practical understanding of on-camera role play, learn basic aspects of camera and lighting, and develop prepared audition pieces specifically suited for film and television auditions and scene work. Open to junior and senior Theatre Arts majors only.

THE 350K Topic: Make-Up Design. Students are introduced to the theory and practice of stage make-up design through a combination of lecture, discussion, demonstration, and intensive hands-on application. Topics covered include facial structure, color theory, and the development of character through make-up.

THE 350K/ENG 329N Topic: Troubling the Waters—The Plays of Tony Kushner. Kushner's plays challenge our values, pose compelling questions, and offer pleas for compassion and understanding. Aligned with the Pulitzer prize-winning playwright's visit to Rollins in April 2011, this course examines themes in Kushner's works including Angels in America: Parts One and Two; A Bright Room Called Day; the musical Caroline, or Change; and the children's book Brundibar (a collaboration with Maurice Sendak). Co-taught by a Theatre and an English professor, Troubling the Waters will consist of both close readings, discussions, and staging of scenes/monologues from Kushner's plays and adaptations. Previous performance experience is not required. Restrictions: Professor's consent required.

THE 350M Topic: History of the American Film Musical. The film musical is one of the few particularly American art forms and, at its best, is certainly art. The French make crime films that are equal to ours, the British publish comedy, and the Italians and Germans have even taken over the American Western with some success. But if you ask what movie musical worth anything has been produced under any auspices except Hollywood's, the answer is, none. Course places the history of movie musicals in its proper perspective, from The Jazz Singer (1927) to the present. Special emphasis placed on films, personalities, trends, and innovations.

THE 350Q Topic: Feminist Theatre and Performance. Since the 1960s, more than 200 self-identified feminist theatre groups have emerged in the U.S. alone. They vary in organization, repertoire, and mission, but most share basic principles: we live in a sexist society; gender norms limit both men and women; and theatre has traditionally told men's stories. Examines theatre companies and practitioners throughout the world who have committed themselves to telling "women's stories" in performances ranging from traditional plays, to performance art, and even cybertheatre. Explores ways in which a feminist perspective shapes both the content and form of theatrical practice by creating a feminist theatre project. (No previous acting experience required or expected!)

THE 350 R Topic: Devised Theater - "Something From Nothing." Since Broadway continues to recycle movies from the 1980's into musicals of today, it's time to create something new. The goal of the class is to create a totally original devised piece of theater based on/inspired by a specific idea, image or event. Students are encouraged to collaborate. Bringing elements to the project and experimenting with an aspect of the work that may be new to them. The project may include film, video, mixed media, and music and may even occur in a site other than the theater! Class time will be combined with working on the piece and writing, acting, movement and ensemble building exercises.

THE 350S Topic: Improv III – Longform. Charts the development of contemporary Western longform, exploring formats and structural devices from various improvisational practitioners such as Johnstone, Spolin, Close, and their artistic descendants. Building from an applied understanding of existing forms, students will collectively create and refine an original longform performance piece that will debut as the culmination of the semester. Instructor's consent (register in department).

THE 350T Topic: Voice III – Dialects. Students study 3-5 different patterns of speech as reflected in patterns of pronunciation. Dialects may be drawn from North American, European, or Asian Pacific cultures and/or regionally specific populations. While geared for the theater, the course is available to any student having completed the prerequisite class. Prerequisite: THE 136.

THE 350U Topic: Acting V – Triune Brain. Students learn to apply the Triune Brain Method of character development to a broad cross-section of theatrical material drawn from American and European writers. The Triune Brain Method was developed by Professor Zivot and used exclusively at his Los Angeles school, the Gymnasia Theatrica. Prerequisite: THE 233 or instructor's consent.

THE 350W Topic: Forbidden Acts: The Queer Aesthetic in 20th Century Theatre & Film. What is queer theatre and film? Is it work that explores gay, lesbian, bisexual, or transgendered experiences or is "queerness" a marginal point of view? Historically, queer is an insult, calling someone out as not normal. In reclaiming queer, performance activists declare their intention to challenge cultural norms. Introduces students to queer aesthetics and theories through an examination of plays and films made by contemporary queer artists. Develops students' abilities to write cogent critical essays about dramatic literature and film using a queer theoretical lens and creates an understanding that dramatic texts are both literary documents and blueprints for live, staged events. Plays and films under consideration include: The Children's Hour, Bent, As Is, The Laramie Project, Cat on a Hot Tin Roof, Angels in America, Boys Don't Cry, Brokeback Mountain, In & Out, and Transamerica. Critical Media and Cultural Studies major and Film minor elective.

THE 450A Topic: Advanced Audition Technique. Course will address the advanced student actor's ability to apply classroom and production knowledge to the vastly differing audition environments of stage, television, and film. Cold reading, headshots and resumes, and interview technique will be covered. Prerequisite: open to junior and senior theatre arts majors only.

Major Map: American Studies

Effective Fall 2013

American Studies is an interdisciplinary major/minor that educates students for responsible leadership and productive careers. It encourages students to use multiple academic disciplines and perspectives to explore the complexity and diversity of this nation's history, literature, and culture. Students learn the role of ideas, discourse, and events in creating American culture. They examine the interplay of race, regional identity, politics, capitalism, globalization, and popular culture in developing an American identity.

Majors complete ten (10) courses from at least five disciplines, including at least one class from each of the four core departments (English, History, Political Science, and Sociology). Students must also take at least one class from a department outside the four core departments. While study abroad is encouraged, a maximum of five (5) transfer courses will be counted toward the major.

CORE COURSES

Six (6) courses required. AMST 200, AMST 490, two (2) lower-level core course and two (2) upper-level core courses from lists below.

Minor Map: American Studies

Effective Fall 2013

American Studies is an interdisciplinary major/minor that educates students for responsible leadership and productive careers. It encourages students to use multiple academic disciplines and perspectives to explore the complexity and diversity of this nation's history, literature, and culture. Students learn the role of ideas, discourse, and events in creating American culture. They examine the interplay of race, regional identity, politics, capitalism, globalization, and popular culture in developing an American identity.

Minors complete six (6) courses from at least four disciplines, including at least one class from three of the four core departments (English, History, Political Science, and Sociology). Students must also take at least one class from a department outside the four core departments. While study abroad is encouraged, a maximum of three (3) transfer courses will be counted toward the minor.

CORE COURSES

Four (4) courses required. AMST 200, one (1) lower-level core course and two (2) upper-level core courses from lists below.

Major Map: Anthropology

Effective Fall 2010

The anthropology major exposes students to many related subdisciplines of the field. Undergraduates take courses in cultural anthropology, biological anthropology, archaeology, and linguistics. The study of anthropology develops analytical and research skills necessary for understanding the complexities of the world's cultures. It also prepares students for careers in business, law, government, and medicine. Because anthropology emphasizes field research, the department provides opportunities to visit and study other modern cultures, as well as to analyze fossils and archaeological materials. Anthropology encompasses many interests and approaches – from archaeology to primate behavior. Anthropology courses probe the biological basis of human society, cultural mores, social change, and the development of civilization. Anthropology majors must declare their major early and choose an advisor in the department.

Ten (10) courses are required, six (6) of which must originate within the Department of Anthropology at Rollins.

CORE COURSES All core courses must be taken at Rollins.

Major Map: Studio Art

Effective Fall 2013

The studio art major includes a core of foundation courses that introduce students to the fundamental concerns of the art making process. Advanced level courses build upon this foundation and provide each student the opportunity to create individualized programs that reflect his/her interests. Through both practice and theory, developing artists refine their skills and techniques, expand their creative and imaginative capacity, and develop critical and analytical judgment. The major culminates in a senior-year group art exhibition at the Cornell Fine Arts Museum. The rigorous process involved in preparing for a professional-level exhibition provides students with the practice necessary to be working artists while also preparing them for advanced study at the graduate school level.

Students declaring a studio major should contact their advisor or the Art and Art History Department chair (in cases where an advisor belongs to another department) to discuss course sequencing and to complete the degree-planning sheet.

Twelve (12) courses are required, eight (8) core courses and four (4) electives. Two (2) of the required four (4) electives must be at the 300 level or higher. A Junior Year Portfolio Review with all Studio Art faculty is also required.

Minor Map: Studio Art

Effective Fall 2009

The careful sequence of required core courses enables students to develop skills, concepts, and critical awareness about art. In studio courses, students grapple with the tools and materials of the creative process—paint, clay, and metal. Faculty discuss conceptual issues, such as composition and color relationships, then present problems which require analysis and construction. Through both practice and theory, developing artists refine their skills and techniques for producing works of art, expand their creative and imaginative capacity, and develop critical and analytical judgment. Students declaring a studio minor should contact the art department chair to discuss course sequencing.

Six (6) courses are required: ARH 201 or ARH 202, ART 110, ART 120, one (1) intermediate studio elective, and two (2) advanced studio courses at the 300 level or above. At least one elective must be an approved Digital Media Course (see below for list).

Major Map: Art History

The art history major familiarizes students with the visual culture of societies from prehistory to the present day; strengthening students' understanding of art and culture through the analysis and interpretation of works of art as primary evidence in relation to historical events, politics, religion, social life, and other art forms; emphasizes the development of strong critical thinking, writing, and presentation skills; teaches students a variety of scholarly art historical and archaeological methodologies; prepares students for a variety of careers, including those in the arts and archaeology, and promotes visual literacy and interdisciplinary study of a diverse array of sociopolitical and theoretical issues.

Graduate programs in the History of Western Art usually require degree candidates to pass exams in French and German. Graduate programs in the field of art conservation usually require applicants to have taken college-level chemistry through organic and have a strong studio art background (some also require reading proficiency in French and/or German). Students planning to attend graduate school are strongly encouraged to complete ARH 499 Senior Thesis.

In addition to art history courses, elective credit may be awarded for PHI 212 Philosophy of the Arts (see below) and for art history internships with an added research component that are completed under the supervision of an art history professor. Elective credit may also be awarded for selected studio art and classical studies courses.

Twelve (12) courses are required. Seven (7) core courses and (5) electives. Four (4) of the five (5) elective courses must be at the 300-level or higher.

Major Map: Art History

The art history major familiarizes students with the visual culture of societies from prehistory to the present day; strengthens students' understanding of art and culture by examining, analyzing and interpreting works of art as primary evidence in relation to historical events, politics, religion, social life, and other art forms; emphasizes the development of strong critical thinking, writing, and presentation skills; teaches students a variety of scholarly art historical and archaeological methodologies; prepares majors for careers, including those in the arts and archaeology; and promotes visual literacy and interdisciplinary study of a diverse array of sociopolitical and theoretical issues.

Students are encouraged to pursue internships and Honors in the Major. Students may opt out of either ARH 201 or ARH 202 with an AP exam score of 4 or higher. Transfer classes applied to the major will be considered on an individual basis. Graduate programs in Art History require specialized language training; students should consult with their advisor about appropriate language options. Graduate programs in the field of art conservation usually require applicants to have taken college-level chemistry through organic and have a strong studio art background. See the departmental website for further information (<http://www.rollins.edu/art>).

Major Map: Asian Studies

Effective Fall 2014

The Asian Studies major provides students the opportunity to study in depth one of the most important regions in the world. The importance of Asia derives from its large population, long history, complex and diverse societies and cultures, and rising economic significance. The major combines courses in history, culture, politics, business & economics with those from modern languages and an array of electives from other disciplines.

Requirements for the Major:

Twelve (12) courses, including five (5) from the history and culture category, five (5) from political economy, and two (2) courses in an Asian language beyond the 100 level. At least six (6) courses must be taken at the upper division (300-400) level and no more than three (3) courses can be in any single department. Capstone course may count towards history & culture or political economy categories as a required course.

All core courses must be taken at Rollins (except for courses taken by transfer students prior to admission to Rollins), at least one-half of all courses for the major at Rollins (no exemption for transfer students), and at least one-half of all courses for the major must be at the 300-400 level. Students are required to participate in one (1) academically-based study trip to Asia. Students are highly encouraged to participate in a semester-long stay in one of the Asian Studies approved programs or universities, from which a maximum of four (4) pre-approved courses may be counted towards the major. At a minimum, however, students are required to complete a seminar course, followed by one (1) academically-based study trip to Asia. One 300 or 400 level Asian language course might count as a history and cultural course or political economy course.

HISTORY & CULTURE Five (5) courses required from the list below to attain knowledge of Asian history and culture.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE Two (2) courses beyond the 100 level in a single Asian language is required. The two-course requirement may be waived by demonstrating 'native proficiency' in a modern Asian language, as determined by the Rollins College Department of Modern Languages and Literatures. If the language is not taught at Rollins, the two-course (200-level) requirement may be waived by demonstrating a proficiency in a modern foreign language at the 'advanced' level by passing a standardized test administered by the ACTFL Testing Office. This two-course foreign language requirement at the upper level is an essential component of the Asian Studies Major. Students are encouraged to take these foreign language courses in the host-country. Students receiving a foreign language waiver are required to take two (2) additional courses in either the History and Culture or the Political Economy categories.

ASA 400 SENIOR CAPSTONE SEMINAR ASA 400 Senior Capstone Seminar guides students in preparing, presenting and writing a research paper on a topic related to Asia. Requires bibliographies, multiple drafts, and in-class oral presentation. The required upper division seminar (ASA 400) can be taken only after both of the required lower division courses (REL 113 and HIS 263) have been completed. The capstone course can replace one of the non-language courses required above. Field Study does not count as capstone course.

Minor Map: Asian Studies

Effective Fall 2014

The Asian Studies minor offers students an organized plan of study to facilitate the exploration of their interests in Asia. Courses range across history, anthropology, economics, political science, languages, international business, religion, and philosophy. The enormous population an immensely long and significant history, extraordinarily complex and diverse societies and cultures, and rising economic significance all call for study and understanding

Seven (7) courses, including at least three (3) from the history and culture category, at least two (2) from political economy, and one (1) course in an Asian language at any level. At least two (2) courses must be taken at the upper division (300-400) level and no more than three (3) courses can be in any single department.

All core courses must be taken at Rollins (except for courses taken by transfer students prior to admission to Rollins), at least one-half of all courses for the major at Rollins (no exemption for transfer students), and of these at least two must be at 300-400 level. Students are encouraged to participate in one (1) academically-based study trip to Asia. Students are highly encouraged to participate in a semester-long stay in one of the Asian Studies approved programs or universities, from which a maximum of four (4) pre-approved courses may be counted towards the Asian Studies minor. Should the student study abroad please see the Asian Studies coordinator for substitutions.

Minor Map: Australian Studies

Effective Spring 2006

The Australian studies minor, based upon the Rollins Program in Sydney, fosters an intellectual and social understanding between Australia and the United States. Thanks to the faculty exchange program begun in January 1981, one or two visiting professors from Australia spend time at Rollins each year. Recent lecturers have included Rosemary Broomham in history and Graham Boardman in Australian literature.

Six (6) courses are required (totaling at least 24 semester hours):

- four (4) completed for grade-point credit in Australia during the required term in Sydney.
- two (2) more taken at Rollins or in Australia.

THE ROLLINS PROGRAM IN SYDNEY

Two (2) core courses are required during the fall term in Sydney.

Major Map: Biochemistry/Molecular Biology

Effective Fall 2013

The biochemistry/molecular biology major is an interdepartmental major that provides students with a strong background in chemistry and biology with an emphasis on molecular aspects. Through selected electives students can concentrate on specific areas of interest. Students have excellent opportunities within the departments of biology and chemistry to engage in independent research projects. Graduates are prepared to pursue employment in biochemical, pharmaceutical, and biotechnological laboratories, and further study in the health professions or graduate research institutions. Biochemistry/Molecular Biology majors may not double major or minor in Biology or Chemistry.

Ten (10) core courses and an additional 14 semester hours of elective course credit are required. At least Seven (7) courses must be at the 300-400 level.

Satisfactory performance on a comprehensive standardized examination is required of all majors.

RECOMMENDATIONS: Students preparing for graduate programs in biology or professional schools, in health-related areas such as medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, or pharmacy, need a thorough introduction to physics and possibly calculus. Therefore, they should take PHY 120 and PHY 121 or 131 and (a) calculus course(s). Those students contemplating careers and graduate study in biochemistry or pharmaceutical chemistry should include PHY 120 and PHY 121 or 131, MAT 111 and MAT 112, and a full year of physical chemistry: CHM 305 and CHM 306.

Major Map: Biology

Effective date: Spring 2011

The biology major exposes students to a wide variety of field, laboratory, and classroom experiences fundamental to the life sciences. Through selected electives, students may concentrate on specific areas of interest such as marine biology, ecology, microbiology, botany, zoology, or molecular biology. The major also offers the flexibility for students to minor in another area or to fulfill requirements for secondary teaching certification. Students have excellent opportunities to engage in independent research projects. Graduates are prepared to pursue employment in biological laboratories, and for further study in the health professions or graduate research institutions. Eleven (11) core courses are required: seven (7) core biology courses, and four (4) core physical science courses. In addition, a minimum of ten (10) semester hours of BIO prefix elective courses (BIO 210 or higher), and satisfactory performance on a comprehensive standardized examination are also required. At least seven (7) courses required for the biology major must be taken at Rollins College or as part of a Rollins sanctioned program (e.g. Duke Marine lab, University of London). Of these seven (7), at least five (5) must be BIO prefix courses beyond BIO 120/121.

Students may not simultaneously major or minor in Biology and Marine Biology, or Biochemistry Molecular Biology.

BIOLOGY ELECTIVES A minimum of ten (10) semester hours comprising any biology courses from BIO 210 and above. Courses from the core groupings, other than those used to satisfy the core, may be used as electives. One (1) Biological Internship (BIO 396) may be used as an elective. Plants play a central role in our biosphere. However, our modern society often fails to recognize the significance of plants in biological systems, the scientific contributions of plant-based research, and the importance of plants in human affairs. Therefore, the department recommends at least one (1) of the courses taken to fulfill the requirements for a major in biology be a plant-oriented biology course.

OFF-CAMPUS EXPERIENCES Rollins College, has an agreement with Marine Biological Laboratories at Duke University, and Woods Hole enabling students to spend a semester at these sites. Courses taken at Duke lab can be used to fulfill two courses in the bio major (any combination of core and electives). Students participating in the Semester in Environmental Science at Woods Hole will be able to use courses taken there as the core course in ecosystems/field study and up to two (2) electives. Students need to petition and receive approval from the Department of Biology for this and any other off-campus program.

RECOMMENDATIONS Students preparing for graduate programs in biology or professional schools, in health-related areas such as medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, or pharmacy need a thorough introduction to physics and calculus. Therefore, they are advised to take CHM 221 or CHM 320 and PHY 121 or PHY 131, a calculus course(s), and a statistics course. In addition, some professional schools now require biochemistry. Students should be aware that requirements of different programs can vary and they should seek guidance from advisors and program directors.

MAJOR MAP: CHEMISTRY

EFFECTIVE FALL 2014

Chemistry explores matter, its properties, its physical and chemical transformations, and energy changes associated with these transformations. "Every aspect of our world today -- even politics and international relations -- is affected by chemistry," said Linus Pauling. Chemistry graduates continue their education in graduate or professional school and become chemists, teachers, doctors, lawyers, pharmacists, engineers, and business people. The 100-level courses introduce students to the discipline and serve as prerequisites for the advanced courses (200-400 level). The chemistry major requires the foundational and divisional courses as well as three to four electives, dependent upon if the chemistry degree is to be certified by the American Chemical Society Committee on Professional Training (ACS-CPT).

(15) courses are required for the chemistry major.

MINOR MAP: CHEMISTRY

EFFECTIVE FALL 2014

Chemistry explores matter and its properties, its physical and chemical transformations, and energy changes associated with these transformations. Bridging traditional humanities on one hand and modern physics on the other, chemistry is a central subject in a liberal arts curriculum. "Every aspect of our world today -- even politics and international relations -- is affected by chemistry," said Linus Pauling. Chemists search for new molecules in space; make new useful materials; solve problems of the environment, energy, health, and food production; and probe how organisms work. The chemistry department strives to develop critical thinking, problem solving, and communication skills in addition to content knowledge. Many graduates continue their education in graduate or professional school and become chemists, teachers, doctors, lawyers, pharmacists, engineers, and business people. The 100-level courses introduce first-year students to the discipline and serve as prerequisites for other foundational and advanced courses (200-400 level).

Students interested in pursuing graduate studies or employment in a laboratory setting are advised to take both CHM 221 and CHM 320 as two of the three electives.

Six (6) courses are required.

Major Map: Classical Studies

Effective Fall 2012

The program in classical studies embodies a tradition in learning and human understanding that began in the ancient world and became the core of liberal arts education. It also reflects intellectual and methodological developments that make the field exciting and relevant today—not only for majors and minors, but also for students fulfilling general education requirements. In addition to language classes, the program offers a broad selection of courses in literature, philosophy, history, theatre, art, and archaeology.

Ten (10) courses are required.

ANCIENT LANGUAGE PROFICIENCY Students are required to demonstrate proficiency in one ancient language through the 202 (Intermediate II) level. To satisfy this requirement, students may take either the Greek or Latin sequence. Students with prior courses in Greek or Latin will be placed in the appropriate level according to the College's rules for foreign language credit (see page 21 of the current Catalogue). Students who have scored a four (4) or five (5) on the Advanced Placement (AP) Exam for Latin will receive one (1) elective course credit towards the major and will only be required to take a total of nine (9) courses and may not take LAT 101 for credit.

Major Map: Computer Science

Effective Fall 2014

The Department of Mathematics and Computer Science offers a computer science major that teaches students how to design and implement computer programs to solve many types of problems. Based on curricula developed by the Association for Computing Machinery (ACM), the major prepares students for graduate study and for many interesting computer-related endeavors. The computer science minor complements any major for which computer applications exists. It also gives students background for many computer-related occupations.

Fourteen (14) courses are required.

A first-year student major in computer science will typically take CMS 167 and MAT 111 in the fall, and CMS 170 and MAT 140 in the spring. Students who are not prepared to start with calculus should start with MAT 109 instead of MAT 111.

Major Map: Economics

Effective Fall 2009

The required core curriculum provides economics majors with a foundation to pursue either economic theory or applied economics. Students must take core courses at Rollins, although transfer students may transfer core equivalents at time of enrollment. Potential majors and minors should take a 100-level course in the first year. Some 100-level courses fulfill requirements only if taken prior to ECO 202. Since most economics courses have prerequisites, students should contact a member of the Department of Economics for academic advice in the first year to plan their course of study.

Twelve (12) courses are required: eight (8) core courses, including a capstone course to be chosen from among three (3) 400-level electives, and four (4) electives.

ELECTIVES

Four (4) courses in economics are required, three (3) of which must be at the 300-400 level and only one (1) of which may be at the 100 level. An economics RCC counts as a 200-level elective. Overseas programs and independent study may count for elective credit with the pre-approval of the department chair. Students finished with the core may develop a one-course independent study to explore special interests or to earn honors in the major.

Major Map: English

The Department of English curriculum offers a flexible and challenging set of opportunities that allows all students to experience a wide range of approaches to literature and writing. The goal of the curriculum is to provide a solid core of literature courses for all majors, while at the same time, providing each student the opportunity to create an individualized program that reflects his/her interests and passions. In addition to offering students a variety of courses in English, American and World Literature, the major provides a broad selection of writing courses.

Students majoring in English are required to complete the following program of courses. A minimum of twelve (12) courses is required and must include six (6) core courses and six (6) electives. Majors must also submit a representative senior portfolio on or before the second Friday in April for May graduation, the second Friday in October for December graduation, and participate in a graduation conversation with faculty. Students majoring in English are encouraged to develop their majors in close consultation with an English Department faculty advisor.

Students in both the English Major and Writing minor may count only one (1) course toward both programs. English majors must take their 400-level required English elective course at Rollins. Transfer students majoring in English must take at least one-half of their English major requirements at Rollins and must have their programs approved by the Department Chair before taking additional electives outside Rollins.

Twelve (12) courses are required.

- * Honors in the Major (2 semesters, thesis completed in the senior year)

Minor Map: English

Effective Fall 2012

The Department of English curriculum offers a flexible and challenging set of opportunities that allows all students to experience a wide range of approaches to literature and writing. In addition to offering students a variety of choices in English, American and World Literature, the department provides a broad selection of writing courses.

Notes:
Students may not count ENG 140 Writing about: Selected topics as an elective toward the English minor.
Students wishing to take ENG 303 American Literature I or 304 American Literature II without first taking the 201 and 202 prerequisites must seek the consent of the instructor.

Six (6) courses are required.

CORE COURSES Any two (2) courses from the following list :

Major Map: Environmental Studies

Effective Fall 2009

The interdisciplinary environmental studies major examines natural and cultural systems from many perspectives – ecological, economic, ethical, historical, geographical, and political. Students study the conservation and utilization of resources essential for economic development and public well-being. The curriculum analyzes the origins, processes, problems, and possibilities of creating a more sustainable society. It also offers preparation for an environmental career, broad background in several related areas of study or concentration in a particular discipline as a basis for graduate study. Florida offers an ideal laboratory for environmental studies. Nationally recognized projects such as the Everglades restoration, Wekiva Geopark, and models in the New Urbanism place Florida in the forefront of environmental protection and sustainable design.

Ten (10) courses required: six (6) core courses, one (1) required course in the origins of environmental thought, and three (3) environmental studies electives.

Minor Map: Film

Effective Fall 2002

More than a century old, film is an integral, omnipresent art form and a component of our day-to-day lives. The film studies minor examines how film reflects and affects the social, intellectual, cultural, ethical, economic, aesthetic, and political aspects of our world; encourages students to move toward critical thinking about how film influences values and ideologies as well as our views on gender, race, class, sexuality, religion, and nationality; and demonstrates that film is a medium which both reflects and produces social conflicts, desires, and power relations.

Six (6) courses are required: two (2) core courses and four (4) electives. Students are advised to complete FIL 150 as one of the first three courses counted toward the film studies minor.

MINOR REQUIREMENTS

ELECTIVES Choose four (4) courses from the schedule of courses that are noted as fulfilling the "FIL minor," which meet the following criteria:

- At least two at the 300 level or above
- At least one must focus on foreign film
- One may be an internship

Film courses taken in the Hamilton Holt School or at other institutions may count toward the minor at the discretion of the Film Studies Program Director.

Minor Map: Global Health

Effective Fall 2013

The global health minor focuses on issues effecting community health at home and around the globe, revealing that health and poverty are frequently linked and that health issues may not respect political boundaries. The program draws courses from anthropology, biology, communication studies, critical media and cultural studies, economics, English, environmental studies, history, pre-medicine studies, mathematics, physical education, political science, and psychology to explore health related issues from a variety of methodological and topical perspectives.

Six (6) courses are required: three (3) core courses and three (3) elective courses. Two (2) of the required three (3) electives must be at the 300 level or higher. It is recommended, but not required, that students take PED Health and Wellness to meet their BPE requirement. It is recommended, but not required, that students take a statistics course such as BIO 342, MAT 219, ECO 221, PSY 250, or INB 236.

Major Map: History

2014

The Rollins College History Department provides students with opportunities for intellectual growth, as well as skills vital for today's world. Our students achieve an understanding of the historical context of contemporary society and insight into their place in that society. Our students learn to think critically, to understand cause and effect, to observe patterns and trends, to develop inferential reasoning skills, and to appreciate multiple perspectives. Graduates of our program can research complex questions, read critically, and communicate effectively.

Eleven (11) courses are required, six (6) of which must be at the 300-400 level. Student must completed two (2) researching history course at 200-level. At the 100, 200, and 300 level, at least two (2) geographic areas (Asia, Europe, Latin America, and United States) must be covered.

Major Map: International Business

Effective Fall 2014

As the business world and global economy become increasingly international and interconnected, successful leaders need more than a traditional business degree to stay competitive. A well-rounded base of knowledge, experience, and skills – integrating international themes, foreign cultures, and foreign languages are essential to truly understand the foundation of international business environment. These credentials will contribute to a meaningful and successful career path in business.

The International Business major is grounded in the Rollins' commitment to educate students for active citizenship and ethical leadership in a global society and to prepare graduates for productive careers. The International Business Department (INB) offers a major in International Business, a minor in International Business, a minor in Sustainable Development (in cooperation with Environmental Studies) and two dual degree programs. In the 3+2 program in cooperation with the Crummer Graduate School of Business students earn a B.A. and MBA in 5 years. The 2+2 international program offers students an opportunity to earn in 4 years a B.A. from Rollins and a B.S. from Reutlingen University in Germany.

Requirements for the International Business major are: 16 courses, including eight (8) core International Business courses, an international business internship, two (2) International Business electives, five (5) foreign language and area studies courses, and an international experience.

RESIDENCY AND DISTRIBUTION: INB majors must take all core courses at Rollins (except for courses taken by transfer students prior to admission to Rollins). INB200 and all 300 & 400 level courses in the major must be taken in INB department.

CORE COURSES

| Semester |   | Prerequisite                            | GenEd  |
|----------|---|---|--------|
|          | INB 200 Introduction to International Business          |   |        |

INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS INTERNSHIP REQUIREMENT: INB majors are required to complete an internship (INB 397). INB majors may satisfy this requirement by (a) participating in a Rollins International Internship program (e.g., London, Spain, Costa Rica, China, Australia), (b) a summer internship abroad, or (c) a local internship with a reflection paper on some aspect of international business. Students register for internships through the Office of Career Services.

INTERNATIONAL EXPERIENCE REQUIREMENT: INB majors are required to have a direct international experience. This requirement may be satisfied by (a) participating in a Rollins semester abroad program, (b) participating in an INB approved Rollins study abroad course, (c) by experience as an international student studying in the U.S., or (d) by extensive experience living or working abroad at age 16 or older. Students should document their international experience and provide supporting evidence and an essay describing their experience. The department chair will determine whether or not the international experience satisfies the requirements for the INB major.

LANGUAGE and AREA STUDIES (5 courses): Proficiency in English and at least one (1) modern foreign language are essential for a successful career in international business. To accommodate students with different learning styles and needs, the foreign language and area studies requirement of five courses may be satisfied in a number of ways. Choose one of the following:

- Students can complete (5) courses in language/area studies, with at least one language at the 300 level and at least one area studies course at the 300 level. One potential layout of courses is below.

- Students may satisfy this requirement by declaring and completing one (1) of the following majors/minors: French, German, Russian, Spanish.
- Students may satisfy this requirement by declaring and completing one (1) of the following majors/minors: Asian Studies, Australian Studies, Latin American and Caribbean Studies, Middle Eastern & North African Studies, and Sustainable Development as long as INB language requirement of at least one (1) language course at 300 level is satisfied. Department of Modern Languages at Rollins offers 300 level courses in Chinese, French, German, Russian, and Spanish.
- The foreign language requirement may be waived by demonstrating 'native proficiency' in a modern foreign language as determined by the Rollins College Department of Modern Languages and Literatures or by passing a standardized test administered by the ACTFL Testing Office. Contact INB Department Chair for more information. Receiving a foreign language waiver does not reduce the total number of courses required for the International Business major. Students receiving such a waiver are required to take 5 area studies or other language courses with at least two (2) at the 300-400 level.

Major Map: International Relations

The international relations major is designed to develop an appreciation for the multi-disciplinary aspects of international affairs. The curriculum exposes students to political questions about security, diplomacy, and power relations among nations; the nature of political life in other societies; the development of economic relationships within and between nations; the historical and cultural origins of American, European, Asian, Latin American, and African nations; and requires proficiency in foreign language. While not directly vocational in nature, the international relations major prepares students for graduate and professional schools, for careers in international and regional agencies and organizations in the public and private sectors, and for the foreign service.

Majors in international relations must complete a minimum of fourteen (14) courses from five (5) academic areas: politics, history, economics, foreign languages, and culture area studies. There are four specific required courses: POL 130, POL 453, ECO 202, and ECO 203. In order to prepare adequately for senior capstone seminar, international relations majors must have completed at least seven (7) courses in the major, including courses in comparative and international politics, and in foreign policy. Therefore, transfer students and those with A.A. degrees should assume that it will take at least two years to complete the major.

Seniors graduating in December must take the capstone seminar during the previous spring term. Students are strongly encouraged to participate in one of the Rollins-sponsored study-abroad programs and/or in the Foreign Policy Semester at American University in Washington, D.C. The program coordinator tries to facilitate these activities by counting appropriate courses from these programs toward the major at Rollins.

Fourteen (14) courses are required. At least one-half of these courses must be 300-400 level* *(two must be in the same area).

POLITICAL SCIENCE Five courses required from the list below for an understanding of comparative politics, international relations, and foreign policy.

Major Map: International Relations

Effective Spring 2013

The international relations major asks questions about security, diplomacy, and power relations among nation-states as well as non-state actors; the nature of political life in other societies; the development of economic relationships within and between states; the historical and cultural origins of American, European, Asian, Latin American, and African countries; and requires a degree of proficiency in foreign language. International Relations majors typically graduate to careers in the foreign service, public and private sector internationally-focused organizations, or graduate and professional school.

Majors complete fourteen (14) courses in the four different academic categories of political science, history and culture, economics, and modern languages, at least half of which must be at the 300-400 level. There are four (4) required core courses (POL 130, POL 453, ECO 202, and ECO 203) of which POL 453 is the capstone taken during the last year of study. While we encourage study abroad, a maximum of five (5) transfer courses will be counted toward the major, and no more than two (2) transfer courses will be accepted in a single academic category for the major.

Finally, beginning with the Class of 2016, students must complete an international experiential learning component for the major. This requirement is fulfilled by providing appropriate documentation and writing a 750-word essay based on your experience with Rollins College or other approved study-abroad programs, shorter field study trips attached to regular Rollins curriculum, study in an internationally-related program at American University in Washington, D.C., your experience in the U.S. as an international student, work or military service abroad, or a pre-approved internship or employment with an international focus.

MODERN LANGUAGES

Two (2) courses are required in a modern language at the 200 intermediate level. The courses must be conducted in that language, with the purpose of achieving reading and conversational proficiency (courses in translation may not be counted). If either intermediate level course is waived, an appropriate 300- or 400-level course will be required.

The two-course requirement may be waived by demonstrating 'native proficiency' in a modern foreign language, as determined by the Rollins College Department of Modern Languages and Literatures (this applies to languages taught by the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures). If the language is not taught at Rollins, the two-course requirement may be waived by demonstrating a proficiency in a modern foreign language at the 'advanced' level by passing a standardized test administered by the ACTFL Testing Office. Information and application forms for these tests can be obtained from the Rollins College Department of Modern Languages and Literatures. Receiving a foreign language waiver does not reduce the total number of courses required for the international relations major (14). Students receiving such a waiver are required to take two additional courses from the lists of approved courses in international relations (political science, history, economics, and cultural area studies). The international relations major does not grant waivers, exemptions, or substitutions for the two-course foreign language requirement to students who do not have proficiency in English and at least one other modern foreign language.

Minor Map: Jewish Studies

Effective Fall 2009

The Jewish studies program focuses on the academic investigation of the religion, history, and culture of the Jewish people and the study of the interaction of this culture with the civilizations of the world.

This program identifies and combines courses in the departments of philosophy and religion, education, English, foreign languages, art, music, and anthropology. Time periods and geographical areas covered range from ancient Israel to contemporary American society. The multidisciplinary approach of the program includes biblical studies, history of religions, intellectual history, European studies, art, music, archaeology, literature, women's studies, and philosophy.

The Jewish studies minor may be particularly beneficial for students interested in graduate studies in religious studies, education, international politics, history, comparative literature, foreign languages, classics, or ancient Mediterranean studies. In addition, the Jewish studies minor would serve students who pursue the fields of education, social work, communal service, public administration, law, foreign service, the ministry and/or the rabbinate.

Six (6) courses are required: two (2) core courses, three (3) electives, and a senior independent study research paper.

Major Map: Latin American & Caribbean Studies

Effective Spring 2013

The Latin American and Caribbean Studies (LACS) program is a holistic and interdisciplinary field of study that explores, among other themes, the diverse cultures, history, ideologies, languages, literatures, natural environment and political economy of Latin America and the Caribbean as well as the challenges facing this critical region in the twenty-first century. Latin America and the Caribbean are important in a local and national sense because of the region's many connections to Florida and the United States. Latin America and the Caribbean are also critical in a global sense because of the region's rising economic and geopolitical significance. The program is designed to educate students for global citizenship and responsible leadership, and to prepare graduates for productive careers in business, government, and other professions. Students majoring in Latin American and Caribbean Studies are expected to: demonstrate a breadth and depth of knowledge of the forces that have shaped the region of Latin America and the Caribbean; learn to think critically about a region that is deeply connected to but also distinct from (North) American society; and achieve competence in Spanish, Portuguese or French. Students are encouraged to experience cultural immersion by participating in one of Rollins' overseas programs to the region.

No more than five (5) courses taken to fulfill requirements in another major or minor from the departments listed below and with a concentration on Latin America or the Caribbean may count toward meeting the requirements of the major in Latin American and Caribbean Studies. These must be approved by the Latin American and Caribbean Studies Coordinator.

Ten (10) courses (or 40 credit hours) are required:
at least seven (7) of these must be completed at Rollins and five (5) must be at the 300-400 level.

Major Map: Marine Biology Effective Fall 2013

Thirteen (13) courses are required: eight (8) core marine biology courses, three (3) core chemistry courses, one (1) biology elective course, one approved field experience in Marine Biology, and satisfactory performance on a comprehensive standard exam. At least eight (8) of the thirteen (13) courses required for the marine biology major must be taken at Rollins College or as part of a Rollins sanctioned program. Of these eight (8), at least five (5) must be BIO prefix courses beyond BIO 120/121. Students may not major, double major, or minor in both Marine Biology and Biology.

Major Map: Mathematics

Effective Fall 2014

One of the distinguishing characteristics of the Department of Math & Computer Science is its commitment to quality teaching, which promotes active learning on the part of students. Faculty work closely with students to ensure that each has a successful educational experience. To this end, the department has been involved in the calculus reform movement since its beginnings and, as a result, nonlecture methods coupled with technology are used in many classes. The Rollins mathematics curriculum is flexible enough to prepare a major for a wide choice of career options, such as graduate work in pure or applied mathematics, statistics, economics, secondary education, actuarial science, government, industry, or law school.

Fourteen (14) courses are required: ten (10) core courses and four (4) electives.

TYPICAL SCHEDULE

There are a variety of ways in which students interested in mathematics can complete the major. However, by the end of the junior year, majors should complete all core courses numbered 330 or below and have taken one elective. This will leave MAT 455/475, MAT 485 and three electives for the senior year.

*Special Note About the General Curriculum: Only one general curriculum requirement from the group A, C, D, L, O, P, S may be double-counted to satisfy both the general curriculum and the major requirements. See the Rollins College Catalogue for a comprehensive listing of all requirements.

Minor Audit: Middle Eastern and North African Studies

Effective Fall 2012

Nationwide, there has been an increased interest in the Middle East and North Africa, a region not well understood by most Americans. The minor in Middle Eastern and North African (MENA) Studies offers a thorough survey of the cultures, politics, and religions of the region throughout history, with a strong focus on the contemporary period. Short-term or semester-long field studies are also encouraged, with students in recent years electing to spend time studying in Morocco, Jordan, and Israel.

Six (6) courses are required.

CORE COURSES

| Semester |     | Course                   | Grade | G.E.* |
|----------|-----|--------------------------|-------|-------|
| _____    | ANT | 255 Middle East Culture  | _____ | _____ |
| _____    | POL | 304 Middle East Politics | _____ | _____ |

Choose four (4) courses listed in the schedule of classes as MENA electives that meet the following criteria.

- No more than two (2) language courses may count toward the minor
- No more than three (3) courses may be taken from any one department
- At least one elective must be at the 300-level or above
- Courses taken during semester-long field studies at universities in the Middle East and North Africa may also serve as electives, to be approved on a case-by-case basis.

ELECTIVES Four (4) courses.

DIAGNOSTIC TEST FOR ALL SPANISH MAJORS All prospective Spanish majors must take a diagnostic test, ideally in sophomore year. Faculty administer the test during spring term and discuss results with each student. Transfer students should take the exam as soon as possible after matriculating at Rollins.

SENIOR CAPSTONE SEMINAR IN SPANISH

SPN 497 Senior Capstone Seminar, a required, 1/2-unit course, meets once a week during the spring. It helps majors prepare for the final, comprehensive, capstone exam in Spanish, which tests student abilities in all areas of Spanish language and Hispanic literature and culture. Faculty provide suggested and required bibliography.

Effective Fall 2013

The Virginia S. and W.W. Nelson Department of Music began as a conservatory of music even before the College's founding in 1885. The program is a charter member—since 1931—of the National Association of Schools of Music, whose curricula guide the baccalaureate offerings. Since the conservatory's restructuring as a liberal arts department in 1966, Rollins has continued to enjoy a reputation as one of the finest schools in the Southeast offering preprofessional music training. The mission of the department is fourfold: to provide majors the best possible education in performance, historical literature, and theory—the background necessary to pursue graduate work or a career in music; to open the curriculum to the wider campus community by encouraging nonmajors to take courses, including those designed specially for novices; to give all students—majors and nonmajors—performance experience through choral and instrumental ensembles and individual training in applied music; and to offer the Central Florida community performances of outstanding merit by resident and guest artists, as well as opportunities to study music avocationally. We are committed to music for all, rather than music for a few.

Fifty-Six (56) semester hours required: twenty-eight (28) in musicianship, twelve (12) in performance, and twelve (12) in electives, and a four-hour senior capstone course. An audition before a majority of the tenured music faculty is required to gain acceptance as a music major.

Minor Map: Neuroscience

Spring 2013

The Neuroscience Minor is an interdisciplinary concentration in the biological and behavioral foundations of the nervous system's structure and function. It is for Psychology, Biology, Biochemistry/Molecular Biology, and Marine Biology majors with an interest in graduate or professional school specializing in Neuroscience and was designed to introduce majors to related issues in alternate disciplines.

Ten (10) courses are required, but up to half of the courses can be double counted for your Major.

FOUNDATIONS

Major Map: Philosophy

Effective Fall 2009

Socrates said, "the unexamined life is not worth living." The disciplines of philosophy and religion examine our lives by investigating the most basic concepts and categories of our self-understanding: true and false, right and wrong, real and imaginary, sacred and profane. Courses in the history of philosophy introduce students to the ideas of great thinkers such as Plato, Aristotle, Descartes, Hume, Kant, and Nietzsche. Undergraduates learn by doing -- by engaging in argumentative dialogue with these philosophers. Nonmajors acquire valuable skills of analysis and argumentation while learning to ask fundamental questions about identity, meaning, and value. Thematic courses range from ethics and social philosophy to the mind-body problem. Advisors encourage students to acquire background in a special interest by taking courses in other disciplines. A philosopher of science, for example, needs to study biology, just as a student interested in aesthetics must learn about art, music, and literature.

Twelve (12) courses are required.

Major Map: Religious Studies

Effective Spring 2010

Religious Studies examines the history, beliefs, practices, and role of religion in creating and shaping the world's cultures and societies. The department offers courses in Western and Eastern religions, courses in scriptures such as the Hebrew Bible and the New Testament, as well as more advanced and thematic courses such as Religion and Film, Women and Religion, and Buddhist Ethics. The objectives of the major are to explore the history of world religions, to comprehend religious beliefs along with their philosophical and psychological underpinnings, to appreciate the varieties of religious experience, to consider the impact and meaning of religious pluralism in America, and to assess the role that religions have historically played in shaping society's values.

Twelve (12) courses are required.

Major Map: Physics

Effective Fall 2014

Physics encompasses more than the study of matter and energy. It seeks general principles behind phenomena as diverse as wispy elementary particles and gigantic galaxies. As Einstein once said, the most incomprehensible thing about the universe is that it is comprehensible. Physics courses provide a pathway towards that understanding through computer analysis, model building, and quantitative tools. Many courses have an associated lab so students can complement their classroom learning with hands-on analysis of physical processes. The major also stresses mathematics, the language of physics. Physics provides a foundation for students interested in engineering -- the application of physical principles to the design of products and processes needed in today's technological world. Future engineers may concentrate in physics for the first three years at Rollins and then transfer to one of the engineering schools with which the college participates in a 3-2 dual-degree program. For further information, contact the coordinator, Christopher Fuse. Majors also go on to graduate school in specialized areas such as high-energy physics, laser physics, and atomic physics. Others continue in such fields as astronomy, oceanography, materials science, and transportation engineering. Some graduates teach while others pursue MBA's. Since physics majors know how to solve problems and use technology, with or without a higher degree they usually find interesting jobs.

Fifteen (15) courses are required.

Students without a strong background in physics and mathematics may wish to take MAT 111/MAT 112 and PHY 120 before beginning the sequence for the major

Majors without adequate preparation must take the calculus sequence MAT 111/ MAT 112 in the freshman year and PHY 130 in the fall of the freshman year.

Students who wish to continue physics in graduate school should consider the following electives:

- CHM 120 Chemistry
- CHM 305 Physical Chemistry
- PHY 452 Quantum Physics II
- PHY 498 Physics Research

Students who intend to transfer to an engineering school via the 3-2 program with a concentration in Physics should also complete all required courses for a physics major except for PHY 333 and the 400-level courses. Additionally, they must complete CHM 120 Chemistry, CHM 305 Physical Chemistry and CMS 167A/167B Introduction to Computing.

Physics courses provide a pathway towards that understanding through laboratory and computer analysis and mathematical and computer modeling. Our laboratories are especially well equipped and our major emphasizes the development of sound laboratory skills. The major also stresses mathematics, the language of physics.

Physics provides a foundation for students interested in engineering -- the application of physical principles to the design of products and processes needed in today's technological world. Future engineers may concentrate in physics for the first three years at Rollins and then transfer to one of the engineering schools with which the college participates in a 3-2 dual-degree program. For further information, contact the coordinator, Christopher Fuse.

Nine (9) courses are required.

TRACK II – SUBSTANTIVE CONCENTRATIONS IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

After completing the introductory-level courses, students may use upper-level courses to concentrate in a substantive topic. Students are required to complete one course from at least two (2) different subfields at the upper-level. The Department of Political Science lists below five (5) options for substantive concentrations. A concentration is a topic that typically cuts across subfields and allows students to study an important substantive theme in greater depth. A concentration will be composed of six (6) courses. At least five (5) of these courses must be at the 300 or 400 level. A final research project is required for all students completing a concentration and normally will be completed in the senior seminar. They should previously take a research methods course. Students may satisfy this research requirement by either pursuing Honors in Political Science or through the Senior Honors Research Project in the Honors Program. It is possible for students to design a concentration which is different from those suggested below. ALL students who wish to pursue a concentration MUST receive Departmental approval. Normally, students should declare their concentration when they declare Political Science as their major, but NO LATER THAN registration for classes for their first semester of their junior year. The declaration should include a curriculum plan of study that outlines their concentration. The plan of study should state what is motivating the student to pursue a substantive concentration, the courses they have selected, and what separates those courses from the rest of the major.

SUGGESTED CONCENTRATIONS: Select six (6) courses from a concentration area, at least five (5) courses must be at the 300 or 400 level.

- 1. Poverty, Inequality, and Development Select six (6) courses from a concentration area, at least five (5) courses must be at the 300 or 400 level.

Minor Map: Political Science

Effective Fall 2012

Why Study Politics? Life is already political. Politics, then, is not just something that we study and read about: it is something that we live. In ways large and small, abstract and particular, global and local, theoretical and practical, our everyday lives are shaped by powers, ideologies, and customs. Politics happens to us whether we see it or not. But by studying political science, we can become conscious of, understand, engage, and work against the forces that give meaning and shape to our condition.

Six (6) courses are required: three (3) introductory courses (POL 100, 120, 130, or 160) and three (3) upper-level courses.

Core courses serve as prerequisites to corresponding upper-division courses. For example, POL 160 must precede all upper-division courses in American politics. Upper-division courses (300-400 level) taken during winter intersession do not satisfy distribution requirement for the major.

Major Map: Psychology

Effective Fall 2010

The Psychology Major and Minor use the methods and content of psychological science to teach students to (1) understand the reasons behind their own and others' behavior; (2) become competent and critical decision makers; (3) respect human diversity; and (4) fulfill their social responsibilities. With an emphasis on experiential learning and laboratory courses, scientific rigor, quantitative literacy, and verbal and written communication skills, the psychology major provides an excellent background for students planning to join the workforce upon graduation and for those planning to continue their education in graduate school.

Twelve (12) courses and a comprehensive exam are required.

Major Map: Public Policy and Political Economy

6/24/2014

The interdisciplinary program in Public Policy and Political Economy studies substantive and theoretical ways in which economics and political science combine to shape public policies in various countries. Students in the major will become familiar with the theoretical approaches that political science and economics use to study and solve problems that can then be employed to frame and understand public policy issues. Public policy issues will be addressed within an individual and social values context by considering questions such as what is of value to society and its citizens? How best can those values be achieved? What tradeoffs are required when pursuing those societal values?

The program has the following educational goals:

- Often public problems exhibit recurring structures that inhibit their resolution through the political process. Students will understand the conditions that encourage and discourage effective human social and political cooperation including theories of collective action and organizational behavior.
- Students will acquire a framework for formulating and evaluating appropriate normative objectives, including liberty, social justice, social responsibility, efficiency, and other social values integrated in moral and political philosophies.
- Students will learn the analytical tools used to evaluate public policies and programs in terms of their efficacy in achieving given social objectives.
- Students will apply the principles and skills from the public policy major to research and propose practical solutions to decision-making problems in the real world.

Students majoring in Public Policy and Political Economy will acquire the analytical and practical skills that will prepare them for careers in business, Wall Street, entrepreneurship, law, or the public and/or private sector. Typical avenues after graduation will be to earn a Masters degree in Public Policy, Urban or Regional Planning; earn a J.D. degree, or an MBA; or work in the public or private sector, and enter politics. Students can also pursue graduate programs in economics or political science.

Fourteen (14) total courses.

SENIOR YEAR EXPERIENCE (1 course)

All students majoring in Public Policy and Political Economy are required to complete one senior year capstone course. This requirement may be satisfied through an independent study, a capstone seminar, or an applied internship with a mandatory policy research component. The purpose of the senior year experience is to enable students to integrate the concepts and principles from the major into a single project.

Major Map: Sociology

Effective Fall 2008

Sociology provides an understanding of human societies for students desiring a liberal arts education, as well as for those preparing for graduate study in sociology or related fields. Qualified students may be invited to participate in the department's honors degree program, as well as in independent study projects and internships with faculty. Because sociology relies heavily on advising for program direction, majors must choose an advisor in the department.

Twelve (12) courses are required, eight (8) of which must be taken at Rollins.
All core courses must also be taken at the College.

Minor Map: Sustainable Development and the Environment

Effective Spring 2012

The interdisciplinary minor in sustainable development and the environment examines whether transnational corporations can be both competitive and responsible by pursuing a strategy of sustainable development. The minor includes a set of courses that examine carefully the concept of sustainable development in an increasingly global economy. These courses are based on the premise that sustainable development means reconciling the need for economic growth, particularly in developing nations, with the need to protect both natural resources and the quality of life.

This minor will appeal primarily to students majoring in environmental studies or international business, but it will be available to other students as well. It includes a prescribed sequence of academic courses in conjunction with opportunities for practical applications of course theory through field study practica.

Students who complete this minor will gain an understanding of:

- the basic principles of environmental protection and sustainability;
- the emergence and consequences of globalization;
- the increasing role of international cooperation in managing environmental problems;
- the political economy of transnational corporations;
- the range of both positive and negative behaviors of transnational corporations in developing countries, and the ability to evaluate the environmental consequences of those behaviors; and
- recent attempts to measure and evaluate sustainable development, including indicators of corporate practice.

MINOR REQUIREMENTS: Twenty-eight (28) semester hours are required: four (4) core courses, worth four (4) semester hours each and two (2) seminar/practicum courses worth six (6) semester hours each.

SEMINAR/PRACTICUM COURSES Seminar/practicum courses serve as case studies in sustainable development. Each is comprised of a semester-length seminar followed by a study-abroad practicum. All are focused on Latin America and the Caribbean, areas that serve as representative case studies to illustrate a wide range of issues in sustainable development. Two courses with field study component are required.

Major Map: Theatre Arts

Effective Spring 2011

The theatre major offers a comprehensive education in the art and craft of the theatre. The curriculum exposes students broadly to theatre history, literature, theory, and criticism, and provides rigorous training in acting, directing, design, and technical theatre. To achieve these skills, students complete a series of required courses and participate in the departmental production program. The Rollins College Department of Theatre Arts and Dance believes that theatrical productions and classroom study are of equal and complementary value. The faculty of the Department of Theatre Arts and Dance embraces the liberal arts mission of Rollins College. The study of theatre comes most fully to life when integrated with other disciplines, for example, psychology, English, sociology, art, music, classical studies, and history. The faculty strongly encourages its majors to complement their studies with those of other departments.

A core of eleven (11) courses. All majors must take a core sequence of seven (7) four-hour courses and four (4) two-hour production courses. An emphasis of five (5) courses. All majors select an area of emphasis consisting of four (4) four-hour courses and a two-hour capstone course. Faculty evaluate student progress at the end of the sophomore year, and seniors must complete a senior capstone.

Fifty-four (54) credit hours are required.

Minor Map: Dance

Effective FALL 2009

This program gives students the opportunity to experience dance as an art form. They can take studio classes in ballet, jazz, tap, and modern dance, as well as courses in history, notation, and composition. Minors develop an awareness of history, an understanding of composition, and a competency in several forms.

Six (6) courses are required. Four (4) core courses and two (2) electives.

Minor Map: Women's Studies

Effective Fall 2009

Women's studies explores the nature and creations of women often neglected in traditional academic offerings. The multidisciplinary curriculum draws faculty from many departments – anthropology, biology, economics, religion, history, English, political science, sociology, and other disciplines.

Women's studies minors learn to evaluate cultural forces that have formed contemporary perceptions and expectations of women. Students investigate biological sexual differences, culturally assigned gender roles, theories about female consciousness and behavior, and restraints imposed by law and social conventions. The field covers an exciting range of topics, from the history of feminism to women's art and literature.

Six (6) courses are required: three (3) core courses, three (3) electives, AND a service learning component.

CORE COURSES

BUSINESS INTERNSHIP

All Business majors are required to complete a business internship (BUS 397). Students may satisfy this requirement by completing (a) a local internship in an approved business or social organization, (b) a summer internship (domestic or international) in an approved business or social organization, or (c) participating in a Rollins International Internship program (London, Costa Rica, Australia, China, or Spain). Students register for internships through the Office of Career Services. If an Internship is not appropriate for a specific individual, the student may petition the BSE Department Chair for approval to substitute BUS 398.

GLOBAL EXPERIENCE

All Business majors are required to have a global experience. This requirement may be satisfied by: (a) participating in a Rollins semester abroad program, (b) participating in an approved Rollins study abroad course, (c) by experience as an international student studying in the U.S., or (d) by extensive experience living or working abroad at age 16 or older. Students may be required to document their global experience. If a Global Experience is not appropriate for a specific individual, the student may petition the BSE Department Chair for approval to substitute BUS 398.

GLOBAL EXPERIENCE: _____

RESIDENCY AND DISTRIBUTION

Business majors must take all core courses at Rollins (except for courses taken by transfer students prior to admission to Rollins); must take at least one-half of all courses for the major at Rollins (no exemption for transfer students); must take at least one-half of all business core courses from the BUS curriculum (no exemptions for internal transfers); and must take at least one-half of all courses for the major at the 300-400 level.

IMMERSION EXPERIENCE

All SEB majors are required to participate in one Immersion Experience. This requirement may be satisfied by participating in (a) a Rollins Immersion program or (b) a BSE Department approved international service learning experience. Rollins Immersion exposes students to critical cultural, social, political, and structural issues in the community through weekend and weeklong projects of civic and community engagement throughout the academic year. Rollins Immersion is rooted in the academic mission of Rollins to educate students for global citizenship and responsible leadership. Through direct community engagement, leadership development, multicultural education, discussion, and pre/reflection activities students will be immersed in the big challenges and questions that face communities in the 21st century. International service learning experiences also focus on social responsibility and enable students to practice global citizenship while engaging in service in a different culture. Students should document their immersion experience, and may be required to provide supporting evidence or write an essay describing their experience.

INTERNSHIP

All SEB majors are required to complete a social entrepreneurship related business internship (SEB 397). For SEB 397 students may complete (a) a local or international internship designated as an SESI Internship by the Office of Career Services or (b) a BSE approved local, domestic, or international SE-related internship in a business or social enterprise. Students register for local, domestic, international, or self-designed internships through the Office of Career Services. If an Internship is not appropriate for a specific individual, the student may petition the BSE Department for approval to substitute SEB 398.

GLOBAL EXPERIENCE

All SEB majors are required to have a global experience. This requirement may be satisfied by: (a) participating in a Rollins semester abroad program, (b) participating in an approved Rollins study abroad course, (c) by experience as an international student studying in the U.S., or (d) by extensive experience living or working abroad at age 16 or older. Students may be required to document their global experience.

RESIDENCY AND DISTRIBUTION

SEB majors must take all core courses at Rollins (except for courses taken by transfer students prior to admission to Rollins); at least one-half of all courses for the major at Rollins (no exemption for transfer students); at least one-half of the business core courses from the BUS curriculum (no exemption for internal transfers), and at least one-half of all courses for the major at the 300-400 level.

Major Map: Communication Studies

Effective Fall 2014

Communication Studies focuses on how people use messages to generate meanings within and across various contexts, cultures, channels, and media. The field promotes the effective and ethical practice of human communication; we cultivate the communication skills necessary to fulfill human potential and contribute to the public well-being.

Majors must complete eight (8) required core courses; they must also select a concentration of specialization in one of three critical areas: Organizational Communication and Leadership; Public Relations, and Health Communication. Within each concentration, majors must complete an additional four (4) courses, for a total of twelve (12) courses required for completion of the major.

Twelve (12) courses are required: eight (8) core courses and four (4) concentration courses.

CORE COURSES Students must complete all core courses. COM 100 Introduction to Communication Studies course is required within the first two semesters of declaring the major.

Major Map: Elementary Education

Effective Fall 2013

The Department of Education offers coursework and field experiences that prepare students to enter the teaching profession. Program completers are eligible for Professional Teacher Certification in the state of Florida, and can convert this to a similar certification in most states. Students must apply for admission to the Teacher Education Program as soon as they declare the major. Applications (1-S Form) can be found on the Department of Education website. The Director of Teacher Education notifies applicants of acceptance or reason for denial. Florida requires that students have a passing score on the General Knowledge (GK) portion of the Florida Teacher Certification Exam (FTCE) to be admitted to any state-approved program. All students completing a Florida state-approved program must pass all portions of the FTCE, including the GK, the Professional Education (PED) portion, and the Subject Area Exam (SAE) prior to graduation, and have an overall GPA of 2.5 or higher.

The Director of Teacher Education notifies applicants of acceptance or reason for denial. Florida requires that students have a passing score on the General Knowledge (GK) portion of the Florida Teacher Certification Exam (FTCE) to be admitted to any state-approved program. All students completing a Florida state-approved program must pass all portions of the FTCE, including the GK, the Professional Education (PED) portion, and the Subject Area Exam (SAE) prior to graduation, and have an overall GPA of 2.5 or higher.

Students who intend to teach in middle and high schools must complete a major in the intended area and the Secondary Education minor. Only the following majors are appropriate for the Secondary Education minor:

|                  |                    |  |                |
|------------------|--------------------|--|----------------|
| Biology   | English     | Music                               | Spanish |
| Chemistry | French      | Physics                             |                |
| Theatre   | Mathematics | Social Science (International Rel.) |                |

All Secondary Education minors must complete a course with U.S. History content and a college Math course. Certification in French, Spanish and Music covers grades K-12, so students in these majors must take a 2 credit course in elementary methods (EED 317 for Music majors, EED 355 for French and Spanish majors).

STUDENT TEACHING

All students completing a Secondary Education minor must complete a teaching internship in the area of certification. Graded on a credit/no credit basis, Student Teaching involves working full time for fifteen (15) weeks in an approved area school. Juniors and seniors may apply for Student Teaching only after meeting the following requirements: 1) passing scores on the GK and PED; 2) completion of all prerequisites for Student Teaching; 3) overall GPA of 2.5 or higher.
