I. Purpose/Introduction/Rationale

This policy defines full-, three-quarter-, half-, and less than half-time enrollment status for Rollins College undergraduate and graduate students for the purposes of Federal Financial Aid and Homeland Security compliance. The U.S. Department of Education (USED) specifies a minimum standard for undergraduate students, but not for graduate students; USED requires that higher education institutions define the status of attendance (i.e., financial aid eligibility) for graduate students. The Department of Homeland Security (DHS) requires institutions to certify full-time enrollment status for postgraduate students. This policy applies to all Rollins College students, including those in the College of Liberal Arts (CLA), the Hamilton Holt School (Holt), and the Crummer Graduate School of Business (Crummer).

Important Notes:

1. Eligibility for financial aid is based on cost of attendance for a full semester; withdrawal from a course may impact Federal financial aid awards. Students must meet satisfactory academic progress requirements to receive Federal financial aid. Students are encouraged to review the Office of Financial Aid's Consumer Information website for additional information.
2. The DHS requires that a.) international undergraduate college students studying in the U.S. enroll in at least 12 semester credit hours per term and b.) international postgraduate students studying in the U.S. colleges take a full course of study as defined/certified by the institution.¹
3. This policy does not define or provide guidance on full time equivalent (FTE) calculations of student enrollment.
